Midsummer Offering July 21

BY LOUIS K. DICKSON

The coming Midsummer Offering to be received on Sabbath, July 21, takes on added significance and importance as the days go by and we realize more and more the gigantic task that faces us in mission lands both now and when all hostilities diminish.

In this time of unusual prosperity, as witnessed to by the enlarged tithe of our people, the mission treasury should know no shortage. The time is here when the whole church must grapple with the problems incident to the world task, and realize that the responsibility of meeting these problems can no longer be cast wholly upon administrative boards at home and missionaries on the field, far in advance of the great body of the church. The solution of these problems of reconstruction, sustaining and expansion, require the united thought and action of the entire membership of the church.

We must remember that we are in the day when God wills that a quick work shall be done in the earth. The stride of His church must now be quickened so that even the commerce of the world will in comparison seem to be the laggard. Love must outrun greed. This all exacts faith, prayer and a mounting courage far beyond that which we now see. Appropriations have been swelled by vast figures during the last few years. We rejoice that this has been made possible by the liberality of God's people. But may we not hope that in the exposition of the greater and still greater needs of the teeming millions yet unwarned the church will now rise to the summit of their sacrificial spirit and fill the coffers of God's treasure house? Let all our churches and organizations as they plan for increasing institutions already established remember that while it is a great work to increase the candle-power of our already gleaming arclights at home it is a still better plan to give at least one incandescent light, as it were, to those who are still waiting in midnight darkness.

We surely can agree that we have come to a time most auspicious for a great awakening among all our people in behalf of the finishing of God's work in all the earth. There is great danger that the missionary movement will move far in advance of the missionary spirit. The missionary movement is at a stage when immediate enlargement, as well as rehabilitation, will bring to God's cause a vast enhancement of results. These results are close at hand. Let us rise up and possess them. Many conspiring events, which we cannot fail to recognize, unite at this time to make this the hour of greatest opportunity to which the church has yet come. The enlargement of influence and responsibility that has come to our own nation so as to constitute this a real epoch in our national history is not without its natural results to the expansion of the cause of Advent missions throughout the world.

It is not difficult to see that beneath these great world movements and over them, with men's will and despite men's will, there is working a superior movement which He who is the author and finisher of our faith

Just the Language Which Children Will Understand

You have waited a long, long time for the thing that has just been brought into being,—the paper with the Sabbath school lesson for the children from 1-6 years of age, in language so simple that the child can understand. For nearly three years we have been working on this problem, seeking to make possible a long-cherished plan. Now we are ready, and are passing to you that which will fill the need of parent, Sabbath school leader, and teacher in teaching little folk.

At the end of May we sent out through the Pacific Press a request for the names of all the teachers and leaders of the cradle roll and kindergarten in the North American Division. These lists have been rapidly coming in, and sample copies of My Bible Story have been or will be sent to all these children's workers. The response of the Sabbath school secretaries has been exceptionally good. Yet we desire to reach every home also where there are little folk of the 1-6 year ages; hence this facsimile cut of the new lesson sheet. This lesson paper, My Bible Story, is printed in two colors for the front page, with lesson picture, lesson scripture, and memory verse. It is dated for the Sabbath on which the lesson will be used. The lesson story in the simplest possible language appears on pages two and three, and on page four the high points of the lesson in short, simply-worded statements are illustrated by appropriate line drawings.

Here is the reaction of one father with a child in the age range for which the lessons were prepared. He writes:

"This is really the best thing I have seen yet for our little tots in the Sabbath school. As I look through the four numbers for the month of July, I praise God silently in my own heart for the wonderful good that I know will be accomplished through these papers. For a long time we have hoped for such a help as this, and now we have it.

"I have a little boy four years old. It has been my privilege, as well as my responsibility, to teach him his Sabbath school lesson at various times. I must confess that it was difficult at times to find words which he could understand, using Our Little Friend. The language used in My Bible Story is just the kind that children will understand. It is very much like the reading found in the primer in the day school. The illustrations on the back are splendid. Really I cannot find words adequate to express my appreciation for these papers, and I personally have already entered my subscription through the Book and Bible House."

If a worker with a training background of the father mentioned above has been puzzled, thousands of fathers and mothers and teachers have doubtless had the same difficulty. You need this lesson paper with its attractive illustrations and simple presentation. The lessons have been harmonized throughout with the Bible and the Spirit of prophecy. Place your subscriptions, either single or in clubs of five or more, with your Book and Bible House. Single subscription, $1; in clubs of five or more, 90 cents.

Clothing for War Relief

It is most encouraging to witness the remarkable manner in which God is giving us favor and success in the practical phase of gospel work represented by the collection and distribution of clothing, which is now being carried forward on such a large scale. This is the greatest undertaking of the kind that we as a denomination have ever attempted. We wish to express gratitude to church members, Dorcas Society leaders, and conference workers for cooperation and diligent efforts in getting the clothing ready for shipment to the warehouses. This is no small task.

The "gospel in practice," or applied religion as demonstrated through our war relief service, often creates a very favorable impression concerning Seventh-day Adventists and their work, and in a more direct way than by sermons from the pulpit. We see this demonstrated in our contacts with representatives of various governments and shipping boards, as we arrange for clothing to be sent overseas. We earnestly insist that our clothing be consigned to our own organization in the various countries to be distributed primarily for the relief of our own church people. In some cases we have paid the transportation, and at all times the government of the country receiving the shipment has met the transportation cost.

Over 200 tons of clothing have reached our warehouses on the East and West Coasts, and many tons have been sent out, consigned to France, Sweden, Belgium, Norway, Holland, Italy, Greece, North Africa, Ethiopia, Philippines, Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania. Very recently we sent five tons of clothing to Italy, which was consigned to our Italian worker, Pastor Guiseppe Ferraro, in Naples. We were made happy by receiving a cable from Major Becker, one of our S. D. A. soldiers in the U. S. Army in Italy, who has been very helpful to us in contacting our workers over there, which reads as follows: "All clothing received and in Ferraro's hands. Endeavoring transport portion to Florence (Italy) for distribution in Northern Italy."

There is still great need of clothing in most of the continental countries of Europe and Russia. Some liberated countries are now open for correspondence, and in some instances small parcels are admitted. Information as to Parcel Post countries and regulations can be obtained from local post offices.

Important Requests

1. For the present and immediate future, please do not send any more shipments to the warehouses, either East or West. This is in order to relieve present temporary congestion at the warehouses. It does not mean that you are not to be ready to send more clothing in the near future, when called for. Do not relax your efforts in gathering supplies, repairing and fixing; but get everything in readiness for prompt shipment in the course of a few weeks, seeing that everything is protected against moths and dampness during the interim.

2. Good clothing, in clean condition is acceptable. Do not send fancy evening clothes or high-heel shoes or slippers. Footwear is greatly needed, but it must be of a sensible type. Open-toe shoes will be accepted, provided the soles are in good shape and the heels are suited to practical use. The skillful hands of Dorcas should be in evidence on every garment which reaches the warehouse, whereby every garment is in good repair and ready to wear. Garment tags should also be fastened to every article.

3. Quantities of our periodicals and missionary literature have reached the warehouses, designed to be packed with the clothing. We thank our people for their good intentions along this line, but it is not permissible to combine clothing and litera-

Classroom and Nature Unite in Education

By CHESTER E. KELLOGG

Principal, Ozark Academy, Gentry, Arkansas

Not only is it necessary in these days of rising educational standards to obtain a basic high school training, but if we plan on service for the Lord, and a part in the kingdom, it is imperative that it be a Christian high school education.

The textbooks used in our denominational schools differ little from books used in the public schools for history, sciences, and literature; but the approach in the classroom, the general atmosphere, and the Biblical background and viewpoint make a world of difference. Let us illustrate.

In presenting the history of nations as it is taught in the schools of the world, the student is shown only the historic and economic factors and a probable recurrence of certain historical tendencies. But as this subject of history is studied in our own schools, with the Bible as a guide and background, the student is led definitely to the conclusion, that while the "shaping of events seems, to a great degree, to be determined by his (man's) power, ambition, or caprice, . . . in the word of God the curtain is drawn aside, and we behold, behind, above, and through, all the play and counter-play of human interests and powers and passions, the agencies of the All-merciful One, silently, patiently working out the counsels of His own will."

In history, science, and literature study, the influence of such instruction is beyond estimate. In it, the student not only finds that the history of nations is in God's hands, but that the student himself has an individual part to play in the drama of life and plan of redemption, and that to play well that part in this world will promote him to the realities of a world to come.

It is for this reason that the Lord has indicated that we should not be tied by so much as a thread to the educational policies of them who know not God. It is for this reason also, that our denomination is spending by sacrifice, thousands of dollars for the establishment of schools and the training of Christian teachers. The result? While eighty-five per cent of our S. D. A. youth trained in public elementary and high schools leave the church, another eighty-five per cent of those educated in our own schools remain firm to the church, and a large proportion become active workers. It, makes a difference—an eternal difference.

We know that it is difficult for parents and children to separate, as they must do when the young people leave home to attend a boarding school. But this separation is inevitable in the ordinary course of life. And without Christian educational influences in home and church and school, such a separation can easily be an eternal one.

Family separations in this world for Christian educational reasons will pay large compensations in this life, and immeasurable dividends to parents and children in the life to come. Let us take a long-range point of view in the matter.

Educational expense sometimes discourages both parents and young people. Even though such in our schools ranges from one-half to one-tenth of what they are in worldly boarding schools, the burden still seems heavy. The monthly flat rate for board, room, tuition, light, heat, laundry, in Ozark Academy amounts to $40.00 per month. However, aside from books and a few small fees, the student can get along on monthly cash payments ranging from $32.00 down to nearly nothing. The amount of each necessary depends upon the number of school subjects carried, the age of the student, and the value of the student's labor. We refer you to the cash-labor-plan chart which accompanies our catalog, mailed to you upon request, and free from any obligation.

Our standards of scholarship are high. Failures in regents examinations are, therefore, few. Social life is combined, as it should be, with religious and recreational endeavor.

Ozark Academy is located, as the Lord Himself has advised for all schools, "apart from the cities where the eye will not rest continually upon the dwelling of men, but upon the works of God; where there shall be places of interest for them to visit, other than what the city affords. Let our students be placed where nature can speak to the senses and in her voice they may hear the voice of God. Let them be where they can look upon His wondrous works and through nature behold the Creator."

Such educational plans, financial arrangements, and labor possibilities are within the reach of all ambitious and deserving young people because that in the erection of our buildings "and in their furnishings and in every feature of their management the strictest economy is practiced." We do not conduct our school on a narrow or selfish plan, but aim to give our boys and girls substantial and everlasting values. Our school is home-like, and all administration policies aim to teach lessons of simplicity, usefulness, thrift, and economy.

"In the highest sense, the work of education and the work of redemption are one; for in education as in redemption, 'other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ'."

News Notes

★ Brethren T. R. Gardner and K. C.

Beem have been spending much time in auditing the treasurer's books in Fort Smith, Gentry, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, and other places. We hope to see this work go forward until every church book has been thoroughly audited.

★ We understand the Fort Smith church is also giving consideration to a change in location and have already arranged to purchase several lots in a good residential location.

★ Elder L. C. Lee and Brother Gordon Osgood are definitely planning for a meeting to begin next Sunday night in the city of Minden. All of these reports should be interesting to our people, and we believe they will help to build up our work in this field.

★ As the writer dictates these notes, he is prepared to leave to join with the union committee meeting at Sandoval, New Mexico. While there, he will join with Brother Bietz and their conference workers in their meeting.

★ A letter from Elder Hackett informs us the interest is still strong in Fayetteville. We are looking forward to a good harvest of souls in that city.

★ Brother William Elder, a recent graduate of Pacific Union College, has arrived and will take up ministerial work in the Alexandria-Lake Charles district. He comes with all the enthusiasm of a young man who has worked hard to get his ministerial education. We believe he is going to make a successful worker for this conference.

Colored Colporteur Institute Held in New Orleans

The writer pens these words with a feeling of thanksgiving to God for what He has done.

After months of diligent search for an associate field secretary for the colored department of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference, our effort has been rewarded in securing Brother J. H. Jones, who has served as deacon and local elder of the New Orleans church, and for a time also attended Oakwood College to qualify himself for the Lord's work.

During the summer of last year, he earned a colporteur scholarship. It seems that Brother Jones has the experience and also what it takes to get the colporteur work done.

A colporteur's institute was planned for New Orleans several times, but was postponed each time, because it was thought best to have a colored colporteur leader in attendance. At last, Brother Jones was chosen, and the institute was held May 16 to 20. Among those who led out were Emanuel Remsen, Bruce Wickwire, K. C. Beem, T. H. Coopwood, J. H. Jones, and the writer.

This move which has been made by the brethrer will strengthen the work of our people and our department in every way. Let us now earnestly pray for, and earnestly encourage this colporteur work in our churches which has been so long neglected.

At the close of the institute, a picture was taken of the group which were in attendance.

Under God we expect great things from this new advanced step.

Junior Camp News

The real junior campers of our conference are sending in a steady stream of mail filled with dollar bills. Now we are getting worried about those who are planning to come but have not as yet sent in their applications. To avoid any disappointments, this should be done immediately and no junior will then need to feel that he has missed the best part of his summer's vacation.

The craft supplies are now arriving here at the office. The food has been ordered and it is of the very best so as to provide the right kind of energy for better health. Here is one of our surprises which we can't keep any longer! We have made arrangements to sell some junior camp shirts with a large Indian head on them and the words: "Camp Oklajumivo." Oklajumivo comes from the words: Oklahoma Junior Missionary Volunteers. These white shirts will sell for 60 cents apiece, so plan to bring enough money for a camp shirt which you will want as a souvenir. It will be a good idea to have from 50 cents to a dollar for supplies.

Will we see YOU at Falls Creek Camp on July 22, during those "seven wonderful days of adventure?"

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma: "I certainly enjoy the Bible correspondence course and hope to continue to the end."

Guthrie, Oklahoma: "I do enjoy the Bible lessons so much. I always give out the cards that you send, but I do not keep the names of the people I give them to, as I am not able to follow them up. I am a shut-in and so crippled that I cannot walk. I am under the doctor's care all the time. I do, however, always tell the people to take the cards and send them in to you. I have given a lot of cards away."

Tulsa Rally

One of the best and busiest week ends occurred in Tulsa on June 22-24. The most helpful part of our fellowship came during the Sabbath services. We were privileged to have President Shephard for the eleven o'clock hour and also for our council meeting in the afternoon. Elder McConaughy's inspiration at the vesper hour was truly appreciated. After the Sabbath, there were shown some motion pictures.

A good number of juniors were able to meet at 7:00 a. m. out in Mohawk Park for a hike and an outdoor breakfast. In spite of threatening rain, the plans for a picnic were carried out. This part of the program was organized by the M. V. officers under the leadership of Mrs. A. B. Chase. Horseshoes, tug-of-war, and a good spirited ballgame were the main events of interest. Tulsa entertained its guests from Sand Springs, Sapulpa, Claremore, Vinita and Slick in a commendable manner. The Missionary Volunteers in attendance have taken up the rally theme, "To Serve on the Battlefield of Truth" for the future months of service.

Texas Juniors!

When you read this, it won't be much over three weeks until Cedarbrook Camp (July 23 to 30), and five weeks until Palacios (Aug. 6 to 13).

If you haven't received a folder on Junior Camp containing an application, ask your pastor or church elder for one. If he can't supply you, write us and we will send as many as you need.

Just yesterday I received a bundle of order blanks for M. V. uniforms for boys and girls and grown-ups. These uniforms are of good material and cost no more than other sturdy camp clothes. We will be glad to send you a price list and order blank. You had better order immediately.

Get your applications in early, too, and be saving your money for Junior Camp.

The two big events of the year will be at Cedarbrook and Palacios. Three hundred Texas juniors should register at these two camps.

Melon feeds, boat rides, swimming, crafts, games, good eats, and many new friends—these are a few of the good things awaiting you!

Progress at San Antonio

An overflow attendance was present at the San Antonio English church when Elders E. A. Manry and E. F. Firck conducted a Sabbath school and home missionary convention. Deep interest was manifested in both the morning and afternoon services.

It was especially thrilling to listen to the reports of the lay workers who had been active in missionary work. As a result of earnest Bible studies given by Sgt. Spiva, two were at the service and are soon to be baptized. Sister Gus has been very faithful, and thru h prayerful labors she interested a soldier and his wife in the message. They also were present and will soon be baptized. One brother in the church told of his first experience he recently had in holding a cottage meeting.

About sixty service men are attending the church and the building is not adequate to accommodate all those who worship. Elder A. K. Phillips, the pastor, is leading out in a strong way. We believe bright days are ahead for the San Antonio church.

Meetings at Harlingen

The Lord has wonderfully blessed in the meetings at Harlingen. Elder Locke has presented God's last message of warning to this world in a most appealing and convincing manner. Hearts have been stirred and decisions made. Many of these hearts were mellowed and prepared for the gospel seed by the beautiful singing of Elder Harry Gray, who was accompanied at the piano by Sister Locke. It has never been my privilege to see music worked into an evangelistic program so nicely as here.

Elder and Sister Hampton, Elder Gray, Brother and Sister Seal and Miss Leeper have worked long hours visiting the interested and in getting out literature.

The churches of the Valley have been most loyal in their attendance at the meetings. For the past month the Mercedes and Weslaco churches have held their Sabbath school and Sabbath services in the tent.

Last Sabbath our hearts were made glad indeed as Elder Locke lead seven precious souls into the watery grave in the first baptism of the effort. There was one taken in on profession of faith. Others have come forward and expressed their desire to unite with God's remnant church. We solicit your prayers in behalf of these meetings.

Midsummer Offering, July 21

Every conference worker, every church elder, every isolated member, and every other member of Texico should make definite plans now for the Midsummer Offering to be taken Sabbath, July 21.

Greater than ever is the need for foreign missions. Everywhere the doors are thrown open. Macedonian calls are being multiplied these latter days. Money to rebuild schools, churches, sanitariums, etc. is urgently needed. Perhaps this is the church's last chance to warn the world. Let us all, everyone, do our part! This should be more than an ordinary offering. As you bring your gift Sabbath, July 21, also bring your heart to the Lord in consecration.

The Rut Dwellers

Someone has said, "A rut is a grave that is open on both ends." We concur with the thought that a rut is a grave—a place for the dead. There is this difference, however, between being in a grave and in a rut. We can get out of the latter, whereas the former does not release its victim until the resurrection morning.

Isn't it true that in our Christian experience we slip into a rut occasionally? It is so easy to slide in. It's hard to get out again—especially if the rut has been worn deep by fellow travelers.

What are some of these ruts which cross our pathway? There are many we can think of; however, we will mention only a few. First of all there is the rut of indifference. The people who habitually stay home from Sabbath school and church services to make up for lost sleep belong to this class. They are indifferent to their own needs and also the needs of the church.

Have you ever seen a brother or sister slip into the rut of criticism? It is one of the dirtiest and slipperiest ruts to get out of. Once in it, we slide back and forth in our experience, but never accomplish anything except bumping our heads against the walls of the rut.

Then there is the rut which is reserved for the Pharisees—the "better than thou" people. These people get into a rut because they see only their own very much exaggerated goodness. They know not the meaning of sympathy because they never get nor give any.

Sometimes we meet with people who talk only of the past. They belong to the "has been" rut dwellers. Not doing any missionary work today, they can talk only about an experience forty, thirty, twenty, ten, five or two years ago. Such should remember H. K. Curtiss' motto: "Yesterday ended last night," and should live today a new and active life in Christ Jesus. Three hundred thousand small business firms cease operating each year because the men in charge refuse to advance. They don't keep up. They say, "We've always done it this way and it's good enough for us." They get into the rut of "has been's."

Paul's recipe for staying out of a rut is as follows: "This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, are reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." (Phil. 3:13, 14.)

MILLER, J. C., was born in Oxford, Miss., May 28, 1868, and died from a heart attack, June 16, 1945.

Brother Miller accepted the Adventist faith in the year 1905 and remained a faithful member of the church until his death.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his companion, ten children, three brothers, twenty-four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren besides a host of friends and acquaintances.

Funeral services were conducted in the Fort Worth Seventh-day Adventist church, and words of comfort were spoken by the writer.

Brother Miller was laid to rest in the certain hope of a joyful resurrection at the coming of our Lord.

Home Economics

Plans for the home economics department for the coming school year are under way.

In harmony with Sister White's admonition (Education, p. 216) that we train both the young men and women in the fundamentals of homemaking, one of the college classes is being opened to the young men. The study of nutrition and the practice in food preparation should fit the students for more efficient service both in the homeland and in the mission fields.

In addition to foods and nutrition, the two courses offered in the college include the following phases of homemaking: house planning for efficient management, time and money management, design and textiles as related to the selection of clothing and home furnishings, appreciation and creation of beauty in everyday surroundings, construction of garments, infant and child care, personality development, and mental health.

Technique in manual arts and crafts for elementary teachers will be taught in the home economics department also.

The course in the academy is designed as a two-year sequence, the first year being taken in the ninth grade and the second, in the eleventh or twelfth grade. By the time a girl finishes the two years' work, she will be able to make a suit or coat, cook and serve banquet meals, as well as plan nutritious family meals on various budgets, be able to evaluate advertising claims which bombard the homemaker on every side, be interested in and able to care for small children, give simple home treatments for illness, analyze kitchens and other work areas for efficient management, recognize beauty in one's surroundings, and appreciate the dignity of the homemaker's job.

A course of one or two semesters is outlined for those who will not have time for the two-year sequence.

A home economics club and help in progressive classwork are also being planned.

There is a place for you in one of the classes whether you are a beginner or a more advanced student. Join us at Southwestern Junior College when school starts in September.

DOROTHY G. DORLAND.

News Notes

Mrs. Lena Beener of San Antonio sent $130 to furnish a room in Hamilton Hall. We certainly appreciate this gift which was given in honor of the excellent work being done in the magazine work by Mrs. Grace Allmen, Ida Lee Allmen, Nine Grace Hall, and Polly Davidson. All of these young women are from Keene and are in San Antonio this summer.

Tile Floor Campaign!

Nielsine Nielsen of Elgin, Texas, has sent in the largest amount received to date. We are happy to congratulate her for providing 100 square feet — $25! We were glad to receive $13 this week from Joe Davis of Kilgore.

Max Williams, dean of men, and Mrs. Williams, arrived in Keene June 26. They will spend a few days getting settled and looking over their new home. Mr. Williams will visit in the field in the interest of the college the rest of the summer. He says, "It is great to be back in Keene." Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams are graduates of Southwestern Junior College. While a student here, Mr. Williams acted as summer dean and as a foreman in the College Mill. While completing his college course, he served as assistant dean of men at Pacific Union College.

We are happy that Dean Williams is connecting with the college, for besides his excellent background of experience, he has a real love for and an interest in boys. They are his hobby. He will teach a class in Bible, which was his major field of study in college. We wish for Mr. and Mrs. Williams much of the Lord's blessing as they take up their important work.

R. A. Underhill met with the Galveston and Elgin churches on recent Sabbaths. He enjoyed meeting many fine young people, a large number of whom plan to be in college next fall.

H. L. Shull, who receives $5 deposits for room reservations, reports that deposits have been made on nearly all of the rooms on the first floor of the girls' dormitory, on most of those on the second, and some on the third. It pays to make reservations early.

Midsummer Offering July 21

holds in His own hands. It is a preparation for a new and glorious missionary epoch. As plain as the signs that gather regarding the second advent of our Lord, and indeed as one of the greatest of them, is the sign that gathers about us that God is giving to this generation a new summons, the last summons, but a glorious opportunity to come back to our Redeemer and Lord. We know the Divine purpose, we see the field already whitened unto the harvest. Let us by our liberality and prayers and sacrificial service enter in and possess the land. The final march has begun, and it is for us to determine what our share shall be in the sacrifice and in the victory.

"He is sounding forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment-seat:
Oh, be swift, my soul, to answer Him!
He is jubilant, my feet!
Our God is marching on."
