1969 MISSIONARY BOOK AIMED AT SOUL WINNING

by PAULA BECKER, Public Relations Director
Southern Publishing Association

Man's world today is spinning around him much faster than his mind can move. A thirty-minute daily newscast worries him with the problems of Asian and Middle Eastern wars, gives him a twinge of concern about the stock market decline and the country's ever-present campus riots.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church today is a body whose philosophy was formulated in the horse-and-buggy era. It endured the growing pains of two world wars and a depression. It came through the fifties and emerged in this decade with one key thought today being frequently expressed, by both church laymen and leadership: It's time for the church to grow up. It must change, not for the sake of change, but for the sake of salvation. This involves exciting experimentation, perhaps even some trial and error.

Denominational Tradition

This year the Southern Publishing Association has taken a denominational tradition, the Missionary Book of the Year, which has been published annually since 1952, and moved it to the evangelistic forefront.

Though the Winds Blow is today's book, in approach and content as well as in appearance. Its author, Robert H. Pierson, is president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. He is in a position to constantly feel the pulse of the world-wide church and the millions of souls it seeks to reach.

In planning this important book, Elder Pierson considered the many facets of human existence. As a result, he presents the gospel message in beautiful simplicity, using language and attitude which fit today's way. Truth becomes a workable, tangible part of life in Elder Pierson's succinct daily devotional readings.

But a book is not just an author and a printing press. And Though the Winds Blow is not merely a book; it is a complete soul-winning program. Before this important volume ever reached the counters of this country's Book and Bible Houses, it had been touched, molded, influenced and improved by hundreds of dedicated Christian men and women.

Long Process

As soon as Elder Pierson's manuscript reached the book editor's desk, the long process began. Several editors were asked to do preliminary work on the manuscript. Countless conversations took place between author and editors, between editors and printers, between artists and editors.

Since our age is an age of intense visual awareness, the selection of artists to illustrate Though the Winds Blow became an all-important consideration. James Converse, a well-known free-lance artist, designed the cover and did five original paintings to illustrate stories from the text. Paintings by Jim Padgett and Robert Ayres round out the inside illustrations.

As the book moved nearer completion, sales personnel set up a basic advertising program. By this time the manuscript had been copy edited and set into type. Elder Pierson received galley proofs which he corrected and returned to the editor. Then layout artists went to work cutting and pasting galleys into pages, exactly as specified in the original plan.

Then the book itself went to press. After printing, it was folded into signatures, bound and packaged, ready for shipment.

Is that the end of the story? No, it is merely the very important first installment. For all the consecrated, concentrated planning and production will be of absolutely no value until Though the Winds Blow reaches the world.

The publishers consider this particular missionary book to be of such significance that they have decided to make a special art film program about the book. A script of unusual color photography and stereophonic sound that is both symbolic and specific presents in graphic detail the dilemma of contemporary man.

It's time for every church member to commit himself to the challenge of reaching today's souls with today's methods.

Southern's Strong Program Told in Constituency Meet

Glendale's Vallejo Drive church was the setting on Sunday, March 24, of the 1967-68 biennial Constituency Meeting of the Southern California Conference. Throughout the day, beginning at 8:30 a.m., nearly 700 delegates from the conference's 87 churches heard a series of inspiring reports and discussed items of mutual concern. Among the reports presented, delegates noted that:

1. Membership of the conference has doubled in the last 18 years. The 2,008 persons baptized in 1968 is the largest one-year baptismal total of any conference in North America. A total of 3,399 were baptized during the past biennium.

2. Members gave more than a half million dollars each month in tithes and foreign mission offerings during the 24-month biennial period. Tithe totaled $11,359,945, an increase of nearly $1.5 million over the previous biennium; foreign mission offerings totaled $1,844,134.

3. Although many feel that California conferences, particularly the Southern California Conference, gains many Adventist members from the East and other sections of the United States, transfers into the conference exceeded transfers out of the conference by only 530 in the past 10 years. During the past two years the conference lost 17 members in transfers out over those transferred in.

MARTIN LUTHER KING

One year ago, on April 4, 1968, death came to a Christian minister who had a dream that America would live out the true meaning of its creed:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal."

While many another person has had a similar vision, circumstances dictated that the life of Dr. Martin Luther King would become the focal point for struggle against the injustices which too often have prevented the realization of true equality for all men.

In the life of Dr. King there is much to be commended to all: there is first the principle of Christianity which casts an abiding cloak upon his leadership. There is also his persistent appeal to nonviolent avenues toward the achievement of equality.

Dr. King also rejected "separatism" and tried to pull together many groups. In his efforts against poverty he involved such groups as American Indians, Spanish-speaking Americans, and the people of economically depressed Appalachia. He sought to bring together rather than to separate peoples who held opposing views. In all this there is much which merits the careful study of all.

Now, one year later, Martin Luther King rests in Southview Cemetery in Atlanta. On his tombstone are carved the words of a spiritual: "Free at last, free at last, thank God Almighty, I'm free at last." In that fact, that death alone may bring an end to the struggles of this earth, there is perhaps the greatest lesson Christians can learn from this leader.

While Christlike efforts must be made toward the achievement of brotherhood on this earth, only the Resurrection Morning and Heaven as our home gives certain promise of a society where all inequality and prejudice shall be set aside and men shall dwell together as brothers at last.

Dedicated Layman Expires; Great Loss Is Felt by All

The Seventh-day Adventist denomination lost one of its most energetic laymen with the passing of Harry A. Schrillo of the Simi, California, Church on March 7. He was 53.

On that Friday evening Brother Schrillo led the music at an evangelistic meeting being conducted by Elder Robert Whitsett. After the meeting he took home some of the people that he had brought to the meeting. As he headed for his home with his son, Dean, he suffered a heart attack and died before reaching the hospital.

Constituency Meeting

4. With special emphasis on soul winning, 12 pastors in the conference baptized more than 50 persons each in 1968, while many others, acting in concert with the dedicated laymen of their churches, substantially increased their previous year's soul-winning numbers.

Delegates to the constituency meeting shared their views toward achieving greater harmony of the church's work throughout the day and into the evening with many valuable suggestions being proposed and a number of proposals adopted. The Lay Advisory Committee of the conference was re-formed and given emphasis at the meetings in one of the major actions taken.

During the evening hours of the session the delegates voted to return Elder Helmut C. Retzer to his responsibility as president of this large conference, which at the end of 1968 numbered 26,890 members. Also returned to their positions were Harold L. Calkins, secretary, and Albert W. Hamra, treasurer.

Departmental Staff

The entire departmental staff were re-elected to return to their responsibilities with the exception of the Health Services and Education departments. J. W. Allison, Jr., formerly pastor of the University Church of Los Angeles, was named health services secretary and co-ordinator of inner-city activities of the conference; and N. Clifford Sorensen, principal of San Pasqual Academy, was elected as conference educational secretary.

In an addition to the departmental staff, delegates elected Lorenzo Paytee, associate pastor of the University Church of Los Angeles, as an associate secretary of the Missionary Volunteer Department.

With a vigorous program of soul winning already in motion, members of the Southern California Conference can look forward to a most spiritually successful future as they link their lives with the Holy Spirit to finish the work in the heavily populated Southern California area.

W. D. WALTON, Secretary,
Pacific Union Conference.

Harry A. Schrillo

were some of the first Adventists to settle in the Simi Valley near Los Angeles which eventually led to the establishing of our work and a strong church in that area.

Elder S. A. Renzi, pastor of the Simi Church, said of Brother Schrillo: "A spiritual giant has fallen in the Seventh-day Adventist Church. He didn't rust out—he burned out. He died as he lived, working for his God whom he loved. He gave his life on the front lines of this spiritual war we are engaged in. Never have I seen in my 20 years of ministry a man who stood so tall, with a heart so big, so dedicated to his God, so unselfish, so enthusiastic, so radiant a personality, so converted. His love and devotion to this church was an inspiration to us all."

Dr. J. O. Jones, a close friend, said, "His zeal for souls drove him day and night. Anyone discouraged he sought out and gave them words of encouragement. If he missed someone at church, it was a subject of prayer. Many times either before he went to work or after he came home I have seen him at the hospital visiting and praying with a church member or friend.

"He seemed to be tireless to those of us who knew him best, but in reality he gave of himself that others might be comforted and encouraged to draw close to their Maker."

He was a dynamic force in the church as well as in the community. He was one of three laymen chosen to serve on the General Conference Committee and was a member of the Board of Trustees of Loma Linda University and served on the Board of Directors of Simi Valley Community Hospital. In the past he has served on the Southern California Conference Committee and the Board of Directors of the Glendale Adventist Hospital.

University Alumnus

Just a few weeks ago Brother Schrillo was selected by the Loma Linda University Alumni Federation as University Alumnus to be honored at the June Commencement. This will be only the second time this honor has been given.

He is survived by his wife, Florence; daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Church of Healdsburg, California, and Jane and Tamela, both of Simi; son, Dean, of Simi; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Schrillo of Hollywood; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Allred, and a brother, Edward, both of Northridge; and one grandson.

Over a thousand friends came to pay their respects at the funeral service conducted at the Simi Church. Elder R. R. Bietz, vice-president of the General Conference, gave the memorial sermon. He was assisted by Elders S. A. Renzi, A. Howard Miller, Harold Rich and Edmund Jones. The King's Heralds quartet sang, accompanied by Brad Braley.

Educators Meet to Discuss Future Educational Needs

A recent meeting of Adventist educators will be of interest to many people who are concerned with the education of the young people of the church.

This group, appointed by the Pacific Union Conference Committee and composed of representatives from grade schools, academies, colleges and churches of the Pacific Union Conference, met to discuss the need for wider educational opportunities for young people of college age.

Studies of reported and projected enrollment in schools of the Pacific Union Conference were presented, which indicate that if the Adventist student population continues to grow as conservative estimates indicate, opportunities for at least 2,000 additional college-age students will have to be provided by the end of the next ten-year period.

This projected need cannot be met by the existing facilities at Pacific Union College and Loma Linda University, since both are presently filled to capacity.

Long-range Plans

In view of this, it is evident that long-range plans are needed. The problem is complicated by the increasing need to provide educational opportunities for young people whose interests and abilities are not served by present programs.

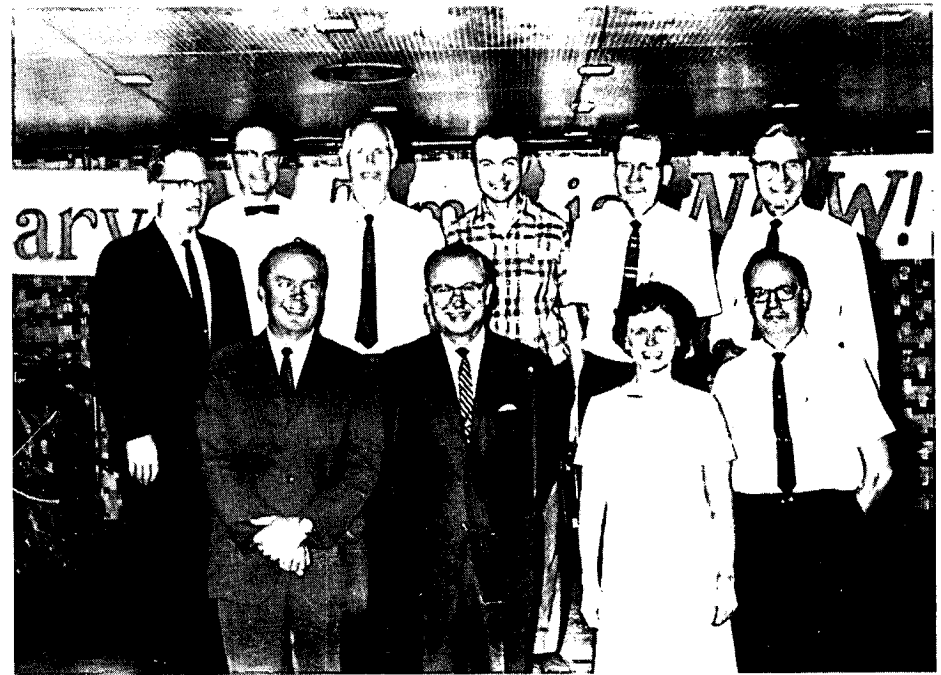

The group discussed the need for a wider variety of offerings. These may include two-year terminal programs, and the possibility of providing junior college programs and facilities. Also suggested was a wider use of present academy facilities through work-study programs developed in co-operation with nearby industries or institutions, and through the development of a variety of summer-study courses.

A number of promising proposals were presented which are to be studied in further detail. When specific plans are completed they will be submitted to the Pacific Union Conference Committee for its consideration, and eventual implementation.

Special Clovis Homecoming Hears Dr. Harold Shryock

The Clovis Helm Avenue Church will hold a Homecoming on April 4 and 5 in which Dr. Harold Shryock of Loma Linda will be the principal speaker.

Friends and former members of the church are invited to the Homecoming weekend. On Friday at 7:30 p.m., Dr.

Dr. Harold Shryock

Shryock will speak especially to the youth on the subject of "Sweethearts." Sabbath morning at the worship hour his subject will be "Parenthood and Soul-saving." "You are a Person" will be the theme of the 4 p.m. vesper program. Young married couples who are interested in family planning and related questions will meet with Dr. Shryock after the Sabbath vespers.

Since 1934 Dr. Shryock has made a significant contribution to the instruction given at the School of Medicine of Loma Linda University where he serves as professor of anatomy. Dr. Shryock's research interests have been in the fields of cytogenesis and congenital anomalies, principally of the nervous system.

In addition to his teaching activities, Dr. Shryock served as class adviser for several years for freshman medical students. Attempting to help them solve personal problems, he became intensely interested in human relations, personality problems, and mental hygiene. This accounts for the choice of subject matter in his many books: Happiness for Husbands and Wives, Happiness and Health, On Becoming a Man, etc.

Former members who would like to come "home" for the weekend are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Mrs. Mary Johnson of the Merced Church, with just a sampling of the work she is doing for the Dorcas Society.

Senior Citizen of Merced Is Happy as She Sews for Others

Mrs. Mary Johnson of the Merced Church will celebrate her 84th birthday in August.

She has lived in Merced since 1950, and in less than 10 years after she arrived she had made more than 400 quilt tops. These were made into beautiful quilts and comforts by the loyal Dorcas ladies and many have been sent overseas to needy people. Mrs. Johnson has also made many dresses for little girls and shirts for small boys. Her hands are always busy with more quilts and more garments.

Mrs. Johnson is everybody's friend; always cheerful, her smiling face reflects an inner serenity that keeps her young in spirit. She rightly believes that God intends no man to live in this world without working, and she also believes that every man should be happy in his work.

Provo Students Learn Much from Their Capitol Visit

"Many a lad today, growing up as did Daniel in his Judean home, studying God's word and His works, and learning the lessons of faithful service, will yet stand in legislative assemblies, in halls of justice, or in royal courts, as a witness for the King of Kings." This statement from page 262 of the book, Education, not only points us to the future, it also provides us with a significant challenge for today. Stop and think for a moment, "Do you have even a simple but clear knowledge of what transpires during a legislative session? Do you know how an idea becomes a legislative bill, then a law, and what you as a citizen can do and cannot do about bills considered by your legislators session by session?"

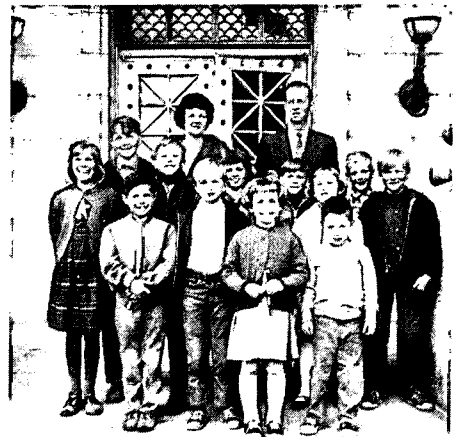

It was against this background of thoughts and ideas that the young people of the Provo Church School made a trip recently to the Utah State Capitol building. Their first point of interest was the Daughters of Utah Pioneers Museum located just west of the capitol building. Here the students saw many items used by the Utah pioneers and the Indians who lived in the area before the coming of the pioneers. They saw furniture, dishes, clothing, mementos, books, and many things that had belonged to prominent early Utah families. The original eagle placed on top of the "Eagle Gate" at the foot of Capitol Hill is prominently displayed here. They also saw an exact replica of the golden spike that was driven May 10, 1869 at Promontory Point, northwest of Ogden, Utah, uniting the east and west with continuous iron rails.

After lunch the students assembled under the Capitol dome on the main floor where they were led on a guided tour of the building. They spent a portion of their visit sitting in the galleries of the House and Senate. It was here that the president of the Senate soon stopped the discussion on the floor to introduce the school and the teachers, Mr. and Mrs. David Kelsey, to the senators. The group stayed in each place long enough to listen to some of the discussion on measures under consideration.

Their tour of the Capitol building then moved to the most beautiful room in the building—the Governor's private, formal reception room properly called the Gold Room. Decorations on the furnishings and walls of the room are trimmed and high-lighted in 23-carat gold. The upholstery fabric for the drapes and some of the divans was made in England 58 years ago and was cut from the same bolts of material used to make the royal clothing for England's reigning monarchs. The approximately one-ton rug covering nearly the whole floor was made in Scotland. Its color scheme reflects the 17 colors in the beautiful marbled walls. Even the ceiling was taken into account. A lovely mural was painted on it in the central part of the room. The French crystal chandeliers and gold-backed mirrors complete the room.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kelsey, teachers of the Provo Church School, and their students just before they walked through these doors to tour the Utah State Capitol building.

The tour ended where it started, with the guide pointing out interesting aspects of the artwork that adorns the hall and the interior of the dome. It was a full day but one that can be the beginning of acquainting our young people with their state's heritage and their government at work.

Pathfinders of Reno Visit Homes, Collect for Needy

Clara Barton, though plagued with bundles of fears and shyness in her early childhood days, was able to overcome these so as to become the "Angel of the Battlefield." She directed the drivers of the army wagons which carried her supplies of food, bandages and medicine. Her services were so remarkable and outstanding that her name is known to boys and girls in schools everywhere.

The Pathfinders in our area have also overcome their fears and shyness so as to become "Angels of Kindness."

Recently, under the guidance of their leader, Mrs. Ken Falconer, and her associates, they went from door to door in uniform, silently proclaiming their identity as Seventh-day Adventist Pathfinders. As a result of their work, 640 cans of food, 73 articles of clothing and approximately $12 in cash were received. These were made up into baskets and distributed to people who needed help. What a wonderful way for our young workers to help others and what a blessing God bestows upon those who have a part in this great, organized work of the Pathfinders.

Reno, Nevada "Angels of Kindness" and the food and clothing gathered in a recent visitation to their neighbors and friends.

The names of these "Angels of Kindness," whose acts breathed of love and mercy, are recorded and remembered by God's ministering spirits.

Sergeant Jerry Hutchins of 315 Terry Circle, Tempe, has just completed a year of service as a combat medic in Vietnam. During his year of service he was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service. All of his duty in Vietnam was in the field where all the action is. At one time he was the only medic uninjured in his particular company.

Jerry still has five months of service and is on his way to Ft. Riley, Kansas. He looks forward to discharge in August and plans to go back to school, to take a course in X-ray.

Definite Stand Reaffirmed at Religious Liberty Meet

On March 7 and 8 the Phoenix Central Seventh-day Adventist Church hosted the Third Annual Freedom Lectures which was sponsored by the Church-State Council, and the Arizona Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

"The Sound of Freedom" was the theme throughout the two days of lectures, featuring Elder Dwight S. Wallach of the Department of Public Affairs, and Religious Liberty Council of Colorado, Attorney Warren L. Johns of Sacramento, California who is also executive vice-president of the Church-State Council, and Roland R. Hegstad, editor of Liberty magazine, and associate secretary of the International Religious Liberty Association.

"The Sound of Freedom," through music, was co-ordinated by Dr. and Mrs. Wilmont Penner, featuring The Mighty Men of Pacific Union College, and the Symphony Trio of Sacramento, California.

On Friday evening Elder Dwight S. Wallach told of the experiences that led to the defeat of the proposed Sunday law in Colorado and the negotiations that led to this action. Roland R. Hegstad warned of the dangers of conformity to the pressures and tide of popular opinion, and that we as a peculiar people of God have a definite stand and witness to make concerning our liberties and rights.

The Sabbath afternoon lecture was presented by Attorney Johns which was followed by a very informative audience participation and question-and-answer session, conducted by Elder John Stevens with his panel of experts—Elder Hegstad, Elder Wallach and Attorney Johns.

The afternoon program was high lighted by musical selections performed by The Mighty Men and the Symphony Trio. The strains of the Battle Hymn of the Republic re-echoed the declaration of religious principles in which we believe, and hold that this God-given right is exercised at its best when there is a separation between church and state.

Tonga VOP Group Speaks; Sings to Kaneohe Members

The Kaneohe MV Society was privileged recently to have, as guest speaker, 'Asipeli Poulivaati, who is associated with the Voice of Prophecy in Tonga. A high light on the program was the music presented by the Tonga Harmony Quartet.

Since the music of Tonga is written in quite a different manner than musical scores as we know them, Brother Poulivaati had searched the Island of Oahu to find some interested persons with whom he could form a quartet. Thus it was that his search led him to the Church College at Laie, Oahu, Hawaii. There he found three young men who have blended their voices with his in singing such beautiful songs as "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," "Are You Ready for Jesus to Come?" and many other messages in song.

The Church College operates the Polynesian Cultural Center where visitors may go and observe many of the customs and traditions of the people of Fiji, Pago Pago, and other islands of Polynesia, as well as Tonga.

Brother Poulivaati, who brings the gospel message in song over the airwaves in Tonga, also shared with us a number of experiences of the courage of the young people of Tonga in their determination to become Seventh-day Adventists even though in some cases it meant severe punishment or even being cast out from their families and friends.

We wish Brother Poulivaati and the members of the Tonga Harmony Quartet God's richest blessing as they share their talents and experiences with the people of Hawaii.

Workshop on Drug Abuse to Have Outstanding Speakers

On Sunday, April 13, a special Total Health Workshop on drug abuse will be held at the Lynwood Academy. Church members are welcome to the 9 a.m. to 12 noon period when a special session on drug abuse is planned for youth.

Dr. John T. Burroughs, narcotics education director, District Attorney's Youth Citizen Council, and his associate, Robert Collier, Narcotics Division of the District Attorney's office, will be guest instructors. Both of these experts in the field of drug abuse will tell why youth use drugs and suggest some practical ways in which drug abuse can be discouraged.

All youth interested in teaching other youth about the harmfulness of drugs are cordially invited to join this group. Interested adults also may come.

Orientation Session

Lunch will be served in the Lynwood Academy cafeteria from 12:15 p.m. to 1:45 p.m. Immediately after lunch, an orientation session will be held for church health secretaries and all church members who are interested in developing total health programs in their churches.

Are you concerned about the drug abuse, the preventable diseases, the accidents, the nutrition disorders, dental disorders, mental disorders, the broken homes, the unwed parenthood, delinquency, prejudice, hatred, violence, injustice, other inhumanities of man to man, and the sum total of destructive, preventable disorders?

Do you want to work with the Great Physician in learning, living, loving and giving His total health message to our own church members and to the seven to ten million community residents in our Southern California Conference area?

If your answer is "Yes," then, whether you are a youth or an adult, you will get real help and inspiration if you meet with us at Lynwood Academy on Sunday, April 13, at 9 a.m. sharp.

Northern Welcomes Pastor and Family to Arcata Area

Elder Charles Mitchell has recently arrived in the Arcata-Trinidad area to fill the vacancy created when Elder Reinhold Tilstra became pastor of the Grass Valley Church. Pastor Dale Jensen will serve as Elder Mitchell's associate in the district.

Elder Mitchell is a native of California who received his early schooling in the Porterville, California public schools. He graduated from the Porterville High School in 1952 and entered the Marine Corps. He served in the Marine Corps a total of three years—1952 to 1955—and spent 14 months of that time in Korea.

It was during his military service in Korea that Elder Mitchell spent six months reading his Bible to satisfy the question in his mind about the seventh-day Sabbath. He became convicted that Saturday was the Sabbath and enrolled in the Voice of Prophecy Course. Back in Hollywood he took further studies from Elder Don Loutzenhouser and upon his discharge was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Elder Mitchell studied at La Sierra (B.A. 1961), and Andrews University (M.A. 1962). It was at La Sierra that he met and married Patricia Ann Sorensen, daughter of Elder and Mrs. E. D. Sorensen of the San Andreas District.

Elder Mitchell served as associate pastor of the Van Nuys Church for two-and-one-half years and pastor of the Pasadena Church for four years before being called to Northern. He was ordained in 1965.

The Mitchells have two sons, Stephen Paul, age 6, and Timothy Mark, age 3.

We are very happy to welcome this fine family to our group of believers and workers in Northern. We know that their work in the Arcata-Trinidad area will bring a rich blessing to Northern California.

JAMES E. CHASE, President.

Rio Lindo Students Are Busy in Many Witnessing Programs

The students at Rio Lindo Academy have been involved in many programs that are designed to give them experience in sharing their Christian philosophy. In addition to the many programs to the churches and civic organizations by the band, choir, and speech groups, students have been involved with many other projects.

Each week a group of our students go

Northern California

off campus to sing in rest homes in the community.

So far this school year, the students have held two Five-Day Plans in the city of Healdsburg. Many prominent citizens of the community have gained victory over the smoking habit as a result of these programs.

Each Sabbath afternoon a group of our young ladies visit with a selected group of girls at the Los Guilucos School for Girls, an institution of the California Youth Authority. There they have opportunity to become acquainted, express Christian love and concern for those who have become misfits in our society. By their wholesome friendships, the Rio Lindo ladies have created a desire to know what we believe that gives us the security and joy that we have.

Some of our students are also helping to follow up contacts made through the Teen Talk program sponsored by the young people of the Santa Rosa Church.

We believe that our religion is not a vibrant religion unless we are somehow sharing it. We also believe that our schools are the training ground of the future members of our church. We hope that these projects are molding future workers for the church.

WILLIAM B. HULL, Pastor.

CRESCENT CITY EVANGELISM RESULTS IN LARGE BAPTISM

The Walter-Jones Evangelistic Team was invited by Pastor F. W. Ruddie to conduct a series of meetings in Crescent City. This series began January 11 at the main pavilion of the Del Norte County Fairgrounds and ran nightly through February 1.

The crowds braved heavy rains and even snow and sleet, but they came faithfully. God blessed the efforts of the pastor, laymen and evangelistic team. By the close of the meetings 38 had been baptized and a large number were in a class preparing for baptism.

La Sierra Campus to Have a Full-time Chaplain Soon

The appointment of a full-time La Sierra campus chaplain has been approved by the Southeastern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

"The long-awaited campus chaplain will be an important contribution to a whole university-wide counseling service that will become a reality next year," says Loma Linda University President David J. Bieber.

Serving in much the same way as would a church pastor, the chaplain will not be connected with administration disciplinary duties, adds President Bieber.

Names of prospects for the new position are being considered by the Southeastern California Conference which is in charge of making the appointment.

The chaplain's guidance work will include leadership in religious activities involving students as well as private counseling for students on spiritual and secular matters.

The university Student-Faculty Council is preparing a statement outlining the qualifications the chaplain will need to fulfill the needs of students. This statement will be designed to help the conference committee with the appointment.

According to an editorial by Associate Editor Gary Hanson in the La Sierra campus newspaper, The Criterion, the students support the decision to approve a campus chaplain.

Commencement Exercises Are Scheduled for May 30 - June 1

University-wide commencement exercises have been scheduled for May 30 to June 1.

At the conferring of degrees Sunday morning in the Anaheim Convention Center, Dr. Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., chancellor of the University of California at Irvine, will present the commencement address.

Consecration and baccalaureate services will be held separately on the two campuses.

Vocational Nursing Program Receives Full Accreditation

The Loma Linda University Hospital vocational nursing program early this month received full accreditation by the California State Board of Vocational Nursing and Psychiatric Technician Examiners.

Fifteen members of the first University Hospital vocational nursing class, which began last May, will receive a certificate this May and will be eligible to take state board examinations allowing them to practice as licensed vocational nurses (L.V.N.).

Included in the 54-week course are classroom studies, practical experience with medical and surgical patients of all ages, work in doctors' offices, and duty in the recovery and emergency rooms as well as all other areas of the hospital, says Alice K. Kuhn, director of the program.

According to Margaret Mallen, nursing education consultant of the California board, the examiners were pleased with the University Hospital program.

A second 20-member vocational nursing class began studies January 2. Applications are now being accepted for the next class. For further information and details, write to Alice K. Kuhn, Director of Vocational Nursing, Loma Linda University Hospital, Loma Linda, California 92354.

Hawaiian Mission

giving the pictorial reviews and helping in many other ways.

These meetings are being attended by a goodly number of non-church members, and since the meetings are being held in Kaneohe Seventh-day Adventist church, we have faith to believe that a goodly number of new members will be added to the churches of that area.

✓ Elder R. H. Nightingale, president of the Central Union Conference, will be the guest speaker in the Kaimuki church on Sabbath, April 12. Elder Nightingale is en route to several of the overseas divisions where he will be visiting camp meetings, workers meetings and will have first-hand contact with our mission work in those divisions for several months.

✓ Elder Robert L. Chism, the servicemen's chaplain stationed in Hawaii, presented a talk on Seventh-day Adventism and our views on today's world conditions at the request of the Department of Religion of the Mormon Church College of the Pacific. It was the request of this group that they be brought up to date on the meaning of today's world events in the light of our interpretation of Biblical prophecy.

✓ Once again Seventh-day Adventist ministers have been requested to offer the invocation at the regular session of the Senate in the Hawaii Legislature; the dates were March 27 and 28.

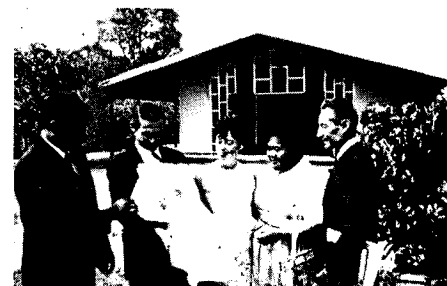

LAHAINA MEMBERS ORGANIZE RECENTLY INTO OWN CHURCH

Sabbath, March 8, was an outstanding day in many ways for our believers in Lahaina, on the beautiful valley isle of Maui. On that day this group of people was organized into the Lahaina Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The church building had been there for several years, but from time to time the membership met with our believers in Kahului, Maui, and now the time had come where it was deemed advisable to establish their own church organization and to move forward in full strength.

The history of the Lahaina Church takes us back to 1951 when there were three members in that historic area which once was the capital of Hawaii. It was there, in 1957, that Elder Walter Barber held a tent effort and some 16 people were baptized. The church building, built in 1957, was dedicated in June, 1958, but the official church family of believers had never been organized.

Recently, the number of our believers has grown, and Elder Frank Michaelson, the pastor on the island of Maui, recommended to the Executive Committee of the Hawaiian Mission the plan of organizing these believers into an official church. On Sabbath, March 8, Brother M. O. Chang, secretary-treasurer of the Hawaiian Mission, and the writer met with our believers as the steps were taken to organize the church, to elect the church officers, and to set the stage for what we believe will be a church of growth in beautiful Hawaii. The membership in that little congregation is blessed with dedicated, faithful and talented members.

Brother H. O. Collier, the church-school teacher from the Kahului Church, will serve as elder. Other officers were also elected.

It is hoped that in the not too distant future an effort can again be held in Lahaina, and that at that time more honest souls will be reached to join this growing group of believers. It is with much joy the Hawaiian Mission welcomes this new family of believers into its ranks.

May the Lahaina Seventh-day Adventist Church ever be a light set on that ancient historic site that is so well known in the history of old Hawaii.

A. G. STREIFLING.

Enriching Method of Bible Study Is Told in New Book

Have you ever read the story about the great scientist Jean Agassiz and how he taught a young biology student about fish?

Not by lectures or dissection did he do it. He simply gave the student a lab specimen and said, "Take this fish and look at it. By and by I will ask you what you have seen."

For four days he kept the young man at his task, though the budding zoologist became bored after the first ten minutes and thought he had learned all there was to know.

Agassiz's method was to teach students to observe, make comparisons, take notes, and finally draw conclusions. "Look, look, look!" he kept emphasizing.

Agassiz used the inductive method, the basic outline followed in all scientific investigation. It involves three steps: 1. Observe, 2. Interpret, and 3. Apply.

Leo Van Dolson in his new book, Hidden No Longer, directs students of Holy Scripture to study the Bible this way. And rich indeed will be the rewards, he points out.

Study Outline

With this illuminating volume before you, you will find yourself in the same position as a student in one of Professor Van Dolson's classes. The material presented, along with techniques, charts, and diagrams, follows the same outline as used by the professor in his Bible classes.

It spells out the workable and enriching method of studying the Bible the inductive way. And in doing so it talks of the same thing Mrs. E. G. White writes about when she calls on the Bible student to study one passage until its meaning is clear and its relationship to the plan of salvation is evident, saying that such study "is of more value than the perusal of many chapters with no definite purpose in view and no positive instruction gained." Steps to Christ, page 90.

Hidden No Longer forms part of the new Dimension Series and comes attractively priced at only $1.95.

If you are tradition-directed, you are likely to be a smoker if you come from a society where smoking has been practiced as a regular custom. If you are inner-directed, you probably will not be a smoker if you have nonsmoking background and parents who oppose the habit. If you are other-directed, you will follow easily the smoking practices of those around you. . . . It would be well if every person would consider the question when it comes to smoking. Who is my boss?
