Governor Frank B. Morrison continued to say nice things about the Christian Record and the work being done in Nebraska.

Mr. Robert S. Bray, representing the U. S. Government from Washington, D.C., spoke in behalf of the Library of Congress and its work, and how the government appreciates the Christian Record reading material, both Braille and recorded, which we send to blind people.

terial mailed to the blind people last year to make a stack of Braille over seven times as high as the Empire State Building, and with our Talking Magazine, which now ranks number one of all recorded material going to the blind in the nation, we can indeed say that God has blown gently upon the ember that was kindled in 1899 by A. O. Wilson.

With our new brailleing plant consisting of 25,000 square feet with ample room for new developments and expansion, we are looking forward to more than doubling our free services to those who live in darkness. And most of all, we are envisioning many souls who will come to know Jesus as their personal Saviour because of the work this organization is doing.

We sincerely trust that each of our readers will accept this as a standing invitation to tour our new headquarters just five blocks south of Union College at 4444 South 52nd Street, Lincoln 6, Nebraska.

Governor Frank B. Morrison, of Nebraska, addresses the guests who attended the Open House ceremony.

Mother as Teacher

Many mothers of pre-school children are wondering whether they could give their child the kind of school readiness that he needs right in their own homes. The answer is, Yes. If the mother is not working away from home but is with the child during the day, she can be an ideal kindergarten teacher. In fact, mother is a teacher whether she realizes it or not. Trained or untrained, right or wrong, mother is teaching her child by her words, by her facial expressions, by her tone of voice, and by what she does. (If she has had no technical training in the art of teaching, it would be advisable for her to take the correspondence course offered by The Home Study Institute, Takoma Park 12, D.C.). She teaches every day, all day. That is one reason why a "school schedule" would not be practical or desirable for the mother in the majority of cases. The training of the child becomes a part of the regular home duties, and home duties a part of the training.

Remember that in the home school the curriculum is the same; only the schedule is different. Each mother will make her own schedule. The majority of mothers find that the morning family worship period is the ideal "opening exercise." What better way could we start our home school than to invite the Master Teacher to be with us during the day? One mother, however, discovered that her little daughter had a great desire to go to "regular" school like all the other children in her neighborhood. Mother made her home school as nearly like a "real" school as possible. On school days Martha would put on a school dress and leave the house at eight-thirty with her books and lunch box. Walking to the corner and back, she would enter the "schoolhouse," greet her "teacher," put her wraps away, and go to her desk. School opened with the flag salute, song, prayer, story, and all. From here on, kindergarten and the work of the home were integrated.

In addition to following many of the suggestions in this manual for the group kindergarten, the mother will find many natural situations in the home that lend themselves to teaching practical lessons to the child. Here are some hints: The Story Hour is of great value. This is one of the best teaching methods known. The story becomes a part of the child. The kind of story he hears molds his character for life. That is why we tell Bible stories and not fairy tales to our children. Nature, health, safety, and courtesy, too, are learned best through the story. Both father and mother should tell stories to the child. Whether they are told the first thing in the morning, during a little quiet time after dinner, or before going to bed matters little, but stories the child needs and must have.

If she knows how, the mother can use many household objects and home activities to train her child to see objectively, to hear discriminatingly, to feel sensitively, to taste and to smell perceptively, to control his muscles, and to form wholesome attitudes.

Arkansas-Louisiana Health and Welfare Workshop

The highlight of the Welfare and Civil Defense Workshop held in Shreveport, Louisiana, on September 8-10 was a panel of Civil Defense, Red Cross, and Civic Leaders moderated by Elder M. H. Jensen of the General Conference Department of Welfare. These leaders discussed the subject "In Case of Natural or Man-made Disaster, What Services Are Available to the Public?"

After the panel, a mass feeding

Hammond Evangelistic Meetings

A most successful one week of meetings was held in the Hammond, Louisiana, church by Elder William Elder, from the conference office. At the closing meeting Saturday morning, five juniors, one youth, and one young mother took their stand to unite with the remnant church. We thank the conference and Elder Elder for sharing blessings with us. Plans are underway for another joint effort in a dark city with the pastor assisting Elder Elder.

Hammond-Gonzales District.*

The recent baptism at Hammond, Louisiana, consisted of seven precious souls.

demonstration was directed by Elder Jensen in which 150 persons were fed in a three-minute period.

Almost 100 delegates assembled for this workshop. Every district in the entire conference was represented except one. The dedication of the delegates was spontaneous and complete. We are looking for some wonderful experiences to come from this workshop which will strengthen the Welfare work in the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference.

Conference Welfare Director.*

A Young Witness

Young Steven Gant of the Hammond church recently fulfilled a desire unique among eleven-year-old boys. Last year he rode a public school bus from his country home into the city to attend the Hammond church school. A friendly lad, he liked his seatmates on the bus and wanted to do something to help explain his faith and also share it with them. Recently he was able to enroll his sixth bus friend in the junior Bible course of the Voice of Priphecy. This is in addition to many others he has enrolled. God needs dedicated young boys and girls like this for His work.

Medical News Notes

Gaylen W. Johnson, M.D., formerly of Siloam Springs, Arkansas, has recently accepted an invitation to join the medical staff of the Empress Zauditu Memorial Hospital in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Doctor and Mrs. Johnson with their children flew from New York on November 3 to their new post of duty.

Doctor Johnson is a graduate of Ozark Academy, Southwestern Union College, (formerly Southwestern Jr. College) and Union College. He graduated from Loma Linda University in 1962 and interned at the Loma Linda Sanitarium and Hospital. Doctor and Mrs. Johnson will be located for several months at the Empress Zauditu Memorial Hospital, P. O. Box 316, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. They will then join the medical staff at the Gimbie Hospital, Gimbie, Wollaga Province, Ethiopia, P. O. Box 145, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

We wish the Johnsons much success as they assume their responsibilities in the mission field.

C. J. Crowson, DDS, of Plaquemine, Louisiana, has recently set up dental practice in Portland, Maine. Doctor Crowson is a recent graduate of the Loma Linda School of Dentistry. Mrs. Crowson is the former Willadell Marchbanks of Oakland, California. The Crowsons have one child, Larry Alvin, age 8.

Our very best wishes to Dr. and Mrs. Crowson and Larry Alvin.

Arkansas-Louisiana held a conference-wide Welfare and Civil Defense Workshop, September 8-10, at Shreveport. This workshop was directed by Elder M. H. Jensen, Welfare Department of the General Conference and former Home Missionary Secretary of the Texas Conference.

A series of evangelistic meetings was held in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in August, climaxed by a baptism of nineteen.

Baton Rouge Evangelism

Nineteen persons were baptized at the conclusion of evangelistic meetings held in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, during the month of August. The meetings were conducted by Elder Wally Welch, pastor of the Baton Rouge district. Mrs. Freda Ford, Bible instructor, and Don Schneider, ministerial student, assisted with the meetings.

The series was held in an "airatorium" on the lot recently purchased by the Baton Rouge church for a new church sanctuary. The attendance was excellent throughout the effort, and others who made decisions during the meetings are preparing for a future baptism.

Remember the Week of Prayer

One of the points that mark us as a peculiar people is that we steadfastly adhere to the annual prayer week, which has become an institution of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. It has few parallels in Protestantism today.

Annual camp meetings, regularly called days of prayer and fasting and the Week of Prayer, are evidences of the deep spiritual piety that clings to our people and must ever remain so. Feet-washing is another keystone of our faith, revealing the earnestness with which we walk in Bible teaching. Tithing is yet another expression of our complete dedication of strength and means to heaven's service.

November 16 to 23 is the designated period for the forthcoming Week of Prayer in all our churches. Any church, which has sufficient members to be called together for prayer and power, not meeting is not fulfilling its duty and obligation. Let us beware of Laodicean slackness and cooling off. It is deadly.

Wherever possible, we urge nightly meetings in the churches. Pastors, we trust you will assume your full responsibility in this. And local elders, we lean hard on you for this great spiritual assignment. A praying church is a storehouse of power.

Follow the prepared readings for the Week of Prayer faithfully. Then divide the time remaining with alternating prayer and time for witnessing. This will bring great refreshing to all present.

W. A. DESSAIN, President, Oklahoma Conference.

News Notes

◆ Brother Earl Clough, principal of the nine-grade school at Eagletown, and also local elder there, reports that, with a certain sum the conference has remitted to them, every home in McCurtain County will be sent the current tract dealing with the Sabbath, "This May Startle You."

◆ Elder F. F. Schwindt of Lodi, California, plans to spend several months again this winter assisting some of our workers with three-week efforts here in Oklahoma. This will be the second time around for Elder Schwindt.

◆ The Oklahoma City Central Church is undergoing renovation on the inside at present. New carpeting, pews, and pulpit furniture are in evidence. Also, renewed hallways are in process.

◆ Word comes to us that the new meeting house at Pryor, on the west end of town, will soon be enclosed, including roof and windows. This is an unentered city project, made possible by the giving of our dear people at the time of our camp meeting appeal. A group is meeting regularly each Sabbath in a home.

◆ Elder Lee Hadley and Brother Roy Warren, a new intern, are opening up a series of revival meetings in the Tulsa church beginning October 25 and running through November 2.

Gordon and Phyllis Henderson, Singing Evangelists

The Hendersons have a new record which includes your favorites, I am sure. Some of the titles are, "Resting in the Shelter of His Love," "Deep Down in my Heart," "Lead Me Gently Home," "My Jesus I Love These," "Pause at His Feet for a Moment of Prayer."

Mrs. Henderson plays the organ accompaniment on this record, as well as joining in the vocal duets with her husband. The Adelphian Academy Choir accompanies Gordon Henderson in three selections of this album.

Bring back memories with this lovely album in your home for just $3.95, and make melody in your heart. Oklahoma Book and Bible House, P. O. Box 528, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73101. R. R. ROUSE.

New District Formed In Oklahoma

Action by the Oklahoma Conference Committee recently formed a new district in the suburban area around fast-growing Oklahoma City. The new district is called the "Suburban District," and is comprised of four churches — Choctaw, Norman, Chickasha, and El Reno. The membership of the district stands at 160, with Choctaw being the largest group.

The new district meets a very critical need. It will allow the pastor and his assistant to be free to shepherd the large 640-member Oklahoma City church and enable a full-time man to serve the other four smaller churches.

The new district is taking a firm hold on its new responsibilities. The Norman church recently sponsored a colporteur group canvass. For one solid week the bookmen of Oklahoma knocked on Norman doors. Over $2,000 worth of literature was left, 90 people were enrolled in the Voice of Prophecy Bible Correspondence Course, and 25 people indicated their desire to have Bible studies. The Norman church is busy following up these interests.

Many in the district are already busy with Ingathering, as they want the new district to prove itself.

The new district plans to purchase a mimeograph machine to print a bi-monthly newsletter, bulletins, and a district directory.

Finally, on October 12, a district rally was held at the Oklahoma campground. This is to be an annual affair to celebrate the forming of the district. Elder W. B. Robinson, conference treasurer, taught the adult Sabbath school lesson. The worship service message was preached by the conference president, Elder W. A. Dessain. After a delicious potluck lunch, a Temperance meeting was presented by Elder F. A. Soper, General Conference Temperance Department, and Elder D. L. Aalborg, Oklahoma Conference Temperance leader.

May we sincerely ask the prayers of the rest of God's people in the Southwestern Union that the new "Suburban District" will soon finish the work in its area.

GARY D. GRIMES, *Pastor,
Suburban District,
Oklahoma Conference.*

The Oklahoma Conference profited much by the Health, Welfare, and Civil Defense workshop held the first week of September in Oklahoma City. Among those contributing their valuable knowledge along these lines were Elder M. H. Jensen, Dr. Charles Henner, and Elder A. R. Mazat.

Health, Welfare, and Civil Defense Workshop

On September 4 and 5 a Health, Welfare, and Civil Defense Workshop was conducted and sponsored by the Home Missionary Department of the Oklahoma Conference. For some time there had been a growing feeling that such a workshop was needful. We had some of the finest help possible to have. Elder M. H. Jensen, of the General Conference, Director of the East Coast International Welfare Center, made a most valuable contribution. Dr. Charles Henner from Santa Anna, Texas, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Wolfe from Choctaw, Oklahoma, conducted six Civil defense classes, each of forty-five minute duration. We feel greatly indebted to Dr. Henner for leaving his practice and responsibility at the hospital and flying to Oklahoma City to assist us in this workshop. We greatly appreciated his services. Elder A. R. Mazat, Home Missionary and Sabbath School Secretary of the Union, gave invaluable help, and those present will not soon forget the tremendous talk he gave on "Inter-faith Ministration during a Natural or Man-made Disaster."

Others who assisted in the leadership workshop were George Schram, Home Missionary Secretary of the Texico Conference, Bill Elder, Home Missionary Secretary of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference, Mrs. Paap, a Federation president of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference, and W. B. Robinson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Oklahoma Conference, in addition to the many fine pastors of the conference who were able to come.

The highlight of the meeting came on the second day when a very interesting panel, composed of local and state officials (see picture at top of page), discussed for one and a half hours the subject: "In Case of Natural Disaster, What Services Are Available to the Public?"

We wish to thank our people for their loyal support of this meeting. Some came many miles to attend, but we know they felt repaid by the inspiration they received. Certainly this meeting proved that when we follow the example and the instruction of the Spirit of Prophecy there will be a warm response even on the part of high officials.

W. G. LARSON.

Vernon Welcomes New Pastor

On Sabbath, October 5, the Vernon church was surprised and delighted to have their new pastor, Elder H. B.

Petry, arrive to serve the Wichita Falls district. Elder Petry is accompanied by his wife, Helen, their two children, Virginia and Jo Ann, and Sister Petry's mother who resides with them. They come to us from Lake Charles, Louisiana.

We welcome the Petrys with open arms. Their musical talent is much appreciated.

The Lord has blessed our newly-organized church with twenty-two matching pews, communion table and pulpit, valued at $1,500.

The people of Vernon are of good courage. Ingathering plans have been laid, under Elder Petry's guidance.

Corsicana, Texas, vacation Bible school students and teachers are pictured above. Twenty-six children attended, and twenty-four of these were non-Adventists. Mrs. Clara Mae Tucker was the leader.

Teachers and students of the Baytown, Texas, Vacation Bible School conducted this summer. Mrs. Robert C. Rose served as director. Texas had forty-four vacation Bible schools this past summer with a total enrollment of 2,139. Of this number 834 were Adventists and 1260 were not from Adventist families. Five hundred and twenty-three persons assisted in this evangelistic work. Seventeen hundred and ninety-two certificates were issued! —R. A. Bata, S.S. and H.M. Secretary.

An urgent request has come to me from a doctor in another conference. His wife recently passed away and left him with eight children, six at home. He is desperately in need of a lady to live in his home and care for his children. He is eager to have someone with education and culture to care for his children and home. Husband and wife would be welcome, but no work could be provided for the man.

If you know of a suitable person who would be available, please notify me at the Texas Conference Office, 2838 Hemphill, Fort Worth. B. E. Leach, President.

El Paso Area Rally November 16

A Publishing Council will convene at El Paso, Texas, November 11 to 16. The El Paso church leaders feel that this would be a good time to call in members of the other churches in the area for a big two-district meeting, on Sabbath, November 16. So we are inviting the churches in the Las Cruces-Alamogordo district, as well as the Spanish and colored churches of this area to come and enjoy a high day together. There will also be at least 75 workers from the various conference offices in the Southwestern Union, with their families, as well as representatives from the General Conference Publishing Department and the Southern Publishing Association.

We have arranged for the use of the First Christian Church in El Paso for the day, as well as for Saturday night. Then we will have a film of real interest and also a book display and sale that should be of interest to all present. It will be a big day, and we invite all who can to come and worship with us. Plan to stay for the entire day and evening. The address of the church is 901 Arizona Street, El Paso.

Two Treats for "Review" Readers

R. G. CAMPBELL, Manager, Periodical Department,
Review and Herald

The editors of the Review and Herald have just informed me that one of the most significant series of articles ever to appear in the Review will begin in the November 14 issue. The series, prepared by Elder L. E. Froom, author of the four-volume set of books, The Prophetic Faith of Our Fathers, provides a preview of the material that will soon appear in The Conditionalist Faith of Our Fathers, two new volumes in the Faith of Our Fathers series.

In the eight articles Elder Froom presents in terse, popular form, the gist of evidence searched out in the libraries of the Old World and the New, showing that the Adventist position on the nature of man has been held by leading scholars throughout the centuries. The word "conditionalist" used in this series signifies a person who believes in the doctrine of conditional immortality, in contrast to the popular teaching that man has an immortal soul.

With Satan's final attack against truth to be made by marshalling the churches in league with Spiritism, this series of articles is especially timely and significant. It will fortify every reader to resist the deceptions that are destined to sweep the world.

Review readers have another treat in store, also. Dr. Bert B. Beach is now in Rome covering the second session of Vatican Council II for the Review. His splendid reports on the first session last year were outstanding, and we believe that his articles this year will be of the same authoritative, penetrating quality.
