

'A Look Back at 1974'

Today I am glancing over the year 1974. As I do so, I am filled with feelings of sorrow, regret, peace and joy. I don't know which feeling is strongest.

I feel sorrow because of persons who were taken for granted whose lives on earth are now history. They could have been more loved than they were.

There are other persons who have not died physically. They still walk, sleep, eat and work. But they care less about the Lord than they did at the close of 1973. What they do with their thoughts, time, effort and money tells us they care less now than before. It is not possible to shrug it off with "each person has to make his own choice."

Peace also fills my life today. Someone does understand my thoughts and feelings. He understands my concerns. He does not tell me I have no reason for sorrow and regret. He experiences the same feelings.

He understands. He knows not only what you and I did, He knows what we wanted to do for Him. He knows we fell short of the goals we set for our lives. He is glad we did not set them so low we reached them.

I am happy that the church to which I belong grew in 1974. But there are other ways of measuring growth. How much like the Lord are we now than one year ago?

When I look back my thoughts are also happy thoughts. There were people who were married and are enthused about it after the wedding as they were before. There were persons who accepted the Lord as their Saviour and were baptized as a public testimony to what He had done for them. There were persons who found a more meaningful relationship with the Lord than they had ever known before.

We care about 1974 because we were there. People we love were there. God was there.

We have moved. 1975 is now our home. God has moved too. He is not living in 1974. He is alive and well today. God must want us to think more about 1975 than 1974.

Some of us will die. Some will be married. Some will be divorced. Some will be sick more. Some will be sick less. Some will make more money. Some will make less money.

Who knows where we shall walk? Who cares?

With Whom we walk is more important than where. I suspect He has some new places to take us, as individuals and as a church. We can say "yes."

50,000-watt Station in San Francisco Carries VOP Broadcast

Late afternoon commuters in the San Francisco area will be able to listen to The Voice of Prophecy's daily 15-minute broadcast beginning February 3, when 50,000-watt KFAX (1100) begins releasing the program at 5:15 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Cooperating with The VOP in making possible this major new station release are the Central and Northern California conferences.

Also recently added to the list of stations carrying the daily broadcast is KFRE (940) in Fresno, which will air the program at 11:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Purchase of time on this station was made possible by The Voice of Prophecy's Readiness Fund of 1974. Because that fund is now depleted, a new 1975 Readiness Fund is being set up with special gifts from VOP friends so that the radiobroadcast may continue to take advantage of good time periods for the program as they become available.

Just added to the stations carrying the 30-minute Sunday program at 9 a.m. is KFBK (1530) in Sacramento.

Students to Who's Who

Among the 15 Walla Walla College senior class students named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1975 are two from the Pacific Union.

Those approved for this year's listing include Kathleen Ann Baruch and Keith Willard.

Inspiration Says . . .

"A cultivated intellect is a great treasure; but without the softening influence of sympathy and sanctified love, it is not of the highest value. We should have words and deeds of tender consideration for others. We can manifest a thousand little attentions in friendly words and pleasant looks, which will be reflected upon us again. Thoughtless Christians manifest by their neglect of others that they are not in union with Christ. It is impossible to be in union with Christ and yet be unkind to others and forgetful of their rights. Many long intensely for friendly sympathy. God has given each of us an identity of our own, which cannot be merged in that of another; but our individual characteristics will be much less prominent if we are indeed Christ's and His will is ours. Our lives should be consecrated to the good and happiness of others, as was our Saviour's. We should be self-forgetful, ever looking out for opportunities, even in little things, to show gratitude for the favors we have received of others, and watching for opportunities to cheer others and lighten and relieve their sorrows and burdens by acts of tender kindness and little deeds of love.

Union Appoints Glenz Publishing Director

Edwin O. Glenz has replaced retiring Arthur Reisinger as director of the Union's publishing work.

Beginning as a literature evangelist in his native New Jersey 32 years ago, Elder Glenz came from the Potomac Conference where he has served the past two years.

Prior to his hearing the Lord's call, Elder Glenz was a night club musician and later a welder at the navy yards. However, once he recognized the voice of the Creator, he dedicated full time to the literature ministry.

After 20 years in literature sales, Elder Glenz became assistant and then director of the publishing program in New Jersey. He was ordained at Garden State Academy, befittingly in Tranquility, New Jersey, in 1970.

Elder Glenz and his wife, Florence, have two sons and a daughter.

Edwin Glenz is the new director of the Pacific Union's publishing department.

Already Elder Glenz has entered into leadership in a strong way for recruitment and training, following the same earnestness as Elder Reisinger. Your prayers of support will be appreciated.

SO YOU WILL KNOW

LABOR UNIONS: Recently, a prominently displayed article in a leading news journal indicated that in coming months a concerted effort will be made by labor unions to organize nonprofit hospitals. Until recently, such a procedure was not practical under the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. That legislation has been changed so that hospitals are now vulnerable to be organized by labor unions.

I APPEAL TO OUR CHURCH MEMBERSHIP AND LEADERSHIP in three areas. 1. Administration must be fair and honorable in its relationship with employees—in working conditions, wages, and the human dignity of the person. Employees must sense the reward of being a part of the "team."

2. Our church members need to review and study carefully the counsel from the pen of Ellen G. White and the suggestions of the church body regarding affiliation with labor organizations. We dare not rationalize on this subject or take the word of some casual person regarding this matter. Study and pray your way through a proper in-depth understanding of the issues involved. 3. I especially appeal to Seventh-day Adventist employees in our medical institutions to be a positive influence with non-Seventh-day Adventist workers in all matters including assisting them in properly understanding unionism.

OUR MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS have a special mission to perform. God's plan can be fulfilled only through dedicated workers who become channels of His power and grace. The greater reward of employment is the privilege of serving people. That severely contrasts the thinking of some labor leaders.

Very cordially yours,

Cree Sandefur

Wilbert Schneider Speaks to Church Officers

A large group of church officers met in the Reno church on Sabbath afternoon, January 11, for counsel, instruction and inspiration.

Dr. Wilbert Schneider, educational secretary of the Pacific Union Conference, presented the keynote address in which he outlined the importance of the church doing a more thorough work in holding its youth and preparing them for real service in the cause of God.

The northwestern part of the conference was well represented. The entire office staff was on hand to help in this meeting.

Participants in the Church Officers' Meeting included, l-r: Mrs. Wickersham, Dr. Wilbert Schneider, Elder A. G. Streifling and Dr. Robert Erickson.

It was intended to set the church pace for the year.

There is an ever-increasing need for church officers who are well acquainted with the responsibilities of church officership and who are able to carry them out in such a way that a winning influence will be felt in the community.

South Lake Tahoe Hosts Five-Day Plan

Elder William Haynes and Dr. Robert Erickson are uniting their talents in a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, in the South Lake Tahoe area. It is the first time it has been offered in South Lake Tahoe.

Many days before the program, 25 individuals had already registered. It was planned to limit the session to 30 people. A modest fee is charged for the materials and it is hoped this will help those participating to be more in earnest about the overall program.

This class is merely one community program to make the work of Adventists better known and more appreciated in the minds of the people in this area.

Open House Held

Glendale Completes Kitchen Remodeling

Glendale Church celebrated its new kitchen facility with an Open House Sunday evening, November 17.

Funds for this major improvement were largely provided by a group of doctors who volunteered to spearhead the drive.

The $10,000 project includes new electrical and plumbing installations, all new cabinetry, flooring and institutional appliances, making the kitchen qualified for commercial-type service.

This equipment opens the way for a full-scale lunch program at Glenview Junior Academy in addition to providing the Glendale Church with much-needed fellowship facilities.

Approximately 150 members and guests were present for the opening ceremonies.

To initiate the new facilities, a Thanksgiving dinner was served to 300 guests, sponsored by the Glenview Home and School.

Fire Destroys Calf Barn at Holbrook School

Fire destroyed an important building on the campus of Holbrook Adventist Indian Mission School. A barn used to house young calves was completely destroyed, yet there was no loss of life to students or animals.

A replacement structure is urgently needed. The barn was used to house calves, protecting them from the severities of weather. The calves, an important part of the farm program, are later sold to dairy farmers in the area.

The fire was discovered by students after returning from an evening week of prayer meeting. Unfortunately neither the fire alarm nor the campus phone system were operational that evening.

While Mr. Norman Edwards, boys' dean, organized the fellows into a fire crew, Principal Earl Spaulding got the campus fire truck into operation.

"Without the truck, we would have lost thousands of dollars worth of equipment stored in or near the barn," stated Principal Spaulding. The fire truck was donated to the school two years ago by the Angwin Volunteer Fire Department, located near Pacific Union College.

The first fire in the mission school's history provided the fire crew with valuable experience but has left many animals homeless.

Ralph Reedy Joins Publishing Department

Newest addition to the literature evangelism staff is Ralph Reedy as an associate publishing department director. He is sharing field assignments with Adam Stramel, the other associate in the department.

For the past five years, Mr. Reedy has served in a similar position in the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference.

Besides years spent as a literature evangelist, he has also been an associate in the Ohio and Carolina conferences.

Ralph and his wife, Jacquelin, are the parents of three children: David, 21, a student at Southwestern Union College; Cindy, 17, a junior at Ozark Academy; and Billy, age 10.

"With the growing force of full-time literature evangelists and part-time small literature workers an additional worker in the department was necessary," explains Publishing Director Jack Henderson. "We are very grateful to have Ralph Reedy join our team."

Ralph Reedy and family

Morris Rossier Begins in Nogales Patagonia

New pastor for the Nogales-Patagonia district is Elder Morris Rossier. The family comes to Arizona from the North Dakota Conference.

Morris and Marilyn Rossier are the parents of four children: Jennifer, a student at Union College; Connie, a vocational school student; and Anthony and Greg, church school students.

Mrs. Rossier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sparks, are members of the Phoenix Camelback Church.

After studying at Southern Missionary College, Elder Rossier began his denominational service as a foreman in the furniture factory at Maplewood Academy. From Minnesota, the Rossiers moved to Missouri to work as a pastor-teacher for three years.

Next a call to Shenandoah Valley Academy was responded to and Mr. Rossier served as a salesman in the broom shop.

For the next six years Elder Rossier served as a district pastor in the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference where he was ordained.

Since ordination, Elder Rossier has pastored in the Pennsylvania Conference where a new church was designed and built at Tunkhanochee and for the past three years as pastor in the Minot District, North Dakota.

Lakeside Church Officially Opened December 21

The official opening of the new Lakeside church took place December 21, 1974. Pastor John Shewmake led the services at which Elder Warren Heintz and Elder Kenneth Livesay were the principal speakers.

During the afternoon meeting, the San Diego Academy Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Berdyce Summers, presented several musical selections.

It took just a year of construction for the $350,000 building, which has 10,000 feet of floor space, to be built. Robert Burman of Glendale, California, was the architect and Wendall Slater, conference building superintendent, was the contractor.

Until the main sanctuary is built, the 250-seat fellowship hall will be used for worship service.

Much of the labor on the stucco, plumbing, grading and placing of the dry wall was donated.

Friends are invited to visit the new church located at 10404 Lake Jennings Park Road.

Exterior of the new Lakeside church.

The San Diego Academy Choir presented a short sacred concert at the opening.

Elder John Shewmake, center, thanks his congregation for their faithfulness. Mrs. Shewmake and Dr. Jim Kaatz accompany the pastor.

Nutritional Cooking School Reaches Neighbors

Healthful living and how to prepare nutritious food for the family has a tremendous appeal to the public today. With high food prices, especially with expensive meats, people are searching for good substitutes.

Jay Hoffman, assisted by Mrs. Thelma Krieger, conducted a "Nutritional Cooking School" at the Newport Harbor church. Fifty-five people enrolled in the school. Many husbands came with their wives to watch the demonstrations and eat the food samples. Mrs. Krieger was great as a cook and a demonstrator, adding just enough humor to maintain a high degree of interest. Hoffman's recipes found favorable reception with the students.

Four people were baptized as a result of the Health Lectures and many others have made great changes in their eating habits.

50 Participate in Oceanside Five-Day Plan

Just before Christmas is not considered the best time to hold a Stop Smoking program; however, it proved a good time for 50 local residents to sign up for the plan.

Of this group, 40 had completely overcome the habit by the end of the five days and some who could not attend the last couple of nights had their friends pick up the material for them so they could finish the course.

Melvin V. Jacobson, Conference temperance director, came to Oceanside to supervise the program. He was joined by various medical personnel from the Escondido area who assisted in the lectures and therapy sessions.

Most of the ex-smokers expressed their appreciation for the help given them as well as the low-keyed emphasis on religion. Several expressed an interest in the church and planned to attend services in the near future.

There were numerous requests that more Stop Smoking Plans be scheduled so that friends and relatives could be helped. Pastor Harry F. Hannah plans to hold one in February and will schedule others as a regular church project.

With hearts overflowing, the congregation sang "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." Newport Harbor Church under the blessings of God will enter 1975 free of debt and will for an early date to dedicate their lovely sanctuary to the service of God.

Pastors Join for a Spiritual Retreat

A spiritual retreat for pastors, Bible Workers and academy Bible teachers was held at Pine Springs Ranch from January 6 to 8.

The retreat was different this year as guest speakers were not invited. Instead, the topics were presented by various pastors and then the workers discussed the particular subject in small groups. One person described the retreat as a meeting of "pastors talking to one another about mutual problems."

The nine areas covered were "Eschatology," "Family Relations," "Counseling," "The Spirit of Prophecy," "Priorities," "Spiritism," and "Prayer Meetings." The one guest pastor, Elder Paul Heubach, talked on "The Worker's Personal Problems."

The ministerial department presented a film on "The Role of the Pastor" and the concept of the "Theater of the Universe" was presented in the evening sessions.

The workers left the retreat expressing appreciation for the opportunity to talk with their fellow workers on mutual problems.

Elder Loveless used the method of role playing to base his discussion of "Counseling."

Ceres Spanish Members Move to New Church

Ceres Spanish Church celebrated the inauguration of worship services in their new location on Sabbath, December 21.

Until the purchase of the new building at Franklin and California streets in Modesto, they had been meeting in the Modesto Union Elementary School.

Guest speaker for the worship hour was Central California Conference President Earl W. Amundson. Many friends from the nearby English churches, who had assisted the members and contributed toward the refurbishing of the sanctuary, were present and joined in the fellowship dinner in the all-purpose room.

An afternoon musical program by Mr. Karl Mayr and Mrs. Clifford Emde was followed by a special program of rededication to Christ. Elder Sergio Collins, editor of the Spanish Review, addressed the group. Those present at this service came forward and placed envelopes containing money gifts on a large Christmas tree. The funds will be used for payment of furnishings and necessary equipment.

Special guests, besides the speakers, were Elder E. J. Royer, secretary of the Conference

Association, and Mrs. Royer; Elders Arthur and Henry Westphal, pioneer missionaries to Latin-American countries; Elder Mario Collins, president of Colegio Adventista del Pacifico at Javajoa, Mexico; and Mrs. Earl Amundson.

Elder Alban Millard

Note: Free HELM to all alumni who send in address and year of graduation.

BAKERSFIELD SOUTHSIDE CHURCH'S Adventist Community Services used the recent holiday season as an occasion for aiding persons in need, faith-sharing, and reaping good will—all in one project.

Directed by ACS Leader Maggie Bradshaw, Southside members packed and distributed a number of boxes containing basic foods (bread and canned goods), and literature.

Southside's Communication Secretary Patricia Patterson reports that the "help given to concerned persons in the Bakersfield area was much appreciated."

Santa Clara County Indians Receive Aid

December 19, 1974, was a day dedicated to the Indians living in Santa Clara County. Elder W. C. Webb drove the Welfare van to the Welfare Service Warehouse in Watsonville.

Manager Russell Heigh set aside a van load of disposable diapers and these were taken to the Indian Center in San Jose where mothers were happy to receive diapers for their infants.

The same day, a trip was made to Mountain View Academy where the students, under the direction of John Collins, had collected thousands of cans of food. Almost 2,000 of these were given for the Indian Center.

Pamela Ranney and James Tonn were chosen to accompany Elder Webb to give the gift of food to the center. The director of the center was radiant with gratitude for such a display of benevolence on the part of the students at MVA.

Food is in such short supply that canned goods are rationed four a day to the families who come to the center for assistance. This rationing system is used in order to be able to assist as many families as possible.

During the Thanksgiving Season, the students at the West Valley Adventist Intermediate School in Campbell, under the supervision of the principal, John Shafer, gave about 1,000 cans of food for the Indian Center.

The Pathfinders of Mountain View Central Church, under the direction of William Rusler, gave about 500 cans of food this holiday season.

We are so grateful to our young people for the good work they have done. We appeal to others to help us help the Indians in Santa Clara County. Ours is an ongoing effort to help these dear people who are in such great need.

W. C. Webb,
Inner City Coordinator.

Bakersfield Series Notes 60 Decisions

"Thank you for your persistence with my husband!"

A happy Bakersfield woman was talking to Evangelist Dick Rentfro after her husband's baptism last month.

Elder Rentfro says, "It was personal effort right in the home that won this man's heart to Christ."

Rentfro noted 60 decisions, with over 40 already united with the Adventist church.

The Bakersfield campaign was a group effort involving area pastors, Bible instructors and church members.

Bakersfield Central Pastor Owen Jones is following up the series with a baptismal class.

Less than half of those who made decisions for Christ at Bakersfield are shown.

Edie Logan Conducts Vegetarian Class

A delightful presentation of vegetarian cuisine by Edie Logan, nutritionist for the Central California Conference, was attended by more than 40 citizens of Sonora from December 9 to 12.

Edie's way of presenting dishes and recipes, combined with spiritual thoughts and good humor tucked in for proper seasoning, made each presentation a delightful experience.

About one-half of the participants in the seminar were non-Adventists, most of whom attended the evangelistic crusade just completed by Pastor Stanley Harris.

Elmhurst Church Conducts a Health Fair

"I am so thankful! My health is in fine shape and the Lord is good to me," exclaimed an 80-year-old man leaving the Elmhurst church in Oakland, where the Elmhurst Health Fair was in progress inside.

This man had just completed the various health-testing and screening programs as a public service for the inner city community.

The Health Fair, sponsored by the Elmhurst Church under the leadership of Pastor Harold Nemhard, served approximately 175 persons.

Free screening and testing were offered in the areas of sickle-cell anemia, diabetes, hypertension, breast cancer, dental caries, EKG and treadmill for heart health, eye disorders, cervical cancer, tuberculosis and anemia. There was also an immunization program, and information and counseling regarding alcohol and drug use (with free literature) was available.

Mr. Walter Kisack, Elmhurst inner city coordinator, led the public relations and overall direction of the program. Mrs. Eda Rowe, R.N., served as coordinator and organizer. R. Dean Jennings, M.D., from St. Helena Hospital, was in charge of the treadmill testing. Harold Lambeth, D.D.S., from St. Helena, worked in the dental clinic. Bob Wooster of the American Cancer Society co-sponsored Pap smear testing for cervical cancer.

Renewed Interest in Soul-winning Begins

A renewed interest among the Spanish-speaking people of Sacramento County began with the coming of Elder A. Arteaga in 1972. Bible workers Miss Graciela and Mrs. Daisy Rodriguez were called to care for the new interests.

On November 30, 1974, Mr. José Loureiro and his wife, Madeleine, accepted a call to the Sacramento area, and now he has a full list of names in the Capital city, including Roseville and Woodland.

It is challenging to know that in Sacramento County alone there are more than 60,000 Spanish-speaking persons

Mr. and Mrs. José Loureiro

Dr. Richard Neumaier, from the School of Optometry at the University of California at Berkeley, aided in eye testing. Gloria Taylor and Anita Turner set up the immunization program, while Public Health nursing personnel tested for tuberculosis and sickle-cell anemia.

So much enthusiasm was generated that three physicians in the vicinity volunteered their services, Calvin Benton, Clarence Copeland and John Ellis.

Health education films provided by the conference health services were shown continuously throughout the day in an area set apart for them. The day's program was ended by a free vegetarian meal for all, prepared by ladies of the church.

Good will has been generated through the vision of this church to help its neighbors in the community, and they have

LE's Win Souls to Christ

Some months ago, a literature evangelist called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Welsh in Carmichael. Mrs. Welsh was interested in obtaining information on vegetarian cooking. Mrs. Genevieve Bonner sold her some books, and then offered her the opportunity to take Bible studies, which Mrs. Welsh accepted.

She was soon contacted by John Portney, area Bible instructor who studies with those who urgently need the gospel. Certainly this is a mission field right here in California!

A special word of gratitude is given here to a dedicated group of professional people and others who by their faithful financial and prayerful support made it possible for this church to have a Bible worker.

Carmichael Consecrates New Church Officers

On Sunday evening, January 12, the Carmichael Church held a consecration service for its 1975 officers.

Preceding the service, a candlelight salad and sandwich supper was served to the new officers by Florence Cochran, Esther Mattson, Wilma Michaelson and Esther Stebner.

Pastor Reinhold Tilstra's study of the children of Israel before reaching the promised land gave meaning and beauty to the responses of individual officers. Associate Pastor E. Leon Hulse and Youth Pastor Don Winger added encouragement and Elder Felix Lorenz closed with an inspiring consecration prayer.

contacted by the literature evangelists. After studying for some months, Pastor Mark Williams visited with them, and assisted Mr. Portney in the studies.

From the beginning, they began to attend Sabbath services at the Citrus Heights church, and rarely missed a Sabbath. It was a wonderful day when they decided to fully surrender their lives, and to be baptized.

It was a similar situation for Mrs. Andrea Vogel, a Sacramento housewife. She began studying with a friend who had been contacted by a literature evangelist and who was currently studying with Mr. Portney. After studying with both Mr. Portney and Pastor Williams, she also accepted the gospel message.

It was a day of rejoicing when Mr. and Mrs. Welsh, and Mrs. Vogel were baptized on December 28 and received into the fellowship of the Citrus Heights Company.

These baptisms highlight the wonderful work accomplished by the literature evangelistic work, and the faithful follow-up work accomplished by Mr. Portney in giving the Bible studies, assisted by area pastors.

Iglesia Española de Sacramento

Escuela Biblica de Verano

Durante los últimos tres años, hemos tenido el privilegio de presentar a los niños del vecindario, el excelente servicio de la Escuela Bíblica de Verano.

La asistencia fue generalmente de sesenta a setenta niños, más de la mitad no eran adventistas. Algunos padres y madres acompañaron a sus hijos durante algunas clases. Fue hermoso e impresionante el día de su graduación observar los cantos, poesías y partes especiales que ellos aprendieron. Después del sermón—dirigido especialmente a los padres y visitas—se les invitó a pasar a las aulas para la exhibición de trabajos manuales que aún niños de cinco y seis habían hecho.

La Hna. Beatriz Gil, directora del programa durante el verano, sus maestras y demás colaboradores, han encontrado mucho interés de parte de los niños. Varios de ellos vienen cada sábado para seguir estudiando la Palabra. Oramos que haya frutos en nuevas almas y que el tiempo y esfuerzo realizados, serán recompensados abundantemente muy pronto.

Pet Shop in Shasta Joins ASI

Jungle Jim's Pet Shop in Mount Shasta is the newest member of the Association of Privately Owned Seventh-day Adventist Services and Industries in Northern.

Owned and operated by Jim Ayer, the shop sells pets of all kinds, as well as supplies and equipment for them.

Jim places warm friendship and a neighborly spirit high on his priority list. Many who enter his shop to get information on the care of their pets also get spiritual encouragement and help.

During the holiday season, Jim had a box of Desire of Ages on the counter, offering them as Christmas gifts to all who came in.

Jim Ayer, owner and operator of Jungle Jim's Pet Shop in Shasta, gave away free copies of The Desire of Ages to holiday customers.

Paradise Meetings Close with 37 Baptisms

A recent series of meetings by the Clifton Walter-Bernie Paulson team in Paradise resulted in 37 baptisms to date with 10 planning for the next baptismal service.

A number of other interests are studying each Monday evening in preparation for church membership. Elder E. W. Koenig and Elder H. E. Greer are conducting the continuing study meetings.

Each person baptized and each interest attending an evangelistic campaign represents witnessing and care given by members in the area. This love and concern of God's people for their neighbors, friends and family is the best basic structure for building a successful series of meetings, says a church spokesman.

Pasadena Plans Stress Control Program

Most people equate stress with tense muscles and jittery nerves, but these are only symptoms. Stress, in its medical sense, is "essentially the rate of wear and tear in the body."

The secret of health and happiness lies in successful adjustment to the ever-changing conditions within and without. The penalties of failure in this process of adaptation are disease and unhappiness. The fact that over 60% of patients in our hospitals are there because of failure to adapt properly to stress should tell us something.

Pasadena plans to run a Stress Control Program starting Monday evening, February 3, and each Monday night after for 10 weeks. Meetings will be held in the Better Living Center (Fellowship Hall) from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Your attendance could be vital to you.

In A Nutshell

SPEAKING NIGHTLY — Elder R. W. Nelson will hold a two-week Reach Out for Life revival series at the Sun Village church (Little Rock) from February 2 to 16. Two other churches are involved — Lancaster and Palmdale. The Voice of Prophecy quartet is booked to sing opening night. Plan to attend.

Constituency Report from the Education Department

Paul Plummer

NOTHING IS OF GREATER IMPORTANCE THAN THE EDUCATION OF OUR CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE." Counsels to Teachers, p. 165.

Under God's blessing, the educational work in the Southern California Conference has prospered during the past biennium. The following items highlight in a brief way your schools in the Southern California Conference.

- NUMBER OF SCHOOLS: Senior Academies—5, Junior Academies—5, Elementary Schools—23, Home School—1.
- NUMBER OF TEACHERS: Elementary teachers—148, Secondary teachers—78. Of these 226 teachers in our conference, 152 have a bachelor's degree, 72 have a master's degree, and 2 have doctor's degrees.
- BAPTISMS: During the past biennium, 468 young people have been baptized.
- FINANCES: The total cost of elementary and secondary education in the Southern California Conference for the 1972-73 school year was $5,284,920. This rose to $6,049,038 during the 1973-74 school year.
- TUITION INCOME: Tuition income amounted to $2,149,520 during the 1972-73 school year and rose to $2,305,923 during the 1973-74 school year.
- CHURCH SUBSIDIES: The church subsidies amounted to $680,391 during 1972-73 and to $784,193 during 1973-74.
- CONFERENCE SUBSIDIES: The conference subsidies to elementary schools, junior and senior academies during the 1972-73 school year amounted to $944,446 and during the 1973-74 school year $1,092,430.
- TUITION AID TO LOW-INCOME FAMILIES: The Southern California Conference Office of Education has a plan of aiding low-income families from low-income churches with tuition aid. During the 1972-73 school year, the amount of aid was $55,000, during the 1973-74 school year it rose to $65,000, and during the 1974-75 school year it has risen to $70,000.
- WORK EXPERIENCE: During the past biennium, the office of education has started a work-experience program in the five senior academies of our conference. Presently, there are 390 students involved in work-experience education. These students are in work stations in real-life situations.
- CAREER EDUCATION: The office of education developed a mobile career-information center that is loaded with career and job information. In the first round of visits to the five senior academies during the 1974-75 school year, 362 students, 20 teachers and 15 parents used this center. A counselor is present at all times to provide help in the use of the materials and to discuss career opportunities with the students.
- IN-SERVICE EDUCATION: In an effort to improve the professional competencies of teachers, the office of education provides continuous in-service opportunities. During the past biennium, more than 20 days of in-service training for our elementary and secondary teachers were provided.
- BIBLE TEXTBOOKS: New elementary Bible textbooks are in use this year and are being received with great enthusiasm by both students and teachers. The new secondary Bible books are in use through grade 11. The 12th-grade books will be available for the 1975-76 school year.
- SPIRITUAL TONE: The administrators and teachers in our schools report that there is an increased interest on the part of students in spiritual things. This is evidenced by participation in weeks of spiritual emphasis, Bible camps, missionary and service projects and other spiritual activities.

The goal of your schools in the Southern California Conference is to rightly train, both spiritually and intellectually, an army of workers that will go forth to give the message of a crucified, risen and soon-coming Saviour to the whole world.

Fred Kinsey Speaks to Quaker Students

Fred Kinsey, recently pastor of the Whittier Church, was invited to speak to a class studying comparative religion at Quaker owned and operated Whittier College.

He spoke to the students about the Seventh-day Adventist beliefs, history and practices, which included the Sabbath and the state of the dead.

Elder Kinsey found his listeners so interested that he gave each of them "Steps to Christ" and "I Talked to God" by Earling Calkins for further reading. The young people really asked searching questions and were extremely sincere in their searching for truth.

Opportunities like this are a missionary field of its own. When Adventists are asked to address students in non-Adventist schools, we should not refuse.

Glendale City Hosts Horizons to Good Health

"Horizons to Good Health" continues three nights a week at the Glendale City church.

Stressing importance of diet, exercise, water, fresh air, sunlight and other God-given prescriptions is Mervyn Hardinge, M.D., dean of Loma Linda University's School of Health.

This lecture series begins at 7:15 Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays through mid-March.

Students Beautify Their Community

Academy students at Lynwood really believe that Your Community Is Your Campus. It's an idea they got during a recent student campout.

Each Wednesday, all 250 students set aside their books and take up work tools to beautify the community.

Virgil Gaddi and James Sumilat recently paint out graffiti on a building at the Lynwood City Park. The city and a number of community organizations worked with the students on the project.

TRADITIONAL CAROLS — The sixth annual candlelight concert was presented in the Canoga Park church on Friday night, December 20, by the music department of San Fernando Valley Academy. After the candlelighting ceremony, traditional carols were sung by the 23-voice chorale. The band closed the first half of the program by playing songs from the Christmas suite. The choir, which sang Handel's Messiah, was accompanied by Karen Becker at the piano.

Constituency Report from the

Inner City Department

James Kyle

During July and August, 1974, we conducted a recreational program with about 50 children and five counselors in the Watts community. There were also field trips each week.

On August 25, 1974, the department of inner city programs sponsored a Health Fair in the Nickerson Gardens housing project. The Hypertension Screening and Education team from Martin Luther King Hospital was present and screened 50 people. The Sickle Cell Anemia testing team from M. L. K. Hospital was present also. There were displays on alcoholism, VD, birth control and drugs.

Last year, the Pacoima Church conducted an extensive program of community involvement which included family counseling, crisis counseling, a hot-line for teens in trouble and screening programs.

The Mid-City Church, under the guidance of Pastor Orlando Rudley, also conducted an on-going program of community involvement from its own mini-center.

The Watts Center Soul Church program continued through the summer with laymen conducting Bible studies for 50 families. These studies were an introduction to the life of Christ, adapted by Elder Lorenzo W. Paytee. One of the families is now baptized. A follow-up series of studies is now being prepared.

Last September, the Soul Church program was suspended and a new program of evangelism was initiated. This was done under the guidance of the department and in conjunction with the Normandie Avenue pastor, Elder Earl Canson. Sabbath school and church services were held in the former Compton Avenue church—now the Bethel Baptist church. Approximately 10 laymen from the Normandie Avenue Church have cultivated over 20 Bible studies.

A children's story hour has also been started with over 20 children and parents attending from the Watts community. Shoes were purchased for one family who came to the story hour in bare feet. In January, this program was placed completely into the hands of Elder Canson and the Normandie Avenue Church. We feel confident that great things will be accomplished there and that soon a church can be raised in the Watts community.

Glendale Academy, aided by the department and Mrs. Nancy Sweeny, entered into a community service project in its area. They collected canned food for the Christmas holidays and are now aiding the elderly poor who are on fixed incomes. Students will be mowing lawns, running errands, preparing meals, etc., for the elderly. The student coordinator for this program is Lorene Jabala.

The newest program of the department is a career-motivation program called College and Beyond, which began December 3, 1974. It features guest lecturers from different occupational and vocational fields, on-the-job field trips, study-skills training and motivational counseling.

The first two sessions drew about 30 students from Jordan and Locke High Schools both times. Frederick Anderson from Loma Linda University, Department of Media Services, was the keynote speaker. Elder Lorenzo Paytee, principal of the Los Angeles Union School, was the next guest and highlighted career opportunities in education.

The Watts Adventist Community Service Center has been closed. We are planning to relocate it in a smaller, more economical facility. This relocation will promote the mini-center concept throughout the conference.

My deepest thanks and admiration go to Elder Lorenzo Paytee for the pioneer work and the years of faithful and dedicated leadership he has given to the inner city ministry of this conference.

News from Around the Field

West Kauai Church has begun to put decking on their new church. Three men from the Mission office who recently spent three days on Kauai assisting on the roof of the church, were M. O. Chang, L. E. Davidson and Irwin Walker. During camp meeting weekends in 1974, offerings were taken to assist the Kohala Church on the northern tip of the island of Hawaii to construct a Sabbath school building. For years the church has not had an adequate Sabbath school facility, but recently a contractor was engaged to build one. Funds will come from offerings taken and from the Mission Development Fund. The Kohala Church is also contributing a larger amount of funds toward the project. Reports from Pastors Oliver Stimpson and Victor Aladen state that interests in Bible study have increased substantially since the first of the year. Elder Everett Duncan of Faith for Today will conduct meetings in Kahului, Maui, in April and May, 1975.

Elder John Klim, Mission evangelist, will launch a series of meetings shortly at the Wai-pahu church, assisted by Elders Victor Cabansag and George Munson. The Japanese church in Manoa-Honolulu is planning for a major series of evangelistic meetings in the Japanese language. Elder Eiji Shibata from Japan Union will be the speaker for the series. This will be the first series of this nature in Hawaii that has been held in many years. The youth department of Hawaiian Mission, under the direction of Elder C. J. Owens, will conduct a rally with the assistance of Elders Paul De-Booy and Charles Martin in April to gain support for a major thrust in Youth Evangelism in the city of Honolulu during the month of August, 1975. At the semester break, a young couple will join the working force of Hawaiian Mission to coordinate the work in advance of this proposed crusade.

While attending La Sierra College, he served as student body president and editor of the Criterion.

PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE

PUC Receives a $45,000 Exxon Grant

Pacific Union College has been awarded a $45,000 Resource Allocation Management Program grant from the Exxon Education Foundation for the purpose of testing academic management systems.

The grant will help develop an information system appropriate to support program budgeting, according to Academic Dean Dr. John Christian who will also act as project director. Robert Strickland, director of PUC's institutional research, will manage the project.

"What the grant money will actually go for," says Christian, are the salaries of a full-time academic planner or coordinator of the program and a full-time computer programmer as well as various other technical and consultant personnel over an 18-month period."

The dean sees the information that will be gathered as highly valuable in overall academic planning.

"So often," Christian continues, "academic budgets and programs are established on what has happened previously. With the information from the study, we can determine the financial impact of new and existing programs and be able to determine immediate costs like student labor and supplies much more accurately than before."

When the project is complete, the information systems will be made available to the 12 other post-secondary Seventh-day Adventist educational institutions in North America as well as other private colleges and universities the size of PUC.

The college will work with the Seventh-day Adventist Board of Higher Education in making the information available, according to Christian. Every six months, progress reports must be filed with the Exxon Education Foundation. At the conclusion of the project, a thorough evaluation and report must also be submitted to the foundation for publication.

"Presently, the college administration is interviewing people for the job of academic planner and coordinator and hopes to name a person to fill the post in the next couple of weeks," says Christian. July or August is the projected target date of the beginning of the program.

In addition to using the comparative cost study already done by the Board of Higher Education, the college will also use similar information systems developed by the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems at the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education in Denver in implementing the PUC pilot program.

Former FCC Commissioner Speaks Out

American television has become a substitute for life, thought, feelings and interpersonal relations, according to a former FCC Commissioner who spoke to Pacific Union College students last week during a Forum Series assembly.

Nicholas Johnson, FCC Commissioner from 1968 to 1973, warned students that television controls much of the viewer's free time, turns him into a muscleless blob of protoplasm from lack of exercise and tires the eyeballs.

"It's like brain surgery—they take out your brain and put in this lump," he quipped, "full of deodorants and all those things. They rearrange your blood cells."

Although the former University of California, Berkeley, law professor's talk was often humorous he described several scenes as far from funny.

By the age of three, most American children know how to turn the TV set off and on, change channels and focus the set. "But," said Johnson, "they don't know how to turn people on and off and focus them."

By the time a child of five enters kindergarten, he has already received as many hours of television as you will receive in class getting a B.A. degree, the former federal official told students. "And by the time that child is 65, he will have spent nine full years watching television."

Johnson, now a director for the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting, labeled television as "sort of a religion in its own way." The cult it forms, he said, "is certainly the most widely practiced religion in America today."

"Television is pushing this theology we call materialism (and says) that happiness comes from consumption of products," Johnson warned.

In describing what citizens could do about talking back to their TV sets, the Washington attorney said that the public could use tools of public pressure and opinion, current FCC fair comment and program review standards, public broadcasting and stations supported by viewers rather than industry.

Black History Week To Be Held Feb. 3-8

Pacific Union College will focus on the role of the "black man," in history and in today's events, during Black History Week, February 3-8.

Students will hear several black pastors from Northern and Central California churches speaking during morning worship and assembly services. Throughout the week special programs and seminars will be held on the many aspects of Afro-American culture.

Salkind Piano Duo Slates PUC Concert

Duo-pianists, Milton and Peggy Salkind, will appear for Pacific Union College's Candlelight Series scheduled for Sunday evening, January 26, at 8 in Paulin Hall Auditorium.

Specializing in performing music written for one piano and four hands, the Salkinds have conducted extensive international tours. Their appearances include the Library of Congress, Metropolitan Museum, Cleveland Museum, Yale University and Town Hall.

Roger Williams Returns for Concert Series

Pianist Roger Williams returns to Pacific Union College on Saturday evening, February 1, at 8 for his second Concert Series performance.

Famous for his arrangements of such popular songs as "Autumn Leaves" and "Born Free," Williams has been a favorite of easy-listening audiences for two decades.

Williams has recorded 48 record albums—five of them "gold." He has performed on several TV shows and has appeared before three presidents.

Tickets for the Roger Williams concert will be available at the door at Pacific Auditorium for $4. For further Candlelight/Concert Series information, call or write the Dean of Student Affairs, Pacific Union College, Angwin, CA 94508.

Opening in 1866 in an eight-room cottage was the Western Health Reform Institute, the precursor to the present Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital and the first medical facility operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

With a slight revision of its bylaws and a vote by its constituency, Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital became a full-fledged Seventh-day Adventist hospital, now owned and operated by the Lake Union Conference.

A community hospital, the San provides medical, surgical and mental health facilities, with full supportive services. Currently under way is a $3.5 million expansion program, increasing the bed capacity to 157, enlarging existing programs and departments and providing new headquarters for others.

Shown below is the hospital's new structure, the Jeffrey Building, named after James R. Jeffrey, M.D., the Sanitarium's medical director since 1943 and a friend and colleague of the late Dr. John Harvey Kellogg.
