JOY IN SORROW.

I've found a joy in sorrow, A secret balm for pain, A beautiful to-morrow Of sunshine after rain; I've found a branch of healing Near every bitter spring, A whispered promise stealing O'er every broken string.

I've found a glad hosanna For every woe and wail; A handful of sweet manna When grapes of Eschol fail; I've found a Rock of Ages When desert wells are dry; And after weary stages, I've found an Elim nigh.

An Elim with its coolness, Its fountains and its shade; A blessing in its fullness
When buds of promise fade.
O'er tears of soft contrition l've seen a rainbow light, A glory and fruition, So near !—yet out of sight.

My Saviour, thee possessing,

I have the joy, the balm.

The healing and the blessing,
The sunshine and the psalm; The promise for the fearful, The Elim for the faint; The rainbow for the tearful, The glory for the saint!

BY MRS. E. G. WHITE.

The word of God has not been appreiated, but sadly neglected. This book, reealing the will of God to man, deserves be held in the highest esteem, not only w the rich, but by the common people. instruction of the highest value is given to he working class. The apostle enjoins pon slaves under masters to adorn the foctrine of God their Saviour. Those in he humblest employment can, through connection with God, so order their conrersation and be so circumspect in deportment as to bring no dishonor or reproach pon the cause of the Redeemer. They will not by inconsistencies furnish occasion bring the truth into disrepute, when it should be a savor of life unto life.

In a special manner, those who are blessed with a connection with God, should, by plose application to his sacred word, imiate the great Pattern in doing good, thus xemplifying the life of Christ in their daily onversation, in pure and virtuous charac-By being courteous and beneficent hey adorn his doctrine, and show that the bruth of heavenly origin beautifies the charcter and ennobles the life. Christ's folowers are "living epistles, known and read of all men." Their daily words and noble ctions recommend the truth to those who have been prejudiced against it by nomnal professors, who have had a form of godliness, while their lives have testified hat they know nothing of its sanctifying

No man, woman, or youth can attain to Thristian perfection and neglect the study of the word of God. By carefully and blosely searching his word we shall obey the injunction of Christ, "Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have ternal life: and they are they which testify brance. They had lost sight of the precious of me." This search enables the student to closely observe the divine Model, for they testify of Christ. The Pattern must be inspected often and closely in order to imitate it. As one becomes acquainted with the history of the Redeemer, he discovers in himself defects of character; his unlikeness to Christ is so great that he sees he cannot be a follower without a very great change in his life. Still he studies, with a desire to be like his great Exemplar; he catches the looks, the spirit, of his beloved Master; by beholding he becomes changed. "Looking unto Jesus, the au-thor and finisher of our faith." It is not in looking away from him, and in losing sight of him, that we imitate the life of Jesus; but in dwelling upon and talking of him, and seeking to refine the taste and elevate the character; seeking to approach through earnest, persevering effort, through faith and love, the perfect Pattern. The attention being fixed upon Christ, his image, pure and spotless, becomes enshrined in the heart as "the chief among ten thousand and the one altogether lovely." Even unconsciously we imitate that with which we are familiar. By having a knowledge of Christ, his words, his habits, his lessons of instruction, and by borrowing the virtues of the character which we have so closely studied, we become imbued with the spirit of the Master which we have so much ad-

After the resurrection, two disciples traveling to Emmaus were talking over the disappointed hopes occasioned by the death of the beloved Master. Christ himself drew near, unrecognized by the sorrowing disciples. Their faith had died with the Lord, and their eyes, blinded by unbelief, did not discern the risen Saviour. Jesus, walking by their side, longed to reveal himself to them, but he did not choose to do so abruptly; he accosted them merely as fellow-travelers, and asked them in regard to the communication which they were having one with another, and why they were so sad. They were astonished at the question, and asked if he were indeed a stranger in Jerusalem and had not heard that a prophet mighty in word and in deed had been taken by wicked hands and crucified. And now it was the third day, and strange reports had been brought to their ears that Jesus had risen, and had been seen by Mary and certain of the disciples. Jesus said to them, "O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to have entered into his glory?" And beginning at Moses and the prophets, he opened to them the scriptures concerning himself.

When they arrived at Emmaus, Jesus made as though he would have gone farther; but the disciples constrained him to tarry with them, for the day was far spent and the night was at hand. The evening meal was quickly prepared, and while Jesus was offering devotional thanks the disciples looked at one another with astonished glances. His words, his manner, and then his wounded hands were revealed, and they exclaimed, "My Lord and my God." Had the disciples been indifferent in regard to their fellow-traveler, they would have lost the precious opportunity of recognizing their companion who had reasoned so ably from the Scriptures regarding his life, his suffering, and his death and resurrection. He reproved them for not being acquainted with the scriptures in reference to himself. Had they been familiar with the Scriptures, their faith would have been sustained, their hopes unshaken; for prophecy plainly stated the treatment Christ would receive from those he came to save. The disciples were astonished that they could not discover Christ at once, as soon as he spoke with them by the way, and that they had failed to bring to their support the scriptures which Jesus had brought to their remem-promises; but when the words spoken by the prophets were brought to their remembrance, faith revived, and after Christ revealed himself they exclaimed, "Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures?"

The word of God, spoken to the heart, has an animating power, and those who will frame any excuse for neglecting to become acquainted with it will neglect the claims of God in many respects. The character will be deformed, the words and acts a reproach to the truth. The apostle tells us, "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." One of the prophets of God av-One of the prophets of God exsearch the Scriptures, more hearts would burn with the vivid truths therein revealed. Their hopes would brighten with the precious promises strown like pearls all through the sacred writings. In contemplating the history of the patriarchs, the prophets, the men who loved and feared God and walked with him, hearts will glow with the spirit which animated these worthies. As the mind dwells upon the virtue and piety of holy men of old, the spirit which inspired them will kindle a flame of love and holy fervor in the hearts of those who would be like them in character.

The student of the Sabbath-school should feel as thoroughly in earnest to become intelligent in the knowledge of the Scriptures as to excel in the study of the sciences. If either is neglected, it should be the lessons of the six days. The injunction of our Saviour should be religiously regarded by every man, woman, and child who professes his name. Teachers in the Sabbath-school have a missionary field given them to teach the Scriptures, not, parrot like, to repeat over that which they have taken no pains to understand. "They are they which testify of me"—the Redeemer, him in whom our hopes of eternal life are centered. If teachers are not imbued with the spirit of truth, and care not for the knowledge of what is revealed in the word of God, how can they present the truth in an attractive light to those under their charge? The prayer of Christ for his disciples was, Sanctify them through thy truth; thy word is truth. If we are to be sanctified through a knowledge of the truth found in the word of God, we must have an intelligent knowledge of his will therein revealed. We must search the Scriptures, not merely rush through a chapter and repeat it, taking no pains to understand it, but we must dig for the jewel of truth which will enrich the mind, and fortify the soul against the wiles and temptations of the arch-deceiver.

Parents plead trifling excuses for not interesting themselves in the lessons with their children, and they fail to become conversant with the Scriptures. Fathers as well as mothers excuse themselves from disciplining their own minds. They do not seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, but exalt the temporal above the spiritual and eternal. This forgetfulness of God and neglect of his word is the example they give their children, which molds their minds after the worldly standard and not after the exalted standard erected by Christ. Some fathers will while away hours in their own amusement, in conversation upon worldly things, and put God out of their thoughts and hearts. How much more profitable to be faithful disciples of Christ, engaged in searching the Scriptures that they may be thoroughly furnished to all good works, and be able to give an intelligent explanation of the word given of God to guide our footsteps to the eternal shores.

Mothers are heard to deplore that they have no time to teach their children, no God.—Pascal.

time to instruct them in the word of God. But these same mothers find time for outward adorning, time to ornament with tucks and ruffles and needless stitching. Needless trimming is seen upon their own dresses and their children's. The inward adorning of the mind and the culture of the soul are neglected as though inferior to the adornment of the apparel. The minds of mothers and children are starved in order to follow custom and fashion.

Fathers and mothers, we entreat you to take up your long-neglected duties. Search the Scriptures yourselves; assist your children in the study of the sacred word. Make diligent work because of past neglect. Do not send the children away by themselves to study the Bible, but read it with them. teach them in a simple manner what you know, and keep in the school of Christ as claims, "While I was musing, the fire burned." If Christians would earnestly mined that this work shall not be neglected. Mothers, dress yourselves and your children in modest apparel, clean and neat, but without needless adornment. When you learn to do this, to dress with conscientious plainness, then you will have no excuse for being novices in the Scriptures. Follow Christ's injunction, "Search the Scriptures," then you will advance in spiritual strength yourselves, and be able to instruct your children so that they need not come to the Sabbath-school untaught.

Many of the youth say, I have no time to study my lesson. But what are they doing? Some are crowding in every moment to earn a few cents more, when this time pressed into work, if given to the study of the Bible, would, if they practiced its lessons, save them more than the amount gained by overwork. It would save much that is expended in needless ornaments, and preserve vigor of mind to understand the mystery of godliness. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." But these very youth who profess to be Christians gratify the desires of the carnal heart in following their own inclinations; and God-given probationary time, granted them to become acquainted with the precious truths of the Bible, is devoted to the reading of fictitious tales. This habit once formed is difficult to overcome; but it can be done, it must be done by all who are candidates for the heavenly world. That mind is ruined which is allowed to be absorbed in storyreading. The imagination becomes diseased, sentimentalism takes possession of the mind, and there is a vague unrest, a strange appetite for unwholesome mental food, which is constantly unbalancing the mind. Thousands are to-day in the insane asylum whose minds became unbalanced by novel-reading, which results in aircastle building, and love-sick sentimentalism. The Bible is the book of books. It will give you life and health. It is a soother of the nerves, and imparts solidity of mind and firm principle.

The student of the Sabbath-school should be in earnest, should dig deep and search with the greatest care for the precious gems of truth contained in the weekly lessons. The privileges and opportunities which they now have of becoming intelligent in regard to the Scriptures should not be neglected. God would have those who profess to be his followers thoroughly furnished with proof of the doctrines of his word. When and where can this be better obtained than in youth at the Sabbath-school? Parents should in no case treat this matter indiffer-

TRANSFORMATION.

TRUST not in man with passing breath, But in the Lord, the Scripture saith; The truth which saves thou mayst not blend With false professor, faithless friend.

Search thine own heart. What paineth thee In others in thyself may be; All dust is frail, all flesh is weak; Be thou the true man thou dost seek!

Where now with pain thou treadest, trod The whitest of the saints of God! To show thee where their feet were set, The light which led them shineth yet.

The footprints of the life divine, Which marked their path, remain in thine; And that great Life, transfused in theirs, Awaits thy faith, thy love, thy prayers!

THE SOUL AND THE RESURRECTION -THE FAITH OF ANCIENT AND MODERN HEATHENS.

ANCIENT PERUVIANS.

THE Peruvians were among the oldest and most civilized of the nations of South America at the time of its discovery by the Spaniards. A high authority thus states their faith: "They did not understand that the future life was spiritual, but believed it to be corporeal, like this one." "The Incas believed in a universal resurrection, not for glory or punishment, but for a reward of this temporal life. They took extreme care to preserve the nail-pairings and the hairs that were shorn off or torn out with a comb, placing them in holes or niches in the walls; and if they fell out, any other Indian that saw them picked them up and put them in their places again. I very often asked different Indians, at various times, why they did this, in order to see what they would say; and they all replied in the same words, saying, 'Know that all persons who are born must return to life. and the souls must rise out of their tombs, with all that belonged to their bodies." *

They believed in the sleep of the dead and the resurrection.

THE CHIBCHAS.

The Chibchas were another nation of South America. They believed the same as the Peruvians on this point. They "acknowledged that there was something immortal in man, but they did not distinguish the soul from the body.

"These Indians had the tradition from their ancestors that there would be a universal judgment. They believed that the dead were then to be raised and to live forever in this earth in the same way as they live now." ‡

They received these doctrines from tradition, and how remarkably their views harmonize with the Bible!

THE AFRICANS.

Even among some of the degraded negro tribes of Central Africa, the notion of a resurrection is still held from tradition.

"The negroes in Ardrach carefully preserve nails and hair which have been cut off, in order that souls, which on rising out of their graves have to be united with their former bodies, may not need to search long

The Ashantees "supposed that their friends live over again in the other world the lives which they led on earth." §

The Bushmen regard death as a sleep. One of their proverbs is, "Death is only a sleep." $\|$

These Islanders believe in the resurrection of the dead. Mr. Ellis relates a long conversation with them upon this point, in which he says they told him that "all the people who had died would be restored to life," and live in Hawaii again.* *

Thus it will be seen that traditions of the resurrection of the dead are still to be found in all parts of the world, even among the most barbarous nations. This was the ancient and true doctrine. In many cases this doctrine of the resurrection has been lost sight of, while the idea of a future life by some means has been retained. If we bear this in mind, it will be readily seen that the proof of a universal belief in the immortality of the soul is much less than is generally claimed. Indeed, a careful investigation shows that most barbarous nations have only an undefined idea of a future life of some kind. On this slender foundation is based the bold assumption that all nations believe the soul is immortal.

The custom so universally observed among barbarous nations particularly, of burying with the dead valuables, implements, weapons, food, and money, indicates that they had some indistinct idea that in some way the bodies would live again, and these articles would be used. Even if these practices are kept up simply from custom, as may be the case in some instances, it is still evident that the custom originated in the idea that the dead would need these things. They certainly did not suppose that weapons of war, implements of husbandry, and articles of food, have spirits which could go with their departed friends. Hence it is evident that the sentiment that underlies this practice points to the resurrection.

Thus the Ostyaks, of Africa, bury with their dead a tinder-box, pipe, and tobacco. The Samoieds inter with the dead his dresses, his bows, his arrows, and whatever belongs to him, because they say he will need them in the next world. The Damaras lay the arms and property of the deceased on the grave. The Kaffirs bury household utensils with the dead. Congo people embalm their dead. Coast negroes take great care in wrapping up their dead, and a large share of their property is buried with them.

The Australians also bury the property of the deceased with him. The Sandwich Islanders bury provisions with the body. They think the future life is like the present. The Tahitians embalm the bodies of their chiefs, clothe them, and take great care of the body. The Samoans also embalm the body. The Dyaks bury the property of the deceased with him. The Tasmanians bury their spears with the dead, whom they believe to be asleep.

The Ancient Mexicans buried with the corpse slaves and all kinds of property, saying that they were going to keep house in the other world.

The early inhabitants of Britain buried weapons of war, jewelry and food with the deceased. In later times the Saxons buried valuable articles with their dead. The Normans, about the year 1000, embalmed their dead.

It is well known that all the Indian tribes of America bury various articles with the dead bodies of their friends.

Indeed, this universal custom of which we have been speaking is so well known that we need not mention more instances. The great care that has always been bestowed not only upon the dead body, but upon the tomb or grave where it is deposited, points to the same idea, the resurrection of the dead. The world over, without an exception, the notion has always obtained that the ghost, or phantom, of the deceased hovers around the grave. All these facts indicate the universal sentiment of the race that in some way the future life is connected with the dead body.

While searching into the doctrines of the various nations and tribes of the earth concerning the future life, I have been struck with the fact that most of the barbarous nations which are set down by Christians as believers in the immortality of the soul, have only very confused ideas of the future life. They do expect to live hereafter in some way, but that is all that can truthfully be said about it. The advocates of the doctrine that the soul is immortal, seizing upon the slightest notion of a future life eld by these people, immediately report them as believers in the immortal soul. But in fact there is no ground for such an assertion. A confused, indistinct idea of a future life by no means proves a faith in the immortality of the soul.

OVERCOMING.

"For whatsoever is born of God over-cometh the world." 1 John 5:4. In the same connection, the apostle gives us the clue as to the way the world is to be overcome, in these words: "And this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." He continues thus: "Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?" Esdras says: "Be not afraid, neither doubt; for God is your guide; and the God of them who keep my commandments and precepts, saith the Lord God. Let not your sins weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift up themselves. Wo be unto them that are bound with their sins, and covered with their iniquities, like as a field is covered over with bushes, and the path thereof covered with thorns, that no man may travel through! It is left undressed, and is cast into the fire to be consumed therewith." 2 Esdras 16:75–78.

To overcome, we need all the aid of the Holy Spirit's influence. Some sins become like a fever, intermittent; and we are as incapable of overcoming them as of avoiding bodily disease, in and of ourselves; hence the indispensable quality, or grace, of faith; hence, too, the necessity of prayer, and continued watchfulness, a faith that will not relax its hold upon God, and a spirit of prayer and watchfulness as habitual as the beating of the pulse.

All is at stake. Shall we overcome? In our own strength we cannot, but in God we may overcome. Joseph Clarke.

BLIND GUIDES.

JESUS says, "He that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth;" also, "If the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch." Christ here tells us that false teachers are like blind guides. They and their followers walk in darkness, and fall into delusions. But Christ says they know not whither they go. This was most strikingly verified not long ago in two sermons that were preached against the Sabbath. The Methodist and Baptist ministers of a certain town in Iowa, each made a charge against God's Sabbath, and tried to daub up the old "wall" of the popes with untempered mortar, as is usually done. But they had been to hear us enough to know that their mortar was untempered and would not hold together; so each, in his own way, tried to frame an excuse for this defect. They both admitted that there was no command for first-day observance; but this made no difference, they said, because there are other things which are true, and very necessary, that are not commanded.

The Methodist elder said, "There is no command for women to partake of the communion, or to be baptized."

In reviewing him, I referred him to the following scriptures on communion: Matt. 26: 26-28; Gal. 3:28; and on baptism, to Matt. 28:19; Acts 2:38; 8:12. These scriptures positively command women as well as men to partake of the communion and to be baptized. And when Philip fulfilled the command for baptism, he baptized "both men and women." Paul says, "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female; for ye are all one in Christ Jesus." So under the gospel whatever is demanded of men is demanded of women also.

I showed the elder that if what he said was true, his church should never censure a sister for not coming to the communion; for "where there is no law, there is no transgression." They should also take women into their church without baptizing them, if any desire to join them in that way; but they will not, unless they have received what they call baptism. So they require of women what God never required of them. God failed to command what they say is necessary, and the Methodist church had to make up a deficiency that they found in God's word!

This man was evidently walking in darkness, and knew not whither he was going when he made such assertions.

The Baptist minister, seeing the failure of the Methodist, tried a new rule as follows: There is no mention that circumcision, or sacrifices, or the passover is done away. But these assertions melted to nothing under the light of the following scriptures: 1 Cor. 7:19; Acts 15:24; 21:25; Dan. 9:27; Heb. 10:1-9; 1 Cor. 5:7, 8. Isaiah says in a prophecy of the last days (chap. 56:10) that "His watchmen are blind;" and this is evident from the above statements. Spirit of Prophecy, Vol. 1, page 78, was referred to and ridiculed by the Baptist minister. He said that what Sister White said about amalgamation of man and beast was utterly impossible. I referred him to Johnson's New Cyclopedia, pp. 1040, 1042, that he might learn for the first time, if he never knew it before, that "Allied species are capable, as a rule, of pairing and producing offspring;" and that, "under the influence of man, mongrel races readily arise and are indefinitely sustained,"—just exactly what Sister White says. The elder said her teachings were worse than Darwinism. But I showed that her teachings were correct (Lev. 18:23, 24), and that his were worse than nonsense. It is not likely that he will be profited by what I referred him to; for he did not come to hear his discourse reviewed, although before the public I invited him to do so.

The saddest feature of the case is, that people are led by these men. Isaiah says, "O my people, they which lead thee cause thee to err, and destroy the way of thy paths." But, thank the Lord, some good souls are obeying the command, "Cease ye G. V. KILGORE.

A DARK BUT TRUE PICTURE.

An article appears in the Atlantic Monthly for October, by a writer whose name is not given, which, under the heading, "Certain Dangerous Tendencies in American Life," gives a very dark picture of American society. It is very evident that, while the author takes an unprophetic view, and hence an erroneous one, of the ultimate destiny of America, and gives his recipe for the regeneration of our country, he is not one of those unthinking men who, despite stubborn facts, are prating of our constant progress in righteousness, and telling us that the millennium is at hand.

He speaks of the "new elements and conditions" introduced into our national life by our civil war, and says we are "confronted by problems and dangers which we had thought could never arise in the path of a nation with institutions like our own." He freely admits that the golden prophecies made by American statesmen before the war are not in a fair way of immediate fulfillment. In speaking of the extravagance engendered by the plentifulness of money and the apparent business prosperity of war times, he says: "A passionate greed for riches was developed among our people. Man had no longer any vision for realities, but built upon illusions and impossibilities as if they were the solid facts and laws of nature." Hence all kinds of speculation were resorted to, ventures made on borrowed capital, and men ran wild in their haste to become suddenly rich. The result has been seen during the past few years in the great financial depression and wholesale bankruptcy. Not only the nation, but almost every State, city, town, and we may almost say individual, is in

The writer next proceeds to show how this extravagance affected the morals of the people, being "encouraged and de-fended," as it was, "by the leading clergy-men and writers of the nation." The ehurch partook more and more of the spirit of worldliness, and is now, he says, "for the most part a depository of social rather than of religious influences. Its chief force or vitality is no longer religious. There are still, of course, many truly religious people in the churches; . . . but these are everywhere a small minority, and they are mournfully conscious that the old religious life and power have departed from the church. They distrust the methods of the modern revivalism, and do not feel at home among the younger members of the church, with their advanced views of fashionable, thorough-going worldliness. They are alarmed to find the atmosphere and tone of the church more and more secular and business-like."

The writer continues: "For a very large class of which we may next speak the church furnishes opportunity for a pleasant social life which is in no way different from the social life of amiable, intelligent people out of the church; that is, there is nothing distinctively religious about it. For this class all the barriers and distinctions between the church and the world have been removed. Church work is, for them, in all its forms, a kind of sacred amuse ment. Public worship, with its pulpit oratory and modern church music, is an æsthetic entertainment. They have developed a religion which is not religious. They have learned how to be Christians, according to their meaning, without self-denial or any abridgment of the pleasures, pursuits, or ambitions of people who acknowledge no religious obligations.

They do not believe the creeds to which they subscribe when they join the church, and generally make no secret afterward of their doubt or disbelief respecting various fundamental doctrines of Christianity. But they have a horror of all dissent which takes a man out of the popular church, and show no respect for the plea of conscience in such cases. . . Their ministers are men of intelligence and of considerable culture. They believe even less than their people of the doctrines of their creeds. They generally avoid doctrinal subjects in preaching, and have for some years based their teaching mostly upon utilitarian grounds. They have for themselves accepted rationalistic beliefs far in advance of what they teach, and consider themselves engaged in a most necessary and useful work—that of leading the people gradually onward in thought and knowledge by carefully giving them the truth as they are able to bear it. Their caution is extreme, and they thus sacrifice whatever strength may belong to courage and outspoken sincerity."

SYNOPSIS.

Joseph was not long kept chained in a dungeon; for the Lord gave the keeper of the rison such confidence in him that he was reeased from confinement, and appointed to take charge of the other prisoners.

After a time, two of the king's officers, the chief butler and the chief baker, were cast into While there, they each had a strange dream. Feeling very anxious about the meaning of these dreams, they told them to Joseph. He told them what the dreams meant, and three days afterward they were both fulfilled ecording to Joseph's interpretation.

The chief butler was restored to his office, but he forgot to ask the king to release Joseph from prison, as Joseph had requested him to do.

Two years afterward, Pharach, the king, had a dream which troubled him, and none of the vise men of his kingdom could interpret it. Then the chief butler remembered Joseph, and he was taken from prison and brought before Pharaoh to interpret his dream.

Joseph did not take any honor to himself, but said, "It is not in me; God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace."

After Pharaoh had related his dream, Joseph told him what it meant. He said that there were to be seven years of great plenty in the land, and that these years of plenty were to be followed by seven years of grievous famine.

Joseph advised that officers be appointed, who should take up a fifth part of the produce of the land during the seven plenteous years, and lay it up in store in the cities; so that there might be food during the years of famine.

"And the thing was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his servants. And Pharaoh said unto his servants, 'Can we find such a one as this is, a man in whom the

- 24. How long since it commenced in the second apartment?

SYNOPSIS.

The work in the first apartment of the sanctuary on earth, consisted chiefly in the offering of incense, and the blood of sin-offerings. In the first apartment of the sanctuary in Heaven, our great High Priest offers the prayers of saints and his own blood. Rev. 8:3, 4; Heb. 9:12; 1 Peter 1:18, 19; Eph. 1:7.

The blood denotes the life, and when the priest offered the blood of the victim, he presented its life to meet the demands of the broken law; so Christ presents his own blood, -his life, in the sanctuary in Heaven.

When the penitent sinner seeks forgiveness. through the merits of a crucified Redeemer, Christ takes the guilt upon himself, presenting his own blood in behalf of the sinner, and in this way sins are transferred to the sanctuary in Heaven. The innocent victims offered in the earthly ministration bore the sins of the people in a figure, but Christ has really borne them on the 1 Peter 2:24. On the cross he shed his blood; there he gave up his life; and that sacrifice is accepted in behalf of guilty men.

Since the ministration in the second apartment was the closing work in the worldly sanctuary, so it must be in the heavenly. The typical round of service was repeated every year, but the round of service in the heavenly sanctuary will never be repeated. That sanctuary will be cleansed but once, and when that work of cleansing is completed, our probation will be over; for there will then be no more offering for sin.

In Dan. 8:14 we read these words: "Unto 2300 days, then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.' We have seen that this prophetic period ended be that of the heavenly sanctuary, for no other sanctuary was in existence at that time. Since 1844, then, our great High Priest has been ministering in the most holy place.

How long this work will go on we cannot tell; but since the corresponding work in the earthly ministration occupied only one day in the entire yearly round of service, it seems probable that the closing work in the heavenly sanctuary will be comparatively brief.

SABBATH-SCHOOL HINTS.-NO. 1.

THE Sabbath-school work is one of great importance; and though much has already been said and written on the subject, a few words may not be out of place here; especially as our people have a growing interest in the spiritual welfare of the children, and are waking up to the importance of the Sabbath-school in its

RELATION TO THE CHURCH.

That the Sabbath-school, when properly conducted, is a valuable accessory to the church, its past history has fully attested. It has shown as well, that when carried on | blessings.

carelessly or without any particular object in view, the tendency has been not only to discourage the young in the work of the Sabbath-school, but to lessen their interest in religious services generally, and make the Sabbath a dull and tiresome day. As a result, they soon become wayward, and are finally lost to the cause. This result, however, is not necessary. Children are very much like grown people. That which is not made attractive, soon ceases to interest them. Truth should be made plain and interesting to the children, and then it is food for them the same as it is to us; the Bible and Sabbath-school become attractive, and the Sabbath itself the best day of the seven, to which they will continually look forward with delight.

There is one other consideration which yields consolation here and the promise of joy hereafter. Children that have been well trained in the Sabbath-school almost invariably at the proper age present themselves for baptism, and become valuable members of the church. A prominent Baptist minister once said that during a pastorate of twenty years over one church, he baptized two hundred and twenty-eight pupils from its Sabbath-school, of whom only seventeen had been disfellowshiped. Corresponding steadfastness would no doubt be seen among young converts in all churches were Sabbath-schools faithfully sustained in their midst.

WHAT CAN I DO?

Some may say, "What can I do to bring about such a state of things? I have no gift, no talent to do anything in that direction. I only wish I had." My brother, my sister, there is much that you can do. First, be sure to attend the school regularly, and do not excuse yourself from taking an active part in the exercises because you are "too old" or "too dull" to learn the lessons. Of course you "don't know the lesson" if you have not looked at it during the week. Study it at home, and help the children to understand it. They may have learned the answers to the questions, and still may not fully understand them. Sit down and "go over" the lesson with them, asking questions and making suggestions that will lead their minds through a wider range, and stimulate a more thorough re-

Be punctual to a minute. Have a zeal that the frost of winter will not blight, the heat of summer wilt, nor the prospect of rain dissolve. Talk of the school in the prayer-meetings, and pray for it. Consider the Sabbath-school in the business meetings, and take measures to aid it. course on the part of every member of the church, cannot fail to produce a "live" Sabbath-school, one the influence of which will be felt continually in the spiritual advancement of the church itself.

THE TEACHERS AND OFFICERS.

These should be chosen with reference to their adaptability to the work, rather than to their position in the church or society. A superintendent is needed. Who shall fill the place? Well, there is Bro. A.; he is an influential citizen, besides he is one of cur oldest members. His good standing in the community and long connection with the church certainly entitle him to our consideration. And there is Bro. B.; he is well acquainted with the truth, as is well attested by his many victories, when "contending for the faith" on the street-corners and in other public places. Then there is Bro. C., who once thought he had a call to preach, but his sermons were so long and in 1844; so the cleansing of the sanctuary must preach, but his sermons were so long and have begun at that time. This cleansing must so dull that his congregation all left him and never came back again. A superintendent must do a great deal of talking anyway, and why would not this be just the place for Bro. C. to exercise his gift? The children could not run away till school was out, for you know it would not be al-

> Such men are not the ones for the place. There are other things to be considered besides age, learning, or fluency; and in the absence of these qualifications, place one in the position of superintendent (if he can be found) who has the peculiar faculty of teaching and of attracting all, old, young, and little children, and making them feel that they are working with, rather than under, him. Old or young, rich or poor, it matters not; if devoted, let him take the place because he is qualified to fill it.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The following confession and statement shows the force of prejudice, and also the work of the Lord in opening the heart and mind so that truth may take the place of error. Dr. H. J. Marshall, of Wood county, Wisconsin, addresses Mrs. W., Nov. 4, 1878, thus:—

"Mrs. E. G. White, Dear Madam: I saw you over twenty-five years since. You were in Boston, Mass., and had recently embraced the Sabbath, and you seemed to me to be in the wrong. I was one of the disappointed ones who expected to behold Jesus in the clouds of heaven in 1844. I could not then understand how you should be chosen to have a view of new truths in vision, such as I was told that God had given you to

"I was greatly prejudiced against you, and thought in my heart I was doing God service when I spoke evil of you.

"About one year ago I came to this place to preach what I thought were Bible truths; and I spoke evil of you in my visits in my church. In my zeal for Sunday, about the middle of April I held a controversy with Bro. S. S. Smith, of Loyal, Wis., to show that Sunday was now the true Sabbath instead of the seventh day. In searching the Bible to find arguments to overthrow the seventh-day theory, new light beamed upon my mind; and as I prayed that God would make me know the truth, the Spirit seemed to open to me a new view of the fourth commandment, and I beheld it as enjoining the true Sabbath of the Lord our God; and a halo of light and glory clustered around this glorious truth which was newly revealed to me!

"I am now rooted and grounded in the seventh-day truth, believing it to be the only Sabbath which men are bound to keep. I am keeping it together with my family; and now I am happy in this belief.

for hidden from my understanding. I have of late been reading some of your writings; and by the Holy Spirit that must have led you to write of the themes, and the divine love that seems to actuate you, I now see I have been speaking evil of you wrongfully.

"I am sorry for it in the sight of God; and I humbly ask you to forgive me.

"Nor is this all; I want you and Elder White to pray for me that God will forgive me this great wrong to you and his cause. Please publish this, and also your forgiveness to me, and ask the elders who have the faith of Jesus to pray for me. I am looking for Jesus very soon.

"I am too poor to pay for the SIGNS OF THE TIMES, but I wish to have it in my family. Will you ask some one to furnish it to me; and such other helps as will give me further light, and strength to do God's holy will?"

Mrs. W. and the writer cheerfully forgive our erring brother, and pray God to forgive and bless him. We refer the matter of the paper and books to Bro. Smith, whose name is mentioned by Bro. M. We recommend the Review in all such cases.

No other days that we are aware of are kept in any manner as a Sabbath by any people.

WEARING OF GOLD.

[THINKING that the following article clipped from Review, Vol. 40, No. 16, might be republished with profit to believers in present truth, I inclose it for that purpose.

THEO. F. KENDALL.]

A correspondent asks if we consider that the Scriptures forbid the wearing of gold. We do. Hear Paul: "In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shame-facedness and sobriety; not with broided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array." 1 Tim. 2:9. And Peter: "Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel." 1 Pet. 3:3.

Both these texts, it is true, are spoken in reference to women; but no one will claim that extravagance and folly are not just as bad, and just as much to be condemned, in men as in women. We therefore consider these as general rules, having a common application to both men and women in the church of Christ.

But may it not be that the apostle simply condemns an undue display of these golden articles and ornaments, and not gold in itself considered? If this question can be answered in the affirmative, then we ask, What other sin cannot be excused on the same ground? But for what are articles of gold worn if not for display? since the same articles made of less costly material would be equally serviceable.

We believe in the letter of the Scriptures as well as in their spirit. And they expressly mention gold among the prohibited articles of personal apparel or adornment. We can therefore come to no other conclusion than that those who wear it do so contrary to the teachings of the Scriptures.

There is good reason in the rule the apostles lay down on this point; for we are aware of no practical use for which gold is worn where a less expensive material would not answer equally well.

But, says one, these articles that I wear are not gold, but only gold-washed; therefore they are not expensive. Why, then, do you procure these articles that are gold-washed? Oh! to have something that looks like gold. Then you really do not like to wear gold, but only to seem to do so, that is, you wish people to think you wear it; and you would fain persuade your conscience into a belief that a sham service of Satan is not just as bad as a real one would be, and tenfold more contemptible. And how would this excuse sound at the bar of Judgment? "Lord, I did not really violate your word by wearing things forbidden therein, I only pretended to do so; I only took a course by which I should appear to the world to be transgressing your requirements; but it was all a sham." As Bro. Waggoner justly remarked in the REVIEW a few months since, "Pretending to serve God, while you do not mean to serve him in fact, is considered a bad thing; but pretending to serve Satan, while in heart you do not mean to serve him, is worse, if possible." Let us at once abandon his service, both in reality and in pretense also.

THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

SINCE Adam and Eve were expelled from the lovely bowers of Eden, the only divinely authorized religion has been the religion of the gospel of Jesus Christ the Son of God. The plan of redemption, based on the free-will offering of Christ upon the sacrificial altar, was made known to Adam immediately after the fall. The saved of every age, from Adam to the end of the world, will be those, and only those, who believe in the Saviour promised to Adam as the seed of the woman who should bruise the servent's head. They will have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

Blood in figure, pointing forward to the literal shedding of the blood of Christ on the cross, characterized the entire period before the crucifixion. Blood in figure, pointing backward to the cross, characterizes the period from the cross to the second coming of Christ. The blood of animal offerings before the cross, and the consecrated wine of the eucharist since the crucifixion, are the divinely appointed figures for these purposes respectively.

The object of the divine plan in both dispensations was the same, namely, to call the attention of mankind to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.

The relations of the law and the gospel to each other and to mankind are unchanged by the change of dispensation. The crucifixion of Christ did not disannul the law, or create the gospel. Both existed before and after the death of Christ the same, and man's relation to either differed not from what it was fifty years before or fifty years after that event.

If the death of Christ did away the law and gave power to the gospel as a saving institution, if the one steps in to supersede the other, why did not the law take its exit when the gospel began to have power to save? In the purpose of God, Christ was a Lamb slain from the foundation of the world, and the purpose of God in this respect gave power to the gospel to sanctify and save men in the patriarchal the same as in the apostolic age.

The whole gospel plan was devised and executed in the purpose of God from the foundation of the world, and so the gospel has been the power of God, and the wisdom of God unto salvation to every one that believeth, whether he lived in the days of the patriarchs or in those of the martyrs.

But why talk about the law of God as being done away at any point of time? The principles of the law are the effect of the existence of God. The law is the radiance of the divine character and perfections. God bears the same relation to the law as the sun bears to the rays of light which it reflects. It would be manifestly inconsistent to eulogize the sun, and at the same time despise its legitimate office of dispensing light and heat. And would it not be most incongruous to praise God, and reject his law with the same breath?

Is it not reasonable to conclude that those who love the spiritual worship of God will also love the law of God, which Inspiration says is holy, just, and good? Can one be a loyal subject of a government whose laws he rejects? Can any inherit the kingdom of God in whose heart the law is not written?

It should be considered that the gospel has no office more important than to indemnify the law for damage sustained on account of man's sin. In the very act of giving his life, the Saviour yielded to the just claims of the law in man's behalf. He did not therefore by his death destroy the law, but paid to it the highest reverence of which the Son of God was capable.

ALBERT STONE.

THE BAPTISM OF FIRE.

In Matt. 3:11, John the Baptist says to the Pharisees and Sadducees who came to his baptism, "I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance; but he that cometh after me [Christ, the Messiah] is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear; he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire."

The view is held by not a few critics, that this baptism of fire does not refer to the sanctifying fire of the Holy Spirit, such as fell on the apostles at Pentecost, Acts 2:3, but rather to the fire which will baptize the wicked at the time of the awful second death. See Rev. 20:9, 10, 14. Accordingly, in the late Prof. Whiting's excellent translation of the New Testament, we find this phrase rendered, "He will immerse you in the Holy Spirit, or in fire." This is wholly in agreement with the seventh and twelfth verses, where the expressions "the wrath to come" and "unquenchable fire" evidently refer to the destruction of the wicked in the fires of the last day.

It is pleasant to find the same view advanced in so popular a commentary as that of J. P. Lange, D. D., of Germany, although his translator, the Rev. Philip Schaff, has sought to controvert the view in a foot-note.

Mr. Lange's notes on this clause are as follows: "He will either entirely immerse you in the Holy Ghost, as penitents, or, if impenitent, he will overwhelm you with the fire of judgment (and at last with hell-fire). This interpretation of the expression 'fire' has been propounded by many of the Fathers, . . . and among modern expositors, by Kuinoel, Schott, Neander, De Wette, and Meyer. . . . But some commentators [the names are omitted] apply the expression to the kindling, sanctifying fire of the Holy Ghost. The warning tone of the passage, and the expression unquenchable fire, in verse 12, are against this interpretation."

The above thoughts seem to be quite in harmony with both reason and Scripture. It might also be observed that if the baptism by fire meant the baptism of the Holy Spirit, then the passage would simply mean, "He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with the Holy Ghost," which is a tautology not to be tolerated.

LABORS IN MISSOURI.

I HELD meetings with the Lincoln church just a week, commencing Nov. 9. I was happy to meet quite a number from Index on the Sabbath. The Lincoln church has been the second church in the State in numbers and in financial strength, but in the past it has been greatly weakened by trials, which at one time threatened its dissolution. But things have been looking more encouraging for a year past. At one time they were in so low a state for many months as scarcely to have a prayer and social meeting. They have had these constantly of late, and quite an interesting Sabbath-school. We had an investigation of the difficulties existing; one member was disfellowshiped, and other matters were settled up. I have strong hopes that this church will see better days in the future; that others will unite with them; and that the standard of piety will be raised

I met with the friends at Sedalia, Sabbath, Nov. 16. Spoke to them twice. We had a most excellent social meeting after the preaching, in which nearly all took part, many of them for the first time. The Spirit of God was present, and hearts were melted in tenderness. Surely God is good to give us an occasional oasis in this desert of toil and sorrow. There are good souls in S., who give promise of future usefulness.

I spoke three times in Green Ridge, where Bro: Wood has recently given a course of lectures. We had a full house Sunday night, and the best of attention was paid. We hope for a little church, at least, in this place; and others we trust will come in to swell their numbers.

I return to Iowa for a short time, to attend to important business matters, and to labor some at the request of the Conference Committee.

GEO. I. BUTLER.

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

At the General Conference, a resolution was passed in reference to the Signs of the Times. (See No. 17, present volume.) The resolution embraced four points, as follows:—

- 1. Our brethren who take the Signs for their own use should pay the regular price, two dollars per year.
- 2. Ministers and agents are authorized to furnish it to new subscribers, on trial, at one dollar fifty cents per year, or four months for fifty cents.
- 3. Churches and individuals subscribing for a club of not less than ten copies, to be used for missionary purposes, should pay at the rate of one dollar twenty cents per year.
- 4. When smaller clubs are taken, the price to be paid is to be referred to the tract society officers.

Two points should ever be kept before the brethren by the tract society officers and workers: 1. The cause must be sustained; 2. Every advantage possible should be given to the missionary workers. Should thousands of dollars' worth of publications and periodicals be ordered which could not be paid for, even were they judiciously distributed, it would be bad policy; for it would very soon so involve the publishing interests as to greatly embarrass the cause.

When our brethren subscribe for the Signs at two dollars, they assist in sustaining the office in furnishing the Signs for missionary work at one dollar twenty cents per year. We believe our brethren will not only take an interest to subscribe for the Signs themselves at the regular price, but to see that clubs are taken wherever it is practicable at one dollar twenty cents per year. One dollar per month will pay for a club of ten copies. We do not believe there are any churches so poor that they cannot do this much in the missionary work during 1879. There are more than one thousand of our brethren who could pay this sum during the year and never feel it. This would pay for ten thousand copies of the Signs.

We now have eighteen Conferences. Were each Conference to take five hundred and sixty copies of the Signs, or fifty-six clubs of ten | tal amount paid. copies each, it would amount to more than ten thousand copies. There may be two, or at most three Conferences that would not feel able to pay for this number, namely, Texas, Kentucky, and Maine, but all the others can do more than this. Such Conferences as Michigan. Iowa, Wisconsin, and New York should take from three to five times that number. There are churches that have disciplined themselves in this work, having organized V. M. societies, that could alone manage five hundred copies each, providing they could pay for them. We mention Battle Creek, Mich., and South Lancaster, Mass. There are many other churches that would gladly use from one hundred to three hundred copies.

Every church or company of S. D. Adventists in the country can and should be obtaining an experience in this work. A great work is just before us, and we want thousands of conscientious young men and women to gain an experience in this kind of labor. Also a field of labor is hereby opened to many who are confined at home by their household duties, but whose influence might yet be extensively felt in behalf of the cause of God. Societies can arrange so that they can take a club of not less than five copies at the same price. This would cost but fifty cents a month, or six dollars a year. Those not connected with any church can do their business directly with district officers or the State secretary. If there are brethren who cannot use the Signs themselves, they should pay their money to the State secretary with a statement of what it is for, and he will add to those clubs that are in greatest need of more copies.

We appeal to our missionary workers everywhere. If you are taking a number of copies, can you not enlarge the number you are now receiving? Those who have never taken hold of this work, will you not commence now? Ascertain how many can be paid for in monthly installments by your church, and order at once through the proper officers. The next volume of the Signs of the Times should commence with a list of not less than ten thousand subscribers east of the Rocky Mountains.

THE DIME TABERNACLE.—THE FACTS AND FIGURES.

THE Dime Tabernacle is progressing finely. This morning we had the privilege of passing through it. It is plain but spacious, and is everywhere marked with neatness and taste. Already the masons are at work plastering. The steam apparatus for heating it is all arranged. The platform on which the pulpit is to stand is erected. As we stood upon it and viewed every part of the seating room in the building, which will accommodate three thousand people, we rejoiced to think that God has so blessed his truth that it has become necessary to erect such a tabernacle to accommodate those who are interested in the truth, and who may yet become interested in the warning of the third angel. We also felt solemn to think that such a building, under the circumstances which made its erection necessary, was an evidence of the nearness of the second coming of Christ.

Tais building is not for the Battle Creek church merely, but to accommodate men and parts of the world, and especially the patrons of our College and Sanitarium, and those who may be called here having a special connection with the cause of present truth. It will doubtless stand until the war is over, and Christ comes seated upon the great white cloud. The query arises, How many of those who are now interested in this work will have contributed of their means toward its erection, and showed their sympathy by their prayers? That all might thus help, and none feel burdened by the assistance rendered, the plan of raising means by monthly donations during the year of ten cents each from all our people was adopted. Were this plan fully carried out, taking for a basis the membership of our Conferences, the sum raised would fall short many thousand dollars of defraying the expense of building the Tabernacle; but at present our brethren come far short of doing even this, as the following table will show. In this table we have taken for a basis our membership as reported to the last session of the General Conference. It also shows what each Conference would do did each member donate ten cents a month, one dollar twenty cents per year; but adding the children and others who ses saying, "The people bring much more than are interested in the work, but not members, these figures would be largely increased. It will be seen how much each Conference has done during each of the last four months, and the to-

Total amount which should be received during the year, $15,692.40.

From the above the following facts appear: One-third of the year is already past, and only $3,100 19 has been paid during that time. Again, one thousand five hundred and fourteen have each paid $1.20 or more, amounting to $2,088 74 during the four months. This shows that many of our brethren have not as yet taken hold of the matter at all, and very many have only paid ten cents. Many of our Conferences are sadly behind. For instance: Maine has three hundred and twelve members. If each paid ten cents per month the amount received monthly would be $31.20; but during the entire four months it has only paid $32.10. The receipts show that four from this State have paid $1.20 for the year. Michigan, outside of Battle Creek, should pay $325 80 per month. The entire receipts for four months amount to $770.38, whereas they should be $1,103.20. Besides this the Battle Creek church has pledged $6,000, of which about $2,000 has been paid up to the present time.

Many other Conferences present the same deficiency to a greater or less extent. A few have more than paid their proportion. These things ought not so to be. Were this the work of man there would not be that wrong about it, but being the work of God it appears sinful indeed. No doubt this deficiency is owing to the fact that many have not seen the pledge paper, and others have paid ten cents, and thought no more about it.

The Publishing Association has advanced over $6,000, and nearly $8,000 more is due for material, and to this must be added two or three thousand to complete the building.

It is now designed to have the house dedicated in January, 1879. Therefore $15,000 more is needed immediately. This can be raised easily without burdening any one in particular, if, first, all our ministers and tract society officers will interest themselves in it, and call the attention of our brethren to it, and see that all who have not paid anything do so imwomen who may chance to come here from all | mediately. Let each pay for six months, which will reach to January, 1879. Second, as many as can do so pay the entire $1.20 without delay. Third, make a thank-offering to the Lord of five, ten, twenty, fifty, or one hundred dollars or more. There is no time to lose. We all have much to be thankful for.

Anciently the children of Israel were to appear before the Lord three times a year. The third time was when they had gathered in their autumnal harvest. The command was: "None shall appear before me empty." See Ex. 23: 14, 15. Shall we not have a response from every church and every individual immediately? Let your thank-offerings come in, brethren, that this house may be dedicated free from any incumbrance whatever. Do not put this off a single day, but let the same feeling exist that existed when the sanctuary was first built. "The children of Israel brought a willing offering unto the Lord, every man and woman whose heart made them willing to bring for all manner of work, which the Lord had commanded to be made by the hand of Moses." Ex. 35:29

So freely were these offerings brought that those having charge of the work spoke unto Mo-enough for the service of the work." "And | busy cares of this life for at least a short period Moses gave commandment, and they caused it to be proclaimed throughout the camp, saving, Let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the sanctuary. So the people were restrained from bringing." One of the times of greatest rejoicing with David and the people of God of which we have a record in the Scriptures was when the people offered willingly with a perfect heart to the Lord for the temple which Solomon built. "They with whom precious stones were found gave them to the treasure of the house of the Lord." See 1 Chron. 29. May God grant that this may be the case with those who believe in present truth when the present tabernacle is completed.

WORK TO-DAY; REST TO-MORROW.

"As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God." 1 Peter 4:10.

It is quite common for professed Christians, especially in our missionary meetings, to say that to labor for Jesus would be the height of their ambition; but they have no tact for it, they have not the ability nor qualifications requisite for a successful worker in the Master's vineyard. Yet these same individuals will drive a sharp trade, make shrewd bargains, and they are year after year accumulating wealth. If you ask them to canvass for our periodicals, to sell the Health Annual, or to circulate tracts and other reading matter pertaining to the third angel's message, they are ready to present the old threadbare excuse—"slow of speech;" yet in conversation about worldly matters, where their own personal interests are concerned, they are quite as fluent as others. Brethren, these things ought not so to be. The opportunities now afforded us for improving upon the talents which God has intrusted to our care will soon be in the past; then, if we have failed to improve them, the epithet "wicked and slothful servant" will be applied to us. Jesus says of the careless, indifferent one who hid his Lord's money in the earth, "Cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

God does not require us to perform impossibilities. He places no heavier burdens upon us than we are able to bear. The Lord asks us to yield our hearts to his service; if they are "broken and contrite," he will make us humble instruments of accomplishing good to others. Because we have not the meekness of Moses, the purity of Joseph, the patience of Job, the eloquence of David, or the devotion of Daniel, we should not become discouraged and withdraw from the work assigned us as harvesters for Jesus. God forbid that any should draw back for thus saith the Lord, "If any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.'

We have the assurance that in the closing up work of this world's history, the gifts will be multiplied in the church. The gift of helps stands quite prominent among the rest. Helps to sustain the cause of Christ by our means helps to forward the work of God by a wellordered life and a godly conversation; helps to preach the doctrines of Christ by making our ives a living witness for the truth which we profess; helps to bring a knowledge of the truth for this time before others, and thus hasten the coming of the Lord. What a privilege to occupy such a position.

Reader, have you not some near and dear relative that is out of the ark of safety? Have you not some neighbor or friend that is perishing for the want of God's precious truth? Can you sit down quietly, fold your arms, and feel at ease, when we are right upon the verge of the loud cry of the third message? The Saviour says, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and be led to glorify your Father which is in Heaven.' It is the will of God that we act as faithful watchmen upon the walls of Zion. But those who know their Master's will and do it not shall be "beaten with many stripes."

Let none plead inability and want of tact as an excuse for not engaging in this noblest of all enterprises. We have a never-failing source of strength, wisdom, and understanding to which we may apply. And we are exhorted to 'prove" the Lord; let us take him at his word and trust in his promises.

Many of us profess to know and love the Lord, but in works we deny him. "Faith without works is dead." Jesus invites us to labor for him a little while only. We must work while it is called to day; for the night cometh when each day, and devote a portion of our time. talent, and means to the service of God, we might render acceptable service to him, and be laying up for ourselves a good foundation against the time to come. In seeking to help others, we help ourselves. None but those who labor for Jesus know how blessed it is to enter the whitened fields and glean for the Master. There is "resting by and by" for the faithful worker. "In due time we shall reap, if we faint not." Let this fact stimulate us, brethren and sisters, to labor on as missionary workers. We are either for Christ or against him. Who will show themselves on the Lord's side? Ther will never be a greater need for workers, nor a more urgent call for means to forward the work of the third angel's message, than at the present.

Much time has been lost; it can never be recovered; therefore let us double our diligence to improve the small portion that remains, taking heed to the testimony of Paul: "Be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." 1 Cor. 15:58. M. Wood.

A SABBATH CONVENTION.

[The following from the Congregationalist of Sept. 25, may be of interest to the readers of the REVIEW. It speaks for itself. G. F. HAINES.

It has become a question, and an immediate one, whether New England shall not hold a Convention for the rescue of the Lord's day, all denominations taking part in the movement and being there represented. Will not ministers and laymen let themselves be heard on this question? Associations, conferences, clubs, can do important work for the day, and can especially prepare the way here; but must we not have a Convention? The very agitation of forming one would stir our six States to a new interest in their own Sabbath. Planned rightly, carried out consistently, pertinaciously followed up through a large committee, possibly by a Sabbath organization in counties or towns, the Convention would do a great deal toward setting right our New England, and would arrest the attention of the whole country. Shall it not be held? Are clergymen all aware of what we have already lost-lost beyond an easy recovery? Are church members, good citizens, parents, aware of it? All will say, Few are alive to it.

No two years in the last ten have made such ruin and havoc as the season now closing. And already devices are announced for a bolder, brisker campaign next summer. We are credibly informed that eleven hundred picnickers, with baskets, from Lowell, passed in their long, long train, through the Salem station, on their way to their holiday grounds at Revere, on a single calm morning of the Lord's day. Salem itself run over, as has been her wont, with her own population and people from the towns around en route for the "Willows," or other spots, perhaps on an excursion by steamer, or railroad, possibly in carriages for the campmeeting grounds in Hamilton. Which shall we ask first? Where are the consciences of the lovers of pleasure? or, where are the consciences of the managers of railroads and of the owners of steamers?

Sacredly and solemnly, if the views and convictions of large-minded living men, and of the best men we have had in all times past, as to the appointment, meaning, uses, and value of the Lord's day are not to be thrown away, how can New England answer to herself, and to the God of our fathers, for what she has done, or so quietly accepts?

THINGS PREFERABLE.—"It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man." Ps. 118:8.

It is better to be saved in a storm than to be lost in a calm.

It is better to have Christ's poverty, and be rich in faith, than to have the world's wealth, and not be rich toward God.

It is better to preach the whole gospel of Christ in a humble tent, than to preach a partial gospel in a gorgeous temple.

It is better to sit on the ground with freedom of speech, than to recline in a palace, with the lips sealed.

It is better, like the apostles, to be poor yet making many rich, than to be rich, yet starve precious souls by not giving them meat in due

It is better to be defeated in a good cause than to be successful in a bad one.

It is better to suffer on the side of right, than to reign on the side of wrong. Success which is no man can work. If we should lay aside the the result of wrong-doing brings a curse with it.

OUR GUIDE.

WE have a lamp of heavenly light, Why should our footsteps stray And more and more its light will shine Unto the perfect day.
'Tis hung for all, this lamp so bright, Though few behold its radiant light.

The holy word will guide our feet
Through dangers yet to come;
Not long we tread the vale of tears,
And just beyond is home. O light of lights! O truth divine! Forever on my pathway shine.

If anxious care or lonely fears Over our spirits roll, We listen, and the whispered peace Comes sweetly to the soul. We look, to find the glowing rays Shine all the more in darkest days

Pilgrim and stranger though we be, Our chart will safely guide From earth and toil to rest and Heaven, If we by it abide.

It lightens up the narrow way, Why should our footsteps ever stray? P. ALDERMAN.

Progress of the Cause.

"He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubt-less come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him."

CHRISTIANA, NORWAY.

Another week has passed. I have been busy writing and preparing for meetings. I have earnestly sought the Lord for help and strength, and have realized in some degree the presence of his Spirit. I have never commenced a course of meetings with greater interest, and desire that it may prove a success through the mighty help of God.

Last night we held our first meeting. Probably about three hundred were pres-They filled the room for meeting and our private rooms, as well as the entrance and stairs. A large crowd went away because they could not get into the house. The word spoken made a solemn impression on many hearts. Some over one hundred small tracts were distributed, and I sold tracts for Kr. 5.10 ($1.36). A brother who is a good hand at canvassing would be a great help to us in this city. May the Lord direct for his own glory.

David City, Nov. 18.

Last Sabbath was a good day for the David City church. The Sabbath-school received especial attention, and a deep interest was manifested in it.

May God bless this company as they take hold of the missionary work.

MINNESOTA.

Getty's Grove, Nov. 18.

THE audiences have not increased in size since my last report, yet there has been interest enough on the part of those who have attended to justify a continuation of the meetings. None have yet taken a decided stand, but some persons of real worth are almost persuaded. Bro. Mead has come to assist in the work.

We feel the necessity of a thorough consecration to God, and make a special request that the people of God remember us N. BATTIN. in prayer.

THE church in Wright has enjoyed a precious season under the zealous and faithful labors of Eld. E. B. Lane. God has in a special manner worked for us. We have had marked evidence of his willingness to bless the efforts put forth to advance his cause. We had nearly lost our reckoning; but the clear and pointed testimony borne, accompanied with the Spirit of God, enabled us to see our wrongs, and to engage individually in the work of seeking God. A number who have professed the truth from ten to twenty years have a brighter experience than ever before. Some of our children are getting an experience in the things of God, and quite a number have made a start for the first time. We feel to praise God for the good work.

MAINE.

Maysville, Aroostook *Co., Nov. 19, 1878. I COMMENCED meetings in this place the 14th. The people seem to have a desire to hear. There has been a good attendance considering the number of inhabitants. We have visited the brethren at Washburn. The most of those who took hold of the truth last summer are still holding on, and are strong. They have had considerable opposition; but that will cause them to grow stronger, if they are sanctified by the truth. We need the prayers of our brethren, that we may have the Spirit of God to lead us in our labor for the salvation of souls. We shall continue our meetings here as long as it seems to be duty. Brethren, pray for us.

SAMUEL J. HERSUM.

WISCONSIN.

DEBELLO.—I was at Debello two weeks, holding meetings nearly every evening and on Sabbaths and Sundays. While laboring with the tent, I was challenged to discuss the Sabbath question; and as I could not hold a discussion then, I postponed it till October. This discussion took place while I was at Debello. I think the results were good. The brethren were confirmed in the faith as they saw truth and error contrasted. Two families accepted the truth.

AVALANCHE.—I came to this place Oct. 25, and held meetings till Nov. 17. Last Sabbath we organized a Sabbath-school of about twenty-five members. Nine signed the covenant, and there are nearly as many more who observe the Sabbath and meet with us. A leader was chosen, and Sabbath and weekly prayer meetings were appointed.

I now intend to assist Bro. P. L. Hoen, who has been laboring among the Norwegians at Bloomingdale, about three miles from Avalanche, and also to labor with the church at Mt. Pisgah.

O. A. Johnson. Nov. 19.

IOWA.

Last evening we began meetings in a Union meeting-house near Flint post-office. About one hundred and fifty were present. The prospects are favorable, and by the blessing of God we trust some will receive the truth.

The truth was preached at this place about two years ago without any apparent fruit; but one good family embraced the Sabbath some time afterward. Now this family want others to embrace the truth near them. Thus the seed, when sown in good ground, springs up, sometimes after many days. Pray for us.

G. V. KILGORE.

CLYDE, OHIO.

WE have just closed our labors here. Have not accomplished very much, as the weather has been unfavorable. This is the second largest church in Ohio; but they are greatly scattered. Not more than half of them usually meet together at once. They have a very neat meeting-house which cost them about twenty-five hundred dollars. There was a debt of almost a thousand dollars upon this. Just before I came the brethren made arrangements to divide this debt among themselves so that it is now all provided for, and the church will stand clear. They have thus made a move in the right direction, and God will bless them for it. This is a very rich and lovely country. It seems to possess almost every advantage possible, and a good proportion of the brethren are well off and abundantly able to help largely in the cause. Quite a share of them are in middle life, just at the season when they should be strong in the work.

The Sabbath-school here needs some improvements. The tract society has done very well. They have also a good Vigilant Missionary Society. Thirty-nine copies of the Signs had formerly been taken here; they now take sixty-one copies.

The church is in harmony generally, though there are some matters of difficulty which we hope to see settled up shortly.

We were sorry to find that some of the members have neither pledged nor paid s. B. for years; and some who have pledged have not paid anything for the past year. God cannot bless such slackness in his work. Nearly all present entered heartily into the tithing system for 1879.

The outside attendance was very small. yet there were a few deeply interested. Brn. St. John and Guilford will labor together in this district during the winter. We expect to dedicate the new church at Newark within a month. We wish to see a general rally of all our friends in that section at this time. We now go to Dunkirk, and other new churches, to aid them.

Our permanent P. O. address is Clyde and any letters sent there will be forwarded D. M. CANRIGHT.

A REMINISCENCE.

THE State of New York was my home until twenty-two years of age. I was born in Victor, Ontario Co., Jan. 26, 1832. At sixteen I made a profession of religion. bore my first testimony in a religious meeting in the house of Bro. Jonathan Lamson near Clarkson Center, Monroe Co.

My first attempt to preach was made at Kendall Corners, Orleans Co., Jan. 2, 1849. I was seventeen the 26th day of the same month. I obtained permission of the trustees and minister of the Baptist church to hold meetings in their house. After two discourses had been given to large audiences on the fall of man and the restitution through Christ, I was told that they had decided to hold a singing-school in the house, and I could occupy it no longer.

I was invited by a Mr. Townsend to a school-house about four miles south of Kendall, where I gave five discourses. was kindly entertained by this family, but as I had not a large stock of subjects matured, my tarry was short, although urged to stay longer in the neighborhood. While here I was attacked quite roughly by a Methodist minister. There happened to be also in the house a Universalist minister who was a special foe to the former. The Universalist, being requested to speak, gave the Methodist doctrine of eternal misery a very good refutation, after which I noticed both of their positions.

From Kendall, I journeyed on to a school-house near Two Bridges. Here I arrived near noon and obtained my dinner at the house of a Mr. Button near the schoolhouse. After dinner I walked four miles through deep snow to see all the trustees. making sure of the school-house as long as I should wish to speak in it; I then circulated my appointment through the school. and in the evening commenced my work with a crowded house. I learned afterward that they "all rushed out to hear the boy preach."

After the first discourse I told them I was a stranger there, that I had come to hold a few meetings with them if they could entertain me while I was there. Mr. Beardsley stepped forward and invited me to go home with him. I made my home at his house most of the time I was in the neigh borhood. He embraced the doctrines taught, Others were kind and considerate of my wants. Nine discourses were given in this neighborhood; and thus was fairly opened my life as an itinerant.

I have often thought of this my first move in preaching. Striking out thirty-six miles from home, among entire strangers, with only $3.00 I could call my own, and even this was given to me by an Adventist brother after I had decided to start. As I have seen how God raised up friends then, it has encouraged me to trust him in greater emergencies.

Nearly four years from this time, in September, 1855, I first heard on the subject of present truth at the house of our beloved Bro. James White, at No. 124 Mount Hope Avenue, Rochester, N. Y. I took a public stand for the Sabbath, in that house, the first Sabbath in October of that year. Dur-1 commenced ing the winter the views of Seventh-day Adventists, confining my labors to New York, and Potter Co., Pa.

In April, 1853, I visited the West. I spent five months in Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, then came back into the State of New York. Bro. Cornell was with me in most of these meetings. How much we sought God together! How we felt our dependence upon him! God blessed at every point. Souls embraced the truth because the Lord was with us. God was with us because we felt our own weakness. our need of him, and earnestly sought him daily. Like efforts will produce like results still. God does not change.

Since 1853, I have spent two years in the State of New York, and the rest of my time has been spent in other States, a little more than ten years having been spent on the Pacific coast. It has been a matter of interest to me to spend the last two weeks in this my native State, and to note the onward march of present truth. Already has the cause assumed such proportions here that it has become a matter of necessity to divide New York and Pennsylvania into can reach the heart.

two Conferences. Here I meet more than a score of laborers, many of them young men who have lately taken hold of the work. If these all keep humble and make God their strength, we may look for stil greater advancement in these Conferences

At Wellsville, our church was nearly filled with Sabbath-keepers, and I was told that as many more were detained at their homes by bad roads. Twenty-two years ago I passed through Wellsville; there was then scarcely a Seventh-day Adventist there. The Lord has been greatly blessing his truth. The recent meeting seemed to have an encouraging effect upon those as sembled. The Lord met with us in power I spoke seven times with good liberty.

The Conference in Rome, N. Y., was well attended. Although a season of much bus iness, it has been a time when we have shared much of the Lord's blessing. The ministers' prayer-meetings at 6 A. M every day were a source of strength. spoke ten times during the Conference, While speaking to ministers and people of our lack, of our source of strength, and of God's willingness to help us if we seek and serve him aright, I was myself corrected admonished, and blessed. "He that water eth shall be watered also himself." Wegg to-day to Danvers, Mass.

J. N. LOUGHBOROUGH. Rome, N. Y., Nov. 21, 1878.

SANTA ROSA, CAL.

[Abridged from the Signs of the Times.]

The work at Santa Rosa, where But Healey and Rice are laboring, is moving steadily onward. Some are giving up to bacco and other bad habits. Yesterday, Nov. 10, seven were baptized.

The pastor of the Presbyterian church of this place, in preaching on the Sabbath question, said the fourth commandment never enjoined the keeping of the seventh day, and read Exodus 20:8: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy." "There," said he, "thousands of people haven't dis cernment enough to see that the seventh day is not commanded;" and again, "God never blessed the seventh day, but only the Sabbath institution."

Could it be possible that the man thought he had given all of the fourth command ment in Ex. 20:8? Verses 9 and 10 reads "Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God," etc. Could it be possible he never read Gen. 2:3: "And God blessed the seventh day and sancti fied it "? He admitted he could not find any place in the New Testament that said the Sabbath had been changed, but claimed examples to prove it, and of course failed to find them. But about as strong evidence as he had was, "the fact that the first day is so universally observed shows there must be a divine appointment for it." Would not that kind of an argument prove a divine appointment for lying; for it is a fact that it is quite universal? We need no dwell further upon such a mass of contra dictions. May the Spirit of God help to open the eyes of the blind, that they may see his truth in all its beauty. The church was filled to hear the review. May God bless the word spoken.

THE SUFFERINGS OF THE APOSTLES.

Shall we say that our burdens are more han we can bear, or that the way is too arrow? Do we find many thorny hedges that it seems almost impossible for us to furmount? Do we meet the scoffs of this world? Is the finger of scorn pointed at his? Do Satan's fiery darts fall thick and ast around us? Let us remember the sufperings of the apostles.

James was summoned to appear before he Sanhedrim, who required him to renounce is faith in Christ. And that he may make his renunciation in a most public manner, they carry him to the top of the temple, and threaten to throw him down if he does ot comply with their request. It cannot that his thoughts are of the danger that hreatens him, or of the scoffs of his persejutors; for instead of gratifying their reuest we hear him exhorting others to conhess Christ; upon which he was ordered to e thrown down from the place where he dood. This fall did not kill him. As he aised himself, bruised and bleeding, to his nees, he prayed God to have mercy on id is persecutors; and while he was praying that they might be forgiven, they poured pon him a shower of stones. Thus died ames the Just. Nor are the sufferings of Paul less worthy of notice. The Lord said he would show im what great things he must suffer for His name's sake. Let us follow him through clis life of sorrows. Does he not stand our when brought before priests and counils? Does he complain while he receives thany stripes from his persecutors? Do are hear him say the cross is more than he clan bear, when before the king? When de received his sentence from Nero, he did ot tremble, but triumphantly exclaimed, I have fought a good fight, I have finished ny course, I have kept the faith." And fter a solemn prayer, he gave his neck to he fatal stroke.

to The apostle Peter suffered death on the Pross; but he did not murmur while being uned to the place of execution. No; instead, we hear him begging that he might not be haucified in the same manner in which his ord suffered, but with his head downward; itleeling unworthy to meet death in the same hosition. This request was complied with, Pind he gave his life for the cause of his Hereat Redeemer.

1a Andrew, after being scourged in a most aumerciful manner by order of the pro-Sonsul, was led away to be crucified; and as he neared the cross he kneeled down and saluted it in words similar to the following: "I have long desired and expected hhis happy hour. The cross has been conseatrated by the body of Christ; I therefore etome joyfully and triumphantly to it, that 19t may receive me as a disciple and fol-Mower of Him who once hung upon it." After praying earnestly and exhorting the theople to be firm in the faith he had de-Olivered to them, he was fastened to the thross, from which he taught and instructed the people for two whole days, after which iche died.

11 Can we not also confide in the care of the Lord? Did not the apostles trust in Shis promises? and are they not left for us

How apt are we to trust in our own strength. Let us get out of self and lean upon the arm of God, and believe that he is not man "that he should lie, neither the son of man that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall be not make it good?" The psalmist says, "He will be our guide even unto death." Yes; we can trust Him who gave his only begotten Son, that through him we might have eternal life.

Then, though the way seems dark and dreary, though at every turn we meet foes that would lead us in the by-ways of sin and folly, though we are tempted until there seems no way of escape, we may find consolation in the promise, "Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God. I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteous-

How many precious promises we find in the word of God adapted to all our wants in this life, to strengthen and encourage us. Let us, then, go forward, overcoming all our sins, fighting life's battles cheerfully and with courage, that we may have it said to us, "Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth." "NO PENALTY."

It is urged that the ten commandments are not a law, because they have no penalty attached to them. The argument is this: All law must have a penalty; and as the ten commandments have no penalty, only as connected with other portions of the Old Testament, they do not constitute a law in any proper or legal sense. Hence, when the law is mentioned it must include the penalties; and as those penalties are not now enforced by divine authority, it therefore follows that the law is null and voida dead letter. The ten commandments cannot be classed as common or statute law. They are in their nature primary, fundamental, or constitutional law, which does not have fines and penalties directly attached, but is enforced by appropriate legislation. Such is the nature of constitutional law, as any one can ascertain by consulting the Constitution of the United States and its amendments.

The ten commandments are the constitution of God's moral government, and were made the constitution of the commonwealth of Israel, being enforced by appropriate legislation.

The ten words, or articles, of the constitution were separated from all other law, and sacredly guarded, and special honor was conferred upon them, showing that they were different in their nature from other law. As we find those commandments interspersed in the Old Testament, we find the penalties attached to their violation, that is, the appropriate legislation which enforced them; and sweeping away, or destroying, the statute laws and temporary penalties of that dispensation would leave the Constitution just as complete and inviolate as the Constitution of the United States would be if every law of Congress was abolished to-morrow.

Christ and the apostles enforced God's law in this dispensation by appropriate legislation. They made the keeping of those commandments the condition of entering into life. They taught that sin is the transgression of the law, and that the wages of sin is death. Thus this seemingly plausible argument vanishes before plain and un-M. H. Brown. deniable facts.

A CRIME AGAINST THE FAMILY.

THE Rev. Alfred M. Christopher, of Oxford, England, writes: "I will vouch for the thorough truthfulness and accuracy of the subjoined painful account."

In Dublin resides a family consisting of a father, mother, and three children—two girls and one boy. The father is a professional man, and necessarily much engaged in his calling. He has, however, been entirely devoted to the interests of his children, working hard for them, and giving them the best education Dublin could supply. He is a strict Presbyterian, and most earnest and decided in his religious convictions. The mother has been a most tender and affectionate parent, completely devoted to her children, thinking of them in everything, and in the course of many years has only left them once or twice for short periods of time. The children were doing well in their studies, and giving every promise of success and usefulness in their future lives.

About five and a half years ago a Roman Catholic servant was admitted into the fam-She at once set about the task of corrupting the principles of the children, and of leading them astray from the Protestant faith. In February, 1874, the three children, then of the ages of thirteen, eleven, and ten, respectively, were admitted into the Roman Catholic Church by one "Father" Hall, of the Carmelite convent in Whitefriar street, Dublin, without the knowledge and consent of their parents. In July, 1876, they were taken secretly in a cab to Cardinal Cullen, who-again without the knowledge and consent of their parentsconfirmed them.

In February, 1878, the father accidentally discovered the deception that had been practiced upon him. During the four intervening years the children had been residing at home, attending family worship, going regularly to school on week-days, attending on Sundays the Sunday-school of their church, and never by word or deed giving any indication of what had taken place. Trained skillfully in the art of deception by those who had led them astray, they lived one protracted lie in the sight of their parents, who had no reason to suspect anything wrong in them. When they were at last found out, they at first denied every-

"We are Protestants, and intend to remain Protestants," said the three with one

When, however, lying was no longer of any avail, they changed their cry, and alike with one voice exclaimed, as it were, in unison, "We are Catholics; we are Catho-

They have since openly defied and disobeyed their father, refusing to attend church with him, or to be present at family worship, or otherwise to submit to his lawful authority in the religious ordering of his household.

They had evidently been instructed, first to systematically lie and deceive, and then to be openly defiant. When remonstrated with by their father for their lying and deceit, they replied, "It is no harm to tell lies in the cause of religion!"

Thus discord and misery have been introduced into a happy family, a respectable home has been broken up, and many fond hopes have been blighted. The father is in the deepest distress, and the mother almost broken-hearted; while the childrenas may be gathered from the above narrative—are demoralized to the core of their nature, alienated from their nearest relatives, whose hopes for their future are utterly destroyed. It is well that parents should know the dangers to which their children are exposed from a system which in the sacred name of religion attempts to subvert the nearest relations, and to sunder the most sacred ties of the human heart. Religion can thus recklessly interfere with family life, deprive the parents of the control of those dear to them in the most important of all concerns, and teach the young to lie, deceive, and at last to openly defy their parents. Such an invasion of the family circle, and such a trampling upon parental rights, is surely not to be tolerated in a free and civilized country.—N. Y. Ob-

WHY IS IT?

I have been wondering why our T. and M. meetings are so poorly attended. At our last district quarterly meeting three churches ought to have been well represented, but one of them failed to have any representative there (this same thing occurred too in July), but had a good report; one church was represented by two sisters, but did not report in season. The meeting was held with the third church, but most of the members who lived at a distance were not present.

I wonder if it is impossible to have our meetings better attended. I know that it is sometimes very difficult for our brethren who are farmers to leave home; but in the majority of cases one or more from each household might attend the meeting. "The horses have to work so hard it seems cruel to drive them so far on the Sabbath." Well, would not the Lord bless us accordingly, were we to let our teams rest a part or all of the sixth day, that they might come up to the Sabbath refreshed and ready to carry us to these gatherings which those at the head of the work have seen proper to appoint? Is it necessary for us to work ourselves and teams so hard all the six laboring days, up to their closing hours, that we cannot attend upon the Lord's work on the Sabbath? I had to work very hard in order to leave the family comfortable during my absence, and the long ride on sixthday afternoon looked like quite an undertaking; but I was well paid for my effort. The Lord was there, and it is good to go where the Lord deigns to meet with us.

Brethren and sisters, the time of our next district quarterly meeting is approaching, and let us try to have it well attended. Time is short, and soon our last quarterly meeting will have passed; soon we shall be called to hand in our last great report, and I wonder if we shall all be ready to hand it in with joy. Soon the grand and final meeting of God's faithful ones will open, and I wonder if any of us will be too tired or too busy to attend it.

In 1856, he married Mrs. Elizabeth Tubbs, who still survives. In 1836, he re-moved to the then new State of Michigan, and set-tled in Battle Creek township. In 1861 he sold his farm and moved to the city of Battle Creek, where he has since resided. He early united with the Presbyterian church, in which for fifty four years he faithfully and acceptably filled the office of

Soon after his location in this city, he commenced, without any special solicitation, but voluntarily, an examination of some of the distinctive features of the S. D. Adventist faith. Becoming in due time convinced that these were correct, he naturally inclined to a connection with this people. Accordingly, at his request, in 1875 the Presbyterian church of this city gave him and his wife liberal and cordial letters of commendation to the S. D. Adventist church here, with which they united March 6 of that year. Bro. Young held his new views with much satisfaction to the time of his death.

He leaves a companion, seven children, twenty-four grand-children, and eleven great grand-children. His family relations have ever been most pleasant, and to the last his children paid him that affectionate deference which is due from a child to a parent. He also enjoyed in an eminent degree the confidence and respect of his fellow-citizens.

During his protracted illness he was a great sufferer; but he bore his afflictions with Christian fortitude and patience. The funeral was held the 24th. A large gathering of relatives and citizens, especially his old acquaintances, testified to the respect and esteem in which he was held by all who knew him,

DIED, at her residence near Coopertown, Tenn., Oct. 23, Sister Sallie Clinard. She embraced the truth about a year ago, while I was holding meetings at that place. Sister C. lived and died strong in the faith. A husband and three children mourn her loss. May the Lord lead them to obey the truth and to meet her in the resurrection.

DIED, in New Shoreham, R. 1., Nov. 4, 1878, Elijah Macomber aged about 55 years. Bro. M. had symptoms of consumption ten years ago, and for two years has been unable to work. He suffered considerably, but had the blessed hope to comfort him in hours of distress. He was in the first and second messages, and knew the power of truth. Eighteen years ago he heartily embraced present truth, and until he died kept the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. A wife and son mourn his death. May they each seek comfort in the Lord, and be prepared to meet the husband and father again when Jesus comes.

Do not overlook nor pass by the important article on our first page. Read it once without fail, twice if convenient, three times if possible. And then ever after put it in practice.

The article, "A dark but True Picture," in another column, is said to have been written by Mr. E. P. Whipple, one of the best essayists and literary critics in the country.

Me Speaking of the pre-millenarian view, the Independent says that "the history of the church is black with the story of its demoralizing affect when preached to the common people." Rome thinks just so of the Bible itself.

The Wesleyan Methodist Conferences, with the exception of Wisconsin and Tennessee, before which the subject was not brought, have unanimously adopted resolutions very full and explicit in behalf of the National Reform movement. This denomination has 17 annual Conferences, 600 ministers, and nearly 30,000 mem-

A movement is already set on foot by citizens of New York toward the holding of an International Exhibition in that city in 1889, the centennial anniversary of the adoption of the United States Constitution. "The same occasion, or a date chosen soon afterward," says the Christian Statesman, "will seem to some a fitting time for the revising of the National Constitution; and it is possible that a Convention will be called in due time for that purpose." We greatly miscalculate on the celerity of movements in these last days, if this is not brought about long before the date named.

In The Wrong Pew.

Some papers are publishing the Myron Butler, arrested in Flint, Mich., some time since for immoral conduct, as a Seventh-day Adventist minister. They have placed him in the wrong denomination. We have no such man among us. He is not of our class, and we know nothing of him.

A Good Confession.

THE Christian Union of Nov. 13, 1878, speaking of the wide range of missionary enterprise in this age, says :-

"Within a year Central Africa, the last remaining stronghold of barbarism, has been opened up, and missionaries are now preaching the truth in the territory of one of its fiercest and most powerful kings. If the doctrine of the pre-millennialists be correct, that the gospel is to be preached not to convert the world but 'for a witness unto all nations,' and that when it is so preached we are to expect the end, then it may well be that the end is nearer than most of us think."

Tract and Missionary Institute.

Ir is proposed to open in Battle Creek, Dec. 18, 1878, and continue at least two weeks, a Tract and Missionary Institute, in which will be given, in a practical manner, instruction in regard to all branches of the missionary work. It will be conducted by Eld. S. N. Haskell and other experienced tract workers. The time chosen, during the vacation between the fall and winter terms of the College, will give all an opportunity to attend. Every member of the Institute will receive practical drill in all business matters, and the keeping of all books, and conducting all kinds of correspondence, connected with the missionary work. Eld. U. Smith will give instruction in Parliamentary practice.

The exercises of this Institute will be just such as every one will need who expects to act any part in the T. and M. work; and all, ministers and people, who can possibly attend, should avail themselves of this opportunity.

The front section of the Tabernacle will be finished, and seated to accommodate the Institute; and it is expected that the building will be ready for dedication by the time the Institute shall close.

The committee would be glad to know how many to expect from abroad. Let those who design to attend address W. C. White, Battle Creek, immediately.

Tuition $1.00, books and stationery $1.00, board at the club 1.10 per week. Lodging rooms free if those attending will bring bedding. Ex. Com. Gen. T. & M. S.

Librarian's Report.

THERE has been printed at the Office a librarian's blank report, which is now ready. The different tract societies should immediately order a sufficient quantity to supply all the librarians in their respective Conferences. This will greatly help the librarian, besides securing uniformity in the reports and giving the district secretary all the essential items. Do not fail to secure a quantity immediately.
