Pacific Union Delegates Meet in Fresno

Four students were among the 450 official delegates to the thirteenth regular session of the Pacific Union in Fresno last week. Hearing reports of God's blessing and seeking His leading for the next quadrennium, the delegation represented 107,969 members in 442 churches of western North America.

General Conference representation included R. H. Pierson, N. C. Wilson, H. D. Singleton, R. R. Bietz, Kenneth H. Wood, N. R. Dower, and L. L. Bock; W. B. Ochs, a former Pacific Union president, was also there.

Reports from the varying departments told of the Lord's blessings in the 148 elementary and intermediate schools, 23 secondary schools, two colleges, 13 medical institutions, two centers for Indian health and education, and the five General Conference facilities within the Pacific Union.

Serving these denominational centers within the Pacific Union are 10,993 members! Another 1,600 in retirement have selected this Union for their home.

"Big business" within the Union is the medical work. Thirteen centers give care to the sick and/or aged. Employed in these communities are 5,041 workers giving a Christian impact.

Membership Gain

Union membership shows a gain of 12,668 during the past four years. Tithe for the quadrennium was $95,545,013.24—a gain of $25,528,268.28.

Two groups of deaf believers, at least ten other-language groups, and other minorities worship in the Union which was formed in 1901—in its present state organization since 1929. Though no church has a closed membership, there are in 37 black churches within the Union a total of 9,575 constituents. In 38 Spanish-language churches there are 5,479.

Still a challenge to this Union territory are one million Black Americans and another three million Spanish. Spanish workers have dedicated themselves to doubling their membership before the next session, while all other races too have set themselves to the finishing of the work during the next quadrennium.

SHIRLEY BURTON.

One quarter of a million baptisms.

A heaven-sent revival is changing lives of Adventist college youth across America. How encouraging it is to see this revival spreading to our academies. What about your church?

MV Upreach is designed to lead God's youth into a deeper Christian experience. A brand-new devotional daily program called "Encounter" is just off the press, a program designed that by taking just 15 minutes a day in an exciting adventure with God the reader will be led through the entire Bible and the Conflict of the Ages Series in just four years.

MV Aim

MV Outreach becomes a natural experience for the youth when their hearts are filled with Christ. The aim of Missionary Volunteers is to help win a quarter of a million new believers by the summer of 1975. We are well on the way. In North America our share of this goal is 25,000 baptisms. Already we have passed the 2,000 mark.

Youth of the other divisions of the world are also shouldering their responsibilities with tremendous success. In South America they report 7,072 baptisms in the first two quarters of this quinquennium. Inter-American Division youth report 1,937 baptisms in which they have had a share in preparing the candidates.

Let the youth of every church enter into the joy of bringing souls to Christ. Choose a method that will produce results, such as the Voice of Youth, an MV Branch Sabbath School, a Friendship Team, Operation Fireside, or the Youth Gift Bible Plan, using "Insight Adventures" or the Sunday, March 7, a large number of constituents from all parts of the Central California Conference gathered in the camp meeting auditorium at Soquel to take care of the business affairs of the church. Three new churches were added to the sisterhood of churches, one was disbanded and two united into one church body. We were greatly cheered as we learned that the membership has grown to 18,612, that 2,009 were baptized or accepted on profession of faith in the last two years.

An executive committee of 19 was elected and empowered to direct the affairs of the conference for the next three years at which time conference officials and a committee will be elected. This change from the present two-year plan was voted by the constituent body.

An action was also recorded to authorize the sale of the conference-owned campground facility at Soquel. The belief was that this represents the best interest of the total work of the church in Central California.

Beginning on the evening of Monday, March 8, almost 150 delegates gathered in the Reno Church for the Nevada-Utah Conference Constituency meeting. Some of these are from California—Bishop, Lone Pine, Lake Tahoe, Susanville, Greenville, and Quincy. We are grateful for the desire in the hearts of the membership to see the work enlarged and strengthened and to be involved in the affairs of the church.

There are now 2,083 members in Nevada-Utah in 24 churches. A new church near Moab, Utah, known as Castle Valley, was accepted into the sisterhood of churches. A self-supporting school is in operation in connection with it that is greatly appreciated. Much good is being done for a fine group of about 20 young people.

Elder D. E. Dirksen, president for the past four years, announced his retirement. He has given a good tone to the work and will be greatly missed. A. G. Streiffing, at present the president of the Hawaiian Mission, was invited to succeed Elder Dirksen. He will assume his duties as soon as proper arrangements can be developed. E. F. Finck, one of the departmental secretaries, also retired after giving excellent service for over ten years. He, too, will be missed. Other conference workers were asked to continue their work. A committee of 12 will be responsible for the direction of the work during the next two years, for no change was made in the length of the term of office in Nevada-Utah.

We are preparing now for the Union Conference Session. As you read this, it is history and reports will appear.

"Be of good cheer . . ."

Pacific Union Has Six of Top Ten Literature Evangelists

Each year the General Conference Publishing Department prepares a list of all the literature evangelists in North America who have $15,000 or over in sales. March 30 Insight Deals With Revivals of 1892 and 1970

In 1892 students at Battle Creek College experienced a revival. Classes were canceled as students and teachers took part in meetings of testimony, prayer, and confession. Many gave their hearts to God, some for the first time.

During 1970 revivals similar to that at Battle Creek spontaneously occurred at Andrews University and at several other colleges and academies and amongst working groups of youth.

An examination of what happened in 1892 and discussion of the parallels and differences to the events of the past year is published in the March 30 issue of Insight. Ron Graybill is the author.

In the same issue, Don Scriven has written an expressive dialogue on the existence of God.

KAAREN KINZER.

"You know—that Signs seems to come my way just when I need it most," a Signs reader recently said, "right on the very day I need a good lift!"

Another writes, "With so many religious broadcasters all saying something different, just what do you believe? I'm always glad when the Signs comes. Then I can read what the Bible means."

This really cheers us on, because we always want to know how you like the Signs.

Reports come to the Signs office telling how the magazine blesses here, there, and everywhere. The Signs has brought bless-

Retirees Are Active in Soul Winning at Monument Valley

It has been nearly a year since Florian and Dorothy Moore "retired" to the Monument Valley Mission and Hospital. After 34 years with the United States Post Office, Mr. Moore operates the Monument Valley Post Office, does considerable photography of the Mission, the Navajo people, and Navajoland. Mrs. Moore assists in the X-ray Department, cleans the guest rooms, and uses her "green thumb" to beautify the grounds.

For the average retired couple this would be more than enough to occupy their time. However, the Moores fully believe that the prime reason that they are in Monument Valley is to win souls.

Several months ago Inez Singer, a young Navajo wife and mother, who had come to know the Moores as true friends, asked them if they would give her Bible studies. Week after week the Moores visited the well-kept Singer hogan presenting the gospel message. It was a tremendous thrill for the Moores to witness Inez Singer take her stand for Jesus and be baptized at the first of this year.

MRS. JOYCE MULLIGAN, PR Secy.,
Monument Valley Mission.

Florian and Dorothy Moore congratulate Inez Singer after her baptism. The Moores have joined many others of our mission family who have found the true joy and satisfaction that can come only with personal witnessing.

Fallon District Hosts Group From Pacific Union College

A special meeting is held for the church members in the Fallon District four times each year, usually when there is a month with five Sabbaths and on the fifth Sabbath weekend. The district is made up of the Fallon and Yerington churches, the Hawthorne Company, and the many conference church members scattered throughout the area, from Lovelock to the Coal-dale Junction and from Gabbs to Fernley—nearly the whole of central Nevada.

Those at the most recent meeting enjoyed the students from Pacific Union College who came in two station wagons on Friday evening. Just as they arrived a transformer serving the part of Fallon where our church is located failed. Gas lanterns and candles gave the supper prepared for the guests an unplanned atmosphere.

Student missionaries, Lorraine Cherry, Jim Beacraft, and David Whitaker, showed slides of the places they had worked. A freshman quartet provided special music.

During Sabbath School Ed Moore explained the student missionary plan and the quartet visited all the Sabbath School divisions.

Dr. John Staples, associate professor of religion, presented the sermon "So Great Salvation." (Hebrews 2:3.) His message both challenged the members to a more dedicated Christian life and encouraged the hearts of the weary.

The Sabbath afternoon meeting again emphasized the student missionary program. This time the students wore costumes from the areas where they had been. They told of their experiences, the blessings received, and their desire to return as full-fledged denominational missionaries dedicated to winning souls for the kingdom of heaven. Dr. Staples concluded the program, telling of his native Africa and exhibiting some of the artifacts in his collection.

Almost exactly 24 hours after they had arrived, the students and faculty were reloaded in their station wagons and on their way back to PUC and its routine of classes, meetings, tests, and grades. Yet they left something behind—something of themselves. Although they were here for only a day and stayed in our homes just one night, they are distinct individuals to us now, not simply more students and staff from Pacific Union College. They gave us a greater interest in and feeling for the work of missionaries and they inspired us to renew our part in this work right where we live.

Congregation Changes Name to Diamond Head Church

Recently the Hawaiian Mission Executive Committee granted the request of the Kaimuki Church to change its name to Diamond Head Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Before leaving for a new appointment on the mainland, Pastor Frank McMurry suggested to the Kaimuki Church board the name of Diamond Head. After enumerating the advantages and disadvantages of the change, Elder McMurry was happy to find the board members enthusiastically receptive to the change of the church name. A business meeting was called, and a majority vote was taken in favor of the new name.

Since the church is located only three blocks from the famous Diamond Head crater, it was felt the church family should capitalize on this landmark known by people around the world, instead of using a district name which is known mainly to those who live on the Island of Oahu. Also the name Diamond Head will be advantageous in pinpointing the accessibility of an Adventist church to the thousands of tourists who pass through Hawaii's Waikiki area each year.

Chartered in 1938, the Kaimuki Church was formed from members of the main church in Honolulu, then on Keeaumoku Street, who resided in the Kaimuki area. It was just recently that the last charter member transferred to another church because of a change in residence.

Although improvements have been made through the years, the same wood-frame edifice on 18th Avenue still stands with its three large sliding double doors on either side of the congregation, bringing the luxuriant foliage of the island very close to the worshippers, and letting in the cooling breezes of Hawaii's trade winds.

The euphonious name of Kaimuki, pronounced phonetically Kah-emu-key in the Hawaiian language, will always hold a sentimental place in the hearts of the people who have been members under that name. However, the congregation realizes the advantage of using the name of Hawaii's best known landmark, and they look forward to the new church name, Diamond Head Seventh-day Adventist Church, as an asset in furthering the cause of Christ in the Hawaiian Mission.

JEANE KRAVIG, PR Secy.,
Diamond Head Church.

News Notes

From the Hawaiian Mission

✓ The evangelistic effort in Waipahu has come to a successful conclusion. One baptismal service has already taken place, and others are planned. The follow-up work is continuing in a strong way by Elders John Klim and Richard Among.

✓ Pastor Richard Among had the experience of appearing on a panel with three non-Seventh-day Adventist pastors to discuss various religions at the McKinley High School of Honolulu. It was his privilege to give and explain special and strong points of Adventism to the group of students present.

✓ Presently a new parsonage is being constructed within one block of the Diamond Head Church. With the cost of real estate in Hawaii ever soaring, the housing of workers is becoming a greater problem. Thus the Mission endeavors to make provision to meet these problems through having a fair amount of housing available for workers.

Solid Growth of Conference Noted at Constituency Meet

Elder Earl W. Amundson has been re-elected to the presidency of the Central California Conference, and is shown as he is congratulated by Elder W. J. Blacker, president of the Pacific Union Conference.

At the constituency meeting, held at the Soquel campground, reports indicated solid growth in all areas of conference activity. Conference membership was reported as 18,612 at the close of 1970.

There were areas of concern, of course, such as matters of finance, Christian education, and other needs caused by a fast-growing membership. However, a fine spirit of Christian unity and dedication was seen and felt throughout the day-long meeting. Departmental leadership was continued as before.

Two items of particular interest came up for discussion. For some time it has been apparent that Central California has far outgrown its camp meeting facilities at Soquel. After serious and prayerful study, both before and at the constituency meeting, the delegates reluctantly voted to offer the Soquel campgrounds for sale. We say reluctantly because through the years Soquel has become almost a hallowed place for Adventists. The constituency did express itself favorable to continuing camp meeting in Central if proper plans and arrangements can be made. This the conference officers and committee will faithfully endeavor to do.

Camp meeting, therefore, will be held at Soquel, probably for the last time, this summer from August 5 to 14.

It was also voted that the conference shift to a triennium plan for election of conference personnel and the executive committee, instead of the usual biennial plan of two-year terms. This is in accord with General Conference suggestions, and Central is joining the vast majority of conferences in this change.

The membership felt that a smaller constituency meeting should be held annually, not to elect officers but to study plans for the progress of the work of God.

Truly, God is leading His people toward a finished work. Here in Central workers and members alike pledged themselves to a more dedicated program of witnessing and service, that they may be ready to meet their Lord.

B. W. MATTISON, Secretary,
Public Relations Department.

Three Central California pastors presented three companies of believers to become full-fledged Adventist churches at the recent constituency meeting, and these groups were voted into the sisterhood of churches in Central which now has 93 churches. From left to right are Elder E. W. Amundson, conference president; Elder E. D. Rudley, of the new Seaside Church; Elder Walter Streifling, of the new church at Morro Bay; and Elder Lloyd Sewake, pastor of the new Pacifica Church. All three groups have given real evidence of Christian growth and the members expectantly look forward to active witnessing for the Lord as we approach the end.

Hear Stanley Hiten on Radio KBIF, Fresno

"What Must I Do to Be Saved?" will be Elder Stanley Hiten's topic on Sabbath mornings at 8:30 over station KBIF in the Fresno area. This was previously the station and time for the regular Voice of Prophecy broadcast.

We invite all those in this area to tune in for his inspiring messages. Tell your friends and neighbors!

Hollister-Gilroy Primary Students Have Fun With FFT Project

The primary students of the Hollister-Gilroy Church School had great fun with their project to raise money for the Faith for Today offering. Hearts fastened to the bulletin board were decorated with coins and dollar-bill bows. The 22 children raised $37.45 for Faith for Today. Now they are beginning to save for The Voice of Prophecy offering to be taken near the end of the school year. Shown with their teacher, Janice Sahlin, are 19 of the 22 children.

Corwin-Dill Madera Crusade Is Fruitful—Fifteen Baptisms

Fifteen people were baptized as a result of the Corwin-Dill Evangelistic Crusade at Madera. February 20 marked the close of a fruitful six-week campaign when the second baptism of the series was held. A few days before the scheduled baptism, one of the candidates, Mrs. Mary Wright, 84 years old, scalded her legs, but her determination gained the victory and she was baptized anyway.

Ten other people have made commitments to be baptized after further study. We solicit the prayers of all fellow believers for these prospects. One is the Madera county librarian. He was a teacher and attorney in Hungary until taken prisoner by the Communists. He, his wife, and their five children have now started attending Sabbath School and church.

The excellent ministry of the Corwin-Dill team has brought revival and encouragement to the entire church membership in Madera. Public evangelism pays!

E. W. GRAVES, Pastor.

International Unity Evident at Recent Tabernacle Baptism

On a recent Sabbath morning Pastor Roy Gee of the San Francisco Tabernacle Church baptized three candidates representing three different countries.

Milosi Sataoa Leva'a, a former Mormon and the mother of 10, is from American Samoa.

Rosalina Panday, a young nurse originally a Catholic, claims Manila in the Philippines as home. She became interested in Seventh-day Adventist doctrine while living with her uncle and his family here. Her decision was based on family worship Bible readings.

Mary Love, representing the younger set in our own country, is the third member of this baptismal trio. She arrived in San Francisco from North Carolina and traces her line of religious devotion to her great-grandfather, who was an Advent Christian.

It is not surprising that these new members are enjoying a refreshing fellowship at Tabernacle. International unity is in keeping with the tradition of this church.

Cameron Weckerley Plans Unique Investment Project

The Bakersfield Hillcrest Church members have a good report to give of money turned in for the Investment offering. The total money raised was $4,189.20.

Top investor for 1970 was Dr. William Greene, who led the group with a personal goal of $1,547 for the year.

Second place went to Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellsworth Osborne, owners of the Greenfield Rexall Pharmacy. Mr. Osborne gives 10 cents for each increase in the number of prescriptions he fills over the previous year.

The children had many interesting projects, but the unique one was originated by Cameron Weckerley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weckerley. When his birthday came around he asked his friends not to bring gifts to the party—just the money they would have spent on gifts. This he turned in as a 21-dollar Investment gift.

Mrs. Glenda Marshall, the Investment secretary, says, "The members are thrilled to know they have had a part in providing funds to start new work for the building up of the Lord's kingdom."

Lecture Series on Archeology to Begin March 27 at Redding

A "Revelations of Archeology in the Middle East" lecture series will begin on Saturday night, March 27, at 7:30 in the Redding Church at 2828 Eureka Way. The series will continue each Wednesday and Saturday evening through April 24. Follow-up meetings will be comprised of Bible marking classes on Wednesday nights for eight additional weeks.

The opening lecture is entitled "Petra—The Rose-Red City." The discovery of a missing Nabatean city confirms the amazing accuracy of God's ancient prophecies.

In the picture-lecture program series, Elder Norman Sharp will portray how the discoveries of modern archeology reaffirm faith in the Scriptures. In addition to the color slides taken by Elder Sharp on his recent visit to the Bible lands of the Middle East, blacklight illustrations will also be used.

If you have relatives and friends or know of former members who are living in or near the Redding area, you are urged to send names and current addresses to Elder Norman Sharp, 2840 Sacramento Drive, Redding, California 96001. We also enlist your prayers that the endeavors by the elders and laymen of the Redding Church will bear a wonderful harvest for the Kingdom of God.

Elmshaven Church Has Outstanding Investment Success

Orchids to the Elmshaven Church for an outstanding Investment achievement for 1970. A total of $10,800 was raised by faithful Sabbath School members. This is double their goal and represents over $12 per capita. This figure is the highest amount raised in any church in our conference for 1970, and probably represents a record for Investment in the Northern California Conference.

The senior citizens from the Crystal Springs Home raised approximately $1,500 in two Investment sales. These dear folk made many items for sale—crochet work, knitted garments, and bakery goods. Two regular church sales during the year netted $2,100 but the majority of the money came from individual personal projects.

This outstanding achievement expresses the sincere devotion of the 976 members of the Elmshaven Church. Elder Joseph

A. Quinn who successfully led the church to this record achievement reports that the Elmshaven Sabbath School members have a long tradition of loyalty to our worldwide mission program. Many retired workers and former missionaries are members of the Sabbath School.

Escalon Reports First 1971 Baptism; Others Are Studying

Sabbath, February 13, was a high day in the Escalon, Church. I'm sure there was rejoicing in Heaven as Mr. Arthur Gillifillan was buried with his Lord in baptism. This was the first baptism for 1971 in our church. His loved ones were indeed happy to see the fruition of their years of praying and months of Bible studies given by the pastor.

Arthur Gillifillan

We have more studying these precious truths, and are claiming God's promises for their conversion. Remember our church in your prayers.

MRS. JOHN LESTER, Church Clerk.

Last year the Investment total for the Elmshaven Church was $9,063. The Sabbath School offerings for this church have also ranked very high. Over $1 per member per week has been a consistent record.

We deeply appreciate the devotion of this group and pray that God will continue to bless their Investment projects in 1971.

Redding Students Become Aware of the Needs of Others

This past Christmas the students at Redding's Lawncrest Junior Academy did away completely with selfish exchange of gifts at school.

Mrs. Segoria's first and second grades cared for a Spanish family of six. The family could not speak English, so conversation was through an interpreter. The students provided over $75 worth of food, a Christmas tree (donated by the Pathfinder Club) with decorations made by the students, two tricycles, a hide-a-bed and chair, a crib, a playpen, and a lot of new and used clothing. Since then the class has provided transportation to the clinic for the family, and is keeping in touch with them.

Miss Wood and her third and fourth grades had a family of five. The students provided a refrigerator, about $50 worth of food, a Christmas tree with decorations, and several presents for each of the three children. The class took the gifts and sang carols to the family. As a result, the family now attend the Anderson Church.

Miss Porter and her fifth and sixth grades provided for a widow with three children. Through bake sales and donations the class was able to supply two large boxes of food, many clothes, and some games. The total value of the gifts was over $60.

Mr. Proctor and the seventh and eighth grades cared for a family of six. The home was heated only by a fireplace, and they were out of wood. The students provided a large load of wood, many presents, and several boxes of food. The total expenditure was over $50 and the family was most grateful.

Mr. Popp and the ninth and tenth grade students provided for a widow with two teen-age children. The family lived in a small trailer and were very thankful for the $30 worth of food and the many gifts they received, which constituted their whole Christmas.

There are people all around us who need our continuing help, more than just one day a year. Our students are more aware of this now than ever before. This is our mission—to minister to those in need, right around home as well as across the seas.

Seven Join Sacramento Area Spanish Churches by Baptism

Seven new believers were "incorporated" into the Body of Christ—His Church—through baptism January 30 at the Sacramento Spanish Church. It was a most beautiful occasion, since two of the baptized were young men who were taking a decided stand for Christ in spite of parental opposition.

Both of the young men, Joe Munoz and Henry Cardoza, were told by their respective parents that if they joined with the Seventh-day Adventist Church, they were not to return home; they would find their bags packed, and they could just look elsewhere to live. In spite of such intimidation, both Joe and Henry made their decision to live up to what they had been taught by Pastor Caleb Rosado in the weeks and months previous.

Joe's baptism was the result of Pastor Rosado's effort of reaching the local young people by means of opening up his church on Tuesday nights as a youth center. Joe never missed a Tuesday night, and later on he also began to come to prayer meeting and to Sabbath services regularly, until he decided that this was the way for him. He started bringing his sister to church also, but his parents objected to this.

Mrs. Molina first heard of the Seventh-day Adventist Church when she was invited by one of our faithful members, Mrs. Maria Estabillo. Pastor Rosado gave her a Bible, which was the first Bible she had ever seen or held in her hand. Hungry for the Word of God, she never missed a prayer meeting or Sabbath service after that. She asked the pastor to study with her, and every day she opened her home to the Word of God. Her husband has plans to be baptized in the next baptism.

Representing the church of Sacramento were Gloria Garcia and Elizabeth Ballesteros. From Lodi Mrs. Victoria Larez was baptized. The other four, including Janie Perez, whose sisters were baptized at a previous baptism, are from Stockton.

CALEB ROSADO, Pastor.

Since his wife's death three years ago, Brother Johnson spends his spare time in making quilt tops for disaster relief. He has made 30 quilt tops which he gives to the Long Beach Dorcas Society for distribution.

Brother Johnson is a member of the Rolling Hills Church where he is faithful in attendance and in serving the Lord in many ways. He attributes his well-being to his love for the Lord.

La Sierra Spanish Church Has Dedication of Ground

It was a great event for La Sierra Spanish Church when they dedicated a piece of land to the Lord on January 31. At noon Elder Merardo Leon welcomed the people who met for this event.

Building committee members and pastoral staff of the new La Sierra Spanish Church explain the architectural plan at the dedication of ground on January 31.

He said, "This is the first time we meet as members of the church in this place which will be an educational and evangelistic center for the Spanish of this area."

Elder Valeriano Vazquez offered a prayer and Prof. Leon Gambetta said, "Hither to hath the Lord helped us. And we never doubt that He will help us in the future until completion of this project of faith."

Prof. Fernando Salcedo, who designed the whole project, explained the general plan of construction and especially the purpose of the evangelistic center and the Sabbath School classrooms which are a part of the first phase of the building project.

Elder Leon led the congregation in the ceremony of dedication of the land. Prof. Juan Gil presented the dedication prayer. Representing the conference were Elwyn Platner and Manuel Nestares. After the ceremony dinner was provided by the Dorcas as a fund-raising project.

We would like to report that everything is right on schedule. The next thing will be the groundbreaking. We hope to start building about the end of the month.

MERARDO LEON, Pastor.

Santa Ana Shelton Is Grateful for Accomplishments of 1970

Although well into the new year, the Shelton Street Church of Santa Ana feels grateful to God for what has been accomplished during the past year. Our membership now stands at 91 with several preparing for baptism which will put our membership over the 100 mark in a few weeks.

We also note a substantial increase in tithe—almost doubling what it was the previous year. There has also been a comparable gain in missions and other offerings. Over $10,000 has been spent in cash and donated labor in improvements on our church facility.

A youth crusade was conducted by Pastor Dave Taylor, associate MV secretary of the conference, and among those baptized was a young woman who was a member of another congregation which leases our church building on Sundays. Pastor R. E. Berry invited the minister of this congregation and his members to the meetings. On the first night the minister and this young lady attended. She continued coming and is now a Seventh-day Adventist having been baptized at the close of the meetings.

In spite of this turn of circumstances, there is still an amicable relationship between our church and our Baptist friends who lease our church building. This young lady, who is employed by the phone company, had no difficulty in getting the Sabbath off, and has interested several of her friends in the message.

Our humanitarian and inner-city work has been spearheaded by our very active Dorcas Society and Pathfinder Club. During Halloween our Pathfinders collected over 1,000 cans of food and our Dorcas ladies distributed several baskets of food on Thanksgiving Day.

Because nearly 40 percent of our membership are young people, they played a major role in the Ingathering Crusade. One young lad raised $100 and many others reached and went far beyond their goals.

Since the first of the year a Prophetic Guidance Course taught by the pastor has been organized with 38 enrollees. A Daniel and Revelation class is also meeting weekly.

Our sanctuary choir, under the direction of Mrs. Berry, presented its third annual rendition of Handel's "Messiah" during the Christmas holidays. The choir also sponsored a program on National Negro History Week, February 13.

Our courage is good in the Lord and the prospects are for a good year of soul winning and progress all along the line.

RICHARD E. BERRY, Pastor.

Banning Nutrition School and Banquet Are Well Attended

A four-night nutrition school and a banquet were held in February at the Community Women's Club in Banning. About 50 persons attended the four classes and 80 persons attended the banquet on February 14. The program was coordinated by Mrs. Charlotte Hamlin, R.N., who is presently majoring in public health nutrition at the School of Health, Loma Linda University.

A lecture was given each night, followed by food demonstrations. Lecturers, from the School of Health, were Albert Sanchez, who has a doctorate in Public Health, from the department of nutrition; Bernell Baldwin, Ph.D., from the department of preventive care; Charles Thomas, Ph.D., from the department of health education; James Crawford, D.D.S., from the department of public health practice; and Elsa Lonerger who is connected with the department of health education.

Simplicity was the theme woven throughout. Most of the recipes used can be prepared in a short time with minimum effort. Women from the Banning Church and students from the School of Health prepared the trays for the demonstrations. Recipes were handed out, and prizes were given.

The menu for the banquet consisted of various foods demonstrated each night or followed the principles demonstrated.

Mrs. Hamlin appreciated the help given by Pastor R. J. Wieland and his wife and also the church members who helped nightly.

DREAM COMES TRUE AT THE TUCSON SHARON CHURCH

The members of the Tucson Sharon congregation had a dream. This came true when, on Sunday, March 7, at 4 o'clock, the church at 955 North Tenth Avenue held an open house for the public. The door of the newly renovated and refurbished building was opened by Morgan Maxwell, Sr. The new upholstered pews, the pulpit and communion table were unveiled by prominent Tucson residents, among them Mrs. Mary West, an attorney, who gave five hundred dollars toward the project.

Present were the pastors of six Tucson congregations besides those of the two sister Tucson Seventh-day Adventist churches. The choirs from Prince Chapel AME and Mount Calvary Baptist churches added their musical selections to those of the Sharon choir and the Mountain Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Church. Pastor William Kirlaw, minister of the church, presented the visiting ministers. Among them were Elder John Stevens, president, and William Bassham, lay activities and Sabbath School secretary of the Arizona Conference. Elder Bassham was chairman. Elder J. P. Middleton, former pastor now in charge of the Aleso Community Seventh-day Adventist Church in Los Angeles, gave the message to a packed-to-capacity congregation.

Presently, a Youth Fellowship and Dorcas Welfare building is under construction beside the sanctuary. We give thanks to the Arizona Conference and to the members and friends of Sharon who gave willingly of their means and time to further the cause of God's work in Tucson.

PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE

Dr. George Rue to Receive Honors at Alumni Gathering

Dr. George H. Rue, founder of Adventist hospitals in Seoul and Pusan, Korea, will be named alumnus of the year during Alumni Weekend, April 16 to 18, when classes of '21, '46, and '71 will be honored.

After spending most of his life in Korea, Dr. Rue is now retired in Nordland, Washington. He attended PUC from 1916 to 1919. He and approximately 75 other "pioneers" will be honored in the first meeting of the weekend, a Pioneer Day luncheon in the Cypress Room of the cafeteria on Friday, according to Dr. Ervil Clark ('50), president of the Alumni Association. Orville Baldwin ('26), former farm manager and teacher at PUC, will speak.

Friday night vespers will feature Dr. Elton Wallace ('43), chairman of the Communications Department, as speaker; a map-lighting ceremony, marking the locations of PUCites who are missionaries; and a memorial service for those who have died during the past year.

Sabbath School, coordinated by Wes Amundson, will be presented by this year's seniors. Lawrence Maxwell ('46), Signs of the Times editor, will speak for church.

Other scheduled activities include: a potluck dinner Sabbath in Pacific Auditorium, where the annual offering for student missionaries will be taken; Sabbath evening vespers, with Dr. Paul Quimby, professor emeritus of religion; "Arizona," presented by Stan Midgley at 7:45 and 9:45 in Irwin Hall; and the Alumni Breakfast Sunday morning in Pacific Auditorium.

Heart Association Extends Fellowship to Four Students

Summer research fellowships have been extended by the California Heart Association to four Pacific Union College students, according to Dr. Vernon Winn, head of the Chemistry Department.

Those accepted by the CHA are Lee Carter, junior chemistry major from Livermore; Phil Roos, junior chemistry major from Loma Linda; Vince Hanson, junior physics major from Redondo Beach; and Gordon Peterson, sophomore chemistry major from Loma Linda. Ray Westermeyer, junior chemistry major from Boulder, Colorado, has been designated an alternate recipient. Because some persons decline the fellowships, Mr. Westermeyer is likely to be a finalist also, Dr. Winn said. All five are pre-med students.

The five fellowships represent nearly one-eighth of the 38 research fellowships offered to California college and university students. Last year four PUC students were accepted, among them Phil Roos who declined the fellowship until this year.

The fellowships are intended "to encourage careers in cardiovascular research work under direct supervision of experienced scientists," the CHA stated. Each recipient may choose from over 50 positions, mostly located at university medical centers in the San Francisco Bay Area and southern California.

The $750 ten-week research grant is offered to science majors with "outstanding grades" and faculty recommendations, Dr. Winn stated.

Four PUC Teachers Are Involved in Bilingual Teaching at Calexico

Four members of the Modern Language Department at PUC are currently involved in an experimental program in bilingual teaching at Calexico, California.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Thomann, Ralph Escandon, and Carlos Lopez spend two days every three to four weeks working in Calexico, directly across the border from Mexicali, a city of 450,000.

Calexico is one of 60 such programs, designed to help Spanish-speaking Americans retain their own cultural background and speak and write their native language better while they are learning English.

Involved in the Calexico program are 360 students in grades seven to ten.

Twelve Academies Participate in Recent PUC Band Festival

One hundred and twenty-six students and teachers, representatives of 12 California academies, participated in the Northern and Central California conferences Band Festival at PUC March 3 to 6.

In addition to a full schedule of rehearsals and clinic lecture demonstrations and discussions, two concerts were presented. The Sabbath evening vespers program, narrated by Dr. Elton Wallace, was followed by a secular program, emceed by Dr. E. J. Anderson, superintendent of schools for Northern California Conference. Both concerts were held in Pacific Auditorium under the direction of Dr. Melvin Hill, chairman, Department of Music.

"Hallelujah" Is the Title of Carolyn Bisel's New Record

When a singer produces a record, how are the songs on it selected?

Perhaps Carolyn Rhodes Bisel, assistant professor of music at PUC and well-known soloist, picked the best way—over the past several years she has kept track of those selections most often requested. These songs are now available on a record just produced.

Numbers include "Hallelujah" (the title of the record), "The Lord's Prayer," "Psalm 23," and "Bless the Lord, O My Soul."

Organist for the record is David Worth, a former student at PUC and now on the faculty at Atlantic Union College. The master tape was cut at Immanuel Lutheran Church in San Jose with Mr. Worth at its 30-rank Casavant organ.

Producer for the combatable stereo record is Stan Bisel, chief engineer at the college's radio station, KANG, and Carolyn's husband.

The record, tape on Ampex 350 stereo equipment with two Neuman condenser mikes and one Sony mike (for solo work), is available at Book and Bible houses throughout the country or from Stanbi Record Production, Box 397, Angwin 94508.
