GIVE FOR THE TEMPERANCE WORK ON OCTOBER 25

Men and women across the nation are turning to Seventh-day Adventists for help. People are increasingly recognizing smoking as a major health hazard; and, thank God, they also recognize that Seventh-day Adventists have developed a program that works, that has helped at least a million smokers break the habit.

NBC Television has filmed the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital Five-Day Plan team and already shown these half-hour programs in Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, D.C., New York, and Los Angeles.

NBC Television in Detroit featured Dr. A. W. Weaver, an Adventist physician active in the Five-Day Plan. This resulted in a massive response—13,000 letters and 600 phone calls—all looking to Seventh-day Adventists for help.

Do temperance exhibits at fairs pay? Two thousand people signed their names in a northern California temperance booth asking for help to break the smoking habit.

The General Conference Temperance Department has developed an exciting new program to help people with a drinking problem. It is called "The Four Dimensional Key to the Cause of Alcoholism," or "The Four D.K. Program." This program has been successfully tested in Miami and Philadelphia and will soon be added to the regular temperance arsenal.

Two new 16 mm movies have been completed during 1969: "Countdown," a space-oriented smoking film, and "A Crutch for All Seasons," a film contrasting life's natural and false dependencies. A series of four films to be used in the "Four D.K." alcohol education program will be completed by December.

Listen magazine is providing valuable information for Seventh-day Adventist adults and young people in recognizing and avoiding the drug menace.

Public school districts and health agencies picture the United States as beset with burgeoning problems of smoking, alcoholism, mental illness, and drug users. They are asking Seventh-day Adventists to join in a cooperative work in providing health education for youth to combat these social evils.

Yes, Temperance is booming! Seventh-day Adventists are being brought to the forefront. Your active and sacrificial gift is needed in the Temperance Offering on October 25 to swell the Temperance Boom.

General Conference.

Educator Reports on Bible Conference for Student Leaders

Jesus' promise, "My joy I leave with you," was fulfilled to overflowing at the Wawona Missionary Volunteer Bible Conference attended by student leaders, Bible teachers, and principals from all the schools of the Pacific Union October 2 to 6.

The objectives were clear: To set the stage for a spiritual awakening on each campus at the beginning of the school year; to give student leaders a vision of the potential of campus and community witnessing; and to unite the young people of the Pacific Union in a common bond of fellowship.

The radiant joy on the faces and in the voices of the students as they told of their personal witnessing experiences seemed a very fulfillment of Joel's prophecy that in the last days the youth would be blessed with an enlarged vision of the work God wants them to do.

I have seen youth in other parts of the world share in the unspeakable joy of witnessing to the love of Jesus Christ, but never have I seen such a free and spontaneous spiritual movement on the part of our young people in America.

One missionary group working in a city near one of our academies found a hitchhiker bearing all the outward adornment of the disenchanted youth of our generation. They asked him to a meal at their center and invited him to follow Jesus.

This young man lingered awhile and then began slowly to share in their activities. Soon he surprised the group by appearing smooth shaven. Next he appeared with a full haircut. These external changes were mere symbols of the complete reformation inside his life. Today he is attending Pacific Union College, a baptized member of the remnant church.

An entire town was touched with a singing group and deeply moved by the sight of clean-cut young people joyously sharing their faith and love of Jesus Christ.

The stories of these academy and college youth read like the next chapter to the book of Acts, and in reality this is an extension of the work of the same Spirit. As one of the visitors remarked, "It seems as if God is preparing the young people for the very closing days of this world."

Dr. E. Stanley Chace, of Walla Walla College, spoke at the Sabbath sermon hour on the privilege and joy of personal, one-to-one witnessing whether it be on the campus, at the airport, in the streets, or in public meetings. Hungry hearts are everywhere.

Elder Clark Smith, of the General Conference, spoke earnestly in the keynote address of the witness our servicemen are continually bearing.

God does have an army of earnest youth who are even now standing as His witnesses and who are preparing for greater achievements. The plans for this year as reported at the last meeting reveal courage and faith on every campus.

Speaking as an educator, I want to express our appreciation to Elder Miller Brockett and his associates for these Bible conferences, which mean so much to the youth in the schools of the Pacific Union Conference. W. O. BALDWIN.

Tragedy Strikes at PUC—Two Students Are Attacked

Tragedy struck the Pacific Union College campus late Sabbath, September 27, when two young people—one a student and the other a former student back for a weekend visit—were attacked by a hooded assailant as they sat reminiscing about school life and classmates on the shore of a cove at Lake Berryessa, a county park 20 miles from campus.

Cecelia A. Shepard

Cecelia Ann Shepard of Loma Linda, 22, a fifth-year senior music major at the University of California, Riverside, and Bryan Hartnell of Oregon, 20, PUC junior prelaw major, were stabbed repeatedly by a man police believe to be a sexual psychopath.

A Chinese fisherman from San Francisco, passing by on the lake, sounded an alarm and summoned an ambulance. Park rangers immediately converged upon the scene by water and road to assist the stricken youth until medical assistance could arrive.

Both were taken to Queen of the Valley Hospital, Napa, where they underwent emergency surgery and were placed in the intensive care unit for observation and further treatment.

Cecelia, who was stabbed about 10 times, lived about 45 hours before she passed away. Bryan, who was knifed six or seven times, remained in "critical" condition in the hospital's ICU for five days before his condition improved to "satisfactory" and he was transferred to a semiprivate room.

Prayer and Anointing

On the morning following the attack, while both young people were still fighting for their lives, a service of special prayer and anointing was conducted for each at the hospital by Elders Robert W. Olson and Roger W. Coon of the PUC religion department.

Cecelia gave up the unequal struggle on Monday, September 29, at 3:45 p.m., and her funeral was held in the college sanctuary the following Thursday afternoon, October 2.

It was attended by more than a thousand former teachers, classmates, and friends. The service was covered by field film units from three Bay Area television stations.

The funeral sermon was preached by Elder Ted Wick, college youth pastor. He was assisted by Elders Robert Olson,

Something for Everyone in the November Life and Health

With November come rain, sleet, snow, and chill. In the November issue of Life and Health in the article "Prevent Colds," by G. K. Abbott, M.D., you find advice on how to avoid a nose cold.

The article "Reconstruction of the Face," by Thomas J. Zwemer, D.D.S., offers hope for people who have suffered birth defects or disfiguring injury of the face.

Other interesting articles are: "Nixon Dream Salad," by Leila Gilhouse; "When You Are Nervous and Tense, Do as Your Doctor Does," by Jean Blodgett; "Do You Snore?" by Jesse C. close friend of the family, and Ervin L. Sorensen, a former missionary colleague of the slain girl's parents in India.

Cecelia was born at Nuzvid, South India, on New Year's Day, 1947.

The graveside ceremony at St. Helena Cemetery was conducted by Elder Carl Coffman, a distant relative. Six former classmates served as pallbearers, and ten others as ushers. Music for the service was provided by the Collegiate Chorale, directed by Prof. James Kempster, and by soloists from among Cecelia's wide circle of friends on campus.

The daughter of Elder and Mrs. Robert Shepard, Cecelia was a graduate of San Gabriel Academy. She attended the La Sierra campus of Loma Linda University for two years, and Pacific Union College two years. Her father teaches physics and mathematics at Loma Linda Academy.

Bryan, whose father, Elder Calvin Hartnell, is chaplain of the Portland Adventist Hospital, hopes to return to his studies soon. He has studied at both PUC and Walla Walla College.

An intensive manhunt for the killer, still at large, continues by the Napa County Sheriff's Department as these lines are being written. Local law enforcement officers are being assisted by two investigators from the California State Department of Justice, Criminal Investigation, Sacramento.

Police theorize that the attack is linked to three previous murders committed several months ago in the Vallejo area of neighboring Solano County. There are a number of similarities between the Berryessa slaying and the Vallejo killings, some details of which are still being kept secret by the investigating authorities.

A Pastor for the Students on the La Sierra Campus

A campus pastor has been assigned to the La Sierra Campus of Loma Linda University by the Southeastern California Conference with the beginning of the fall semester. Elder David D. Osborne, who formerly served as pastor of the Forest Lake Academy Church, in Orlando, Florida, and also as a Bible teacher, has accepted the invitation of the conference to assume this new responsibility.

He will minister to the spiritual needs of the college students who live in the dormitories on campus and in residences of the community. His duties will include spiritual counseling of the students, cooperating in campus religious activities, and leading the students in missionary endeavors. He will cooperate with the Collegiate Christian League, the Adventist Collegiate Taskforce, and other church-related activities in which the students are involved.

The Executive Committee has requested him to become a member of the La Sierra College pastoral staff. Although not related to Elder L. Calvin Osborn, the La Sierra Church pastor, David Osborne will work closely with the church pastor in connection with Friday evening and Sabbath morning services.

For the first time in the history of the La Sierra Church, a minister has been appointed whose main responsibility is that of caring for the personal spiritual needs of the student body. As Elder Osborne becomes acquainted with the students, through visits with them in the dormitories on campus and in their homes in the community, it is hoped that this new and unique ministry will prove to be a blessing to our college youth.

Elder Osborne was graduated from Southern Missionary College in 1964. Since that time he has completed additional studies at Andrews University. He organized and pastored the first youth church with a membership of approximately 350 at Forest Lake Academy. At the same time he served as one of the school's Bible teachers.

During his academy and college years he spent each summer in literature evangelism and summer camp programs. The first half of each summer was spent as a student literature evangelist and the last half as a water-safety and skiing instructor. His last two summers in literature evangelism were as a student assistant publishing secretary. At Southern Missionary College he was a member of the student association senate for four years and during his senior year he was student association president. He is a regular member of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, a professional organization.

His wife, Judy, is also serving this year at the La Sierra Campus as a home economics instructor. She received her Bachelor's degree in that field from Southern Missionary College and has taught home economics for five years, the last four as chairman of the department at Forest Lake Academy.

JOHN W. OSBORN, President.

Oceanside Summer Crusade Results in Baptism of Forty

Elder Dennis Parks is one pastor who believes that summer evangelism in a beach city is not dead. This was proven this summer as he, Elder Francisco Lopez, and Elder H. W. Klaser joined forces with Evangelist Harmon Brownlow and a ministerial extern, Jim Fitzgerald.

An evangelistic crusade in Oceanside conducted by Elder Brownlow was culminated September 6 with a total of 40 souls baptized and 10 more to be baptized in the near future.

Having begun August 16, the major portion of the meetings was conducted prior to Labor Day. Since the congregation

Charles L. Toews Appointed Ranger at Pine Springs Ranch

Mr. Charles L. Toews is currently serving as Pine Springs Ranch ranger. Mr. Toews assumed this position when Mr. Ron McBroom accepted a call to the Inter-American Division.

Mr. Toews has been assistant superintendent of maintenance at the La Sierra campus of Loma Linda University for the last five years and was an employee in that department for ten years prior to that. He has also taken undergraduate study at the La Sierra campus.

He and his wife, Wanda, have four children: Ted, 13, Terry, 11, Jerry, two, and Melisa, six months. The family is making a meaningful contribution to the maintenance and improvement of our conference center. We are happy that they are providing this important service.

Calvin Knipschild speaking out against the evils of smoking to one of the many crowds that visited the Temperance Booth at the Sacramento State Fair.

Give for Temperance—Opportunities Are the Greatest

Eight million alcoholics, 4,500 young people take up the smoking habit each day, 350 million to two billion dollars was spent last year on drug abuse, 150 people died each day in 1968 from diseases brought on by cigarette smoking, and hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of Americans are tasting, testing, and experimenting or going further with tobacco, drugs, narcotics, and alcohol. We must do something to help stem this evil tide.

Today is the greatest challenge to youth. Today is the day of greatest temptations toward drug use and dependency of insidious lures to intemperance. Not only do the people of the world need help, but also our youth. We must make their future worthwhile, and we must protect them in our schools with stronger temperance programs. For those attending the public schools, we must carry the temperance program there to them and to their homes and churches.

In order to meet the ever-increasing needs and to continue to be effective, your Temperance Department needs your support. You are our sole support of funds for carrying on a strong program of temperance, not only for our youth, but for the people of the world.

World Temperance Day is October 25. A liberal offering from you on that day will help strengthen and expand our promotional program. Opportunities are the greatest in the field of temperance, and we pray that your response on that day will be the greatest ever to meet these opportunities. Your offering on that day will be greatly appreciated.

C. I. Chrisman Retires After 40 Years of Devoted Service

After 40 years of service and a host of souls brought to the Lord through his ministry, Elder Cecil I. Chrisman lays down his responsibilities for the Northern California Conference to retire.

His most recent service has been three years as the insurance and tax officer for the conference association, but his ministry began far from here.

Elder Chrisman entered denominational work in Fresno, California, where both he and his wife, Alberta, taught in the academy, Elder Chrisman from 1929 to 1942. His next position was at Mountain View Academy from 1942 to 1948. After that, Elder Chrisman was called to be the superintendent of education in the Southeastern California Conference. During his last year there he was called to be the superintendent of education by two conferences, and of these two, he chose Northern California.

The Chrismans have a daughter, Caroline, her husband, Gary Twing, and a little granddaughter, Kathy.

Elder Chrisman is a true believer that

THOUSANDS ATTEND NORTHERN CALIFORNIA YOUTH CONGRESS

On September 19 and 20 thousands of young people and friends of young people assembled at the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium for the 1969 Northern California Youth Congress. Approximately four thousand were in attendance at the weekend event.

The speaker for the opening night was Elder James Londis who told the story of his conversion to Christ. He grew up as a poor boy in Coney Island. He belonged to a gang that often was in trouble with the law. His interest was awakened by the kindness of a young Adventist minister who was giving studies to relatives. When he was converted he succeeded in arousing the interest of a friend who was vice president of their Coney Island gang. This other boy also came into the church and is now a prominent minister.

problems of today. An appeal at the close of his sermon brought many forward for reconsecration or baptism. Appeal music was presented by Tim Mustard, student from Pacific Union College.

Elder John Loor, Sabbath morning speaker at the Sacramento Youth Congress.

Sabbath afternoon a symposium of music and speaking gave people in attendance an idea of what the World Youth Congress, held in Zurich, Switzerland, was like.

One of the high lights of Sabbath afternoon was the 4:30 Sing-Out conducted on the steps of the State Capitol Building in Sacramento. Thousands gathered round as a group of students from Pacific Union College led in the singing of religious choruses and in witnessing of their love for Jesus. Members of the Capitol Police commented on how thrilled they were to have such a beautiful display when often they are faced with hostility in crowds that gather. During the afternoon Sing-Out many were contacted with the new One-to-One literature as 400 complimentary packets had been given out at the meeting.

The congress was climaxed by a commitment service in which Elder Londis spoke once again. He told of how God had blessed his efforts to witness as a teenager, and challenged all present to give their lives in service. Scores of youth came forward in the appeal that he made.

Tremendous music was provided at the congress by the five academies in the conference, Sacramento, Lodi, Pacific Union College Preparatory School, Golden Gate, and Rio Lindo. The Capitol City Church of Sacramento also provided some fine music.

Messages were sent to the congress from President Nixon, Governor Reagan, and Lt. Governor Reinecke. A speech was given at the Sabbath morning worship service by State Senator John Harmer, as a representative of Governor Reagan. He gave a ringing appeal to return to traditional standards of morality to stop the moral erosion that is taking place in our society.

Many of those present commented on what a blessing all features of the congress had been to them.

Sabbath School was conducted by students from Pacific Union College under the direction of Elder Ted Wick, youth pastor. The Sabbath School was climaxed by a missionary meeting demonstration of the new One-to-One evangelistic literature provided by the Youth Activities Department.

Elder John Loor, pastor from Collegedale, Tennessee, spoke for the worship service and appealed to the youth to belong to the true "In" crowd. Drawing dramatic examples from the Bible, he showed the relevance of religion in meeting the "Man is no bigger than the way he treats his fellow man," and to know him is to believe this. Always thoughtful of the other person's feelings and opinions, he would do his best to keep everyone happy.

Still living in northern California, the Chrismans will be able to visit our office occasionally. They expect to continue working for the Lord through personal evangelism. When asked what he would do with his time now that he was retiring he replied, "My wife and I haven't even begun to worry about that, we have so many plans."

We wish the Chrismans God's blessing as they take up their new way of life and want them to know that they will be long remembered for the good that they have done and are doing.

Cloverdale Life at Its Best Meetings Are Now in Progress

Grand opening of the Life at Its Best meeting started October 10 at the Citrus Fairgrounds in Cloverdale.

The speaker is Gerald Haeger, pastor of the Cloverdale Church. Associated with him is Darold Retzer, pastor of the Petaluma Church.

The Cloverdale Church has just celebrated its first birthday as an organized church with a membership of 36. These meetings are follow-up of interests from the "TV Bible Class" Pastor Haeger conducted during the past year on the local subscription TV station. One half hour a week was given to Pastor Haeger by the station.

Life at Its Best will run Friday through Sunday nights for five weeks, with its last meeting November 9. An illustrated health lecture begins each meeting. Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

Members from all churches in the area are invited to attend.

Mission Family Bible Study Program at Monument Valley

Just inaugurated is our Mission Family Bible Study program. This plan is for the mission families to visit once a week with their "adopted" Navajo family for the purpose of Bible study and fellowship. Often a meal is shared before the study. Every family at the mission is participating in the program.

Tom Holliday and I are beginning a series of meetings each Wednesday morning over at the Katso camp.

Sunday, September 21, another "first" was recorded at Monument Valley. Tom and I were flown to an appointment 25 miles southeast of Mexican Hat over some of the roughest desert country. It usually takes one and one-half hours one way by auto. In the mission aircraft one way was 13 minutes. We make this trip every Sunday afternoon and hold a church service. Attendance is anywhere from five to 25. The cost for the use of the aircraft is about $4.75.

We have again started our branch Sunday School at the Kayenta Indian Boarding School. The Presbyterians have 200 children in attendance; we have 130 or more and the Latter-day Saints about 60. We leave the mission at 7:45 each Sunday morning and arrive to conduct our four classes about 8:45. In every case, the parent of each child must sign him up before he is allowed to attend a particular church program.

Las Vegas Church Delegate to Youth Congress Gives Report

On a recent Saturday night members of the Las Vegas Westside Church enjoyed a color picture report of the Zurich, Switzerland, Youth Congress by Cris Bennett, delegate from the Tenth Street Las Vegas Church.

Miss Bennett captivated the audience by her interesting presentation of high lights—not only of the Congress itself, but also by the beautiful pictures shown on the screen of London, Paris, Rome, Venice, and other scenic spots visited during her tour of Europe. Her comments were well-directed and an inspiration to those unable to attend the congress in person.

in the process of construction. We have received word from Elder Caris Lauda of the Department of North American Missions that $1,000 will be sent toward a laundromat and shower rooms for the east end of the Welfare building.

An addition to the church school building costing $1,000 is proceeding. The estimate is $500 for material and $500 for labor. We have decided to work evenings and provide our own labor. The associate MV secretary of the Southeastern California Conference called that he was bringing a check for $500 to the mission for our church school.

We are in real need of a head nurse and another doctor. Every one on our staff is working far too many hours.

We solicit and appreciate the prayers of our people for our work here at the Monument Valley Mission and Hospital.

THE VOICE OF HOPE RETURNS TO THE AIR WAVES IN HAWAII

The Voice of Hope Ilocano radio program is returning to the Hawaii air waves, beginning Sunday, October 19, at 7 a.m.

Elder Victor Aladen, who had previously spoken on this broadcast for some 14 years, will be presenting Biblical and doctrinal presentations over Station KAIM, 870 kc, in Honolulu. KAIM is a 5,000 watt station which covers the entire island chain, and at times can be heard as far away as the Johnson Islands, and is both an AM and an FM station.

Elder Aladen will also offer the Bible correspondence lessons in the Ilocano dialect.

Only recently has this very excellent hour from 7 to 7:30 Sunday mornings over this station with a large listening audience become available, and we are happy for the opportunity of encouraging all of our Ilocano members to help build a large listening audience. This is your opportunity to erect an Adventist pulpit in thousands of Ilocano homes.

The Voice of Hope program will be heard during a very popular four-hour Ilocano program directed by Antone Caccatian, running from 4 to 8 a.m. We believe this forward move in evangelism in Hawaii among our Ilocano believers will bring us new members and new opportunities.

Music for the program will be furnished from the members of the Central Seventh-day Adventist Church.

This program is assumed on the basis of a four-year contract, assuring us of good continuity and uninterrupted presentations. We encourage all our members, especially our Ilocano believers, to support this program with your prayers, your listening audience, and your offerings.

Remember this appointment each Sunday morning at 7 o'clock over KAIM.

Baptism at Kaimuki Is the Largest on World Baptism Day

Hawaii's largest baptism on World Baptism Day was held in the Kaimuki Church, Sabbath morning, September 27. Twelve new members were added to the church.

This was the largest single baptism in Kaimuki in the memory of most of the members. Also it was a day of special rejoicing for the laymen of the church, as 11 of the 12 candidates were readied for baptism by the efforts of lay members, past and present, of the Kaimuki Church.

Direct planning for World Baptism Day began in April when Elder V. W. Schoen of the General Conference Lay Activities Department conducted a Lay Instructor's Training School in Honolulu. Following the school, Kaimuki's delegates met with their pastor to lay plans for sharing the inspired methods they had learned.

The next step was Kaimuki's School of Lay Evangelism which began in May with a three-night revival. Then for six weeks, twice a week, laymen of the church taught the School of Lay Evangelism for their fellow-members. As they taught the classes in the art and science of soul winning, they asserted that they themselves benefited the most.

When the pastor announced plans for a baptism on World Baptism Day, he challenged the congregation to use what they were learning in order to make the September baptism a "laymen's baptism."

As they rallied to his challenge, they sought out those who had been in their prayers for many years; those who had once lived in this message; those who had been influenced through our mission schools and Christian homes; and those with whom they were currently studying. They presented the Word of God with an urgency and a loving power that led their friends to make the vital decision for baptism and membership in the remnant church.

The members are continuing their Bible studies in numerous homes, preparing people for Kaimuki's next baptism. It is scheduled for November 8, at the end of the Week of Prayer.

Remember the Temperance Offering on October 25

Channel 1, San Francisco ABC station, asked for a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking in August. Thousands of contacts were made with Bay Area residents. Two weeks later KGO radio asked for the same program. The name Seventh-day Adventist received desirable exposure.

Contact with thousands more from many communities was made at Temperance fair booths.

Now we have many requests for programs and materials. Our film library needs several films replaced. Our youth program and seminar will cost about $2,000.

With our needs greater than ever, and opportunities unlimited, we appeal to each family to give liberally to the Temperance Offering on October 25.

The Bible Speaks Evangelistic Series Begins in Bakersfield

October 10 was opening night for a Bible Speaks Evangelistic series being held in the Westerner Motor Hotel Banquet Room, Third and Union streets, in Bakersfield. The meetings are held on Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Wednesday nights and start at 7:15.

All members in the Kern County area are invited to attend and support these meetings. We solicit the names and addresses of friends and relatives of RECORDED readers who live in this area so they can be invited to these meetings.

Elder E. A. White is the speaker; Sherman Cross and Dennis Evans conduct an inspirational song service, and many special musical numbers are planned for each evening.

Send information on people interested in attending the meetings to Southside Seventh-day Adventist Church, 930 L Street, Bakersfield, California 93304, c/o Mrs. Etta Cheadle, Bible instructor.

Meetings Will Start October 18 in San Jose Central Church

Pastor D. H. Spillman will begin a series of evangelistic meetings in the San Jose Central Church October 18.

On opening night the film "I Beheld His Glory" will be shown. Pastor Spillman's topic will be "Christ or Chaos."

The meetings will continue for 21 nights and a picture will be shown each night at 7 o'clock.

Music will be furnished by the "Tenor Tones," "The Melodians," "The Golden Tones," and a number of fine soloists.

One Hundred Five Baptized in Central on September 27

"It is the grace of Christ that gives life to the soul. Apart from Christ, baptism, like any other service, is a worthless form." (Evangelism, p. 318)

In harmony with the plan of the General Conference, Central California churches united to make September 27 a memorable baptismal day. Reports to date indicate that 105 people have, through baptism, united their lives with Christ and His church. Four precious souls were re-baptized, and reports are still coming in of victories for the kingdom of God.

Eighteen Baptized Following Meetings in San Francisco

Starting in the spring, Elder Samuel Castillo, pastor of the San Francisco Latin-American Church, held meetings in the church three nights a week. Since the very first meeting the Spirit of the Lord worked on the hearts of those who were present.

The attendance was good, and the members brought many of their friends and neighbors to hear the Word of God. The Lord blessed the meetings and as a result 18 precious souls have been buried in the waters of baptism.

Elder Samuel Castillo (right) and some of the 18 people who were baptized recently into the San Francisco Latin-American Church.

Among those baptized was Antonio Sebastiao, who has known this truth for twenty years, and after all this time decided to walk all the way with his Lord. We do give the honor and glory to God.

Several more are studying and they, too, will join us in the near future. Pray for us.

Four Young Men Ordained at Annual Convocation

Memories of former camp meetings came back to mind as thousands attended the Annual Convocation at Lynwood September 24 to 27.

The keynote sermon was given by Elder D. A. Delafield on Wednesday evening when he told the story of "Testimony Countdown." Following this sermon a motion picture of this project was shown.

On Thursday and Friday evenings Elder George Vandeman of the It Is Written telecast spoke on the subject of the Christian home and "Door on Its Hinges."

The Sabbath afternoon session started with a report on missions by Elder Wellesley Muir of the Inca Union. This was followed by interesting soul-winning experiences gathered by Elder J. Branson Chispens and Elder Harold Calkins.

At 4 p.m. Elder Delafield gave the ordination sermon, "Preach the Word," after which four young men were ordained: James O. Brown, associate pastor at Eagle Rock; Lawrence G. Downing, pastor at Gardena; Albert C. Tilstra, formerly associate pastor at Long Beach and now doing graduate work at Andrews University; and Edwin H. Zackrison, pastor of the Camarillo Church.

The day was climaxed by Elder H. M. S. Richards' speaking on "God's People Delivered" and the music of the King's Heralds Quartet.

Robert L. Baldwin Serves as Long Beach Associate Pastor

Elder and Mrs. Robert L. Baldwin have recently joined our working staff. Elder Baldwin will serve as associate pastor of the Long Beach Church.

Elder Baldwin attended both Glendale and Lynwood academies and is a graduate of La Sierra College. Following graduation he became principal and teacher at the Ventura Church School for one year.

After receiving his M.A. from the Theological Seminary in 1954, he served in the New Jersey Conference, working as singing evangelist for Elder J. J. Millet. Later he worked with Elder Millet in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference for four years.

The last five and a half years the Baldwins have been in Arizona where he has been associate pastor of the Phoenix Central Church, pastor at Flagstaff, and most recently associate pastor at Phoenix Camelback Church along with pastoring the little church at Coolidge. Mrs. Baldwin, the former Margaret Moran, taught music part time two years at Thunderbird Academy. The Baldwins have four boys: Arthur 13, Melvin 12, Kevin 11, and Paul, nine.

We welcome this fine family into our conference for service.

Eleven Receive Diplomas in Recent "Go Tell" Graduation

Eleven graduates from a student enrollment of 52 received their diplomas and a beautifully bound Bible at a recent "Go Tell" graduation program at the Shelton Street Church, Santa Ana.

The presentation to those who completed the 32 Family Bible Studies Course was held in connection with the evangelistic crusade conducted by the pastor, R. E. Berry. Faithful members distributed the lessons to the students each week and picked them up to be corrected.

One student, who was not able to attend the graduation in person because he is spending time in prison, received his lessons by mail and faithfully sent them back each week to be corrected. His wife, who also completed the course, received the Bible and diploma in his behalf.

Several of those who were in the graduating class signified their desire to join the church and to keep God's holy Sabbath day. These persons are being visited by the pastor. We look forward to baptizing these and others into God's remnant church. Another graduation will be held in December.

RICHARD E. BERRY, Pastor,

Petaluma Publisher Speaks to Student Assembly October 9

Ross P. Game, publisher of the Petaluma Argus-Courier, spoke to the Pacific Union College student assembly on "What's Right With Today's Young People" Thursday, October 9, in the second of a series of addresses on contemporary society.

Lead-off speaker October 2 was Rolf Peterson, American Broadcasting Company commentator heard nightly on KGO-TV, Channel 7, San Francisco.

Before assuming his present position in early September, Mr. Game served as managing editor of the Napa Register for 11 years, and, as such, was a frequent visitor and guest speaker on campus.

At the close of his address in Pacific Auditorium, Mr. Game was presented with a desk set upon which a gold cordless electric clock, pen, and four-inch bronze figure of a newsboy hawking his wares were mounted on an Italian marble base, together with an engraved gold plate honoring him for more than a decade of distinguished service to the people of Napa Valley.

The award was presented by Myron Widmer, newly-elected editor-in-chief of the Student Association fortnightly, the Campus Chronicle, on behalf of the office of college relations.

Following the assembly period Mr. Game spoke to the newswriting class of Mrs. Ila Zbaraschuk on the subject of the journalism profession as viewed from the standpoint of a newspaper editor and publisher.

At noon an informal buffet luncheon was held in his honor, attended by college administrators and faculty, Student Association representatives, and some of Mr. Game's former colleagues, members of the working press of Napa County.

On October 1 the Total Number of Students Registered Was 1,863

As of 12 noon on October 1, seven days after the beginning of class instruction for the Autumn Quarter at Pacific Union College, a total of 1,863 students were registered, according to Dr. James N. Scott, director of admissions and records.

This figure includes 43 enrolled for the Adventist Year Abroad program, and another 95 nursing students on the Glendale Adventist Hospital campus in southern California.

The total "full-time-equivalent" for fall term registration is approximately 1,760, Dr. Scott said. This is a more accurate figure for comparing the enrollment of one college with another than is the "head count" which includes anyone registered for one course or more.

The FTE for 1969-70 is some one hundred higher than for last year at this time, he added.

Residence halls on campus claim 1,165 students—613 in three women's dormitories and 552 in the two men's homes, a net gain of 16 over last year which marked the "population explosion" in these units. Crowded conditions continue this year, with rooms originally built for two occupants being obliged to serve three and even four students.

Special permission to live off campus has been granted to 150 students this quarter who would normally be living in dormitories, thus easing congestion somewhat. Last year 70 students were given such permission in the autumn quarter, but the figure rose to 120 by year-end.

Only 164 students (8.8 percent of total enrollment) have come from North American Division union conference territories outside the Pacific Union; and 54 foreign students, from 23 different nations, account for 2.9 percent of the quarter's enrollment.

Pacific Union College Given Unrestricted Grant of $1,000

An unrestricted grant of $1,000 has been given to Pacific Union College by The United States Steel Foundation, Inc., announced Dr. Floyd O. Rittenhouse, college president.

The grant was given as part of the foundation's 1969 program of aid to higher education. Because of its unrestricted classification, it may be allocated to any area college officials select.

President Rittenhouse said the money will be used in the college's general operating fund.

Esther Ambs Is President of Adventist Dietetic Association

Esther D. Ambs, director of food services at Pacific Union College, has begun a one-year term as president of the Seventh-day Adventist Dietetic Association. She took office during the association's annual meeting recently on the combined campus of Columbia Union College and Washington Sanitarium and Hospital in Washington, D.C.

While in the East, Miss Ambs also attended the week-long Fifth International Congress on Nutrition in Washington. This was the first time the congress had been held in the United States. More than 7,000 delegates from 27 countries attended.

The dietitian reports one of the most interesting outcomes of the meeting was that some non-Adventist delegates told of an increasing trend among their people toward adopting a lacto-ovo diet, long practiced by many Adventists.

She predicted that more and more non-Adventists will accept this diet as information on flesh foods becomes available.

NOVEMBER 1 DEDICATION DATE FOR MOUNTAIN VIEW CHURCH

The Phoenix Mountain View Church invites all former pastors, all members and friends to participate in the dedication of the new church at 902 East Baseline Road on the weekend of November 1. Services will begin Friday night, October 31, at 7:30 with former pastors participating in a consecration service. Sabbath School will be reminiscent of the old Southside Church as former members participate. John Stevens, conference president, and others will be with us for the worship service. Elder W. J. Blacker, Pacific Union Conference president, will present the address for the dedication at 2:30 in the afternoon.

There will be a fellowship lunch (potluck) at one o'clock in the new Storing Memorial Building which is almost completed. In the evening, vespers will be conducted, followed by refreshments.

All facilities are paid for and free of debt. Beautiful new carpeting has just been installed wall-to-wall in the sanctuary and some of the classrooms.

We are still a small church with room for growth. Last year was a most rewarding year in soul winning as 25 precious souls were added to Christ and the Third Angel's message by baptism and profession of faith. These were largely the result of the It Is Written telecast and Bible lessons followed up by our laymen, as well as evangelistic meetings.

LESTER D. PATTERSON, Pastor.

Sabbath School Group Has Booth at the Navajo Tribal Fair

This spring Mrs. Letha Meyers of Chinle, Arizona, suggested to Eugene Wahlman that the members of the Gallup, New Mexico, Branch Sabbath School plan a booth for the twenty-third Annual Navajo Tribal Fair at Window Rock, Arizona.

This is probably the most important event of the year to the Navajo people and is held the last weekend of the Navajo month of Bini 'Ant' 'At's'oz'i, August.

Many of the estimated 75,000 to 80,000 people stopped by our booth during the four days. Because of the prevalence of the use of peyote, a narcotic derived from plants, by members of the Native American church, a temperance theme was used.

The Arizona Conference MV Department loaned its Smoking Sam for use at the fair. Many young children would come back many times to see it demonstrated. Some returned, bringing their parents. One teenager lingered after the demonstration, signed for the Voice of Prophecy "Radiant Health Course," and stated, "I will never smoke again."

Steve R. Morgan Assumes the Publishing Work Leadership

Steve R. Morgan has been in Arizona for several weeks now, serving as conference publishing secretary. He fills the vacancy which resulted when Don McEune accepted a call to the Northern California Conference.

Brother Morgan is a native of Oklahoma and became a member of the church in 1955 while serving in the United States Army. After retirement from the service, he entered the literature evangelist ministry. He comes to us from South-eastern California where he was assistant publishing secretary.

His family includes his wife, Lola, who is a registered nurse, and two sons: David, a dental student at Loma Linda University, and Steve, Jr., who is working in Orange County.

We are happy to welcome these new workers to our conference family.

J. W. BASSHAM, PR Secy.

Steve R. Morgan, new publishing secretary for the Arizona Conference.

A teacher in Gallup High School expressed a desire to use Smoking Sam and some of our temperance films in his classes. There were many other interesting contacts.

Besides the thousands of pieces of literature that were given out, we enrolled a number of people in the gift Bible plan of study and other courses. Included were a young Catholic priest and nun who had a booth next to ours.

The Gallup, New Mexico, Branch Sabbath School meets in the Holiday Inn, and the Chinle, Arizona, group meets in Mrs. Meyers' home. They invite you to worship with them when vacationing in either area.

Participants in the booth were Pastor and Mrs. Bud Haycock and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wahlman of the Arizona Conference, and Dr. and Mrs. Daryl Specht, Dr. Ray Seet, and John Elliott of the Texico Conference.
