A New Adventure in Understanding

by E. W. TARR

Director, General Conference Bureau of Public Relations

The art of clear and effective communication is, humanly speaking, the greatest need of the church today. From the very beginning of the Christian movement Christ's followers were commissioned to communicate: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel." (Mark 16:15)

E. W. Tarr

How are we facing this challenge today? It must be confessed that on the whole Christians are doing a very poor job of communication. They seem to be finding the communications barriers almost insurmountable. The preaching of the gospel is being complicated by our technology, by the population explosion, the metropolitan explosion, and many other barriers.

Much of the time Christians appear to be out of touch with issues which have captured the thinking of the world around them. Some fail to communicate effectively because they do not understand the language of the people, and when they speak, they speak in terms that are not understood. Often the Christian message is presented in an intricate theological frame of reference that is understandable to only a few. There are also less thoughtful people who seem to be operating on a maximum of words and a minimum of communication, often substituting loquaciousness for performance.

Effective Communication

Though one hundred percent communication effectiveness is impossible, and a gap always exists between the sender and the receiver, it is the person who recognizes this gap in his every communication attempt who is already on his way to becoming a successful communicator. Because of these and many other problems in our complicated world of communications, it is important that we search for relevant forms of service and witness.

The future development and growth of the church is dependent upon our building public confidence in what we are doing and public understanding of what we are trying to do. This is the purpose of the seminar in public relations offered by Andrews University Theological Seminary under the sponsorship of the General Conference Bureau of Public Relations. In 1970 the two-week course will begin July 1, a few days after the close of the General Conference Session. Thus the opportunity of keeping abreast of advances in the field of church communications will also be available to delegates before returning to their home divisions.

Seminar Instruction

Instruction by a high-level group of eight professional public relations practitioners and leaders will cover a variety of subjects, including such fields as bridging the gap in modern communication; using the mass media of communication—writing, radio and television, advertising; the exploration and measurement of public opinion; evangelistic advertising and lay-out.

The university will grant four credits to eligible students for the two weeks of study, but will also admit others on an audit basis. For Seventh-day Adventists with a zestful spirit of inquiry who would like to enter upon what promises to be a new adventure in understanding, further information may be obtained by writing to the General Conference Bureau of Public Relations, or The Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

UNIQUE SERVICE FOR SABBATH SCHOOL TEACHERS AVAILABLE

That's right, you can have Dr. Leslie Hardinge, one of our outstanding in-depth Bible scholars, come into your home or Sabbath School teachers' meeting every week. Here's how:

For each quarter, Dr. Hardinge draws from his deep and rich background of Biblical information to analyze and clarify Bible texts of the Sabbath School lesson. These are recorded on tape, and you can play them back for your own personal enrichment or in the teachers' meeting.

Each lesson is embellished in a 14-minute exposition on the lesson, and then personal evaluations are suggested with relevant applications. Thirteen lessons are on one tape; total playing time is three hours. You can survey the whole lesson concept for the quarter and then review it the Sabbath for which it is intended—all of this for only $4.95.

Order these from your Sabbath School Child Evangelism Center or Book and Bible House. Every Sabbath School should have at least one and many individuals will want their personal copy. The price is the same to all. Be sure to get your orders in for the lessons for the second quarter. Order now.

Six Prize Winners Named in Division Photo Contest

By M. CAROL HETZELL

Judges of the North American Division Photo Contest have named six prize winners with a missionary furlongee taking the top spot and first prizes in two categories.

Sydney E. Allen, Jr., dean of theology at Philippine Union College, submitted numerous photos in several categories, with his close-up shot of a blind beggar earning the grand award. Prof. Allen's camera brought him $150 in prizes.

Second place in the grand award class went to Minnesota Conference treasurer H. W. Pritchard. His appealing photo of a child struggling with crayolas at her desk had been entered in the "education" category. His award was a check for $100.

Southeastern California Conference public relations director, C. Elwyn Platner, took third place with his picture of two young people singing to a wheelchair retiree. It also took first prize in the "youth activities" category, bringing him a total of $75.

Three other public relations directors won awards of $25 each: S. A. Yakush of Southern California Conference, Charles R. Beeler of the Ohio Conference, and Eston L. Allen of the Illinois Conference. Each man received a check for $25.

The quality these pictures had in common was a personal appeal to the viewer. Each was packed with human interest. In addition the prints had achieved a quality of excellence that marked them above the ordinary.

Announcement of the 1970 North American Division Photo Contest will soon be forthcoming. You need not be a professor or a public relations director to win. Many churches have members who enjoy photography as a hobby. Why not put your hobby to work for you and for your church? Plan now to enter the 1970 contest. Rules will be available shortly. Watch for the announcement in your union paper. You might be the happy winner of a prize or even the grand award for 1970!

Pictures submitted in the North American Division Photo Contest are held on file for consideration by denominational publishers. If a picture is used in a publication, payment for its use will be made to the photographer. So even a loser can win!

March 27 Is the Date Set for Corona Church Choir Program

The Corona Seventh-day Adventist Church choir will perform "A Service of Darkness," by Dale Wood, on Friday evening, March 27, at 7:30.

Consisting of seven choral meditations on the last words of Christ interspersed with readings from the Scriptures, this "Service of Darkness" commemorates the suffering and death of Christ on the cross.

Until recently the organist and chorister at the Eden Lutheran Church in Riverside, the composer, Dale Wood, is highly respected throughout the United States for his sacred musical compositions. In this work Mr. Wood has combined an ancient Christian tradition with modern musical forms to create a work of great beauty and solemn simplicity.

The choir is directed by Ben Tupper with Alice Warcham at the organ. Guests are urged to arrive early, as no one will be allowed to enter the auditorium after the service has started. The address of the church is 819 Belle Street, Corona, California.

Theme of Convention Is Youth Involvement in Evangelism

The excitement of youth evangelism was the heart of the 1970 Youth Leaders Convention at Pine Springs Ranch January 23 to 25.

Church MV societies represented at the convention pledged a goal of 201 baptisms through a variety of youth involvement activities throughout the year.

From the keynote message by Gary Stanhiser to the commitment banquet talk by Glen Coon, the one prevailing theme was youth involvement in evangelism.

Many convention features were prepared for the 250 delegates and staff members. On Sabbath morning Elder John W. Osborn, conference president, challenged the delegates to let God lead them in their personal lives as well as in their society plans for the coming year.

The Good News Folk Group from La Sierra Academy presented a musical program under the direction of Pastor Rick Rice. Four representatives from Pacific Union College Preparatory School and one each from Sacramento and Golden Gate academies told of campus witnessing programs in their areas.

A tribute to Adventist servicemen who have died in Vietnam was presented by Buckley Weeks, himself a veteran of the Vietnam conflict and a student at La Sierra Campus of LLU. Music leader for the weekend was Don Vollmer, teacher at Lynwood Academy.

Workshop sessions to prepare the leaders for their responsibilities for the coming year were presented by the following persons: Programs: W. E. Dopp; One-to-One: Gary Stanhiser; Sabbath Schools: Des Cummings; Socials: David Taylor; Recreation: Bob Schneider; Positive Living: Ritchie Christianson; Narcotics: Glenn Chinn; Music: Harris Mullen; Singspirations: Don Nelson; New Morality: Ernie Bursey; Public Relations: Elwyn Platner; Inner City: Lorenzo Paytee; Evangelism: Harmon Brownlow.

With these preparations behind them, the leaders have launched into a year which they expect to be the best in service for Christ.

"It took a miracle" to acquire reservations for the Oakland Civic Auditorium in the heart of downtown Oakland for a period of two and a half months.

"It Took a Miracle" to Reserve Civic Auditorium

Arrangements to reserve the Oakland Civic Auditorium Arena and Theatre for the length of time that we decided to conduct a series of meetings with Elder E. E. Cleveland from the General Conference seemed almost impossible as we approached Mr. L. C. Lueddeke of the city who controls the rental of the auditorium. He informed us that there were several problems that had to be worked out if we were to reserve the Arena five days a week for a period of two and a half months, which is a rather long stretch of reservations for an auditorium that is used for so many events as the Oakland Civic Auditorium.

Mr. Lueddeke was very understanding of our problem and very kindly worked the difficulties out and by a miracle, as we consider it because we feel the Lord did lead in the securing of this hall for Elder Cleveland. Mr. Lueddeke was successful in shifting other reservations and some advance reservations were canceled. The entire time opened up that we might have this fine auditorium seating over 6,000 people located in the very heart of downtown Oakland, accessible by all modes of transportation to the entire Bay Area. Certainly the Lord worked a miracle in the preparation for this spiritual crusade that will be conducted by Elder Cleveland from July 12 through September.

We invite all those in the Bay Area to plan to attend this series by Elder E. E. Cleveland. Meetings will be held five nights a week for a period of two and a half months and certainly we should remember Elder Cleveland and his co-workers in prayer as they plan for this great spiritual crusade in the city of Oakland.

If you know of those who should attend, send their names along and we will contact them. The program will certainly justify all the time and effort that has gone into its planning.

Nevada-Utah

New Workers Welcomed at January Evangelistic Council

Seven new workers and their families who joined the Nevada-Utah Conference during the last nine months of 1969 were welcomed at the January Evangelism Council held in the headquarters office at Reno, Nevada.

Keith Mulligan and his family of the Southern California Conference accepted a call and arrived in Monument Valley the first of April. Elder Mulligan and his wife, Joyce, love the Navajos and are happy missionaries. They are dedicated, willing workers with a desire to do things for God in Navajoland. Elder Mulligan is a good soul winner and excellent organizer. He and Elder Tom Holliday, our Indian minister and translator, make an efficient team. They are conducting baptisms frequently. Monument Valley is proving to be one of the most fruitful areas in our conference.

Coming to the Evangelistic Council from Monument Valley by plane were Pastor and Mrs. Keith Mulligan and son, Darrel, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rose, Monument Valley school teachers. Carl Rose is the pilot. The round trip by auto would be nearly two thousand miles.

Elder and Mrs. John Boyd moved from Twin Falls, Idaho, to Salt Lake City April 15. The Wasatch Hills Church group is grateful for the services of the Boyds. Immediately upon their arrival, Elder Boyd planned with the membership for the completion of the church building which included the raising of funds. The work is well under way. Elder Boyd and his wife have already conducted several cooking classes. Mrs. Boyd is a nutritionist and her husband is an able assistant. Preparations are being made for a pastor-membership soul-winning program. Recently the pastor had a baptism of seven young people.

Lyle Johnson and his family joined our workers in July of 1969. Brother Johnson is a Bible instructor in Provo, Utah, working with Pastor Frase and the Smith Clinic. He is assisting with speaking appointments in the two churches in the district and has a great desire to be a winner of souls.

Gordon A. Frase and his family were called from the Alabama-Mississippi Conference to the Provo District, arriving in November of 1969. Elder Frase had just completed one Ingathering campaign and arrived in time to begin another. In a short time his two churches had a large gain over the previous year.

Elder and Mrs. Frase are aggressive workers for God and are appreciated in Provo and Milford. The new pastor is an experienced radio speaker and his voice is already being heard on the air waves in Provo. Soul winning is foremost in the planning and thinking of Pastor Frase and his assistant, Lyle Johnson.

Robert L. Larsen and his family received an invitation to come to the Bishop-Lone Pine District while living in Keene, Texas. We are happy they responded and moved to Bishop early in November. Elder Larsen and his wife have already endeared themselves to the membership in their two churches. Ingathering was completed in a short time after their arrival and new heights were reached in participation and amounts solicited. Pastor Larsen is making plans for an outstanding year for membership gains through Bible evangelism.

Elder and Mrs. J. B. Currier are happy in the Moab-Price, Utah, District. They came from Arizona the first of December. Since coming Elder Currier and his wife have helped complete the Ingathering in record time with a good overflow. Following this achievement Elder Currier made arrangements for a daily radio program, "A Visit with Currier," which he is now conducting on KURA-1450 in Moab—every morning at 6:45 plus a Bible correspondence course. At present he is conducting an evangelistic series two nights a week in the Holiday Theater at 50 North Main Street in Moab. In addition he prints all his evangelistic handbills, enrollment cards, and various other material, all in professional style. "No time to lose" must be the Curriers' motto.

William H. and Mrs. Hubbs accepted a call to the Nevada-Utah Conference and arrived early in December. Elder Hubbs is pastor of the Reno, Nevada, Church and the Truckee Company. He arrived just in time, as did a number of other pastor newcomers, to become involved in the Ingathering crusade. He is now engaged in membership visitation. A Pastor's Bible Class is just beginning in Reno and Pastor Hubbs anticipates a good interest.

Elder and Mrs. Hubbs love the members in their district and we believe that those to whom they minister are conscious of their sincere Christianity. The new pastor and his wife came from Hemet, California.

We are grateful for the fine group of new workers who have joined us in the Nevada-Utah Conference.

D. E. Dirksen extends welcome to seven new workers. From left to right are J. B. Currier, Robert L. Larsen, William H. Hubbs, Keith Mulligan, Lyle Johnson, Gordon A. Frase, and John W. Boyd.

Pastor Harold Kono stands at the speaker's desk to thank the members and friends who built the church. Seated on the platform with the youth choir are, from left to right: Dr. James Akita, Elder Robert Nomi, Elder Archa Dart, Elder A. G. Streifling, Mr. Mun On Chang, Elder Shohei Miyake, Elder Hideo Oshita, and Mr. Shigeru Morikone.

Hawaii

Japanese Congregation Dedicates Its New Sanctuary

Honolulu's Japanese Seventh-day Adventist congregation, homeless since its organization in 1940 with 32 members pastored by Elder Shohei Miyake, dedicated its beautiful new sanctuary in Manoa Valley to the service of the Lord during an afternoon program, Sabbath, February 7. Its present 220 membership was joined by enough visitors from the business community and sister churches to force overflow seating in the regular 400-seat sanctuary.

During the afternoon program in which Elder A. G. Streifling, president of the Hawaiian Mission, presented the solemn dedicatory message, members of the press and television gleaned ideas and film footage that placed Adventist progress in Honolulu before the public.

Assisting Elder Streifling, who is an active member of the Japanese Church, were Brother Mun On Chang, mission treasurer, and Elders Archa O. Dart and Fernon Retzer of the General Conference.

Former pastors who worked with vigor for this crowning moment were guests of the congregation, and heard their history repeated during the program by Dr. Tadao Hata. Elder Miyake, now retired in Los Angeles, came from Japan in 1934 at the urging of the late Dr. James Kuninobu to lead the Japanese-speaking company at the Honolulu Central Church. During 1940 the church was organized and used the present Hawaiian Mission Elementary School buildings until 1967.

In 1946 Elder Hideo Oshita, presently pastor of the Los Angeles Central Japanese Church, continued the building and saving plan until 1952 when Elder Robert Nomi guided the work of the church until he accepted a similar position among the Japanese people of Mountain View, California, in 1965.

Pastor Harold Kono arrived at the time a former Baptist College site became available near the University of Hawaii. Through his efforts and the dedicated service of each one in the congregation, the rooms were renovated, and by mid-1967, the church met on its own property.

Ground was broken for the new sanctuary in July 1968, and the A-frame construction valued at $225,000 was erected by the church members themselves in one and one-half years, at a saving of approximately $100,000. Because of the dedicated work of former pastors and the thrift of the congregation, Elder Kono beams the good news that everything has been purchased on a cash basis, so there are no payments outstanding.

The house of the Lord in Manoa Valley is as comfortable as the members expect their homes to be. A non-member friend of the church donated a quality grand piano. Three widows gave their "mite," and an Allen organ was secured for the sanctuary. Cushioned pews and carpeted floors soften the sounds. Hot humid weather will present no discomfort, because the high-ceilinged chapel is also air-conditioned.

These refinements are possible through the efforts of George Halsted, a Baptist building engineer who supervised the work crews led by Pastor Kono and Brother John Tamanaha. Mr. Halsted, who has built 41 churches, saved materials costs and secured the maximum buying power for church savings, and the multitudes, of donations made by visitors and friends of the church from the community and the business world.

Also active in the service of dedication were Teruo Funai, who read telegrams from well-wishers; the junior choir led by academy junior Marianne Kono; and the youth choir led by Marvin Mitchell. Dan Dirksen set the musical background at the new organ console.

Dr. James Akita, Elder Victor Inoue, and Brother James Suycooka translated the verbal messages into Japanese for the Japanese-speaking members of the congregation.

1970 Goal—7 New Members in Every Sabbath School Class

Seven new Sabbath School members in every Sabbath School class in 1970 is our goal in Central California.

This can readily be accomplished as every Sabbath School member becomes engaged in sharing with others the joy of Christian living. At this late date we cannot afford to leave to another the work that God has appointed for us to do.

Every crown placed on the head of a saint in the heavenly kingdom will have at least one star. Pray for courage to ask your neighbor to attend Sabbath School with you. Study the Scriptures and pray that God will help you win one soul this year.

"Let the prayer go forth from unfeigned lips, 'Lord, increase my faith; give me Divine enlightenment; for without help from thee I can do nothing.' . . . Make a covenant with God that you will answer His requirements; tell Him you will believe, without any other evidence except the naked promise. This is not presumption; but unless you work with zeal, unless you are earnest and determined, Satan will obtain the advantage, and you will be left in unbelief and darkness."—Testimonies on Sabbath School Work, p. 28.

The boys and girls of our Sabbath schools may also have a part in winning their playmates. Encourage them to invite their friends to attend Sabbath School.

With the combined efforts of every Sabbath School member in 1970 praying and working for the salvation of others, it is impossible for us to imagine the end results.

GERALD H. FRIEDRICH, Secretary,
Sabbath School Department.

Five-Day Plan at the West Valley College of Saratoga

The Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking received some good publicity recently when the Community Services Department of the West Valley College in Saratoga (near San Jose) requested that we conduct our program on their campus for the benefit of the community.

The Five-Day Plan was offered to area residents as a free class through the college's newsletter and local newspaper articles. The college handled all publicity, made all arrangements for the program, accepted registrations, and paid to us the equivalent of the regular registration fee for each person who enrolled in the program.

Elder Daniel R. Fausset, Milpitas Church pastor, and Dr. Edward A. John, conference medical secretary, conducted the sessions for a group of 87 "students." This was a most enthusiastic and unusual group, and on the fifth evening, 85 of those enrolled in the class indicated that they had broken the cigarette habit. Those attending ranged in age from 19 to 77, smoked as little as half a pack a day to as much as three packs per day, and had been smokers for periods ranging from five years to 65 years.

Those involved in presenting this Five-Day Plan felt that they had been able to perform a very needed community service, and the Lord had certainly blessed their efforts.

Arizona

Membership in Arizona Goes Over Four Thousand Mark

Arizona rejoices that God's blessings have been showered upon its constituency as it showed the highest percentage net growth of any conference in the Pacific Union. The membership increased from 3,824 to 4,042 during 1969. This made it possible to reach and surpass an important milestone, the 4,000 level. The combined efforts of the laity and ministry have made it possible to achieve this. The net growth shows a 5.7 percent increase, double the 2.8 percent on a union level, and 42 percent higher than the next closest conference, Hawaii.

Soul-winning efforts last year showed an increase over the previous year, 263 up from 247. The baptismal rate is 6.9 percent, second only to Hawaii's 7.4 percent. The average for the union is 5.5 percent. In a year when a number of major pastoral changes were made, we believe we are fortunate to show such a gain. We are conscious that the members rallied and continued their witnessing to make this possible. There is always a loss when pastoral changes are made. It is similar to transplanting. It takes time to start growing again.

Our tithe gain was eight percent over the previous year for a total of $866,599.26. While our tithe per capita of $233.33 is the lowest in the union, probably due to the many people we have who are retired, our total dollar per capita increase is the second highest in the union, up $14.21. The average increase for the union is $9.86. The misions giving shows the highest gain in the union per capita.

For these blessings that have been given to us, we thank God. The dedication of our people, both the rich and poor, young and old, in serving God by witnessing, and liberal Christian stewardship, promises to make 1970 a better year yet. The membership has set as an objective to baptize 500, representing 12½ percent of the membership. We are already off to an excellent start.

Soon the world will come to an end, and the Son of God will return to take His remnant from this sin-cursed world. It is our goal to be with Him through eternity and to bring this wonderful life to as many as possible.

JOHN V. STEVENS, President.

College Days Are Announced for March 30 and April 1

The 1970 College Days for Pacific Union College have been announced by President Floyd O. Rittenhouse upon which seniors from academies in Central and Northern California will visit the Angwin campus for an all-day program of events.

On Monday, March 30, students will come from the Armona, Bakersfield, Fresno, Monterey Bay, PUC Prep, and Sacramento academies. Then on Wednesday, April 1, visitors will come from the Golden Gate, Lodi, Modesto, Mountain View, and Rio Lindo academies.

The November 10 date, originally published in the college's calendar of events, had to be canceled because of a union conference-wide gathering of educational leaders subsequently called at Glendale.

Adventist high school seniors who would like to participate in one or the other of the two College Days are invited to write to Steve Fox, vice president of the PUC Student Association, who is assisting with this project. Letters should reach his office not later than March 25.

In view of the revised dates for College Day, the Industrial/Applied Arts Festival, scheduled in the calendar for April 12 and 13, will not be held; and the Industrial Education, Agriculture, and Home Economics departments will instead schedule special activities in conjunction with the regular College Day program, according to Dr. Richard Fisher, coordinator of the project.

Education Professor Authors Teacher Education and AID

A 186-page book by Dr. Louis W. Normington, chairman of the Education Department at Pacific Union College, has been released by The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

Entitled Teacher Education and AID, Dr. Normington's study focuses on the preparation of elementary and secondary teachers and teacher educators in 40 countries assisted by the Agency for International Development (AID).

After emphasizing the critical need for teacher education in the developing countries around the world, the PUC professor's book reports the efforts which the United States, working through AID, has made to help meet these needs.

Of special significance is the study's third chapter in which Dr. Normington analyzes trends in teacher education, isolates the factors which appear to underlie success or failure, and makes recommendations as to both over-all strategy and the planning and carrying out of individual projects.

In the book's concluding chapter is a comprehensive country-by-country study of AID's involvement in the field of technical assistance to teacher education.

Prof. Normington wrote the book during a one-year leave of absence (1968-69) from the PUC campus during which he visited 10 Asian countries and devoted three months to research in the files of the U.S. State Department in Washington, D.C.

A New Two-story Building Houses Important Services

A two-story building containing a new campus mail room and duplicating office, the Audiovisual Department, and a 35-seat classroom is now in use on the Pacific Union College campus.

Located adjacent to the Nelson Memorial Library, the $35,000 addition's lower floor houses the Audiovisual Department. The upper level is shared by the mail room-duplicating offices and the classroom.

According to Keith M. Wallace, director of audiovisual services, the new facility includes a preview room, a classroom for audiovisual education, office space, and a repair studio.

The tremendous volume of work handled by that department made necessary the larger quarters. Space vacated by audiovisual on the basement floor of the library is presently being renovated to provide much-needed additional stack space.

Each of the two stories has 1,336 square feet of floor space.

Mrs. Florence Horinouchi and Ann Marin, coordinators of the mail room and duplicating offices, control the important tasks of distributing campus mail via courier to all departments, offices, and dormitories.

On a 90-day trial basis the office is experimenting with an A. B. Dick offset press with a 100-bin collator. The staff expresses hope that the new equipment will save considerable time, and therefore money, in the tasks of printing such items as examinations.

Spring Quarter Registration Will Be Held on March 23

Registration procedures for the spring quarter at Pacific Union College have been announced by Dr. James N. Scott, director of admissions and records.

Registration will be held in Pacific Auditorium on Monday, March 23, from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 6 p.m. Graduates, postgraduates, seniors, and special students may begin at 9 a.m., and juniors at 10:30.

All other students are to register during the afternoon session.

Dr. Scott advises that no prospective student come to registration without having received an official letter of acceptance beforehand.

SPRING BRINGS NEW BOOKS FOR MOMENTS OF RELAXATION

If groundhog watchers are right, it shouldn't be long before we can enjoy something resembling spring. And right along with those first warm breezes, we can enjoy some refreshing new books. So forget that spring housecleaning and yard work for a few minutes and relax with some of these:

For the youngsters, here's a book to whet appetites for fun on the farm. Once Upon a Summer, by Lois M. Parker, is a sparkling narrative highlighted by dozens of animal friends. Joan, a lively eight-year-old, learns how to take care of pets and farm animals, and has fun helping her parents in the garden. Black- and white-line drawings by Jim Padgett add special interest. This hardcover book from Southern Publishing Association sells for $3.95.

Adults with a wanderlust will enjoy two new paperbacks that have just been released. Affair of the Heart, by Herbert Ford, is the newest addition to the Crown series (Southern Publishing Association). Elder Ford accompanied the Loma Linda University heart surgery team on a recent visit to Greece, and his on-the-spot report of their life-saving work there will inspire every reader.

A near-tragic plane accident enabled Leonard Barnard to write his story, Banish the Night. This is a Destiny book from Pacific Press, and tells many of the author's fascinating experiences during the years that he was a mission pilot in New Guinea. Both of these paperbacks are illustrated with photographs and sell for just $1.85.

If your teenagers are still making noises about generation gaps and such, they might enjoy Though the Heavens Fall, by Irene Wakeham. This collection of short stories and allegories is the first to break away from the old "sin-suffer-repent" formula that has been boring young people for the last 20 years. They may be surprised to learn that missionary wives can't always overcome their discouragements, and that some members of the older generation have been known to steer young folk in the wrong direction. If you like departures, this one is for you.

Ministry to the Blind

Don't feel sorry for blind persons. What they need is an understanding of their problems. They need to be motivated to be a part of society and become self-sufficient.

The aim of the Christian Record Braille Foundation is to open the eyes of the blind and physically-handicapped through Braille and recorded services. To make the blind aware of what is happening in the sighted world around them is one of the reasons for our existence. This ministry to the blind is supported by the members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church through an offering taken every two years. The next offering will be taken on May 16.
