The Land of Faith.

BY W. R. PATTERSON.

[BUT now they desire a better country, that is, a heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for He hath prepared for them a city. Hebrews 11: 16.]

O LAND of the Christian's faith and hope,
Over time's dark and troubled sea!
Soon shall the gates of fair morning ope,
And end the tale of earth's sad history.

O land of song and ancient story,—
Untouched by sin, undimmed by time,—
No mind hath e'er conceived the glory
Of the joyous, happy, peaceful clime.

Sickness and sorrow and death and pain
Shall find no place on that healthful shore,
The "curse" destroyed shall ne'er again
Molest the inhabitants any more.

O, glorious city of Israel's King!—
Of pearl and jasper and jacinth and gold,
Of all the glories we try to sing,
But lo "the half has never been told!"

O ling'ring time, with tardy pace unsealing
Flowers which bloom but to fade in tears,
Haste the coming day, all joy revealing,
Crowning of all life's weary years.

Groaning earth, her direful state confessing,
In pain travails while deliverance waits;

Soon shall dawn for her the day of blessing,
For morn shall dawn and open wide her gates.

Keene, Texas.

General News Items.

A RICH find of gold assaying $4,000 to the ton is reported in González county, Texas.

A NEW railroad for west Texas is projected—the Santa Fe-Central from Torrence, New Mexico to Big Springs, Texas, a distance of 300 miles.

THE people of Oklahoma are preparing to make a grand exhibition of the territory's resources at the World's Fair at St. Louis next year.

THE new U. S. armored cruiser, Pennsylvania, was successfully launched at Cramp's shipyard in Philadelphia, last Saturday.

LORD Salisbury, former premier of England and a great statesman, died last Saturday night. He has been a prominent figure in English politics for over fifty years.

A TERRIBLE hurricane on August 11 devastated the Cayman Islands in the West Indies, causing a great property loss and considerable loss of life. Crops were totally destroyed, and famine is imminent without outside help.

AN insurrection of the Bulgarians against the abuses of the Turks, has been brewing for some time, and open fighting is going on in the Balkan mountains. War between the two countries is quite probable.

THE trial of the famous Humbert family of swindlers, who it is claimed have swindled the people of France out of many millions of dollars, was concluded last week in Paris. All of them were found guilty and sentenced, the leaders to five years imprisonment and the others to two years each.

THE roundhouse and machine shops of the Santa Fe Railway at Beaumont, Texas, were totally destroyed by fire on Saturday, entailing a loss of over $25,000. Seven locomotives were destroyed or greatly damaged, which is a heavy loss to the railroad as every locomotive is needed just now.

An Illustration.

SOMETIMES we see the force of a fact more clearly by the aid of an illustration than by simply stating the truth. We say, for instance, that the Rothchilds are worth £100,000,000, and that J. P. Morgan and J. D. Rockefeller are each worth about £90,000,000. We have no difficulty in pronouncing the words naming these vast amounts, but the mind fails entirely to comprehend the magnitude of them. They are beyond comprehension, they are unthinkable.

According to Bible chronology Adam was created about 6,000 year ago. Had he lived until the present time, and had he received a salary of £50 per day, and spent nothing, and he put every pound he received into a bank, and kept it all, he would have been worth little, if any, more than the Rothchilds are said to be worth.

Had Abel lived to the present hour on a salary of £5 a week, and saved it all, he would have only £1,560,000, hardly enough to admit him to the wealthy circle that now exists.

It was reported, and undisputed, that the annual income of the president of the great American sugar refining trust was £10,000,000. It would take 1,000 men labouring on a salary of one hundred pounds a year, 1,000 years to earn as much as this man's income is said to be for one year.

The annual income of such men as J. P. Morgan, the great iron and steel magnate, Mr. Vanderbilt, the railway operator, Mr. Rockefeller, the oil king, the late Jay Gould, the wrecker of railways, Mr. Armour, the head of the great American meat trust, and others too numerous to mention, is said to be from £3,000,000 to £10,000,000 per year. The salary of the the President of the United States is £10,000 a year.

A man who has an annual income of £10,000,000 would have a sum equal to the President's salary for 1,000 years.

There are several capitalists in the United States who are said to be worth from £70,000,000 to £90,000,000. One hundred men, earning two hundred pounds a year each, would all have to work 4,500 years to earn as much as one of these richest men is worth. It would take four trains of fifteen cars each to carry as much gold as one of these men possesses, each car loaded with ten tons.—Sel.

A MAN said to a young convert, "How can you prove that the Bible is inspired?" And the very good answer he gave was, "Because it inspires me."

Arkansas Conference Proceedings.

[Concluded.]

A MOTION was made that the conference committee advise with the Springdale school board for the advancement of the school, which was supported and carried. Remarks were made by Elder Nelson in reference to the lack of funds to settle with the laborers at low rates, and he hoped that those who were behind in their tithe would feel it their duty to settle back tithe.

The subject of electing delegates to the Union Conference to be held in the spring was considered. Discussion arose as to the number of delegates this conference was entitled to. If the constitution considered the presidents of the conferences delegates at large, it was entitled to three. As it was uncertain until it could be looked up, a motion was made that Elder Sommerville and the first man on the conference committee be elected as delegates, which was supported and carried. It was also moved that if the constitution called for another delegate, the conference committee be authorized to appoint one. This was supported and carried.

Moved and supported that we adjourn sine die.

F. E. HEERMANN,
Secretary.

The Work.

WE ALL left the camp meeting in good courage to press forward in the good work. About twelve good, substantial canvassers expect to enter this work to canvass during the fall and winter. They went home from the meeting to make their arrangements to start out as soon as possible. Elder Nelson encouraged them by offering them a donation of five dollars' worth of helps each to start with, which they heartily appreciated. Elder Griffin, Brother Bender and wife remained with the work in Van Buren after camp meeting, as long as the interest demands it, then they will return to Texarkana to continue the work they left before the meeting. Brother Watts returned home to be with his family at Siloam Springs for a while after which he will hold a tent meeting in Gentry, as one has been called for there. Elder Sommerville returned to Springdale with his family at the close of the camp meeting. From there he will go to Waco, Texas to attend the Texas camp meeting. The secretary also returned to her post of duty, but by the time this paper reaches its readers she will be visiting friends in Kansas, taking a much needed rest of a couple of weeks.

F. E. H.

THE FIELD.

GENTRY.—There was a call at camp meeting for a tent meeting at Gentry. The conference committee considered this call, and decided that the writer should go there with a tent.

We opened up the meeting on Friday, August 7. There has been a good attendance from the first, and some nights the tent will not hold all that come. Many are interested. God has been impressing my mind to make the message more definite, and tell the people the consequence if they do not obey. Last night the Sabbath was presented to them, and several said they were going to obey and keep God's holy day.

Sabbath, August 15, is a day that will long be remembered by our brethren, and not only by our brethren but also by our sisters. At three o'clock in the afternoon the tent was well filled, and after presenting to the people the words of the Saviour, "If ye love me keep my commandments," we all engaged in the ordinances of humility and Lord's supper. Many were touched by the scene for God was present. Pray for the work in this place that God will give us scores of souls for the hire of our labor. The brethren are all faithful in their part of the work.

V. B. WATTS.

An Appeal.

I WRITE this appeal in behalf of a faithful sister in Christ, who has been in the truth for a number of years, but who has had many reverses, much sickness, and so many bitter experiences that she might well be called Naomi. (See Ruth 1st chapter.) Besides her other bitter experiences she suffered the loss by fire of furniture, building, and even their wearing cloths. She is a worthy sister, and has done what she could for the cause, and that has been quite a little. She is pretty well known in this Union Conference, but for charity's sake we do not wish to make her name public. She found the truth in Texas. She has nervous prostration and is not able to do any work.

Now, we ask for help for her in the way of quilts, comforts, etc. Also cash donations, and be assured, dear friends, that this is a worthy and urgent call. Send all donations, prepaid to J. J. Jobe, Krebs, Indian Territory, and the same will be acknowledged.

A Letter.

THE following was written by a sister in Harrison, Arkansas, who failed to give her name, therefore we cannot publish it; but send the letter in at her request:

Dear friends:—

I would like to say a word of comfort to all half-hearted brothers and sisters. For sometime I have been letting this world with its troubles and cares come between me and the blessed Master. In fact I have been half-hearted when I knew the Saviour tells us to draw near unto Him, and He will comfort and bless us; but it seems when difficulty arises, one will gradually drift back into the path that leads to destruction. With the help of God I am going to take a fresh stand for the Lord, and I want to labor in His cause. For sometime my health has been very poor, and I have gradually grown cross and irritable, easy to take offence; but the Lord tells us to be patient and long-suffering.

From that spot in New York in front of the Brooklyn bridge, less than one acre in area, radiate railroad lines in all direction, which carry about 150,000,000 passengers per annum. When the planned transportation lines are completed about another 150,000,000 of passengers will have to be accommodated, or about 300,000,000 passengers in all. It is now and will be for a long time the most densely traveled spot on the face of the globe. —Houston Chronicle.

Notes.

BROTHER John Kilgore, father of R. M. Kilgore, who is well known to most of our readers, died at Washington, Iowa, August 3rd. He was one of the oldest Adventists in the State of Iowa.

PLANS are being laid for the coming Teacher's Institute, to be held next month. It has been definitely learned that Professor Floyd Bralliar, of the Central Union Conference, will be here and probably have the oversight.

A PRIVATE letter from Elder N. P. Nelson states that they had an excellent meeting at El Reno, Oklahoma, notwithstanding their camp was out on the open prairie, and they had excessive rains at the start. One thing of special note was the great interest he found there in school work.

THE announcement is made that the last number of the Review and Instructor has been issued as Battle Creek, and hereafter they will be issued at Washington, D. C. The first number of the Review is at hand. The printing of books and pamphlets will still be done at Battle Creek until better facilities can be arranged for at Washington.

The Signs of the Times mailing list has increased 1,000 a month for the past two months, in spite of this being the dull season of the year.

What Pluck Will Do.

THE New York Herald says that fifty students of the Columbia University have engaged Newell Perry, a blind man, to coach them. Mr. Perry is a wonderful man. When a boy eight years of age, he lost his eyesight; but even this affliction did not discourage him; and he entered the California School for the Blind. When nineteen years old he matriculated in the University of California, where he took the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy afterward becoming a teacher and served in that capacity for a year.

Subsequently he took a course in higher mathematics at the University of Chicago and received a degree. In 1900 he went to Europe and studied in the University of Munich, taking there the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. He is now regarded as one of the best mathematicians in the country, and has made wonderful attainments in that branch of study; and thus it is that these students of Columbia University have engaged him to coach them in their work.

We relate this story for the benefit of our young readers, and hope it will encourage and stimulate them.

After all it is work that tells. This man had talent, but he had industry also. He had more than that; he had pluck. He was not cast down by even so great an affliction as blindness. He determined to succeed, and he has succeeded where many others with good eyesight have failed. If all the young men in this land had the same pluck and determination, there would be fewer failures, and there would be fewer to say that there is no chance for a young man in the United States.

There is a chance for a young man of this character, for every young man who is courageous and industrious, and who determines to overcome obstacles. Indeed such men never had so good a chance since the world began.—Times-Dispatch.

Don'ts for Canvassers.

Don't argue.
Don't preach.
Don't go to extremes.
Don't be afraid to work.
Don't try to teach your book.
Don't try to tell something you don't know.

Don't be ashamed of your calling.
Don't forget that you are engaged in an honorable business.

Don't be afraid to stay in the field.
Don't forget that your business is to sell books.

Don't fail to do your work in a business way.

Don't be too easy on the people when delivering books.

Don't let the people go back on their orders without good reasons.

Don't forget to be good natured, but be business.

Don't go on foot when the land is full of horses.

Don't think it necessary to spend an hour making your toilet.

Don't use money that belongs to the Office.

Don't expect the Lord to do for you what you ought to do for yourself.

Don't forget that unless you make a financial success you cannot stay in the field.

Don't fail to constantly improve in language and manners.

Don't think it unnecessary to study grammar.

Don't go about raising up prejudice by dwelling on doctrinal points.

Don't fail to plan in making your delivery.

Don't take more orders for a certain time than you can deliver, and then be sure to be on time.

Don't think the canvassing work a failure because some give it up. The failure was with these persons. They didn't know their business.

Don't above all forget what the Lord has said about the canvassing work, and that Jesus and holy angels will give us success, if we do all in our power to enlighten souls.—Sel.

THE effectual preacher must not only reveal Christ to men, but reveal men to themselves.

If ministers would bore deeper into God's Word before going into the pulpit, they would bore their congregation less after going into the pulpit.

FIELD REPORTS.

WEST TEXAS CONTINUED.—The affirmative lead out on this proposition, with an eloquence rarely shown in debate, on the divinity of Christ, which all enjoyed. The subject under discussion was only referred to very lightly. This of course left the negative little or nothing to reply to, all the people present having endorsed heartily what had been said. But our Brother Field was equal to the occasion, so he gave us quite an impressive sermon on the life and mission of the Saviour, and said that from all appearances the debate would be turned into a revival service, and many would be converted. The occasion of the session was truly an enjoyable one. However the next morning the discussion began in earnest. The affirmative, on this proposition, soon exhausted all his Scriptural arguments which seemed to many to prove up the first day question; and then history was brought forward to sustain him in his position. However the negative, on this proposition, held him to his affirmative, frequently calling the attention of the people to the fact of his failure to meet him with Scripture, stating at the same time that if the texts could be read to prove the first day to be the Sabbath, it would be forthwith coming. This of course was patent to all reasonably minded persons. A failure on this proposition was known on entering the discussion.

It is so strange that men of intelligence will challenge discussion on a Bible subject they know cannot be proven up by the Scriptures; and, too, when almost all the people are informed as to the power that made the change of the law and Sabbath. The debate closed, so far as I could see, with a good spirit; and many were able, it is hoped, to see the truth in the proposition discussed. I ask the prayers of all, that much good will result. H. B. FRENCH.

ALTO.—Having contracted malaria,

I returned home for a few days to recruit in order that I might be able for the task before me. July 5, I resumed my work in Cherokee county, holding meetings up to July 25. I am glad to say that while there were many hinderances, the power of the Lord was manifested, and a goodly number was led into the blessed truth, and others are almost persuaded. The last day of the meeting a church was organized. The friends and neighbors came and remained on the ground all day. (It was an all day's meeting.) Seven dear souls followed their Lord in baptism, and the church was organized with fourteen members, others expecting to join soon. In all there are about twenty-seven Sabbath-keepers, nearly all new in the faith. This is the only company of Sabbath-keepers in Cherokee county, but we hope and pray that ere long there will be many who will stand for the third angel's message in East Texas. We celebrated the ordinances of the Lord's house, which was a most blessed time. Tears flowed freely, and hearts were deeply impressed, and we hoped to see others come into the fold. Personally I can say that I am of good courage, and I realize that our Heavenly Father is ever on the giving hand. Pray for the work in East Texas as well as elsewhere.

J. N. SOMMERVILLE.

A Letter to a Canvasser.

(MISS LIZZIE MCPHEE.)

Thou hast long been out among strangers,
But God's arm's as true as steel;
He forever will protect you,
And His loving power you'll feel.

Thou hast traveled the dusty by-ways,
Carrying on the message bright;
To unheeding sin-cursed people,
Pointing to the land of light.

Thou hast tróed on thorns and briers,
Got discouraged, so they say;
But, cheer up, my dear sister,
For on His brow sharp thorns did lay.

Thou hast crossed the sparkling brooklet,
Been oft out with nature wild,
But thou oft must think of him, dear,
Who was Nature's loving child.

All alone by rippling brooklet
His heaviest grief was borne;
And 'twas here His life was given,
'Fore another sunny morn.

As thou walk 'mong many strangers,
Thou wilt find them stern and cold;
Thou wilt find a heedless throng, dear,
Just like Noah did of old.

But work thou on nor get discouraged,
For the work will soon be done,
And the last sheaves gathered in, dear,
When the sands of time are run.

And you'll never, never know, dear,
How much good your life has done,
Till you get beyond the river,
And your golden crown is won.

Tho' it takes long years of waiting,
Yearning, pleading, toil and woe,
God's reward is just as certain,
For your faithfulness, you know.

You will not be always sowing,
For the harvest time will come,
When you'll reap just what you've sown,
May you stand not idle, dumb.

Yes, you never, never'll think, dear,
In that glorious land of light,
Of the trials and temptations,
And the battles you did fight.

the Oklahoma Conference. No copy has

THE native army of the Philippines will be represented at the World's Fair, St. Louis, next year. Two or three companies each of the scouts and constabulary, with the constabulary band, will attend. The best drilled and smartest looking men will be selected to make up the companies which will show the Americans the character of the police protection of the Eastern possessions.

The book is tastefully bound in two styles, paper and cloth. It contains 128 pages printed on good paper with clear new type, and is appropriately illustrated with thirty-one new designs made especially for this book.

A New and Up-to-date Subscription Book, bearing the gospel message for this time upon the subjects treated. Price 25 cents for the paper binding, and 50 cents for the cloth binding.
