September 1, 1965

For the past several weeks thousands of children have been listening to Seventh-day Adventist teachers in hundreds of vacation Bible schools. They have memorized Bible verses, listened to Bible stories, and heard Bible truths presented. Most of these to Mary because she learned in vacation Bible school that Mary was dead. Topics not in lessons, truths fully separated from class instruction, still find their way into the hearts and lives of VBS boys and girls.

Many doors are now open as they

ing neighborhood Bible clubs for the boys and girls? Could we not develop a parents' Bible forum, or a round table Bible class, or a similar endeavor for the parents as well as for the boys and girls? At the close of the vacation Bible school homes could be visited and parents thanked for cooperating in sending their children to the vacation Bible school. An expression of appreciation for such fine children could also be given, and this would present an opportunity to explain that the VBS would now become a Bible story hour to be held every Sunday morning, or perhaps some other suitable day of the week. Thus the enthusiasm and interest toward God's Word could be continued and channeled into a fruitful field of endeavor.

When after considerable planning and much hard work our efforts cease with the close of vacation Bible school we lose the major portion of the benefit that might be ours. Good impressions quickly fade, interest dies down, and many soul-winning opportunities are soon lost.

Let us not be weary in well-doing. Let us supply these children with copies of Our Little Friend, Primary Treasure, Guide, and Youth's Instructor. Many may be enrolled in one of the Bible correspondence courses. Thousands could be enrolled in our regular Sabbath school classes. Encourage the children to attend JMV camps, and do everything possible to continue the contact with these boys and girls. Many of them may be in the kingdom as the result of our continued efforts in their behalf. Some of the parents in our neighborhood may have no other contact with Seventh-day Adventists than that provided through vacation Bible school. What a joy it will be to see our efforts crowned with success and to meet these children and perhaps their parents around the great white throne and to know that we have done our best to fit them for immortality. Be not weary in well doing is important instruction.

children previously knew little or nothing about God's Word. Now on the streets of many cities and villages one may hear the voices of boys and girls singing the gospel songs they learned in vacation Bible school.

Vacation Bible school games, stories, and crafts have filled children's minds, and they will be the subject of conversation in many non-Adventist homes for weeks to come. Influences little dreamed of will affect the thinking and life in many homes as the result of the faithful teaching and example of thousands of VBS workers. One little girl insisted on a prayer of thanks before beginning her dinner in a home where prayer had never been heard. Another little girl explained that she could no longer pray were never opened before. Prejudice vanishes as understanding increases. Questions concerning God's Word and impressions of His truth are fresh in the minds of parents. Many neighbors and friends view Seventh-day Adventists in a more friendly light.

With this tremendous impact on the communities surrounding our churches, what a golden opportunity is afforded us to follow up this good work and continue developing good will by helping our neighbors and non-Adventist friends to better understand Seventh-day Adventists. We may show them that we seek only to help them know God and to love His truth.

Can we not continue the good work of the vacation Bible schools by form-

Voice of Prophecy Lessons Open "A New World"

"In his eyes I was becoming a fanatic — not going to the theatre, not dancing anymore (which I loved), not watching certain TV programs, no liquor and no tobacco! He could not understand how religion could so radically affect one's life." These were the words of Mrs. June Silva concerning her husband's reaction to the new faith she had just accepted.

About six years before, at the age of 17, June, a Protestant, had married a nominal Catholic. Shortly after the birth of their son, in 1958, June was visiting her mother's home. "While I was there, a neighbor friend of my mother's came over, also," related Mrs. Silva. "I knew her slightly, and on one or two occasions had heard my mother mention that Saturday was her Sabbath."

During the course of the conversation, religion was mentioned. Being curious, June questioned the visitor, Mrs. Myrtle Specklemer, about her Sabbath. "In her kind, gracious, Christian manner, she tried to explain to me about the seventh day being God's Sabbath," June recalled. "She then asked if I would like to be enrolled in the Voice of Prophecy Bible Correspondence course. Being the type of person who will not take anyone's word except the Bible, I was challenged to study for myself and search out the answers to what Mrs. Specklemer had said."

When the first lessons arrived, Mrs. Silva read them and discovered things in the Bible that she did not know existed. "It was the way the lessons made everything fall into place — a pattern that helped me to understand the Bible as never before. A new world opened for me!" she explained.

After Mrs. Silva's baptism, in June of 1959, her husband became very intense in his opposition to her new faith. "He became very intolerant with me, to the point of hiding my Bible from me, and destroying all my religious books. I had to keep my VOP lessons locked in a little suitcase," Mrs. Silva remembers. "He threatened my friends when they would call or visit, and he even ripped the zippers off my best clothes so that I could not attend church."

After about a year of such mental and emotional strain, June was given the ultimatum of choosing between her husband and her religion. "In my choice I could see no other way but to follow the dictates of my conscience and follow my Lord whom I loved with all my heart," she related.

Mrs. Silva was invited to work as a secretary in Southern California. Even though parents and family disapproved, Mrs. Silva felt that God had opened a way for her, and she accepted the offer. Taking her son who was not quite three years old, Mrs. Silva came to California in January, 1961. As she put it, "A new life, a new job, in a new year! This was the real beginning for me."

For the past four and one-half years June Silva has been employed as a secretary in the Health Service Department of the Southern California Conference under the direction of Dr. Ruth Temple.

Colon - Griffin Wedding

Miss Camille Marie Colon and Glynn Eugene Griffin were united in marriage on June 27 at the First Seventh-day Adventist Church in New Orleans, Louisiana. The bride was given away by her brother, Jac Colon of New Orleans. She is the daughter of Mrs. Grace D'Ingianni Bourgeois, also of New Orleans. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Griffin of Shreveport, Louisiana.

Pastor Charles J. Griffin, a brother of the groom, of Tyler, Texas, and Elder J. W. Clarke of New Orleans performed this sacred service in the beautifully arranged church. Mrs. Charles Griffin accompanied Mrs. Edward Micklewright and Clayton Wolfe in the wedding songs.

Miss Dorothy Swanson served as maid of honor and Robin Gates attended the groom as best man. Other attendants included Gildo Koehl and Mitchell Tyner, Mrs. Reed Christianson and Luis Oms, Mrs. Thomas West and Norman Elliott. David Slattery was the Bible boy and Eryn Thomas was the flower girl. The ushers were Daniel and Richard Schopp and Virgil Carner. Following the ceremony the reception was at the Rayne Memorial Methodist Church Hall. The bride has just graduated from Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska. The groom is in his junior year in Optometry school in Memphis, Tennessee, where they will make their home until his graduation.

May the Lord richly bless this couple as they establish their Christian home.

Matthews - Blackwell Wedding

In a very sacred and impressive ceremony Miss Carol Matthews became the bride of Mr. Burman Blackwell at 4:00 o'clock, May 30, in the Broadview Seventh-day Adventist church, Broadview, Illinois, with Elder Willis Graves of Hinsdale officiating.

Miss Matthews is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Matthews of DeQueen, Arkansas, formerly of Weiner and is a junior student nurse at Hinsdale Hospital, Hinsdale, Illinois.

Mr. Blackwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Blackwell of Cobden, Ontario, Canada. He received his B. S. degree in Business Administration at Andrews University and is also a Journeyman in Interior Decorating.

A reception was held in the church immediately following the wedding. After a wedding trip in the Smoky Mountains, the couple are making their home at 9800 Joliet Road, La Grange, Illinois.

"Open Heart Surgery"

The surgical team of the Oklahoma City and Choctaw MV Societies collaborated in one of the most daring medical feats of modern times. On May 29 this team, approximately 65 members strong, met at the S.D.A. church in Ada, Oklahoma, and initiated a long and arduous struggle for the survival of a friend.

The Oklahoma City delegates began the operation by presenting the Sabbath school program. Elder E. D. Clifford provided spiritual food as he explained the duties of every S.D.A. as a personal ambassador of Christ.

Physical nourishment was obtained at the park where lunch was shared and enjoyed by all.

Each operating unit was instructed and dispersed into every vein and artery of the town of Ada for a mass transfusion of the precious blood of

An Old Friend Returns

W. A. DESSAIN, President, Oklahoma Conference

To many of our faithful people, the Missions Extension Offering, September 11, is an old and a long-time friend. We love to have it come around each year, because its purpose in general is to expand new work in foreign lands. This challenges most of us to faithfully contribute to this yearly offering.

The slogan attached to this important offering this year is, "We'll hold the torch; you keep the oil flowing."

Among needs in foreign lands that call for high priority and deserve mentioning are —

(1) Facilities for the Metropolitan Adventist Academy in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

(2) Equipment, school buildings, classrooms, dormitories, at the Ikizu Training School in South Africa.

(3) A primary school at Munhiba, India.

(4) A medical dispensary at Tanarive, Madagascar.

(5) Machinery for the publishing house at Bongo, Angola.

Christ in the form of the tract "This May Startle You." A speedy and complete recovery is desired for the Ada church.

Over two-thirds of the delegates were able to participate in a campout at Platt National Park in Sulphur after the tract distribution was completed. One teen-age reaction was, "It was wonderful!"

Is not the provision of Christian fellowship and recreation for our young people a prime purpose of our church?

Exercise came in all shapes and forms. There were hiking, swimming, baseball, and bicycling, tandem style. The prevailing attitude of all ages was, "Let's have more of this type adventure, both missionary and recreational." Plans are underway to aid the Elk City church with a similar trip.

The opportunity to serve the community and our youth at the same time was welcomed by each delegate, and many thanks are in order for the MV leaders who made such a service possible.

MARJORIE MAKER

Give bountifully to the Missions Extension Offering, Sabbath, September 11. The remnant church's zeal for missions can well be the barometer indicating its spiritual depth and experience.

What Is HISTORY

the God of Ages?*

How frustrating it must be to piece together the fragments of history and endeavor to fathom their ultimate meaning without understanding the plans and purposes of the God of all ages! Only in our church schools can students study history in its fullness and see in it the power of an omnipotent God.

Heights Church on August 24, having just returned from a European Reformation Fellowship sponsored by Andrews University. Pastor Rawson is now highlighting his Wednesday evening Bible study with colored slides showing scenes that were visited where great reformers and martyrs ministered and died.

Pastor Rawson states that in all of the thrilling experiences of his European tour, nothing was more heartwarming than the visits with our people where he found no barriers, but only joy because of our blessed truth and the hope of meeting again.

Jefferson Academy

As you already know, the Texas Conference has taken over the operation of the Jefferson Academy. Also you are acquainted with our plan to move forward in Jefferson by building a new girls' dormitory. Plans have already been approved for this new building. In fact, we broke ground over two months ago. After camp meeting and the great blessing of God there, the conference committee met and gave further study to our needs in Jefferson.

Both the boys' and girls' dormitory are totally inadequate for the needs of our fine young men and women.

After much prayer and careful study it was decided to build both the girls' and the boys' dormitories at once. We will save considerably by carrying on a simultaneous construction of the two buildings. Also, we can assure our young men as well as our young women that all who enroll in Jefferson Academy this fall will be in attractive new dormitories soon after the first of the year.

We still plan to continue our pay-as-we-build policy. This policy requires that we have the building completely paid for within one year after construction. We believe this is a safe policy and will actually hasten construction rather than hinder it.

We are counting on every member and every church reaching its full quota in the current drive to raise a million nickles ($50,000.)

It is my hope that many of our churches will have their full quota by then. If not, then at the earliest possible date.

Let us pray for Jefferson Academy and its important mission. For fifty years, young people have been trained there to enter God's work. Scores have. And scores more will as we give our support to that important project. Can we count on you? I know we can.

B. E. LEACH, President

Southwestern Union College

Bible Teacher Change

Recently Elder H. T. Burr responded to the invitation to teach in the Bible department of Southwestern Union College. Both Elder and Mrs. Burr are midwesterners, having been born in Kansas. They attended Union College and later Andrews University.

Elder Burr is filling the vacancy created when Elder M. D. Lewis, long-time Bible teacher at Southwestern

H. T. Burr

Union College, asked to be released from his duties so that he could pursue advanced studies in his special areas of interest.

Elder and Mrs. Burr and their three girls have spent several years in mission service in India. Elder Burr served in a variety of responsible positions while in the mission field, including a teaching appointment at Spicer Missionary College. Since returning from the mission field, Elder Burr has been in pastoral work in Reading, Pennsylvania.

The Burr's older daughter, Janice, is now married and living in Washington, D. C. Their two younger daughters, Brenda and Marvelle, will be academy students this coming year. The Burrs are moving immediately to Keene, and he will be assuming his new responsibilities upon arrival.

Elder Burr's work wherever he has been has been characterized by positive evidence of God's guidance in his life and work. As he takes up his new responsibilities at Southwestern Union College, we know that he will give strong leadership in the training of young people as Seventh-day Adventist laymen and workers. We solicit your prayers for him as he works with the youth of the great southwest who seek to serve the Master.

E. C. WINES, President

Technology and God's Work

Today's world is an ever-changing one. The great advances in technology in the past decade have brought with them new ways of life and job opportunities that did not exist a few years ago. Statistics indicate that seven out of ten students now entering high school will enter occupations that do not exist today. This is the age of the technician. To be a skilled craftsman is no longer sufficient; one must also have the technical knowledge of the field.

All formal schooling was originally established for training in the areas of the professions. Crafts were taught through apprenticeships, and formal schooling was not considered necessary for those entering one of the trades. Only in recent decades has the necessity of teaching technical skills been considered necessary within the framework of a school program.

As the work of the Lord has expanded, the variety of skills and abilities required has increased. Consequently, there is an increasing need of skilled technicians in many facets of the Lord's work.

Many young men who may not feel the call to the ministry, to teaching, or to the medical work may have a sincere desire to find a place in the organized work or as dedicated laymen. In order to help such young men develop their skills, Southwestern Union College offers a variety of courses on both the academy and college level in metal work, light construction, and automobile mechanics. The course offerings are designed to meet the needs of both those who desire further college training in the area or those who wish to terminate their formal education after two years of college.
