Food and Nutrition Questions Answered

Question:

I am anxious to give my family the most nutritious meals. Is there danger of nutrient loss in cooking foods? Is there a difference of losses in fresh, frozen or canned foods?

Answer:

A certain percentage of raw foods, especially fruits and vegetables, is desirable in the diet, but it is obviously necessary to cook foods both for palatability and digestibility. Some of the iron and a large portion of B vitamins (primarily thiamine) and vitamin C will be dissolved in cooking water and lost if foods are cut too small, cooked in large amounts of water, or cooked too long. Since thiamine is easily destroyed by heat and vitamin C by oxidation, some losses of these vitamins are unavoidable.

If the housewife follows a few simple rules such as those below for food purchasing, storage and preparation, she can keep nutrient loss at a minimum.

Buy fresh vegetables and fruits that are well formed, fresh, and crisp. Wilted foods have lost some vitamins. Try to eat most fresh fruits and vegetables within a week of purchase. Keep most raw vegetables and fruits in the refrigerator. Potatoes, turnips, and fresh citrus fruits do not need to be refrigerated, but should be kept cool.

Food Preparation

Fruit juices should be refrigerated. Frozen foods should be kept frozen until used. Thawing and refreezing causes the quality of the foods to deteriorate.

When cooking vegetables use a minimum amount of water, a minimum cooking time, and minimum exposure of surface area, to reduce nutrient loss. Root vegetables are best cooked in their jackets. Pressure cooking, steaming or quickly cooking in a tightly covered container with only enough water to prevent scorching permits good retention of most nutrients in vegetables. (The material of which the cooking utensil is made has little or no effect on retention of the nutrients in foods.)

Frozen vegetables contain a high proportion of the nutrients originally present. Commercially canned vegetables also retain good amounts since they are handled and prepared by modern scientific methods. In the industrial process, the vegetable is harvested at the proper time to assure optional size, appearance and nutritive value. Then it is cooled immediately after picking, and cooked in a closed system with a minimum amount of air and cooking time.

Leader Reflects on Status of Monument Valley Events

Sabbath, June 7, at Monument Valley Mission and Hospital has come to a quiet end. The Mission workers have retired. The Navajos have returned to their hogans. Now, I have a few moments to reflect on the providences of God that made possible the happenings of this day.

The Sabbath activities began early; this was to be an extraordinary day. In addition to the regular morning services the afternoon program included a baptism, dedication of the Mission church and the ordination of Navajo minister Tom Holliday.

A baptism is always well attended at the Monument Valley church. Never was there a larger congregation than this afternoon. There were extra chairs in every available spot. Two hundred seventy-five people crowded into the little church as a baptism of five was held; 11 more stood, deciding to follow their Lord in this experience at the coming camp meeting, June 13-15.

It was so appropriate for Dr. C. L. Stoneman and his wife to be present for the dedication of the church. Since a new evangelism center and recreation hall have been completed, the church will now be used only for religious services.

When the Masons arrived at Monument Valley, Dr. Stoneman came by to see what he could do to help. He found there was need for a church building. Returning to his home in Beaumont, California he tried to raise funds but there was little interest in Monument Valley at that time.

Dr. Stoneman had a serious heart ailment and had been advised that he probably had only six months to live. He went to a bank and borrowed $5,000, and with the help of others began to construct a church, piece by piece, in his back yard.

After it was completed, it was trucked to Monument Valley and during cold Christmas weather in 1958 the church was assembled under his direction. It now stands as a monument to the faith of a man who still has dreams. Only today I heard him say, "The church was enlarged in 1960 and must be enlarged again."

Eight years ago Tom Holliday came to the Mission to do some painting as a day laborer. Mrs. Alice Mason, always on the watch for an opening to give Bible studies, found just that after visiting with Tom. He wanted to know about the prophecies, especially the Mark of the Beast. Tom received Bible studies and became a member of the church. Later his wife was baptized. Today Tom Holliday was ordained to the gospel ministry. He is the first North American Indian ever to be ordained as a Seventh-day Adventist minister.

Farewell Service

After the Sabbath, the Mission family and a few visiting ministers met at the home of Dr. Daniel Ekkens, who is taking Dr. Mason's place as medical director of the Mission Hospital. We were meeting to say "Farewell" and "God bless you" to two faithful and sincere workers for God—Dr. Lloyd and Alice Mason. They are returning to California after 11 years of loving service for the Indians.

Awaking this morning, I realized that what we had expected for months was suddenly happening. The Masons were leaving. I stepped through the living room of their home to the large window and watched the changing colors on the monuments that have made this valley famous. I thought of the thousands of Navajos who have been blessed by the ministry of Dr. and Mrs. Mason and the growth of our Mission church in recent years.

Then I thought of the many who have not yet been reached with the gospel. I wondered about the future. But not for long. I began to pray. "Great God, Thou are able. Take not away Thy Holy Spirit from this place. Send a new spirit of dedication into the heart of every Mission worker. Use them to bring hundreds of Navajos into the true fold of the Good Shepherd. I ask this in the name of Jesus. Amen."

Revolving Fund Program Is Needing Additional Money

In view of the need for additional funds in our Pacific Union Revolving Fund program, we are prepared to receive additional funds from our members, with the understanding that five per cent interest will be paid and promissory notes issued signed by the officers.

The funds can be deposited on much the same basis as you would have them in a bank or a savings and loan association, subject to withdrawal as you may need them.

If any of our members have funds they wish to leave with the Pacific Union Revolving Fund on this basis, we will be very happy to hear from you and receive your funds, and send you the promissory note to cover your deposit.

ALVIN G. MUNSON, Treasurer.

Financial Guidance for the Youth Leads to Independence

Often parents remark, "I cannot entrust money to my son or daughter. They spend it so foolishly." Children and youth need to be instructed about the best way to manage money, and they must learn by experience.

A father may take his son or daughter to the family banker, at the age of 12 or 14 years, and have the banker spend about 30 minutes privately with the son or daughter, explaining all about money and how to use it. After this the father ought to provide a definite sum and permit the son or daughter to set up his personal bank account.

From this point on, that son or daughter should be made to feel a responsibility for handling his finances. When he earns money or receives a gift of money, let him make out deposit slips for such funds. When school bills need to be paid, give the funds to the young person, and let him issue checks to pay his school account.

Appropriate Behavior Asked of Youth Congress Attendees

We would like to remind all those going to the World Youth Congress and on the tour to dress and conduct themselves in harmony with Seventh-day Adventist standards.

Adventist youth of the North American Division will be closely observed by Adventist youth from many parts of the world where privileges and freedoms are not as abundant as they are here, and where their life is far more conservative.

Therefore, it will behoove us to be discreet in all that we say and do.

Let us pray for God's protection and blessing as we depart on this memorable trip.

Research Studies Value of Sugar, Cyclamates in Food

It has long been known that the use of sugar in foods causes diabetes, dental caries, increased coronary thrombosis, and various forms of malnutrition. If sugar were a man-made chemical, it would very likely not be approved by the Food and Drug Administration. And yet its use has increased to more than 11 million tons per year in the United States (110 pounds per capita). It is the only food material that neither man nor animal has to be trained to like.

Since artificial (non-nutritive) sweeteners were approved by the FDA in 1960, the use of cyclamates (with saccharin) has increased to a total consumption in the United States of more than 7,000 tons per year. First used in soft drinks, they are now making great headway in pastries, candy, and canned fruits. Cyclamates are made from cyclohexylamine, a chemical also used in corrosion inhibitors and rubber chemicals.

Approval of FDA

The FDA has repeatedly reapproved (1955, 1962, 1965 and 1967) the use of cyclamates as sweeteners in foods, since the only adverse effect shown in some susceptible people is a softening of the stool when used in large amounts. Until recently cyclamates have been assumed to pass through the digestive tract unchanged but this is now being challenged.

There is no indication yet that the body retains either cyclamate or cyclohexylamine in any appreciable amounts. The controversy is between the drug companies making cyclamates, and the sugar industry which admits it stands to lose one billion dollars in revenue from the sale of sugar.

Both sides are spending large sums of money to determine the harmful or harmless effects of cyclamates. It seems to be a case of the experts looking at the same picture and seeing different things in it.

Those opposing the use of artificial sweeteners show that they cause increases in blood pressure and heart rate, interference with drug action such as antibiotics, cause changes in the liver, and produce changes in chromosome rearrangement which may result in defective offspring.

Effect of Reports

The cyclamate interests point out that all of these reports are based on animal studies, and researchers admit that there is no proved correlation in man. They emphasize that the known adverse effects of cyclamates in human consumption are limited to large intakes by susceptible individuals under specific conditions. In their opinion these objections are far less serious than the major metabolic disorders caused by the use of sugar, and should therefore not mitigate against the general use of artificial sweeteners.

All regulatory agencies agree that the amount of artificial sweeteners should be limited to 3,500 milligrams per day for adults and 1,200 for children. In April, 1969, the FDA circulated a proposal to require that foods containing cyclamates list on container labels the following information: (1) The milligrams of cyclamate per serving, (2) the maximum daily allowance, (3) the cyclohexylamine residue does not exceed 25 parts per million, and (4) that it may have injurious effects in the system.

The latter item is being pushed by the sugar industry and opposed by cyclamate producers, with final action still pending.

Youth and Finances

Young people may be made to feel secure and somewhat independent in knowing that they have their own bank account. Let them spend their own money. Surely, they will make mistakes, but for the most part they are going to become more and more careful with this program of financial responsibility. Children and youth who have to come and ask dad or mother for small amounts of money continually may not be getting good training in handling money.

Try to make them independent and at every opportunity try to anticipate their needs, helping them keep their bank accounts in good shape so that if they want something, they can write a check and purchase what they need without asking dad or mother for money. Strive to make your children feel secure and independent. This will have a wonderful effect on your children and will prepare them to meet the financial pressures they will be sure to meet later in life.

"Life and Health" Guides in Maintaining Family Health

Midsummer days with their intense heat give parents a hard time in keeping the children occupied, contented, and healthy. Life and Health helps the Adventist family to keep healthy, and it has hot-weather hints for everyone.

The August, 1969, issue of Life and Health will tell you how to take a sun bath properly in the article "Suntan Safely," by professional writer Carlson Wade. Mr. Wade gives many suggestions on how to soak in the proper amount of summer sun for its healing properties.

The article "Diabetes—Your Child and You" was written by one of our new writers, Marylou Leng Blosser, a Kettering Hospital nurse. She writes in an optimistic vein for parents of diabetic children, presenting many ideas for the family with a diabetic child.

"Arthritis" by Ellis L. Thompson has much to offer the arthritis patient. Mr. Thompson says it is best for arthritics to keep active throughout life in order to stay as limber as possible, and he suggests treatments for relief.

"Seeing-Eye Dog" is an article by Mildred Donehoo Aaron, one of our blind authors, that especially instructs blind youngsters in the skill of becoming acquainted with a seeing-eye dog and getting his help. Even little children can benefit from a seeing-eye dog.

Parents and teachers will find many guidelines in "The Teacher Sent from God" by Ellen G. White, a study of methods from the world's greatest Teacher, Jesus Christ. This article is for the parent or teacher with a problem, and it is inspiring and stimulating for everyone.

"The Meat Diet, Good or Bad?" begins a series of articles on this subject that is vitally important to health, written by Dr.

The intensity of effort expended is measured by the billion-dollar stake involved.

Loma Linda Foods uses cyclamates in only one of its foods, Hi-so-pro, a diabetic-type product which contains 12.5 milligrams per serving. Four servings per day equal 50 milligrams or 1/70 of the daily maximum allowed.

 Director, Research Dept.,
 Loma Linda Foods.

O. S. Parrett. The countries of the world leading in amount of meat eaten are the same ones leading in degenerative disease.

Do not grope around for ideas on keeping your family healthy. Let Life and Health guide you in a sure course toward physical and mental well-being. This is the magazine that helps give our wonderful health message to the world. It can give you many a suggestion that will save you money and distress.

Ministers and Families Leave Hawaii on New Assignments

Ever since the days of the early disciples when one went to this assignment and another was called elsewhere, workers have experienced changes. Each year in the normal turn of events, some of our ministerial group, some medical workers, and some educational workers transfer to other fields of service and responsibility.

This spring was no exception. Within recent weeks we have bade farewell to two families from our ministerial staff.

Elder and Mrs. Melvin Turner left Hawaii on Sunday, the first of June, after having served on the island of Kauai as well as the island of Oahu. More recently, on Sunday night, June 15, Elder and Mrs. Wayne Andersen left Hawaii, after having given service on the big island of Hawaii as well as the island of Kauai.

In Elder Turner's case, the first assignment was on the western side of Kauai, and it was during his time as pastor of the Kekaha and Kalaheo churches that the new island-wide school was built. Elder Turner put in many and long hours in dedicated service, being familiar with the building trade, to see this project through. He was faithfully assisted by other workers on that island as well as the laymen. In addition, two houses for workers were built on that side of the island to serve the minister and the principal of the school.

Dedicated Service

More recently Elder Turner served on the staff of the Honolulu Central Seventh-day Adventist Church. Here he gave faithful and dedicated service, together with his wife and family. They have responded to an invitation of the Southeastern California Conference to assume the pastorship of the El Centro Seventh-day Adventist Church. Their many friends in Hawaii wish them every blessing in this new and challenging assignment, and their service in the Islands will be remembered as one of dedication, vision and loyalty.

Elder and Mrs. Wayne Andersen, together with their family, first settled on the beautiful Kona Coast, and it was here they worked faithfully in the interest of the cause of God both in the Kohala and Kona churches. Their desire to see the work grow and move forward was always a source of encouragement. They worked for a total program, covering the range of every individual in the congregation and school.

After their service on the Kona Coast, they transferred to the island of Kauai, and here Elder Andersen's deep interest in educational work demonstrated itself in strong support for the educational work on the island of Kauai.

Elder and Mrs. Andersen have been called to head up the Bible Department at Maplewood Academy, and their many friends in the Islands will wish them every blessing in the new assignment to which they have gone.

Naturally these transfers do have a way of reminding us that our work is great and extensive as God in His plan directs that one should work here and another there. To both of these families we extend our very best wishes for outstanding service in the fields to which they are going.

A. G. STREIFLING.

Numerous Changes Noted in Hawaiian Educational Field

We are always saddened when teachers leave our field but we realize when terms are up and other opportunities present themselves moves are inevitable. This summer we say a fond aloha and a big mahalo to the following who will be leaving us. Pat Miyashiro will be going to Missouri; Harriet Takahashi will be moving in to the profession of secretarial work; Robert Midkiff, whose term is up, is leaving for Thunderbird Elementary School as principal; Mr. Bill Greenwood will be teaching at Bay City Junior Academy in California; Vernon Oliver is moving on to Colorado Springs, Colorado; and Mrs. Raymond Lau into private secretarial work. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Widstrand will be moving back to Wyoming which was their home originally. We only have one move within the field and that is Mr. Norman Thomas and family who will be moving from Molokai Mission School to Hawaiian Mission Elementary School.

To all of the folks that will be leaving us we certainly did appreciate the good and fine spirit that they manifested while here and we wish them God's richest blessing as they serve in other fields of His vineyard.

Hawaiian Mission

Teachers who are coming to Hawaii are: Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Jorgenson from Pacific Union College where Mr. Jorgenson is presently teaching on the college staff. He will be coming to Molokai to be principal and upper-grade teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie O'Neill who will be graduating from Pacific Union College this coming summer will be moving to Kailua Mission School where Mr. O'Neill will be the upper-grade teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dunn and family from Escondido Junior Academy, where he held the principalship, will have the same position at Kailua Mission School.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Engelbert, who, of course, are not new to this field, will be returning to the Hawaiian Islands where Mr. Engelbert will be principal and upper grade teacher and Mrs. Engelbert will be lower grade teacher of Kauai Junior Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buntain, from Wasco, California, were both teachers for many, many years in that area. Mrs. Buntain will be teaching our lower-grade classes at Mauna Loa School on the Island of Hawaii and Mr. Buntain will be working in the Special English program there.

To these folk we certainly wish to extend a fond aloha and we are looking forward to these new workers arriving in our field.

Educational Superintendent.

A Beneficial Five-Day Plan Is Held in Salt Lake City

The second Five-Day Plan this year has just been completed in Salt Lake City, Utah. Pastor John Boyd and Drs. Gordon Short and Russel Thomsen were the sponsors of this program. A high success rate was attained by the approximately 20 smokers who attended.

The plan achieved full-media public relations coverage, with the appearance of Drs. Short and Thomsen on Channel 7 television, news coverage in the Deseret News, and the full support of the city's leading medical clinics. This good public relations is especially important for the continued work of the Church in this area which is often referred to as "The Far Eastern Division of the Pacific Union Conference" because of the relatively few Adventists working in a sometimes difficult field.

Ten dollars registration fee was charged each person in order to cover expenses for several added features aimed at increasing

Dr. Russel Thomsen of Salt Lake City's recent Five-Day Plan discusses the program with Dr. Rex Campbell after appearing with Dr. Campbell on Channel 7 and its "Magazine" program. the success rate of the Five-Day Plan. Each participant received a year's subscription to both Listen magazine and Smoke Signals. Also, they received the "Ban the Butt Button Book" and "Lung Ashtray" developed by Dr. W. A. Spense, who also helped one night in the plan. Each person received the newly published General Conference cookbook, Dining Delightfully. This will be used more fully in the planned follow-up cooking school which Mrs. John Boyd will be giving in July and which will be attended by the graduates of this Five-Day Plan.

News Notes a Five-Day Plan, Conversion, and New Member

Several registrants at the Winnemucca Five-Day Plan felt they were in a position to gain complete victory over the smoking habit by the end of the program. Twelve smokers in all registered for the May 18-22 session.

Dr. Paul Knoop, a local physician, presented the medical aspect of the program. Pastor Skip MacCarty presented the psychological approach to the smoking problem. Only one of the 12 applicants had the distinction of going without even one cigarette during the Five-Day Plan, and he is determined never to touch another cigarette.

The local radio station aired a 15-minute interview with Pastor MacCarty concerning the philosophy and methodology of the Five-Day Plan.

Eighty persons, including nearly 20 church members and prospective church members from Elko, were present at the May 24 Sabbath service at Winnemucca to hear Petros Kamilos, publishing secretary of the Central California Conference, tell his thrilling and inspiring conversion story.

Elder Kamilos' text was Luke 15:8-10, the parable of the lost coin. He told of his lost condition a number of years ago, and how God searched for him and found him in a prosperous but degenerate condition. Step by step he was led to a complete commitment of his life to the eternal realities in Jesus Christ. He now lives a dynamic, fulfilled life. Many present that Sabbath were encouraged to see a living demonstration of God's miracle-working power and were led to rededicate their lives to Christ.

The Winnemucca Company welcomed a new member into their fellowship on Sabbath, May 31. Mrs. Walter Clarno, who has been acquainted with the Adventist message for years, became a Seventh-day Adventist by profession of faith. Mrs. Clarno's daughter, Mrs. George McDonough, and grandson, Bob Bradley, are also members of the Winnemucca Company. She took the Voice of Prophecy Faith Bible Course shortly before she joined the church.

Baptism and MV Investiture Highlight Las Vegas Weekend

Sabbath afternoon, May 31, provided a blessed and happy occasion for the Las Vegas Tenth Street Church. Four adults and four teenagers, shown in the accompanying picture, were baptized and welcomed into church membership. These eight new members are the result of much study, prayer and careful preparation. Three of the teenagers are students at the Las Vegas Junior Academy.

We were greatly favored to have our conference educational and MV secretary, Howard Barron, and his family with us on May 30 and 31. He was the guest speaker at the Friday night MV Investiture Service and the Sabbath morning services.

The Barron girls, Debra, Tina and Toni, provided special music Friday night and at the baptismal service Sabbath afternoon. This stringed trio was a real treat. Debra plays the violin, Tina the cello, and Toni the viola. They were accompanied by their mother, Frances Barron.

There are others who are studying, and we expect with the Lord's blessing another baptism in the near future.

Sutter Hill Member Writes Appreciation to Astronauts

Mrs. Lois Klein, of the Sutter Hill Church, thrilled with all Americans at the time of the Successful Apollo 8 Moon Voyage, and especially at the Christmas Eve message which included the reading of the words of Genesis 1 in the telecast from the moon.

Later, when she heard that the Post Office was issuing a commemorative stamp, and planned to have on it the words, "In the beginning, God . . .," she was even more thrilled. Then word came that atheistic pressures were urging removal of the words about God, and she wrote the astronauts, thanking them for their heroic voyage and for their reading of the Bible, and assuring them of God's watch-care. She urged that the original reading on the stamp be retained.

She received a very beautiful letter from Colonel Frank Borman, thanking her for her prayers and interest. His letter was read at the church, along with the one she had written that evoked his response.

The commemorative stamp does retain the words, "In the beginning, God . . ." Apparently, Mrs. Klein, along with thousands of others in the country were deeply appreciative of the astronauts' reverence and respect for God.

Canoe Trips on Russian River Hold Enjoyment for Students

The first two weekends in May began the annual series of canoe trips on the Russian River sponsored by the Northern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists Youth Activity Department.

The first weekend involved students from Pacific Union College. Nearly sixty students and sponsors attended and enjoyed the beautiful scenery on the Friday afternoon trip and the Friday night vespers when Elder Charles G. Edwards of the Northern California Conference Youth Activities Department was the speaker.

Sabbath afternoon activities included a nature walk in the nearby hills. The outing was climaxed on Sunday by canoeing down the Russian River into the city of Healdsburg.

During the second weekend in May the students and teachers of Sacramento Union Academy came for their canoe trip. More than 100 of them were present. Friday night, Elder Romayne Chinuock, Associate Youth Activities director of Northern California Conference led out in the camp-

Traditionally the last canoe trip held each May is the family canoe trip on Memorial Day weekend. At that time the families enjoy a campout and trip on the Russian River.

Elder McEune was born in London, England, graduating from the Lady Owens Grammar School of that city. He has a rich background of experience in publishing work and also in the insurance work. He has served in the Lord's work as a literature evangelist and publishing secretary in England. Prior to coming to Northern California, he served as publishing secretary of the Arizona Conference from 1967 until this year.

Elder and Mrs. McEune have no children and are at the present time getting acquainted in the field, doing the work of the Publishing Department in a very efficient manner.

We wish to extend to the McEune's a warm welcome into the family of workers here in the Northern California Conference. May the Lord richly bless them in their new responsibilities.

Duane and Margaret Lemons

A New Ministerial Intern and Wife Work with Youth

Duane and Margaret Lemons have recently moved to the Phoenix area where Duane will take up his responsibilities as youth pastor for the valley this summer. Duane has been called as an intern for the Arizona Conference. He and his wife plan to be here for one year; then they will go to Berrien Springs, Michigan where Duane will take a year at Andrews University.

Duane was born in Denver, Colorado, and moved to Arizona with his parents in 1959. Duane graduated from Thunderbird Academy in 1963 and from Loma Linda University with a B.A. in Theology in 1969. He has done literature evangelism work for the past four summers in Nevada-Utah and Central California.

Margaret was born in Meshed, Iran where her parents were missionaries. She graduated from La Sierra Academy, attended Pacific Union College and Loma Linda University, receiving her R.N. in 1969. Margaret also did literature evangelism work for three summers in the Southeastern California Conference. Margaret is the daughter of Elder Melvin V. Jacobson, Religious Liberty and Temperance Secretary for the Southeastern California Conference.

We welcome this young couple to the work of the ministry in Arizona.

Elder Bonner Allen with one of the new fabricated book display cases that will be used at camp meeting.

New Book Display Cases Aid Book and Bible House Needs

The Northern California Conference Book and Bible House is now using one of the new fabricated book display cases. These are supplied by the Pacific Press Publishing Association and are used for transporting books during camp meeting.

Mr. Bonner Allen, Book and Bible House manager, states that in former years, heavy wooden crates have been used for transporting and handling the books, and have been a real problem. With these lightweight, flexible, collapsible and handy cases, the work of the Book and Bible House will be more efficient.

Those attending camp meeting this year will find many real bargains in the Book and Bible House. Be sure to visit the display in your area and take advantage of the camp meeting prices.

Three Objectives Outlined for Work of New Committee

A conference Human Relations Committee has been formed, representing the three major cultural areas of our conference membership.

Three specific objectives have been established within which the committee will work. These include (1) a concern for the cultural and intellectual needs of the members, using leaders in each area as spokesmen; (2) a concern for the physical needs of each area, and (3) the use of individuals from each area to contribute to the over-all spiritual program of the conference. Programs will be established whereby cultures of each group can be shared with the others, for mutual benefit.

Serving as committee members are two pastors and three laymen from each cultural group.

These include Elder H. M. Barker, Elder E. C. Ward, Cyril Woods, James Jackson and Mrs. Lee Edna Ford, representing our Negro churches; Elder Merardo Leon, Elder Manuel Lopez, Carlos Montautti, Alfonso Arrique and Carlos Flores, representing the Spanish churches; and Elder L. D. Jaecks, Elder H. A. Welkin, Mrs. J. W. Osborn, Willis Risinger and Dr. Harold N. Sheffield, representing the Caucasian churches.

This is the first Human Relations Committee to be formed on the local conference level in our denomination, to represent these three cultural groups.

At its first meeting the committee agreed to abide by the principles set forth in the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy, specifically "The Southern Work" by Ellen G. White. The committee members will accept from any church member suggestions for the committee's consideration.

One of the first pilot projects to be implemented will be in the new $200,000 San Diego 31st Street Adventist Center. It will feature a team of health experts, home economists, nutritionists and other specialists in a series of programs. It will be aimed at both church members and non-church members.

When this first project is completed the committee will carefully evaluate the results and make recommendations for other programs.

Excellent Program Reveals the Folk Festival Winners

The Third Act Trio from Pacific Union College took first award at the Second Annual Folk Festival held in the Colton High School Auditorium May 17. The members of the trio are Steve Wallace, Ralph McLin and Ricardo Henry. They sang "This Train."

Second award trophy went to the Young Folk Trio of Loma Linda University. They arranged their winning song entitled "Clouds." They introduced their own Folk Singers Hymnbook just off the press. Trio members are Steve Guptill, Gary Hullquist and Carolyn Davis.

Third award went to the Newbury Park Academy Garden Club String Ensemble. They composed their winning song.

Other groups included Good Vibrations from Bakersfield Academy, Naomi Blom from Loma Linda University, Soul Experience Trio from Orangewood, and Paul Beach from Loma Linda Academy.

Important Call Is Made for Churches to Have Summer VBS

We must take advantage of every opportunity to tell the story of the wonderful love of Jesus. The VBS is a door that is open to us.

We teach the children how to use their hands in making the crafts. A well-rounded, planned, and organized program is well received.

If your church is not planning a VBS this summer, why not plan for one right now? Don't let the summer pass by without a Vacation Bible School! If your church is having a VBS, we wish you God's blessing and offer all the help we can give from your Sabbath School Department and Sabbath School Supply.

Executive Committee Votes on Very Important Actions

Several ministerial worker changes have been approved by recent conference executive committee action and will occur as arrangements can be made.

Gary Case, who has been serving as an intern with Elder L. D. Jaecks in San Bernardino, will serve the Laguna Niguel congregation. This company has been under the direction of Elder A. E. Rawson, one of our retired workers.

David Yates, a ministerial intern, will return from Andrews University for two years to work with Elder E. C. Ward in San Diego.

It has been previously announced that Pastor Gerald Wood would move to Elsinore, but that action has been rescinded and he will remain in La Habra.

In other actions by the committee, it was voted to put the It Is Written program on television in San Diego beginning in September. Elder Melvin Jacobson will attend the quadrennial meeting of medical secretaries of the North American Division at Hot Springs, Arkansas, August 4-7.

Youth of the Spanish churches in South-eastern will join those from the rest of the Pacific Union Conference for a Spanish youth camp at Cedar Falls Camp August 29-September 1.

Five workers in the conference association will attend a convention on Estate Planning and Investments, September 7-12. Attending will be Arthur Spoo, A. L. Tomlinson, F. A. Gregerson, L. A. Skinner and H. E. McClure.

Elder William E. Jamerson has accepted a call to be MV secretary of the Nebraska Conference. Elder Don Nelson, youth pastor of the San Diego area, will assume the Orange County youth pastor post being vacated by Elder Jamerson.

Elder Ed Johnson, pastor of the Ramona and Borrego Springs congregations has accepted a call to serve in the Wyoming Conference.

SPA Students Raise Money to Buy Curtains for Gymnasium

A new appearance was given to the San Pasqual Academy gymnasium with the addition of curtains for the stage. The stage has been without curtains since it was erected six years ago.

The entire $1,800 needed to purchase the curtains was raised by the students. This was done by writing letters asking for contributions and by selling candy. Prizes were awarded for selling the most candy. Sharon Merrill, Vista, received first prize. All who raised $100 and $50 also received prizes.

The earthtone curtains with sand colored sides and backdrop are made of vinyl reinforced with nylon. They are fireproof and will not absorb sound as cloth curtains would.

The hard work of the students is proving worth while when putting on programs in the gymnasium.

VBS Workshops

Vacation Bible School Workshops were recently held in the San Diego and La Sierra areas of the conference. It was thrilling to see the enthusiasm of the leaders as they prepare for bigger and better Vacation Bible Schools this summer. Many churches were represented at the workshops.

1,500 Pathfinders mass at Del Mar Parade Grounds at the conclusion of their fair parade.

S.E. Pathfinders Conducted a Successful Fair Recently

A color guard from Miramar Naval Air Station and a Marine Band from the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego led the parade which officially opened the May 4, Pathfinder Fair at Del Mar.

Leading the band was Drum Major Sergeant Bunt. In addition to these two units there were 68 other units including representatives of the 62 Pathfinder clubs of the conference, floats, cars carrying the Grand Marshal, Elder John Osborn, and his wife, and special guests and judges of the day's activities.

Chairman of the judges was Elder Harry Garlick, Pacific Union Conference associate MV secretary. His assistants included Elder Ray James and Elder Emmett Watts of the Southern California MV Department and the Pathfinder coordinators of the Southern California Conference.

Receiving special recognition for having come to Del Mar for the fourth consecutive year, Elder Bill Dopp, conference MV secretary, accepted a plaque from Del Mar Mayor Tom Pearson.

Other awards presented during the day included the following: Mentone Club received a trophy for having accumulated the highest number of points for over-all activities throughout the year. Santa Ana Club

Ministerial Interns Study Prior to Work in Southern

We would like to introduce our constituents to four of the ministerial interns that our conference will be sponsoring at Andrews University next year.

the former Sharon Lukens. His father is Elder Erling Calkins, pastor at Santa Barbara; Mrs. Calkins' father is Elder M. L. Lukens, secretary of the Southeastern California Conference.

Coming from the Pacific Union College as a religion graduate is Terry D. Cassingham. He was married to Cathryne Ann Howard in Burlingame, California in December, 1964. Mrs. Cassingham has re-

WMMC Volunteers Receive Their Yearly Service Awards

White Memorial Medical Center Volunteers, those "Angels in Pink," were recently awarded their yearly service awards at the annual banquet of the Volunteer Service Guild.

Awards were presented to over 30 outstanding volunteers with others receiving commendations for their service to the institution.

Especially honored at the convocation were Mrs. Elizabeth Stilson, who at 87 is the oldest volunteer, and Mrs. Eva Stewart, who comes from the greatest distance, having to transfer on three buses.

The surprise of the evening came when Mrs. Mary Runyon, treasurer of the auxiliary, in making her annual report, released the information on the project for the coming year. As their contribution to the ongoing progress of the Medical Center, this organization has accepted the challenge of financing a Pediatric Intensive Care Unit.

"Beams of Faith" Is a Daily Witness in Los Angeles Area

A voice that is heard over the radio every day in Los Angeles is Elder R. J. Thomas, pastor of the Compton Church. He can be heard over KGER at 5:30 p.m. at 1390 on the dial Monday through Saturday.

Here is an interesting comment from the recent issue of "Beams of Faith": "For the first time in history, we may freely move through doors and walls into the homes of people. Doors that are otherwise closed, we can use radio to enter with the revelation of God's word."

The burden of the Church is to make known the revelation of God and His Word to all the world. Radio is a tool He has given to fulfill His command. We must use it.

Builders of Faith has accepted the challenge and reaches out to the millions in Southern California.

The Burbank Seventh-day Adventist Church was recently given an award for an outstanding contribution to community beautification by the Burbank Beautiful Co-ordinating Council. This was the only award given to a church and was one of 16 awards given to various Burbank organizations out of more than 40 nominees.

Kenneth E. Norwood, president of the council, stated that this was an award that was long overdue. The Burbank Church enjoys a good reputation in the city due to its participation in many community activities.

Degrees Received at Andrews

Several familiar names of present and former pastors appeared on the list of those who received their Bachelor of Divinity degrees from the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University on June 8. They are Elder Herman L. Kibble, pastor of the Altadena Church; Elder C. Lloyd Wyman, pastor of the White Memorial Church and Elder Marvin L. Moore, a former pastor in our conference.

Employees of the Schrillo Manufacturing Company in the San Fernando Valley also donated one day's wage for the memorial fund.

Pathfinders' Club Banquet

"Saludos Amigos y bienvenidos todos!" These were the words of greeting uttered by Mrs. Ruby Nelson, master guide of the Tamarind Avenue Pathfinders' Club at their recent Latin-American Banquet.

Early in February Tamarind Avenue Pathfinders' Club, under the direction of Mr. Earl Blackwell, held its first banquet. It was a tremendous success! The service was impeccable, with Pathfinders as polished waiters and waitresses.

Porterville Holds Debt-free Dedication Services in April

Three special services on April 25 and 26 marked the dedication of the new church in Porterville. The A-frame structure, located on Highway 65 and Linda Vista Avenue, seats 550 and has classrooms, offices, welfare and recreation facilities built around a central lawn area which is suitable for outdoor banquets and social occasions.

churches. The first one was on Villa Street which served from 1920-1936; the next on Oak Street and Fourth which was used until 1965.

Groundbreaking for the new church took place in May of 1964, and the sanctuary was ready for use on May 8, 1965. Now the $250,000 structure has been dedicated free of debt.

Members Sad, Glad Because Redwood City Church Grows

Sabbath, April 26, was both a day of sadness and one of joy for the Redwood City Church—joy because the church was moving forward in another phase of development, and sadness because it was the last Sabbath service in the James Street church.

The James Street church was built in 1936 through the love and labor of the church membership. It served the congregation well until a number of years ago when it was decided a new location was needed for the church to have room to grow. So a building site was purchased, and the old church sold.

An existing church near the building site will be used as an interim place of worship. It is the former Redwood Hills Baptist church at Jefferson and California in Redwood City.

On March 29 the Spanish Youth Federation of the San Joaquin Valley churches met for the second time. The meeting was held in the auditorium of Armona Union Academy. Featured guests for this event were the members of the Spanish Seminar of Monterey Bay Academy.

MVA HAS OUTSTANDING STUDENT MUSICAL GROUPS

Typical of music groups in many of our academies are the "Royales" and "Royal Blues" of Mountain View Academy. The two groups are selected vocalists and instrumentalists from the school's larger band and choir groups.

Roger Abrew, director of the instrumental group "Royal Blues," and Milton Wheeler, director of the vocal group "Royales," have formed these smaller groups to facilitate travel and for their ability to perform a more varied repertoire.

These groups have been privileged to witness from Rio Lindo Academy to Los Angeles. They have given more than 100 programs during the past school year. Performing as guests at Disneyland and at the California Federation of Women's Clubs in San Francisco were two of their highlight experiences this past year. In addition to this, the groups performed at many of our own churches and schools and at numerous civic clubs, especially in the Bay Area.

It is not unusual for the groups to receive a generous honorarium for their services. These funds are used to build a stronger musical program in the school.

Most important is the influence of these students upon the groups for whom they perform. Compliments on the students' behavior, their musicianship, and their appearance have been stated in the most complimentary terms. We are extremely proud of the witnessing of these young folk, as well as of the groups from all of the schools in our conference.

Chapel Records will soon release a stereo record of the "Royal Blues." You will find it to be very popular in your religious music library.

LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY

LLU Makes a Computer Gift for SFVA's Teaching Needs

A Bendix G-15D computer originally valued at $50,000 was presented to a southern California school by Loma Linda University early this month.

Making the presentation to San Fernando Valley Academy science teacher Craig Wiles was Dr. J. Mailen Kootsey, assistant professor of physiology and biophysics at the university.

Tentative plans for using the computer at the San Fernando school, according to Dr. Kootsey, include the teaching of computer programming. The academy plans to share the computer with other Seventh-day Adventist academies in the area.

Originally the Bendix computer was presented to Loma Linda University by the Wolf Research Company, Boston, Massachusetts, for use in developing a graphics terminal in the university's scientific computation facility. At the completion of the project, university officials decided to make the computer available to the academy.

Included with the computer were two magnetic tape recorder-storage units.

Japanese-English Dictionary Makes Cultural Contribution

A Japanese-English dictionary compiled by Dr. Andrew N. Nelson, professor of education, has been selected as one of two books that have contributed most in recent years to improvement of Japanese-United States cultural relations.

The award was given by the International Cultural Promotion Society, Tokyo, to the publisher, Charles E. Tuttle Company, of Vermont and Tokyo.

The dictionary, The Modern Reader's Japanese-English Character Dictionary, shared honors with another book published by the same company—The Japanese House, by Heinrich Engel, a study of architecture and decor in which Japanese tradition is related to the contemporary scene.

A former missionary to Japan, the Philippines, and China, Dr. Nelson spent more than 40 years in the Orient. During World War II, the United States Army called on him to write technical Japanese-English dictionaries. Many terms, he found, were being used in speech and writing but had not appeared in Japanese dictionaries.

The latest edition of the dictionary, the only one of its kind and used in more than 50 United States colleges, includes 5,446 Chinese characters and 70,000 modern Japanese words. Proofreading proved to be the most difficult part of Dr. Nelson's job since some Japanese characters require as many as 26 pen strokes.

Hospital Residency Programs in Peru Implemented by LLU

Loma Linda University School of Medicine is helping a South American hospital develop residency programs in internal medicine and surgery, according to Dr. David B. Hinshaw, dean of the school.

The School of Medicine is providing teaching consultants to help implement residency programs for the 1,200-bed government-operated Hospital Central del Empleado in Lima, Peru. The affiliation began April 1.

Initially, Dr. Alex Gerber, former clinical professor at the university, and Dr. Varner J. Johns, professor of medicine, established rotation schedules and teaching conferences as well as participated in teaching rounds and consultations.

Dr. Gerber who was instrumental in developing the program made original contact with the Lima hospital while serving a term on the hospital ship S.S. Hope in Peru.

Loma Linda University's affiliation with the program will end March 31, 1970, says Dr. Johns who just returned from Lima. "The South American hospital has a very fine attending staff and will be able to carry on the residency training program effectively once it is established."

Transportation and living expenses for the Loma Linda University faculty members are provided by the Peruvian hospital.

Currently representing the university are Dr. William P. Cortis, Jr., assistant clinical professor of medicine, and Dr. Jerrold K. Longerbeam, professor of surgery.

Central California

Central Welfare Federation Leader Is Devoted to Cause

Central California Conference is grateful for the dedicated and able help given our Dorcas societies by Mrs. Mildred Larson of Chowchilla, who is now serving as our Conference Federation president. At a real sacrifice to both her and her husband, Joseph Larson, our societies are now receiving much needed help in the organizing and carrying out of their work.

You will be interested in sharing a letter recently received from Mrs. Larson about her visit in our field:

"Recently, we spent a day with Mrs. Anita Sanchez, Kern County Federation president, visiting the Dorcas groups in her area, for the purpose of grading the societies. There was great enthusiasm and interest. All but one of the five societies visited that day had to change their regular day of meeting so we could meet with them. A surprisingly large number was at each meeting. We had the same experience last week, visiting with Mrs. Adele Easter, in the South Coastal Area, and also in the Monterey Peninsula Area.

"My plan is to visit every Dorcas leader and facility in Central California Conference for grading and counseling.

"The first problem is to find when and where the Dorcas society meets, for we like to visit them on their regular work days. When the reports come in every quarter, this question is answered. We do appreciate the faithful ones who report regularly.

"Our Dorcas rooms can be found anywhere, from a small room at the top of a steep stairway, to a room downstairs in the basement of the church. Some share their workrooms with the Sabbath School for classrooms. Some are large, beautifully equipped buildings on the church lot. Some centers are located downtown on busy streets—perhaps in a former store building, a doctor's office or an older home. Some meet in private homes, storing their supplies in a garage."

She concludes by saying she is "... impressed especially by the quality that is the mark of all Dorcas work and workers, by their devotion to a cause and a task, and by the willingness and real enjoyment in giving of their time and energy to help those in need."

Public School Youth Write Letters about Mission Book

Do our friends of other faiths enjoy a good Seventh-day Adventist mission book? A public school teacher of Coronado, California, heard Alice Princess Siwundhla tell her life story. He liked her book, published by the Pacific Press, so well that he read it through to his fifth-grade class, then suggested that they write letters to Alice Princess. Here are selections from the letters she received:

"Mr. Bensley read us your book Alice Princess and we enjoyed it very much. Every time he tried to stop we persuaded him to keep going."

"I have read your book and I like it. I want your second book if I can get it. I don't have enough money to buy it so as soon as it goes to the library, if it does go to the library, I'm going to get it."

"Our teacher just finished reading your book. I thought it was very good. Do you really use Prell and Crest?"

"I liked your book an awfully lot. Our teacher read it to us as soon as we came back from lunch every day to relax us up."

"I have heard your book and I think it is the best book I have ever heard."

"My name is Rosalind Lindsay, but in this letter I will address myself Rosa if I talk about myself. I sincerely enjoyed your book. It really touched my heart. And sometimes it made me giggle (since girls are supposed to giggle, not laugh.) P.S. Please come for dinner, at 1061 Pine (please notify if you come)."

"In some parts of your book I felt like crying."

"Mr. Bensley told us that you had another book coming out later. I would like to get it, read it, and treasure it forever."

"I am 11 years old, and I am in the fifth grade. My teacher is Mr. Bensley. He is a good man. He won't harm anyone. The principal is Mr. Klopp. He is just the same as Mr. Bensley."

"I liked your book very much. It is hard to believe your story but I still do. I would like your autograph if at all possible, send it to the address at the top. Since we are writing these in school I can't include a stamp."

"My teacher, Mr. Bensley, went to the Elliott campus to listen to your speech. He had no money with him at the time, so you gave him a book of yours called Alice Princess. After that, every day he read to us. When he stopped, we were mad because it is so exciting. P.S. You sure seem very intelligent."

art contest sponsored by the Broadway Department Store in Bakersfield during National Cotton Week activities in Kern County.

Mike Hinkley, a second-grader, and Jimmy McCall, a fourth-grader, were among the four grand-prize winners. Each received a special cup of honor. Cora De Leon, a seventh-grader, was among a dozen entrants receiving honorable mention ribbons. Mr. Domingo De Leon, Delano's teacher, inspired the students with a desire to participate. There were more than 400 entries and participants from many schools throughout Kern County.
