When urgent appeals are put out for clothing for our Eastern or Western International Welfare Centers, the question invariably comes up, "How are we to secure such large quantities of clothing?"

There are many ways of putting on a clothing drive, some right, some wrong. While Samson, of old, put on a very successful clothing drive, we would not recommend his method, however urgent the need. You say, "But still he is listed among the faithful in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews." This is true. And if he turned in his report the next Sabbath, he was, no doubt, regarded by the church as a very faithful welfare worker. According to Judges, chapter 14, he gave away thirty garments and thirty pieces of bedding. Not a bad weekly report. In fact, according to present standards, it was a very good report.

Such an excellent report coming from one of the younger men of the church, certainly merited a few words of commendation from the Missionary Leader. And so far as we know, this was good clothing. Yet, we question if it was the method used in his clothing drive that put his name among the faithful in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews. It was more likely that it was because he had repented and asked God to forgive him for the things he had done wrong. And, sometimes I think it would not be amiss if some of God's people today should ask God to forgive them, perhaps not for their method of gathering clothes, but their cold, loveless, arbitrary method of giving out clothes, and for the kind of clothes they offer the poor.

Now, we trust that none will conclude that clothing drives should not be put on, simply because Samson of the Bible did not use what we may consider the best method. I would like to add, right here, even though a method may be successful, as was that of Samson, there may be other reasons it is not the best and therefore cannot be recommended.

While there are right methods and plans for putting on clothing drives, there are some prerequisites that are of far more importance to success than any material method I might mention. First of all is a live, active, spirit-filled, producing church, overflowing with the love of the Lord Jesus Christ. If this were characteristic of all our churches around the world, we certainly would not have to resort to Samson's methods to meet our clothing needs. But in suggesting right methods, I would list, as number one, visitation. Call on our neighbors and business men; report to them what the church is doing. If you really have something worthwhile to report, you will get help. If you don't, you should not ask for it. Second, cooperate with other worthy organizations and they will cooperate with you. Third, if your conference has a pick-up van, give wide publicity to its coming to town. Tell of the need and ask for help. People are not going to give unless they know there is a need. And they are not going to give to Seventh-day Adventists unless they know that Seventh-day Adventists exist. Let the people know that there is an active Seventh-day Adventist church in their town. Go to the Mayor, Chief of Police, and the Fire Chief, and offer your help and you will get help.

These are but a few of the right methods that may be used. If these are faithfully carried out, you will not have to resort to Samson's questionable methods to supply clothing needs.

Elder M. H. Jensen has had long experience in home missionary work and welfare service. He is presently director of the New York Welfare Depot of the General Conference. His style of writing is interesting and stimulating.

Be A Soul Winner

W. HOMER TEESDALE, President,
Home Study Institute

Many willing workers at home and abroad have longed for greater power in presenting Bible truth. They realize that something more than factual knowledge is necessary. Convincing argument must have with it sincere persuasion if souls are to accept the doctrines. But sincerity without knowledge and skill is not sufficient.

Evangelism in public halls or in the churches frequently presses into service many willing workers with limited preparation for or experience in soul winning. A series of studies is now ready to assist busy church members in their preparation for effective soul winning. With guidance and encouragement of the local pastor, even working all alone, many earnest members can give an evening a week to studies with neighbors or other interested ones, and win many souls.

But there are certain fundamental facts and procedures that the beginner should have lest he mar the patterns of truth in his efforts to make them attractive to the learner. One needs to be not only harmless; he should also be wise. The apostle Paul urged Timothy to study in order to be approved, and rightly divide or teach the Word. There is a time to be silent, but there is also a time to speak.

And the successful veteran is always learning improved methods. That is how he continues to win souls and becomes a veteran in the cause. Even the largest and oldest trees, so long as they live, put forth new growth every year, though it is no more than small twigs at the tips of their great, spreading branches. Growth is evidence of life and vitality. The first or the next soul one saves may be his own.

The set of studies, designed especially for the friendly, earnest person who sees opportunity but lacks a little confidence in his own skills, was prepared by Louise Kleuser, for many years the leader of Bible Instructors, and one of the secretaries in the Ministerial Association of the General Conference. Here are concentrated the methods, experience, and work-patterns of an eminently successful soul winner. They form a veritable treasury for anyone seeking to present Bible truth successfully.

These studies have been in use long enough to prove and demonstrate their effectiveness. They are packed with essential facts and successful methods of presentation. Each study supplies the learner with pointed illustrations in question and answer form. The mastery of each step prepares for a Bible lesson on a special subject and illustrates how others can be given. Skillful handling of subject matter is developed. Guidance by experienced workers and simple measurement of progress are provided.

This course is not intended as advanced training in theory or doctrine but does show how to supply the best methods for teaching truth in order to win souls. It takes accumulated knowledge, organizes it in simple, quickly-acceptable form, and breathes into it the friendship and earnest-heartedness of the soul winner.

For further information concerning this inexpensive course, write to the Ministerial Association of the General Conference, or to the Home Study Institute, both of Takoma Park, Washington 12, D. C.

New Editor for Braille Publications

Elder B. Y. Baughman

Elder B. Y. Baughman is the new editor of five Braille magazines, one large print magazine and one tape magazine at the Christian Record Braille Foundation, the denomination's headquarters for its missionary program in behalf of visually impaired people.

Having served as a literature evangelist during depression years in the Midwest, then as publishing or home missionary secretary in the Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, and Kansas Conferences, and lay evangelism secretary and Bible School director of the Kansas Conference, he returned to Colorado and pastored ten churches over a period of years. Most recently he was church development secretary and director of wills and trusts department of the Colorado Conference.

Always with a deep love for God's Word and the writings of the Spirit of Prophecy, Elder Baughman developed a pleasant and unique manner of expression. Sighted people have appreciated his devotion to the cause. Now blind children and adults will feel the warmth of sincere friendliness and personal interest as Brother Baughman feeds their souls through these many magazines which serve all age levels of people in seventy-seven countries. We are delighted to have him join the ever-expanding staff of the Christian Record Braille Foundation. He and Mrs. Baughman moved to Lincoln about February 1. Their eldest son, Norman, is a physician in San Bernardino, California. A daughter, Betty, is a housewife in Denver, Colorado, and the youngest son, Benny, serves in the Army Engineer Corps.

The writer has been editor of all of the magazines at the Christian Record for the last four years but will now edit only the Talking Magazine, which is on long-playing records.

C. G. CROSS, General Manager, Christian Record Braille Foundation, Lincoln, Nebraska.

European Tour Planned For French Students

A 55-day tour of Europe for students of the French language will be conducted this summer.

The tour will be directed by J. L. Sprout, French teacher at Greater Baltimore Academy. It includes a full month of intensive study of French at Collognes and four weeks of travel through France, Italy, Switzerland, and Austria. Travel time will give students opportunity to speak the languages with residents in the area.

The tour will begin at New York City on June 16 and return to the same city on August 12. After a short visit to Paris the tour group will go directly to Collognes for language study. Classes will be taught three hours every day by teachers at the French school. Weekends will be spent in French and Swiss cities and villages along with numerous afternoon excursions.

On the return trip the tour will also touch Luxembourg, Germany, Holland, and Belgium. The trip will be chaperoned by responsible adults from Adventist schools.

Places to be visited include the Tower of Pisa, St. Peters in Rome, Swiss Alps, Roman ruins of southern France, museums, art exhibits, and other tourist attractions of Europe.

The tour sponsor, Mr. Sprout, reports that a very low rate has been established for a select group of high school and academy students who have an intense desire to learn a new language during the summer months as well as enjoy a European tour.

For further information concerning the tour and an application blank, write to J. L. Sprout, Greater Baltimore Academy, 5110 Frederick Avenue, Baltimore, Md. Credit for the language course will be given by the French college. Students of any of the academies of this union, as well as high school students, are eligible for the trip. Deadline for applications is March 1.

The number before us in this article is 678, and 678 represents the number of penal institutions in the United States. This includes state penitentiaries, federal penitentiaries, federal prison camps, federal penal institutions, state prisons, and reformatories. But 678 is only a small part of the total with which we are involved. These 678 institutions hold over 360,000 human beings — a tremendous mission field.

Our great missionary periodicals stand ready to go into these institutions and serve and minister and evangelize in your behalf.

Last year, in response to our appeals, fewer subscriptions were turned in than would account for one subscription to each institution — just a little more than one journal for each 1,000 of those involved in these institutions. This means that scores of these institutions received no copies of Message Magazine or These Times.

Is it nothing to you that there are hundreds and thousands in need of the help that you could give? We maintain a World Literature Fund for this purpose, a fund that is largely used among the penal institutions of the United States.

How pleasing it would be to the Lord if you would send a substantial offering now to Southern Publishing Association World Literature Fund, Box 59, Nashville, Tennessee 37202.

Periodical Department,
Southern Publishing Association.

Somebody Is Watching Us!

Yes, somebody is watching us. No, not with a candid camera. I unexpectedly found out who is eyeing us when the leader of one of the largest and most influential national organizations of Jews in America introduced me to his two associate leaders on the occasion of the opening of their association's main center in Washington, D. C., a few months ago. He said to them: "This man and his people keep the Sabbath more faithfully than I do."

Recently I was invited to spend an hour telling the youth of one of the largest Jewish congregations in the same city about Seventh-day Adventists and their teachings, and a half hour answering questions from the floor. They expressed delight on learning that they and we have so much in common in the Bible and that we are championing the cause of Sabbathkeepers in the religious liberty issues, particularly the Sunday-law controversy. And after telling me repeatedly how glad he was that I had come, the presiding functionary said: "We Jews and Seventh-day Adventists must get closer together." He is a teacher and a graduate of a well-known Jewish university in New York City.

Yes, we and the Jews "must get closer together." We have this assurance: "When this gospel shall be presented in its fullness to the Jews, many will accept Christ as the Messiah. . . . Among the Jews are some who, like Saul of Tarsus, are mighty in the Scriptures, and these will proclaim with wonderful power the immutability of the law of God. The God of Israel will bring this to pass in our day. His arm is not shortened that it cannot save. As His servants labor in faith for those who have long been neglected and despised, His Salvation will be revealed." Acts of the Apostles, pp. 380, 381.

The distribution of some of our Jewish tracts in the United States during the past year has brought enrollments in the Jewish Bible Correspondence Course in English from as far away as Ghana in Africa and India in Asia. Inmates of prisons in five different states have enrolled in the course during the past few months. From two of those prisons, which are far apart, we received almost the same plea: "Please send us as many lessons as possible at one time. We have plenty of time to study them. And what a blessing they have been. Words cannot express it. Please send us at least six or seven lessons at a time."

Well, why don't you enroll, too, and study the Bible as a Jew does in taking that Bible Correspondence Course? The Book of books will be more interesting than ever to you. This course — free to you merely for the asking — is announced in every issue of our magazine Israelite.

Israelite, published quarterly in English, presents to Jews a wide variety of special features and major articles on current happenings, health, and Bible subjects. Its thirty-six pages are attractively illustrated. The subscription price of this magazine has not changed during the past ten years — it still costs only $1.00 a year. Subscribe for yourself, and also for a Jewish friend or neighbor. You can thus share your blessings by simply sending the order for Israelite to your book and Bible house with one dollar for each name and address, or merely by asking your church missionary secretary to handle the order for you.

When the needs of our Jewish work are brought to your attention on Sabbath, March 21, yours will be a double-barreled opportunity. Besides ordering the magazine Israelite for yourself or your Jewish friends, you can contribute liberally to help the Seventh-day Adventist Church to provide much-needed new literature for the more than 5,000,000 Jews in the United States and Canada. Put your gift into the regular tithe-and-offering envelope, mark it for "Israelite Fund," and your church treasurer will send it through the regular channels to its proper destination. And pray as you remember that somebody is watching us. ROBERT L. ODOM,
Editor, "Israelite."

The Sabbath School is a Training School

I wish to invite your attention to this article as one splendid opportunity for training in the Lord's work. It is one very nearby, and yet, like grandma hunting her spectacles resting on her forehead, it is so near as to be overlooked in a search for the same things somewhere else. I refer to the Sabbath school. Doubtless, you are a member of it. Have you ever fully realized the possibilities of the Sabbath school as a training school? We are told by the Spirit of Prophecy that "young men and women are to come forth from our Sabbath schools and colleges to become missionaries for God. They need the very best of instruction and religious training." Testimonies on Sabbath School Work, p. 33. This statement places our Sabbath schools alongside our colleges in preparing missionaries.

Let us look at this statement a little more closely. First of all, it trains Bible students, beginning with the youngest and continuing on up to those of mature years. This is the most valuable kind of training, for it lays the foundation and then builds upon it, instead of building upon a foundation of another's building. Have you ever wished for a thorough course of Bible in one of our colleges? It is at your disposal in the Sabbath school in your own church or home, at little or no expense. It has been carefully estimated that if one studies carefully all the lessons covered in the Sabbath school for three years, together with the helps furnished in the Sabbath School Worker, he will in that time have covered more ground in the Bible, and in much more exhaustive manner, than a full college course of Bible can give.

The Sabbath school is the largest training school in the denomination. It trains for leadership in many lines of endeavor for both home service and abroad. Men and women of vision, initiative, and energy are in great demand everywhere in our work. Our great need at present is not a financial one, but one of properly-trained men and women for active missionary service, and the Sabbath school is able to furnish the training needed.

Elder and Mrs. I. M. Evans have moved to North Carolina, after having served faithfully in the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference for ten years.

Farewell to Arkansas-Louisiana

I. M. EVANS, Former President,
Arkansas-Louisiana Conference

Farewell to our many friends and fellow workers. The fellowship throughout the entire Southwestern Union with our dear people has endeared you one and all to both Mrs. Evans and me.

My wish is that you extend to Elder and Mrs. O. D. Wright the same kindness and cooperation that you have to both of us.

As Mrs. Evans and I say farewell to you, we also want to thank you for the privilege that has been ours to serve as fellow workers for nearly ten years in the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference.

With love to all,
ELDER AND MRS. I. M. EVANS.

*There's a place where the trail of men divides,
Through the mist of earth born days;
Where the infinite mind of God decides,*

*And directs who goes, who stays.
Somewhere we meet, in this earthly span
For a purpose that Heaven knows;
And then again in Heaven's plan
One stays and another goes.
We meet each other and learn to love
In the way that the Master told.
Together we strive to live above
The way that is lone and cold.
Sword to sword and shield to shield
We meet with a haughty foe:
Till the trumpet calls to another field,
And some of us have to go.
We never may guess when we part below
How soon till the journey ends;
But it helps a lot for us each to know
When we part that we part as friends.
And though the path of duty lies
Through many a changeable fate,
We'll hope to meet 'neath fairer skies
At heaven's beautiful gate!*

—Selected.

The Sabbath school is a trainer of teachers. Teaching is a natural gift with some, but with others it must often be acquired. Teaching is one of the gifts of the Spirit to the church. A wonderful field for the training of teachers is afforded in the Sabbath school. There are classes for teachers and classes to teach. There are six divisions — Cradle Roll, Kindergarten, Primary, Junior, Youth, and Senior. What a wonderful range of talent is required properly to reach all these classes! There is an unlimited field here for the healthy exercise and development of those whose gifts might lie in that direction.

The Sabbath school trains missionaries. Many of the great missionary characters of other denominations received their first impressions and convictions, which later led them to mission fields, from the influence and training of the Sunday schools. It was the reading of a letter from a missionary in the Sunday school which led James Chalmers, as a lad of fifteen, to dedicate his life to missions in New Guinea. It was the sight of a comparative chart, showing the dearth of physicians in the foreign field, that led Dr. Forsythe as a medical missionary to Korea.

We hope that all of our Sabbath school leaders and teachers of boys and girls and adults here in Oklahoma will endeavor to make 1964 the most effective year in their teaching experience. We want each of our Sabbath schools to plan for a Teachers' Training Course this year. The new book Teach is now available. It is a guide to effective Sabbath school teaching and is written by Elder Stanley Will of the Southern Union Conference, who calls his home Perry, Oklahoma. Why not order Teach today, along with the corresponding syllabus and visual aids? Teach sells for $3.75, and the Syllabus costs $3.00. The rewards will be great if you make 1964 "a better teaching year" in your Sabbath school. REMEMBER, the Sabbath school is a trainer of teachers.

standing performance throughout Japan. Director Frank de Araujo has striven for and attained voice quality which has been excellently transmitted, through a superb technical process, onto records and tapes. Praise Be to Thee (LP 5075/ST 075) is a Chapel Records release which can bring pleasure and pride to its owner.

Professor So from the Ministry of Music Education in Tokyo wrote a review expressing the acceptance of this choir's work in Japan: "Tonight as I listened to the Choral Arts Society singing their hymns of praise, I felt that I was standing on holy ground. Atheists, Buddhists, and all manner of men went away praising your God. In the years that the Choral Arts Society has been in existence, it has done more for the cause of Christianity in Japan than all the preaching being done by all denominations in our country today. This group is too fine to belong to any one denomination; in a broader sense, it should be a part of the musical scene for all Japan."

Fourteen songs (8 in English, 4 in Japanese, and 2 in both English and Japanese) recorded by the Choral Arts Society on this release will prove to be a worthy possession in your library of records and in those with whom you want to share your faith. Write for your copy, just $4.50 Monaural Hi Fi, $5.50 Stereo, to the Oklahoma Book and Bible House, P. O. Box 528, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73101.

"In the Teacher sent from God, all true educational work finds its center. . . . In the presence of such a Teacher, of such opportunity for divine education, what worse than folly is it to seek an education apart from Him — to seek to be wise apart from Wisdom; to be true while rejecting Truth; to seek illumination apart from the Light, and existence without the Life; to turn from the Fountain of living waters, and hew out broken cisterns, that can hold no water?" Education, p. 83.

Such tremendous counsel brings parental responsibility into immediate focus. Parents, what are you doing with your juniors whom God has placed in your sheltering care? Are they in the schools of the prophets where God's Word is exalted, and where they receive that instruction not apart from Christ? Or, are you having them drink from the broken cisterns of the world, and all in vain? And what about those lambs under your care? Have you exhausted every possibility to get them into church school where they will sit at the feet of Christian instructors? Have you left no stone unturned in your attempts in that direction, leaving the rest to the Lord?

Stretch every nerve, bend every effort to be among those who lead their flock to drink at the fount of living waters. Heaven is too precious to trifle with it, and the eternal destiny of your growing ones. They are heaven's heritage. Nurture them well. (Oklahoma news continued on p. 10)

EVERYONE WELCOME!

Texas

Goodbye, Texas Friends!

Seems only yesterday that we moved to Texas; but, in fact, it has been almost five years. My, how the days have flown by, and what thrilling, happy days they have been!

It was such a joy to serve in my old hometown, Fort Worth, as pastor of the First Church where we have so many dear friends. Then the call came to serve as Sabbath School Secretary and Religious Liberty Secretary for the conference; and those were indeed days of supreme happiness.

Then, perhaps the most joyful days of my ministry began when I was appointed Operation Lone Star Coordinator and Secretary of Evangelism for Texas. It has been more than heart-warming to have a very small part in helping carry forward the great OPERATION LONE STAR program to quickly finish God's work in Texas. And how good it has been to meet and learn to love so many of you wonderful Texas people from every corner of the conference.

I have also appreciated so very much the outstanding leadership of Elder Ben Leach. He has been a great help, inspiration and blessing to me. Texas is fortunate to have such leadership. And how we will miss the Texas ministers and their families.

When you love your work and the people with whom you work, it is hard to say "goodbye" and walk off. Our roots were deep in Texas — very deep — but the Lord has called, and I am now Coordinator of Evangelism for the Chesapeake Conference. Our address is 217 Boswell Rd., Baltimore, Maryland 21229.

Chesapeake is launching a great soul-winning program to evangelize the conference. Potentialities are staggering. The laymen and ministers here are friendly and gracious, just like Texas. I feel right at home. They have received us with open arms. Elder Cyril Miller is the conference president and is doing an outstanding job. He is much loved and respected by all.

Texas will always remain in our hearts. (In fact, we dearly love the people of the whole Southwest, and will miss our many friends from Texico and Arkansas-Louisiana, also.) We will be praying for your OPERATION LONE STAR program, and anxiously watching for developments. Your greatest days are just ahead. Please do pray for us. It will mean so much to us.

My wife, Doris, and Bob, Nancy and Mike join me in saying "Goodbye and may God bless you everyone." Please write to us, and do stop by to see us on your way to the World's Fair this summer. BILL MAY.

You May — But Others May Not

Frequently letters are received by different publishing secretaries from those who desire to handle our literature. Note the following such request that recently came to the Texas Conference office:

"I would like to know if you have an agent here in our city that sells The Bible Story for children. If you do not have someone here, I may be interested in taking the agency for them.

You May — Others May Not

"Two of our sons who live in another state have the books for their children and are well pleased with them."

Dear Reader, this request cannot be filled. The one who wrote this letter is not a person connected with our wonderful cause. We hope some day that she will be, but for now she cannot sell our literature.

This does not mean that Texas has no room for more literature evangelists. There is a great need for more workers. Sister White states that there should be at least one literature evangelist for every church. If this were true in our conference, we would have close to 100 literature evangelists in Texas. We have only about 25. There is a great need.

Judy Steps Out

by R. E. FINNEY, JR.

From British Columbia comes this true love story, the story of Judy, a Roman Catholic nurse, and Cam, a young Protestant doctor intern, which culminates in the conquest of both by the matchless love of Christ. Actual photographs of Judy and Cam appear in the book. Send 50c plus 15c postage or $1.00 for two copies postpaid to Texas Book and Bible House, 706 West Lowden Street, Fort Worth, Texas 76110.

EUGENE F. ZUMBAUM, Manager.

YOU have the opportunity. YOU may take up the work of literature evangelism. YOU have the privilege of doing a work that this above-mentioned lady does not have. Think it over, Dear Reader; the colporteur work needs YOU in Texas. It could be that the Lord is calling YOU.

For more information about literature evangelism feel more than free to contact your publishing department at the conference office or the field man in your area.

Jefferson Academy Library

The Jefferson Academy Library has taken on a new face since school started this year. A person who had seen the old library room would not recognize the new one now. The entire room has been paneled and finished in a neutral finish. The window casings have been painted to match, and shelves have been built on all available wall space, making it possible for all 2300 volumes to be placed in order on the shelves.

This finishing work was made possible by several carpenters from the Jefferson church. Through a generous donation of library equipment from Southwestern Union College, the Ella E. Hughes Elementary School and the Texas Book and Bible House, we are able to have a beautiful receiving desk, a magazine rack, a card catalog file, five oak tables and 20 chairs. Mr. Skip Devlin of Jefferson community is refinishing this furniture, making it match in beautifully to our room decor.

Through Mrs. Mary Easley, the Home and School leader, the library now has sage green lined drapes which match the floor. Many magazine subscriptions, plants and nicknacks have been given to the library by interested friends and teachers. All this has done wonders to give the library the reputation of being the most widely visited room on the campus.

It would be hard to conclude this article without mentioning something about all the hours that are being worked daily by Mrs. Adams and her faithful library helpers to make the books more accessible to the students who need to use them day by day. Each book is being processed completely according to correct library procedure. When each book is completed and placed on the shelf, several hours have been consumed. About two-thirds of the books have been catalogued and subject, title, and author cards prepared since school opened. Mrs. Adams and her helpers, Karen Tenbrook, Margaret Sanders, Diana Baker, and Donna Elder are still working many hours a day in finishing this job.

ALL CHURCHES IN SURROUNDING AREAS URGED TO ATTEND!

COME TO LEARN —
DEPART TO SERVE

The six and one-half acres of wooded hillside pictured above is the property recently purchased by the Denton church. It is an ideal location for their new church home, only two and one-half miles from the Denton square. The property faces four-lane Highway 288, and is only one block south of the expressway to Dallas. Elder Herbert Christensen, district pastor, reports the building site is clear of debt. The area is one which promises to increase in value as it develops. We look forward to seeing a lovely new church there in the not-too-distant future.

Texico

It Happened In New Mexico

Socorro, New Mexico, 394 Terry Avenue, is the new home of pastor F. E. Wilson. His district assignment is to shepherd the Socorro and Reserve churches.

Already things are happening there, Silver Vanguard Victory is now an accomplishment to both churches. Brother Wilson writes: "Forty of the most promising Ingathering donors will receive throughout 1964 a copy of These Times, personally delivered, to remind them of our appreciation, and to acquaint them with the world extent of the work God is sponsoring in 1964. One visited Voice of Prophecy enrollee attended church recently."

The welcome mat was officially laid when the local newspaper reporter called on the Wilson residence for a picture and article of the Seventh-day Adventist minister.

Let us join our prayers for this area as they reach out for nine souls in 1964 — their soul goal for Operation 3000.

H. W. PRITCHARD,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Portales Investment

Leon Garner, Investment Secretary of the Portales Seventh-day Adventist Church, reports enthusiastic support and outstanding results for the 1963 program. The goal set for the church was $750.00, or approximately $9.00 per member. This would be four dollars more than the $5.00 per capita goal set by the General Conference. On December 21 we rejoiced to learn that the goal had been far exceeded.

Much of the investment offering was brought in by members who had dedicated portions of their crops to the Lord's service.

Five dollars per bale on their cotton crop was pledged by the Jack Fraziers who reported, "The crop we took the Lord in on did a whole lot better than we expected. We wished that we had pledged on our other crops as well."

The Clyde Gunnets invested for the first time this year promising 2c on each bushel of wheat and 2c on each 100 pounds of maize. They made their pledge before planting, and although their crop was washed out once and had to be replanted, they were greatly blessed, and the resultant harvest netted nearly $200.00 for investment. Other farmers in their area were washed out twice and had to plant a third time.

Leon Garner put his combine to work, pledging so much per acre for work he did for other farmers. The work poured in from many unexpected sources during the wheat harvest, and he, too, had a good offering for Investment.

One cent per pound sounds like a small amount, but when pledged to the Lord on all the peanuts harvested with his peanut thresher, it added up to a $140.00 Investment offering for the Sherwin Selbys.

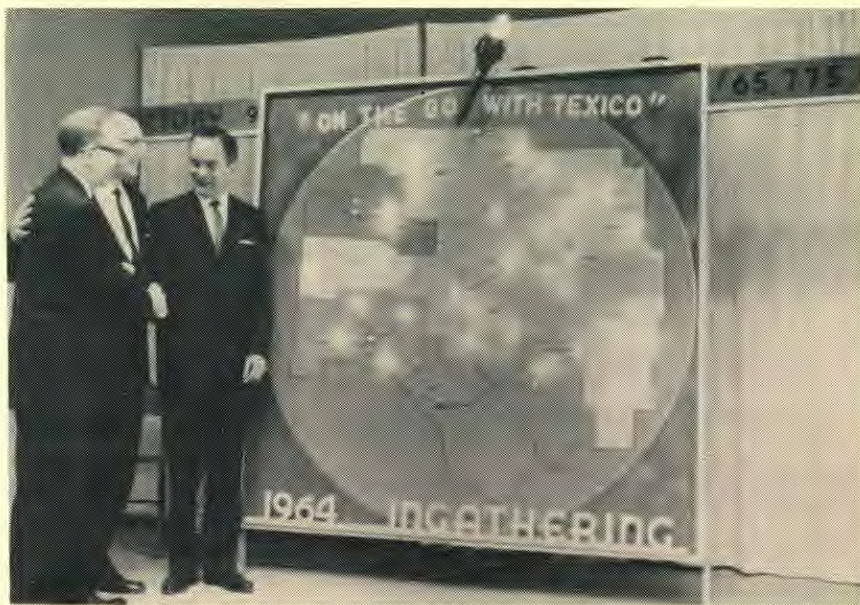

These are just a few examples of how the Lord blessed the land in the Portales area for the sake of those who serve Him.

Of course, there were other investment projects as well. Mrs. J. M. Garner gave all the profits of her cake decorating hobby. Children saved pennies and health food labels. The Kindergarten-Cradle Roll Division raised nearly $20.00 for Investment.

The grand total: $1108.60 for INVESTMENT in Portales, New Mexico. WHAT IS YOUR INVESTMENT PROJECT FOR 1964?

Texico Ingathering Victory

G. M. SCHRAM, Home Missionary Secretary

They've done it again! Those plucky, loyal laymen and ministers on the Texico team have sought and obtained victory in the Ingathering. This is "Victory 9" — nine consecutive years that Texico has reached the Vanguard goal in the Ingathering Crusade. The Texico team has raised the highest per capita of any conference west of the Mississippi River. We all thank God for this success in His work. In spite of being short several workers, in spite of national and local tragedies, God's work has forged ahead to another victory.

January 27 was "Wiley Puckett Day" (or night) in Texico when at the Victory banquet an interesting skit portraying the life of Brother Puckett was presented under the tutelage of Mrs. Bill Hancock. Brother Puckett has raised over $90,000.00 for the Lord's cause through the Ingathering. All his time and expenses have been completely volunteer on his part. Lately he has acquired an able accomplice in the person of Percy Findley, and they do make a good team. God has, and will continue to bless these men as they do His work.

The accompanying photo shows Brother Schram, Brother Rustad, and Brother Pritchard rejoicing over Texico's ninth victory.

QUESTION No. 10: "How seriously does God regard the holding back our tithe, either not paying at all, or paying part of it and using the remainder for our selves?"

(Look for answer to question No. 10 next week.)

ANSWER TO MEDITATION BOX, Question No. 9: "Let no one, when brought into a strait place, take money consecrated to religious purposes, and use it for his advantage, soothing his conscience by saying that he will repay it at some future time. Far better cut down the expenses to correspond with the income, to restrict the wants, and live within the means, than to use the Lord's money for secular purposes." T. Vol. 9, p. 247.

CHASTAIN, James Harold, was born in Cleburne, Texas, on January 4, 1944. His life, which ended so suddenly and unexpectedly at Columbia Park near Richland, Washington, on November 10, 1963, was not long — only 19 years, 10 months, and 6 days. But it will be remembered by all who knew him as a wholesome, exemplary, and well-balanced life — the kind of life which should characterize a Christian youth who is intelligently and conscientiously preparing to serve his fellowmen and his God.

At the age of eleven, Harold was baptized in Denver, Colorado, and joined the Seventh-day Adventist church. He found deep and genuine satisfaction in spiritual things. Gladly did he participate in the activities of his church, as superintendent of his youth division Sabbath school, as assistant leader of his Missionary Volunteer Society, as a zealous Ingathering worker who achieved four minute-man goals in one recent year, and as a speaker during the Student Week of Prayer at Southwestern Union College last year. This spiritual activity was balanced by a consistent program of personal meditation, reading and prayer. When his family moved from Texas to the State of Washington, Harold transferred to Walla Walla College, where he was enrolled as a sophomore chemistry major.

Harold is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Herman Chastain of Puyallup, Washington; his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dwain H. Chastain of Bellaire, Texas; a three-week-old nephew, Randy Chastain, whom he never saw; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W.
