Five Million Contacts

Five million contacts for Christ in the final 45 days of 1969 in the Pacific Union! How will this be possible? If every church in the Pacific Union Conference covers its assigned territory for Ingathering, there will be approximately 5,000,000 contacts and upwards of 15,000,000 people will hear about Seventh-day Adventists.

In these contacts they will be able to learn about the free Bible correspondence course that is offered. In many homes there will be a word regarding the days in which we live and of the soon coming of Christ. Some will welcome a prayer at their front door because the Christian worker who calls is interested in people. Many will respond with a gift for the worldwide work of the remnant church, and because of these contacts there will be new interests found, and some of these new interests will be baptized.

Ingathering not only seeks funds but seeks to help needy souls. Make the 1969-70 campaign a real crusade for Christ! Plan to participate and reach a personal objective for missions that measures with your concern for the cause of Christ today. Many hands make light work. Official campaign began November 15.

Voice of Prophecy Staff Has Great Interest in Evangelism

Since joining The Voice of Prophecy July 1, I have been impressed with the great interest the staff of 160 workers has in soul winning and evangelistic work.

The Voice of Prophecy is generally thought of as a religious broadcasting and communication center for our church, and this it truly is. But over and above this is the individual and collective feeling by the staff of having a part in an active and successful soul-winning program.

The other day I began thinking about this and wondered why it is so. As I checked through the list of workers, I found these interesting statistics about The Voice of Prophecy staff:

Workers who are ordained ministers16
Workers who are licensed ministers 5
Workers serving as Bible instructors25
TOTAL, close to one-third of staff46

One can readily see why this group is oriented toward soul winning both by its background training and current interest.

We feel our church membership will be glad to have this information as you think of this great soul-winning agency. We all have one burden—to build the membership of the churches and conferences by winning people to Christ.

You can help us do this more effectively by your prayers and financial support.

ALVIN G. MUNSON,
General Manager,
The Voice of Prophecy.

YOUTH TO ENTER THE "HELP THE HAPPENING" CONTEST

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Editors of the new Seventh-day Adventist youth magazine have announced a "Help the Happening" contest.

Aimed at finding a name for the new magazine, the contest invites suggestions from anyone between the ages of 16 and 30. One name to an entry blank is permitted. The contest closes December 15.

Describing the new magazine as a "bold weekly magazine for Seventh-day Adventist youth," editors urge contestants to think in terms of a name that will fit the bright new format and content of the publication.

The person submitting the name selected will receive a first prize of $100. Second and third prizes of $50 and $25 will also be awarded. In event of a tie, the entry bearing the earliest postmark will receive the award, so an early response is indicated.

Contestants may use either cards provided by youth leaders of the church or entry blanks published in church periodicals. Entries should be mailed to Help the Happening, Review and Herald Publishing Association, Washington, D.C. 20012.

Planning for the new publication is progressing, with the first issue scheduled for May 1970.

The editors urge young writers to submit manuscripts or article and story queries. "It's a senior youth publication," they say, "and we want thinking young people to consider this a platform from which they can share their thoughts and experiences and research. Articles may be secular or religious, but all must be written from the standpoint of Biblical Christianity."

ELDER F. L. PETERSON PASSES AWAY IN LOS ANGELES

Frank Loris Peterson, retired vice president of the General Conference, was honored at funeral services October 29 in the Los Angeles Berean Church where he was a member. He was 76.

Youngest of four born to devout Methodists, in Pensacola, Florida, he was educated in schools of that church, where he showed an unusual aptitude and proficiency in his classroom studies as well as music. At 14 he responded to God's call through the preaching of Elder J. H. Lawrence.

Recognizing in his young convert the characteristics and potential for the ministry, Elder Lawrence encouraged Frank to turn his life to this special field of witnessing. Frank L. Peterson was the first man of color to graduate from Pacific Union College, completing his training in 1916.

His first assignment was as assistant pastor in Baltimore, Maryland. Until 1922, when he was married to Bessie Elston in Alabama, F. L. Peterson served as a pastor. His first teaching position was at a small one-room school in Louisville, Kentucky.

To Oakwood College

In 1926 he was called to Oakwood College, where he stayed three years. While at the Berean Church in Boston, he was invited to coordinate the Negro conferences of the North American Division at the General Conference, where he led from 1930 to 1941.

Returning to California in 1941, Elder Peterson pastored the Wadsworth Church through 1945. From 1945 to 1954 he was not only the fourth president of Oakwood College but also inspiration to Christian education for hundreds of Negro youth. "If you can't make it through school," he advised scores of men and women now in the work, "just ask me because my Father is rich." His stately walking and fervent preaching moved men to walk with God.

Elder Peterson was called again in 1962 to the General Conference—the first Negro to be named a vice president. The magnificence of his presence gave purpose and strength to his counsel without regard to color. The world was his parish, and though he was not a common man, he had a common touch. A master at give and take, he respected an individual as long as he did not cut across principle.

Honored by Men

A man who loved both the Lord and men, he was honored by those men—and women—at final rites. They were there—those whose souls had been watered on one hand by his preaching and "set on fire" on the other: F. L. Bland, vice president of the General Conference; C. E. Moseley, field secretary of the General Conference; Dr. Frank Hale, president of Oakwood College; Melvin Lukens, secretary of the Southeastern California Conference; R. J. Christian, circulation manager of Southern Publishing Association; C. L. Bradford, Lake Region Conference; Dennis T. Black, Berean Church pastor; and G. Nathaniel Banks, Pacific Union Regional Department secretary.

Also participating in the tribute were Mrs. Meryl Hinkle; Dr. Matthew Kates; Dr. Rudolph Rodriguez; Elders Emmanuel Wilkins, Major White, and Samuel Meyers.

Ever concerned with Christian education ("the poorest church school is better than public school"), he was a man who "turned stumbling blocks into stepping stones." He had a gift for quickly calming troubled waters, a unique and meaningful sense of humor—characteristics of a great teacher.

Retiring at the 1966 General Conference Session "because of a chronological disease," Elder Peterson continued his counsel and his preaching around Los Angeles, ever earnest in his desire to lead men to Christ. His favorite musical selections, sung by Etta McKenzie and Walter Arties, expressed his philosophy: "What a Fellowship, What a Joy Divine," "All He Wants Is You," and "When I Take My Vacation in Heaven."

Passing of Elder Peterson

"Fought a Good Fight"

Before breathing his last at the White Memorial Medical Center, he expressed the words of Paul in II Timothy 4:6-8: "For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."

Surviving him are his wife, Bessie, of Los Angeles; his son, Dr. Frank Peterson, Jr., of Los Angeles; Mrs. Hollis (Marjorie) Knight of Los Angeles; Mrs. C. B. (Clara) Rock of Atlanta; Mrs. L. R. (Katherine) Palmer of Washington, D.C., and 10 grandchildren.

Through a resolution of the executive committee of the board of Oakwood College, "We salute the magnanimity of his spirit, the strength of his character, the brilliance of his wit, the dignity of his manner, the eloquence of his rhetoric, the contagion of his humor, and the vast impact of his achievements upon the advancement and development of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and its program throughout the world."

Campground Facilities a Few Minutes From Atlantic City

Afraid you can't afford to attend General Conference, 1970, in Atlantic City? Motel expense sound staggering?

Word has come that there is a campground located just five minutes from the city, probably another 10 from the Boardwalk. The charge is $3 per night or $18 by the week. Electricity is 50 cents extra per night.

Reservations are reportedly $3 to Pleasantville Campground Reservation, Route 9, Atlantic City Expressway, Pleasantville, New Jersey 08232.

If you have not yet had the thrill of attending a quadrennial session and hearing first-hand reports from the world field, plan a trip this year which will also give you opportunity to visit this nation's historic centers. By 1974's session, the trek will be West again!

Counsel Is—Do Not Accept Marine Corps Assignment

We understand that draftees with a I-A-O classification who are selected for assignment to the U.S. Marine Corps may be given a choice at the Armed Forces Entrance and Examining Station (AFEEES) as to whether or not they will accept such assignment. If this choice is offered to Seventh-day Adventists, we counsel strongly that they not accept the assignment to the Marine Corps but go into the U.S. Army.

Each man must make his own decision in this matter. However, this counsel is based on Sabbath observance problems and other factors experienced by Adventist inductees during the past six months.

As soon as definite word on this matter comes into our hands, we shall publish more details.

Entrance to Thunderbird Academy, showing some of the original buildings.

A Review of the Facts Concerning Thunderbird Academy

In order to expand its educational facilities, the old Arizona Academy was transferred from downtown Phoenix to Thunderbird Field, north of Scottsdale. At a constituency meeting held January 1953, it was voted to purchase the 720-acre federal government surplus property. The appraised value was $238,740. A 20 percent payment was made and the balance was to be carried for a period of 20 years. The old, inadequate buildings were occupied and the wood products factory was begun.

Due to a change in federal laws, we were required to pay the balance of $115,000 in 1960. This was done with funds borrowed from the Pacific Union Conference. The old academy site brought $46,964 which was used in purchasing the new school at Thunderbird.

It was obvious that the old buildings could not last long and it was planned to either rebuild there or elsewhere. When it appeared that the land could be sold for considerable money, it was voted to sell the Thunderbird property, except for the 80 acres which the present school occupies, and build a boarding school at Tonto Flats Ranch near Prescott.

Tonto Flats Sold

In January 1968 it was voted, at a special constituency meeting, to sell Tonto Flats Ranch. This was done, due to several factors. One is that a conference normally should have about 6,500 members in order to support a boarding academy from the standpoint of students and financial strength. It was projected to have a boarding school near Prescott and a day school in the Phoenix area. This would require a conference with about nine to ten thousand members. Our membership presently is just under 4,000. It had been hoped that the funds derived from Thunderbird would not only build such schools, but also endow them with perpetual subsidies. It appeared that this was possible.

At the April 1969 constituency meeting it was determined that we could not expect a multi-million dollar income from this development in the near future, and that the academy be rebuilt on its present location. Consequently, we are confronted with the challenge of redeveloping our school on its present site.

There is one factor that creates a sense of urgency regarding the speed with which this needs to be accomplished. Both the national non-Seventh-day Adventist accrediting association and our own church accrediting body from the General Conference indicate that we will lose our accreditation unless we begin rebuilding very soon. Dormitories are of prime need.

We come up for reaccreditation in the spring of 1971. By that time we must have a plan, and we must be implementing it, or else we shall lose our accreditation.

We cannot afford to have a school that is not recognized as adequate. Students going on to higher education must graduate from an accredited school. It is our school, and we will see to it that it is outstanding and fully accredited in order to serve the needs of our youth.

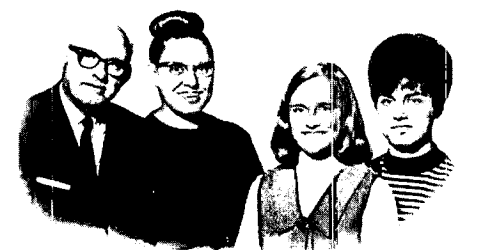

JOHN V. STEVENS, President.

Dr. Lloyd M. Perry, chairman of the Division of Practical Theology at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, Deerfield, Illinois, presented a series of lectures on sermon preparation and presentation during a four-day ministerial workers meeting at Pine Springs Ranch, October 26 to 30.

Among other speakers at the meeting were Elder Joe Crews, speaker on the Amazing Facts radio broadcast, and Elder T. E. Unruh, conference stewardship secretary, who presented a series of morning devotional messages. The ministers participated in a special communion service on the concluding day of the meeting.

FIRE TRUCK.—This Seagraves fire truck has been purchased for use at Pine Springs Ranch. Although it is 26 years old, it is in excellent condition. It is equipped with a V12 dual ignition engine, a 700-gallon water tank, 1,400 feet of two-inch hose, and 400 feet of one-inch hose. Purchased for $775 from the Pine Cove Volunteer Fire Department near Idyllwild, it will replace obsolete equipment now on hand, thus helping to reduce fire insurance costs. It can also be used to water trees which will be planted next spring and for other domestic needs.

Purchases Made With Money Given to La Sierra Academy

As a result of a gift from a generous donor La Sierra Academy recently installed a background music system, entitled The Cantata 700, which cost about $500.

The compact unit (15 by 12 by 7 inches) is equipped with its own six-watt amplifier and is the only complete system specifically developed and produced for background music application.

Another unique and outstanding feature is that each self-contained cartridge holds 700 high fidelity music selections without title repetition. This means that during 26 hours of playing time there would not be any repetition.

According to Elmer Digneo, instructional materials coordinator, the greatest value of such a system is that it provides intermittent musical background so silence does not become unreal. It also permits ordinary amount of activity without the activity becoming noticeable.

The instructional materials center also purchased a 24-inch hand-mounted physical-political globe with half of the amount coming from a donation. The globe ball rotates freely in the cradle mounting which is on an attractive modern floor stand with casters. A time and distance measuring stripe is mounted on the horizon ring. The globe, which cost approximately $200, is especially useful in history and geography.

Both donors wish to remain anonymous.

Thanksgiving Music Program, Pleasant Hill Junior Academy

Saturday night, September 27, was a banner night for the Pleasant Hill Junior Academy. Three purposes were accomplished for the school that evening.

First, Mr. Robert Tan, the new music teacher, was formally introduced to the school constituency; second, the music department presented its first program of the school year; and third, a campaign for a new piano was launched. The evening's contributions of about $100 and another $100 pledged for the time of purchase makes a total of $200 earmarked for the new piano.

Two or three more of Mr. Tan's fine programs, and hopefully more pledges, will effect an early purchase of a new teaching piano which has been sorely needed for the past few years.

All who were present are looking forward with great anticipation to the next program November 22 at the school when Mr. Tan will present a Thanksgiving special at 7:30 p.m. All are invited to come and enjoy themselves.

Sacramento Students Active in the Temperance Program

School days are here again! Thanks to the principals, such as Mr. Edwin Mack, and sponsors, such as Elder Norman Farley—both of Sacramento Union Academy—for including the work of temperance in the school program.

The temperance officers of Sacramento Union Academy presented the temperance message to their fellow students with such enthusiasm that over 85 percent of them joined the school's chapter and signed the Temperance Pledge.

Plans are now under way to carry a strong temperance program into the schools, churches, and civic clubs of Sacramento.

With Over $1,000, Altaville Triples Its Ingathering Goal

The Altaville Church has tripled its 1969-70 Ingathering goal already. The 35 members, with a goal of $366, have already raised over $1,000.

They have a scattered country population of less than 900 with poor territory and little houses far apart in the country. But congratulations to Pastor E. D. Sorensen and his faithful members for being the first church over the top.

This year they have had requests for Bible studies, a Five-Day No Smoking Clinic, and many wonderful missionary contacts. Some of the Altaville members think that the conference has established their basic goal too low. They believe that Ingathering provides a wonderful plan to visit personally with every member of the community about Christ and His Church.

This year our goal in Northern California shall be "Every home and every business place contacted for Christ and His Church."

Outdoor Club Has Weekend at the Hirz Bay Campground

The weekend of October 17 to 19 was a high light for the Northern California Outdoor Club. Seventy-five persons assembled at Hirz Bay Campground on Shasta Lake for the annual fall camp.

Friday night a campfire program was conducted by Elder Charles Edwards, conference Outdoor Club director.

The Sabbath morning services were held in a lovely spot overlooking the lake. Sabbath School was conducted by young people from the Redding Church under the direction of Gordon Bietz, associate pastor. The Sabbath morning worship speaker was Mrs. Josephine Cunningham Edwards, widely known author and speaker and mother of the Northern California Conference youth activities director. Mrs. Edwards spoke on the tremendous need to provide proper training for our youth in order that they may be saved to the church and to the Kingdom.

Mrs. Josephine Cunningham Edwards, Sabbath morning speaker for the Outdoor Club campers.

One of the thrills of the weekend came on Sabbath afternoon when the group crossed the lake in a large ferry to visit Lake Shasta Caverns with their delicate and colorful formations of stalactites, stalagmites and helictites.

The tour ended in the Cathedral Room, largest room of the caverns, which is dominated by a spectacular display of magnificent stalactites in the form of beautiful draperies and frozen waterfall appearances. Here in this awesome setting as the hour of sunset approached, the group sang beautiful gospel choruses to the accompaniment of the accordion. The evening worship was concluded with a talk by Elder Edwards on caves and cathedral rooms of Bible times.

When Sunday morning dawned bright and clear, the final meeting of the weekend was held around a campfire when a testimony service was conducted. All present expressed gratitude to God for the spiritual refreshing that this retreat afforded and all returned to their homes with renewed determination to better reflect the image of God from their lives.

"On the Air," a New Release on the Monterey Peninsula

"On the Air" is a public service of radio station KMBY and the Monterey Peninsula Seventh-day Adventist Church, and is presented every Sunday morning at 7:30. Pastor R. C. White is the coordinator and speaker for the program, which is intended to serve the peninsula with local church news as well as that of national and international interest.

The program is interdenominational, and all local churches are invited to submit news items each week. Following the news programs Pastor White is speaker on a half-hour program called "The Bible Says." These programs have been very well accepted.

KMBY is one of the modern "rock" music stations, and it is hoped that the young people who listen to this station every day will be reached by this radio effort.

Some Camp Meeting Sermon Tapes Are Still Available

After filling our orders for camp meeting sermon tapes we still have a number on hand. We have Robert Gentry, most of Elder Mellor's sermons, most of the evening sermons, the physical fitness programs, and a few others. So you can see that we really have most of the sermons available. Our supply is limited, however, so for a good selection, order soon. The price is still $1.25 plus tax and shipping.

Adventist Booth at Madera Fair Attracts Much Attention

Our Adventist fair booth at the Madera District Fair was a three-ring performance and attracted more attention than any other booth. Only ten feet square, the booth had three sides open to public view and was strategically located across the aisle from the fine arts display. The theme, "Health and Happiness Now, and Joy When Jesus Comes," united the three points of emphasis and tied the display into one harmonious unit.

On one side, under the word "Health," the five-minute, continuous moving picture on health and weight control was shown. On the opposite side, under the word "Joy," was the back-illuminated picture of Christ's second coming. Here also was a counter with free literature on the subject and a place to sign up for the drawing for the large, white family Bible and the white Your Bible and You by A. S. Maxwell.

The middle section was where the action was for Smoking Sam and the other booth attendants. Behind them was the word "Happiness." Sam, by means of a microphone, did most of the talking, explaining the three lung specimens on display and encouraging youngsters to wear a "Ban the Butt" button.

Those assisting at the booth were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haines, Mrs. Ted Johnston, Miss Rose Bartsch, Eddie Graves, Ron Artenian, and Douglas Tilstra. E. W. GRAVES, Pastor.

Dedication of Tulare's New Health and Welfare Center

The Central Valley Dorcas Federation meeting, Sunday, October 26, afforded an appropriate time and occasion for the official opening and dedication of the new Health and Welfare Service Center in Tulare. Approximately 125 Dorcas representatives from the area churches were present to witness the event.

Tulare city manager, Clem Lincicum, represented the city and participated in the ribbon-cutting service. Others helping in the day's activities were Miss Maybelle Elder B. W. Mattison; Mrs. Melba Towe, local Dorcas leader; Clem Lincicum, city manager; Elder W. F. Woodhams, pastor; Maybelle Vandermark, General Conference Lay Activities Department; and Mrs. Mildred Larson, Federation president, at the dedication of the Tulare Health and Welfare Service Center.

Vandermark from the General Conference Lay Activities Department; Elder F. R. Millard, actively retired worker from mission service and the General Conference; Elder B. W. Mattison, lay activities secretary for Central California; Mrs. Mildred Larson, conference Federation president; and Mrs. Melba Towe, local Dorcas leader.

The new center is an important part of the fellowship-classroom building program in the final stages of completion in Tulare. We gratefully acknowledge God's providential leading that has enabled us to build our new worship and welfare center. Just three years ago our members assembled on the property for the groundbreaking ceremony. A combination of dedicated volunteer labor and spirit of sacrifice on the part of our members has made our "pay as we go—debt-free" building program possible.

WILBUR F. WOODHAMS, Pastor.

LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY

VISITING MUSICIANS TEACH ON THE LA SIERRA CAMPUS

Three members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra have been appointed teaching specialists giving private lessons to music students on the La Sierra campus of the university.

The orchestra members are Mario Guarneri, trumpet; Ralph Pyle, French horn; and Donald Muggeridge, oboe.

Eugene Nash, assistant professor of music, says that their appointments further strengthen the program under which the university offers advanced students and music majors opportunity to study with specialists.

Other visiting musicians now teaching at the university include Elbert Masten, a professional clarinetist and member of the Riverside Symphony Orchestra, who is giving instruction on the clarinet, saxophone, and flute; Phillip Rehfeldt, a bassoonist and staff member at the University of Redlands; and Peggy Bell, flutist.

F. Faye Brown Named Head of AAMRL at New York City Meet

F. Faye Brown, director of medical information services at Loma Linda University Hospital, has been named head of the American Association of Medical Record Librarians.

Mrs. Brown was elected for a three-year term at the meeting of the AAMRL held in New York City. She will serve as president-elect the first year, president the second, and the final year as one of seven national directors.

In addition to serving University Hospital as director of medical information services, Mrs. Brown is chairman of the School of Health Related Professions department of medical record administration.

The New Communication Arts Building Nears Completion

Initial construction of the new communication arts building wing is nearing completion on the La Sierra campus, according to John R. Clough, director of the physical plant.

The addition, under construction since July, has extended the facilities of the old speech building, which also houses the university's radio station, KLLU. More than 5,000 square feet of space has provided 12 new offices and two new classrooms.

Classrooms are being used for nursing and speech instruction, and the offices are occupied by public relations, extension, and nursing departments.

Mr. Clough reports that the first phase of the building project is complete except for outside stuccoing; landscaping, already in progress; and some clean-up work inside. He says further construction, including inside finishing, will probably be resumed after Christmas when additional funds will be available.

Mary Byers Guest Speaker at Home Economics Convention

Mary P. Byers, associate professor and chairman of the College of Arts and Sciences department of consumer related sciences, was one of several guest speakers at the recent Nevada Home Economics Association Convention held at the Pioneer Hotel in Las Vegas.

A recipient of a 1968 American Home Economics Association Foundation fellowship, Mrs. Byers entitled her speech "Consumer Problems of Low Income Families." She stated that 20 to 25 percent of the total United States population, or 40 to 50 million persons, represents the "over-all picture of poverty today."

In order to observe some of the problems and improve the existing situations, Mrs. Byers encourages her students to become interested and involved in community service programs. Suggested plans for student participation are conducting small classes in meal planning; preparing simple leaflets on nutrition to be made available to ethnic youth groups; preparing recipes for housewives who are barely able to read; assisting homemakers with the planning of balanced meals around popular ethnic foods; teaching homemakers how to shop for best prices in food, clothing, and equipment; and assisting in special diet meal planning.

Each senior consumer related sciences major is required to spend one semester working with the Riverside County Welfare Department or the visiting nurses association.

"From these experiences students not only discover how to use information learned in classes, but also how to relate to various ethnic groups and communicate with them," states Mrs. Byers.

Grant Given to College of Arts and Sciences Scholarship Fund

A $500 grant has been given to the College of Arts and Sciences scholarship fund by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

S. G. Mansfield, the Riverside district commercial manager of the company, presented the check to Dr. Ralph L. Koorenny, dean of the college.

A similar gift was presented to the college by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company last year.

Home Study Offers Course in "Religious Broadcasting"

Radio and television provide unparalleled opportunities for sharing your faith! But are you prepared? Home Study Institute now offers you the chance to train through correspondence study.

J. O. Iversen, minister, author, former Voice of Prophecy announcer, and now director of the General Conference Visual Service, has organized a thorough, well-balanced course of study entitled "Religious Broadcasting." Consisting of twelve lessons, the course offers two hours of college credit, but is open to every church member. It is designed to give a general background in the various areas of religious broadcasting, and covers topics on program production and promotion, script writing, time and station selection, public service announcements, guest appearances, program budgeting, international media, broadcast music, conducting interviews, etc.

The course is designed to help the potential broadcaster—the minister who should be on the air—as well as to give further help to the man who is currently broadcasting. Lessons will have special appeal to pastors and others who, while not actively broadcasting, are called on from time to time to appear as guests on radio and television. The public relations secretary who is continually challenged with opportunities of getting Seventh-day Adventist guests and news on the air will also benefit from the information given in this course.

The author of the new Home Study Institute course in "Religious Broadcasting" is also author of the textbook So You're Going on the Air which has just come off the press.

H. M. S. Richards, in speaking of this new book, says, "It is the first up-to-date full-coverage of radio and television procedure in proclamation of the Word by Seventh-day Adventists. The author has had years of practical experience in this field, sustained by an interest and dedication that has never flagged. He was the one to write it."

For further information or to enroll, write: Home Study Institute, Takoma Park, Washington, D.C. The cost of the course is $30 for tuition and $12.85 for textbooks and syllabus. This is an opportunity you should not miss.

D. W. HOLBROOK, President, Home Study Institute.
