Let Us Not Hold Back the "Spring Season"

"We've never missed a meal nor have we suffered in any way." This was the voluntary testimony of a fifty-five-year-old couple recently. They were soft-spoken, neatly dressed, and delightful conversationalists. It was an inspiration to be around them.

We were discussing the many financial appeals confronting Seventh-day Adventist Church members. This couple with a moderate income told me they gave substantially to church expense, church building funds, conference projects, evangelism, Christian education, missionary journals, and missions extension. Upon probing more specifically I learned that this couple had increased their Sabbath school offerings as well as contributions to such projects as Voice of Prophecy, Faith for Today, Christian Record, welfare, temperance, and religious liberty work.

I wasn't quite satisfied, so I inquired about tithe and the Annual Sacrifice Offering. After telling me that they had carefully tithed for thirty-two years and had made it a practice each year to give a week's earnings for their Annual Sacrifice Offering at the conclusion of the Week of Prayer, they punctuated their remarks with the statement, "We've never missed a meal nor have we suffered in any way." Although we are somewhat younger than this couple, yet Mrs. Wilson and I, from personal experience, can wholeheartedly concur in their testimony.

Reason Together

We are approaching another Annual Sacrifice Offering. The Lord invites us to reason together. In an attitude of love for the Saviour who gave all for us and with the realization of the urgency of the hour in which we live, I hope you will understand my burden and concern for this offering.

Usually this offering averages a little less than $1 per member and is only slightly more than certain other annual appeals. It really seems to me that if we are totally committed to the work the Lord has given us to do, we could do much better.

It also seems to me that for an offering once designated as Week of Sacrifice Offering and now known as Annual Sacrifice Offering there could be at least $1 million contributed annually by our nearly 400,000 members in North America. This would represent only about $2.50 per member.

God's people must advance; the everlasting gospel must surge forward. We must do everything to mobilize our forces and resources in combating the enemy of souls and in proclaiming the saving, delivering power of Jesus Christ our Lord. We must evangelize on every possible front.

Self-Sacrifice

The keynote of Christ's teachings is self-sacrifice. It will not be long before probation will close. If we do not serve the Lord with fidelity, how can we expect to meet Him unashamed?

"The work of God, which should be going forward with ten-fold its present strength and efficiency, is kept back, like a spring season held by the chilling blast of winter, because some of God's professed people are appropriating to themselves the means that should be dedicated to His service. Because Christ's self-sacrificing love is not interwoven in the life practices, the church is weak where it should be strong. By its own course it has put out its light, and robbed millions of the gospel of Christ."—Christian Stewardship, page 54.

Let us not hold back the "spring." Let us turn on the light and reach the millions with a ten-fold soul-winning thrust. I invite you, my dear fellow believer, to experience the privilege and wonderful blessings of laboring with God, claiming His promises and beholding His glory as He works miracles of grace.

MV Society Sponsors Ghana Teacher to Andrews

A ten-year dream came true this year for Mr. C. Y. Kyereme—thanks to Andrews University's Missionary Volunteer Society.

For ten years Mr. Kyereme had wished to come to America for graduate education but it had been impossible for him to leave his country, Ghana. After almost losing hope, he realized his dream last year when the MV Society, as one of their annual projects, raised enough money to sponsor an overseas teacher for one year of graduate study at Andrews.

Principal of a Seventh-day Adventist training college in Ghana for the past four years, Mr. Kyereme started the school himself. He and his family, who are joining him in January, will return to Ghana next August after he has received his Master of Arts in education.

CAMPING. Last summer a total 3,855 juniors and 3,632 senior youth attended camps in the Pacific Union. This was a record!

Two union-wide senior youth camps were held. A Regional camp at Wawona attracted one hundred fifty youth over the weekend of August 26 to 28. The Spanish youth camp held September 2 to 5 at Cedar Falls drew six hundred regular campers and 1,500 for the Sabbath services. An estimated 1,309 decisions for Christ were made at these summer camps.

TARGET 30,000. For the first six months in the Pacific Union six hundred and one were baptized as the result of youth evangelism. Voice of Youth meetings, branch Sabbath schools, Friendship Teams, Bible studies, and Go and Tell projects were the principal soul-winning methods used.

Mass Media Sounds Our Health Message

It's almost unbelievable how mass media today is sounding a health message that Adventists have been proclaiming for over a century. To cite just a few recent examples:

Radio Station KNX of CBS Radio network, Los Angeles, October 10, 1966, on the program Kaleidoscope, upheld the research findings of Doctors Frank R. Lemon and Richard T. Walden as showing that non-smoking Adventists have a much lower death rate from cancer and other lung diseases than the general public at large.

The Los Angeles Times, October 12, 1966, under the heading "Survey Shows Deaths Fewer for Non-Smokers," stated "that only one death occurred from emphysema or lung cancer among 3,913 men in a study group who were life-time Seventh-day Adventists and had never smoked. . . . It is especially notable that while cancer of the lung is an ever increasing cause of death among U.S. males, it is not so among Seventh-day Adventist men."

The San Francisco Examiner, Thursday, October 20, 1966, carried a front page banner headline: "NEW SMOKING - HEART PROOF." Artery damage has been proved by scientists using six hundred forty-five men. Physical evidence links smoking with heart diseases, the article stated.

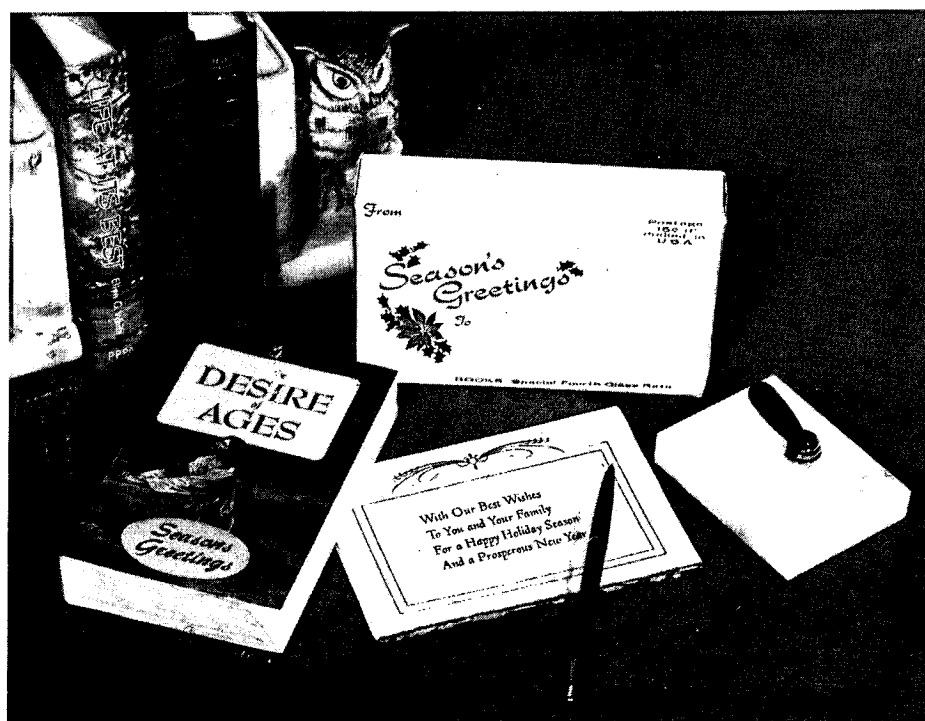

Time magazine, October 28, in the section "Medicine" stated that Dr. Frank R. Lemon and Dr. Richard T. Walden have never found a typical case of lung cancer in a person who has been a Seventh-day Adventist all his life.

And from the editorial page of the News-Advertiser, Washington, Utah, dated October 13, 1966, comes this interesting article under the heading, "We Do Not Stand Alone!"

"Many people are ashamed of their religion, and many compromise their beliefs because they are afraid of the criticism of the world.

"There are some Latter-day Saints in this category particularly with respect to the Word of Wisdom.

New Las Vegas Church School Is Under Construction

Under a bright sun and a clear sky the new, partially completed cinder block Las Vegas Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School located at Jones and Oakey boulevards opened its doors for the first class to be held in the structure on Wednesday, September 21.

Construction was started June 27 on the five-acre site under the supervision of Bob Quinn of Santa Barbara, California. In the plan two wings will accommodate the five classrooms, restrooms, showers, and ample storage space. At present four classrooms are complete with the necessary other facilities to care for the needs of the present school year.

The final phase of construction, to be started when funds are available, will be the area between the wings. This will be the gymnasium and social hall with kitchen facilities. The entire project will be under one roof.

At present two services are held in the small church building to accommodate the audience. As soon as this building is sold the school facilities will be completed and temporarily house the church family for all its services.

The school staff consists of Ted Dunston, the principal, and Mrs. Bonnie Dunston, Mrs. Phyllis Boehrig, and Joseph Hieb.

Under the leadership of Pastor L. L. Dinwiddie the church has rallied by making heavy financial contributions as well as making every Sunday a working bee. CHUCK MEADOWS, PR Secy., Las Vegas Church.

Annual Sacrifice Offering

November 12 is the date set by the General Conference for all of our people and churches to enter into a spirit of liberality and faithfulness in supporting the world-wide work of this church. The challenges of the work are great, the opportunities unlimited, and the faithfulness of our people is so very important.

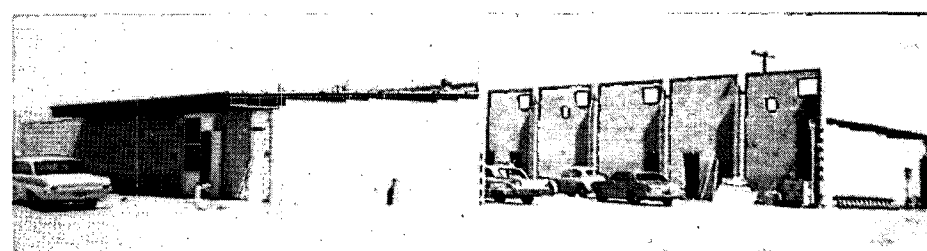

As you think of the Annual Sacrifice Offering, why not plan in advance to make this a time when your covenant with the Lord will be knit a little more firmly in sacrificing than ever before? Remember, not only do we need to support the cause of God, but we need the blessing that comes from being totally identified with this work.

Let us never forget that "where your heart is, there will your treasure be also." These two just cannot be divorced, as Jesus stated it so plainly. It is a real privilege to think that as Sabbath, November 12, comes, it presents an opportunity for us individually to join hands in bringing the blessings of sacrifice to reach the multitudes that as yet do not have the privilege of sharing and enjoying the blessings that we take for granted. As the world field calls, let us respond willingly, enthusiastically, and liberally.

M. O. CHANG, Treasurer.

Ordination Service Held at Recent Camp Meeting

One of the highlights of the state-wide camp meeting held in Honolulu September 30 and October 1 was the ordination service on Sabbath afternoon when Brother D. Robert Watts was ordained to the gospel ministry.

Brother Watts has through the years given very definite proof of his calling in living a life that is exemplary, in proving to be a willing worker, a diligent student, a sound counselor, and a man of tremendous personal character. He is joined by his equally efficient and dedicated wife, Audrey, and by two lovely teenage children who give evidence of a home that is happy, loyal, thoroughly fundamental and peaceful.

The Watts family has spent more than five years in Hawaii, and Hawaii feels honored in sharing its capable personnel with the great mission fields of the earth. In the providence of God, He so directs that one goes here and one there. We meet, we learn to love and enjoy working together, but then the call comes, and what loyal Seventh-day Adventist can ever turn a deaf ear to the call of missions!

To the Watts family as they leave for Southeast Asia, Hawaii wishes them Heaven's richest, choicest, and most wonderful blessings.

A. G. STREIFLING.

Elder R. R. Bietz, president of the Pacific Union Conference, preached the ordination sermon and gave the ordination charge. Elder W. J. Hackett, president of the North Pacific Union Conference, offered the dedicatory prayer, and Brother Watts was welcomed to the gospel ministry by A. G. Streifling, president of the Hawaiian Mission. Other participants of the service were Elders C. C. Kott of the Pacific Union Conference staff, and A. R. Mazat of the Pacific Press.

Elder and Sister Watts and their children are on mission assignment to Singapore where he is to serve as pastor of the College Church and head of the college Bible department at the Southeast Asia Union College.

INVESTITURE.—Twelve members of the Pathfinder Club of the Waimanalo Church took part in the church service recently. During the service, Pastor Richard Clement with the Pathfinder leaders, Mrs. Misako Sumida, Mrs. Rosalind Chang, Albert Hussey, and Patrick McGuire, invested five of the young people in the Friend pins. Pictured are the five Pathfinders who received the Friend pins: Colleen Saiki, Lon Yamashita, Gaylord De Mello, Eric Chang, and Walmer Hussey.—Mrs. Myrna Lent, Press Secretary, Waimanalo Church.

Paso Robles Walnut Harvest to Benefit School

Approximately one ton of walnuts was harvested recently by an enthusiastic group of young people, their parents and grandparents from the Paso Robles and Atascadero churches.

The walnuts were donated to the Home and School Association by Dr. Tom Scott, Atascadero dentist. Arrangements were under the direction of Home and School leader, Dr. Janet Kirk, school principal, Alex Nischuk, and Doctor Scott. The proceeds from the walnuts will go to the school for the purchase of new equipment.

The day of fun and work was climaxed by a potluck meal served to the group on the sun deck of the Scott residence.

Adventists Respond Again

SAWS (Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service, Inc.), our official Seventh-day Adventist welfare service, has just reported the following efforts to aid the earthquake-stricken areas of Peru.

Forty new camp tents have been shipped to Lima, Peru. These have been flown down free of cost by Pan-Am World Airways. These will be distributed by Elder Charles C. Case, SAWS representative in Lima.

Our Watsonville warehouse is feverishly preparing 500 bales of clothing to be sent, and this is no doubt on the way at the present time. One thousand new blankets are being flown to Lima from our New York welfare depot.

The General Conference has voted to send a new Butler steel building to Peru to provide needed storage facilities because of earthquake damage.

We deeply appreciate the splendid work of our Watsonville director Brother H. E. Clasing, and the other welfare agencies of SAWS. We believe some of these items will mean much in making successful Ingathering contacts this year. Do not hesitate to use these facts in any way you see fit.

Bakersfield Central Church Groundbreaking October 9

Sunday morning, October 9, 200 persons gathered at the site of the new Bakersfield Central Church for the groundbreaking ceremonies. To show that the groundbreaking was not just a formal desire for a building but rather the actual beginning of the project, the large grader placed on the property to prepare the ground was used to move the first earth. Taking part in the service were, from left, Wilson Call, architect; Dave Baerg, chairman of the Building Committee; R. L. Stretter, Central California Conference treasurer; Russell Karlan, mayor of Bakersfield; E. R. Walde, Central California Conference president; Max Erwin, secretary of the Building Committee; and C. A. Sterling, pastor of the Bakersfield Central Church. Clarence Poulson drove the grader.—C. A. Sterling.

Missionary Volunteer Officers Retreat Held at Pinecrest

Two hundred and three youth leaders of the Northern California Conference met together recently at Pinecrest Camp for their annual three-day retreat.

The seclusion of Pinecrest offered an ideal atmosphere for the youth leaders to reassess the program and objectives of the MV Society and to incorporate new ideas and methods into their leadership roles. Stimulating worship meetings and fellowship with other leaders added much to the over-all program, as did the appetizing meals prepared by students from Pacific Union College who returned to Pinecrest for the retreat weekend following a summer of work at the camp.

It is our conviction that we have a dedicated and loyal group of youth leaders in Northern with high ideals and a great desire to serve well our thousands of young people.

Arizona

Go Tell Arizona

"Among the members of our churches there should be more house-to-house labor, in giving Bible readings."—Testimonies, vol. 9, page 127.

"A great work can be done by presenting to the people the Bible just as it reads. Carry the Word of God to every man's door, urge its plain statements upon every man's conscience, repeat to all the Saviour's command, 'Search the Scriptures.' Admonish them to take the Bible as it is, to implore divine enlightenment, and then, when the light shines, to gladly accept each precious ray, and fearlessly abide the consequences."—Testimonies, vol. 5, page 388.

In recent months just such a program has been started in Arizona, a program of carrying the Word of God to every man's door. The tools are a beautiful white Bible and a set of 24 Bible study guides. The guides are titled The Bible Speaks and were prepared by Elder Don Gray, evangelist in Southeastern California. To make the study of the Bible easier each text used has a page number that corresponds with the paging in the Bible. For example, John 17:17 is NT-100. Many people are not acquainted with the Bible and finding the texts can become a real task.

Surely there are thousands of people in Arizona who would appreciate the opportunity of studying the Bible using this simple plan. To find these people will require the services of the entire 3,580 Seventh-day Adventists now living in our state. Can you be counted on to find at least two of these people who would like to study the Bible? Think what this would mean, 7,160 Bible studies every week. Contact your pastor for additional information.

They Built It During Their Play Periods

The students at your Navajo Mission School spent most of their work time during the summer repairing and painting the walls and equipment in the classrooms and dormitories to improve the school's appearance for the present school term.

All during August, after these busy workdays, six to twelve of these working students reported each evening to enthusiastically spend their play period helping clean an area for a playfield. They removed old lumber, metal frames, scrap tin, brush, and weeds in preparing the spot

Fifty-nine Children Attend Middletown Vacation Bible School

What a thrill it was for the vacation Bible school workers as each morning over 50 children took their seats to participate in the five-day program held during August at the Middletown Seventh-day Adventist Church—a church of 20 members. Of the 59 children enrolled during the week, 52 were from non-Adventist homes. It was surprising to note that the age groups were very evenly distributed with 21 children registered in the Kindergarten division, 17 in the Primary, and 21 in the Junior-Earliteen.

It was a heart-warming sight of happy boys and girls and a church full of proud parents at the Parade of Bible Heroes program which followed the Bible school.

Each of the three age groups participated in the closing program singing songs about some of the Bible heroes they had studied during the week. The Kindergarteners sang songs with fingerplays about Baby Moses and the "wee little man" Zachaeus. The Primary group sang about Noah and his ark and about David and the giant. The Juniors sang "Dare to be a Daniel" followed by one of the junior girls reciting the Twenty-third Psalm.

A wonderful blessing was received as five of the Juniors from non-Adventist homes with two of the Bible school teachers sang "Is Your Name Written There?" The Recording Angel theme device had been used throughout the week and had impressed a deep meaning on the children. The first day each child was given a small Recording Angel booklet to take home to keep track of good deeds during the week. One 11-year-old boy confided to a teacher that he was using the booklet faithfully and because of it he had prayed by himself for the first time in his life.

The program came to a close with all the children singing the beautiful song "Are You Ready for Jesus to Come?" The parents then had an opportunity to view the crafts their children had made during the week. Two of these crafts were soap carvings of Noah's ark and a paper sculpture plaque of Moses with the ten commandments.

Mrs. Ronald Warpole, wife of the student pastor, was leader of the vacation Bible school. She and eight other teachers and workers drove the 25 miles to Middletown from Pacific Union College each day. Two other workers lived in the Middletown vicinity. Mrs. Warpole and two of the teachers—Mrs. Rob Sheppard and Mrs. Tom Sutsch—are wives of young men who are studying for the ministry at Pacific Union College. Three of the helpers, Mrs. Sharon Rogers (wife of the late Jim Rogers, assistant publishing secretary of the Northern California Conference) Miss Charlene Bridgman, and Miss Barbara Gassen are students at the College.

Some of the main features of the vacation Bible school are being continued in a weekly Story Hour held each Sabbath morning at 9:15. Plans are being made to send some of the children to Junior Camp at Pinecrest next summer. The Juniors are working, through memorization, for Bibles with their names engraved on them. Last week the Story Hour was attended by 25 non-Adventist children.

Southeastern Participates in Bible Distribution Program

Thirty-five thousand Bibles arrived in October in southern California for a special distribution program being conducted by Seventh-day Adventist churches in co-operation with the American Bible Society's Year of the Bible.

More than 18,500 of these King James Bibles are earmarked for distribution in the Southeastern California Conference in the Go Tell Thy Friends evangelism program. To be given away with the Bibles will be a study guide which is intended to help the recipient to become better acquainted with the Scriptures.

During the past year members have already distributed some 20,000 Bibles and study guides and thousands who have followed the guides have indicated appreciation for the help they have received in becoming acquainted with the Bible.

The Bibles are bound in either red, blue, or white leatherette. At the back of the Bible are 52 pages of information about the Scriptures, including geography archaeology, money, weights, measures, the Jewish calendar, Biblical terms, a summary of each book, and a discussion of parables and miracles of the New Testament.

Brawley Spanish Church Has Interesting Investment Devices

Away on a new adventure! Before 1966 the Brawley Spanish Sabbath school never gave Investment a chance. But now it is different.

All members are involved. They are enjoying the challenge of such an opportunity. The Lord is giving success and unexpected satisfaction.

There seems to be no end of new ideas for Investment! And Brawley Spanish members discovered a new one that proved to have a big double blessing.

One of the mothers promised her two girls five cents for each book they would read during summer vacation. The weather gets too hot for the children to play outside so they find their recreation in books. The mother went to the library with the children and helped to pick out books that would be interesting and informative as well as character building.

The children applied themselves to reading but showed their mother that some books were much thicker than others. Consequently, the mother decided to make the Investment allowance in proportion to the size of the book read. And the double blessing: one of the girls read 62 books and the other 56. When school started both girls showed marked advancement in reading and comprehension and, of course, the girls are helping to reach the Investment goal.

Each quarter the Investment leader, Mrs. Joe Hernandez, uses a different goal device. The first one was a large key with the words Jesus said to Peter, "I will give thee the keys to the kingdom." Such a key was given to each member. Coins for Investment were pasted to the key. For the second quarter a large heart on which to paste coins was given to each member. The hearts in turn were mounted on a

Students at San Pasqual Appreciate Week of Devotion

Elder John Loor, pastor of the Arlington Church, conducted the Fall Week of Devotion on the San Pasqual Academy campus, September 23 to 30. "Playing the Game of Life" was the theme for the week. Meetings were held twice each day during the week with voluntary prayer bands following each meeting.

"The Man Whose Self Was Dead," dealing with the life of Samuel, "The Girl Who Had All the Answers" (Jezebel), "The Boy From the Divided Home" (Timothy), were titles of talks early in the week.

Raylene Dick, Angwin, chats with Elder John Loor, Arlington church pastor, during a counseling session at the time of the Fall Week of Prayer at San Pasqual Academy.

Both meetings on Tuesday were devoted to questions and answers. Elder Loor referred to the Bible extensively as he answered questions of vital concern to academy students.

"Lots of Muscle—Not Enough Mind" was the title of Wednesday morning's talk. "The Consistent Lover"—the story of Ruth—was the subject for the evening meeting. The rich young ruler, "The Man Who Might Have Been," set the stage for the Thursday morning meeting, with the evening meeting entitled "The Greatest Motivation."

Pastor Loor concluded the week with a talk Friday morning entitled "The Last Play," and an evening testimony service. Each member of the school family was given an opportunity to speak at this service. The response was gratifying. Many students and members of the faculty and staff expressed their appreciation for the successful week.

large easel. Above the hearts were the words, "My son, give me thine heart."

A plastic heart bank was given to each member for the third quarter. Still another device is being used the fourth quarter.

A challenge! Dedication! Enthusiasm! Success! Blessings! Yes! Ask the members of the Brawley Spanish Church. For 1966 reaching the Investment goal is certain!

for a regulation-size ballfield and school playground.

By the first weekend in September, the softball diamond was completed. With bases in place, foul lines marked with white lime, umpires at their positions, the first softball game of the school year was played before an encouraged and thrilled student body.

Since that first game each afternoon play period has been used for softball or other running games. It is encouraging to see these Indian students taking part in games on their own playfield. It is also good to know that plans are being laid for play periods of volleyball, basketball, and other organized games as the season appears for them. Playing organized games appears to be the best way to teach these students cooperation, teamwork, and good sportmanship.

Perhaps you can help this enthusiastic group of students at their own conference mission station? Play equipment such as ball gloves, mitts, footballs, and other game necessities are short among the students. LA SIERRA COLLEGE

Speech Therapy Students Perform Public Service

Speech pathology majors are making an ever-increasing contribution to the college community, according to Dr. W. F. Tarr, speech department chairman. At the same time their participation in public service is giving them wider and more significant experience.

At present seven speech therapy seniors are doing their practice teaching in the Corona public schools, working under the direction of Doctor Tarr. They are as follows: Virginia Mitts, Lucretia Friedrich, Sharon Rapp, Kathleen Michaelson, Linda Carleton Chang, Beverly Gale, and Ingrid Johansson. Dr. Paul Buckley, pupil personnel director of the Corona schools, has expressed his deep appreciation of the exceptionally high quality of the student teachers and the work they are doing; he states that the connection between the city schools and the college has been enhanced by their work. Each of the principals where the students teach is favorably impressed by their ability.

"It is very apparent," says Doctor Tarr, "that the young people representing the speech department in this way have a vision of service not frequently found in youth. They are sincere and earnest; they work hard. They are doing a very fine job for the public schools as well as for the college. We are proud of them."

Besides the practice teaching, however, students are also engaged in clinical work at the College Speech and Hearing Clinic and at the Riverside General Hospital. Clinical services are under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Lutz, associate professor of speech. This is an important requirement and aspect of their training. At the clinic, children from surrounding areas are treated for a wide variety of speech disorders. At present approximately 20 are being served in this way. "While the offerings at the hospital are as yet minimal," says Doctor Lutz, "with the obviously rapid expansion of this department, we hope to place more and more of our seniors in clinical services there."

With 11 speech therapy majors preparing for graduation this school year, this is the largest group ever to complete their B.A. at one time, states Doctor Tarr. The previous high was five. Altogether about 25 have graduated with a major in speech therapy since the department was established a few years ago. Nearly all of these have gone on to graduate study at other institutions offering the Master's degree, and nearly all are practicing in hospitals or clinics, or helping children in the public schools. "It is most unfortunate" says Doctor Tarr, "that our own young people must look elsewhere for their graduate study. It is also unfortunate that their services cannot be used in our own elementary schools."

In addition to Doctors Tarr and Lutz, speech department instructors engaged in preparing students in the area of speech and hearing disorders include Dr. Don Dick; Jerry Lien, M.A.; Jack Hartley, M.A.; and Paul Campbell, M.A.

Robert Sage Gives Junior Recital November 6

Robert Sage, junior piano major and student of Miss Amy Lou Richards, will give a piano recital of French music in Hole Memorial Auditorium, Sunday evening, November 6, at eight o'clock.

Robert was a student at Seminaire Adventiste in Collonges, France, last year under the LSC Year Abroad program and was fortunate to continue his piano study at the Geneva Conservatoire. Prior to this he had studied with Dr. Perry Beach who is in Collonges this year.

The program, to which the public is cordially invited, will consist of pieces by Franck, Poulenc, Debussy, Faure, Ravel, and Honegger.

Obernkirchen Choir Presents Community Concert

The first Community Concert Series program of the current school year will be presented Saturday night, November 12, in College Hall by the famed Obernkirchen Children's Choir from Norway. This will be the choir's second appearance on the LSC campus.

The group of 36 youngsters will be under the direction of their founder-conductor, Edith Moeller, in this their ninth American tour. The choir has been heard by countless thousands of people in nearly every major country of the world. They have made ten major television appearances including five performances for Ed Sullivan and three for the Hallmark Hall of Fame.

Admission to the concert is by Community Concert membership card only.

Educators to Meet on Campus

Educators from the Pacific Union Conference will come to the campus November 10 for a full round of activities on La Sierra College Education Day, an annual affair concerned with recruitment, orientation, and education of teachers.

The Professional Education Club on campus will host the visiting educators. Approximately 60 club members, the faculty of the Division of Education, and special guests will join in a Fellowship Supper in The Commons to culminate the day's activities.

At the initial meeting of the day, the Convocation at 10 a.m., Elder W. O. Baldwin will speak on "Shattering Stereotypes in Education; Building a Better Image." Elder J. F. Knipschild will chair the Forum in which "Issues in Education" will be discussed. At noon the visiting educators and members of the Division of Education will mix business and pleasure at a special luncheon in The Commons Cactus Room, after which there will be a tour of the new Curriculum Laboratory facilities.

A major feature of the day will be the career interviews during the afternoon, when prospective teachers will have an opportunity to visit with educational secretaries, superintendents, supervisors, and principals.

Mass Media Sounds Message

"Some actually feel that we are peculiar and alone in our position on liquor, tobacco, and tea and coffee. How mistaken they are.

"The New York Times recently reported a convention of the Seventh-day Adventists. This denomination has a total membership of 1,600,000, of whom 380,000 are in the United States.

"This group has not always been known as Seventh-day Adventists. It was formed prior to 1844 as an organization awaiting the second coming of Christ, which they expected on October 22 of that year.

"When the expectation failed to materialize, a reorganization took place and in 1863 the present known denomination took form.

"One of the outstanding doctrines of this denomination, which does much good in the field of health, particularly with its hospitals and widely taught doctrines on foods, is its position on tea, coffee, liquor, and tobacco, all of which are banned.

"The Adventists regard the human body as the temple of the Holy Spirit and place great emphasis upon the relationship between the spiritual and one's mental and physical health.

"It sponsors courses for non-Adventists who want to give up smoking and drinking and is currently concluding a sixteen-week weight-reducing course.

"Its present plans call for 10,000 five-day anti-smoking courses in fifty countries in the next four years, and the launching of a similar effort to combat alcoholism."

So non-Adventists now are sounding our health message loud and clear.

How grateful we should be for the vast treasures of healthful living that God has given this people, and how active we should be in sharing this message with our neighbors.

MCC CAMP. The eight-day training camp held at Soquel the latter part of August brought so many news reporters, photographers, and TV cameramen that there was hardly enough room to hold drills. On just one day there were five television camera crews, three newspaper teams, a Newsweek magazine writer and photographer, and a free-lancer.

Stories were carried in the New York Times and the London Times. Newsmen were at camp on six of the eight days. The camp was under the command of Harry Garlick. About one hundred and fifty cadets attended, mostly from the Pacific Union. It is the plan to hold a camp like this every other year at Soquel.

LEADERCRAFT. A new ten-hour Leadercraft Course designed to develop more efficient youth leaders in our churches and schools was introduced at Pacific Union College October 7 to 9. Elder Charles Martin, newly-elected MV secretary from the General Conference, was the trainer, and was assisted by the writer, Harry Garlick, and the conference MV secretaries of the Pacific Union.

The attendance was limited to one hundred college students, sixty-six of whom
