SES a Helping Hand

A helping hand is a hand that is extended in assistance or service to someone else. How does Southwest Estate Services fit this description?

Simply that SES is a service organization formed by the Southwestern Union to serve the constituency and the conferences of the Southwestern Union. SES is a people-oriented organization. Most of the personnel at SES are working on a one-to-one basis with church members or local conference employees helping church members fulfill their stewardship responsibility in the area of present and deferred gifts.

Each conference has a specific person or persons assigned to it by SES to assist in the management and administration of these deferred gifts. In addition to these individuals, SES either maintains a staff of professionals in accounting and related areas of administration or has access to them. Attorneys or tax counsel are available in all states in the Southwestern Union to assist church members and their counsel if needed. At the present time less than 10% of the membership of the Southwestern Union have availed themselves of the services offered by their church. Unfortunately most church members have no idea of what the consequences are to surviving family members when a death occurs with no previous planning of any type. Should you wish to know how you and your family may benefit from this service provided by your church, please contact one of the following representatives in your conference:

Adventist Youth and Draft Registration

On January 7, President Reagan ordered the indefinite continuation of draft registration for 18-year-old males. Though, as the President said, registration "does not foreshadow a return to the draft" in peacetime, yet registration is a legal requirement with imprisonment and/or fines possible if ignored.

All Seventh-day Adventist young men are urged to register within 30 days of their 18th birthday, either before or after. Registration is a simple process, no classification is involved, and it can be done at any post office.

Two days before the President's announcement, the director of the Selective Service System, Major General Thomas Turnage, was a luncheon guest at the General Conference. Present at the luncheon were the three major officers, Neal C. Wilson, president; G. Ralph Thompson, secretary; L. L. Butler, treasurer, and other officers and church leaders. The luncheon was sponsored by the National Service Organization and the Public Affairs and Religious Liberty Department.

As executive officer of President Reagan's Military Manpower Taskforce, General Turnage has been close to the decision-making process. His remarks at the luncheon assured the church leaders of his deep concern for the religious convictions of each individual and his personal interest in seeing that attention is given to classification requests.

Having worked closely with the Selective Service headquarters in the past, the NSO looks forward to a positive relationship in the future. Should mobilization occur and a military draft be announced, it is felt that this contact now being developed, will assist in preventing or solving problems which otherwise could be difficult for church members.

OFFERING – MARCH 27

AWR Reaching the World

Adventist World Radio, covering some 70 countries in 29 languages, grew from one to five stations in Portugal, Malta, Sri Lanka, Andorra, and Guatemala over the last 10 years. When it first went on the air in October, 1971, from a powerful shortwave station in Portugal, R. H. Pierson and N. C. Wilson said, "... it marks the beginning of the largest single endeavor the church has ever made in international broadcasting." That assessment is still true.

Students at Newbold College, England, produce English and Dutch language programs for Adventist World Radio.

As stations were added, listeners' response also increased until at last count 20,000 letters a year were coming in. In many countries listeners have accidentally tuned in the broadcasts without knowing about them, although church members have done everything possible to spread the good news. In one socialist country a member heard the broadcast in her own language, copied it in shorthand, typed it out, and tacked it to the church bulletin board the following Sabbath to inform everyone.

In another country a blind listener that was looking for news of a world he had not been able to see for many years suddenly heard a voice that caught his attention. It told of the accuracy of Bible prophecy and pointed out the way of salvation. It was ADVENTIST WORLD RADIO. Another listener deep in the heart of Russia "coincidentally" heard words he could understand as he turned the dial of his radio. Tears came streaming down his cheeks as he heard of the love of God and of the large number of Christian believers, even in today's world. Those tears were seen on the letter he wrote.

As a prelude to the development of an international network, a denominationally-owned station was built in Guatemala, Central America, three years ago for ADVENTIST WORLD RADIO. Last October another station was approved by the AWR Board and is ready for construction in southern Europe to take the place of Radio Andorra, which was forced off the air last year because of political problems in the country.

It is estimated that each high-powered station will cost approximately $1,000,000 to build and another $500,000 annually to operate. The 1982 operating budget for current broadcasts is less than $500,000, with another $300,000 provided by various world division organizations for program production. The establishment of a global network of powerful radio stations will be one of the greatest single commitments the church has ever made to the unfinished task of preaching the everlasting gospel to every nation, kindred, tongue, and people on planet earth.

The Annual Council of the General Conference voted last October to designate the Spring Offering, Sabbath, March 27, 1982, as a special offering for ADVENTIST WORLD RADIO. This is the first time that a date and offering has been placed on the church calendar for ADVENTIST WORLD RADIO. This year's offering will be allocated for the construction of the radio station in southern Europe and new broadcasts in English, French, and Swahili for Africa, which together will cost $300,000. Future plans also call for the construction of a station somewhere in the Far East capable of reaching China.

Tulio R. Haylock Associate Director, Communication Department, General Conference.

SAWS

Flood Relief in Poland and California

More than 17 tons of emergency supplies was shipped to Poland on January 30 from Seventh-day Adventist World Services (SAWS).

Included in the airlift from the Baltimore, Maryland, SAWS Resource Center were 2½ tons of medicines. Also included for flood victims are six tons of blankets and 120 tents. Completing the total shipment sent — valued at $250,000 — were 3,000 shoes and boots.

Distribution will be made from the church's headquarters in Warsaw, according to Lee Grady who heads the SAWS West Coast Resource Center at Watsonville, California. "Requests for help referred to tremendous floods," Grady explained.

More than $40,000 to pay for airfreight costs will come from North American Adventist churches next month.

Food, clothing, and other relief supplies have been shipped into Poland by truck from Great Britain since last summer.

From the California Resource Center 350 blankets and 146 cots were distributed through the Red Cross in Santa Cruz County, California, during early January flooding. In addition,

by your Union Conference Associate Secretary . . . Richard Bendall

 It was very exciting for me to attend the opening night of the Ken Cox crusade in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Phil Draper reports the following information from the crusade:

The Kenneth Cox Dimensions of Prophecy opened at the Centroplex Theater in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, on Saturday night, February 6. Opening night attendance was 1,600. A large-scale program of television, newspaper, and direct-mail advertising added a piece of information which has never before been used. Each carefully proclaimed "Sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventists." This decision was reached by the executive committee for planning this crusade.

Twelve pastors are working along with 100 laymen in the visitation program. Gary Venden, coordinator for visitation for the Cox team has had several training sessions for visitation techniques and the laymen and pastors are eager to get into the field of labor.

Several area churches are participating in the city-wide crusade. Denham Springs and Gonzales are providing three buses and two vans for transporting interested people from their areas. The Winbourne Avenue church has organized 25 visitation teams and the Berean chruch is helping with 18 teams. The meetings are signed for the deaf and interpreted for the Spanish. The crusade will continue through March 13.

Elder Cyril Miller, president of the Texas Conference, reports:

To date 337 Texas Adventist youth have volunteered and excitement is building. They will participate in 50 Revelation Seminars — 30 English seminars begin in March, 15 Spanish seminars in April, and the rest during the summer.

Think of it! They will mail 350,000 multi-color invitations. They will teach the Three Angels Messages to more than 1,000 nonmembers. In fact, they will be right in the middle of the church's final proclamation of God's wonderful love as they uphold the word of God with steadfastness and power.

Let's pray for these Texas youth, encourage them, and support them. We give God our best when we give Him our youth. We salute the Texas Adventist Youth as they move forward for a finished task in Texas.

 Recently the "Fifth Sunday Sing" of the Okeene churches was held in the Methodist church there. One of the music numbers provided by the Adventist church involved every student from the church school. Each student played a guitar and sang. This was accomplished under the patient instruction of the teacher, Renee Thompson.

 Since its inception, the Committee of 100 for Southwestern Adventist College has raised over $800,000. That is a tremendous achievement. It is interesting to note that during the last three months of 1981 fifty-six families gave through the Committee of 100. For the entire year 20 families gave $2000 or more. Another eight families gave $1000-$2000 category, and 58 families gave $500-$1000. more than 50 members from the senior class at Monterey Bay Academy near Watsonville and van loads of students from Pacific Union College near St. Helena, have assisted clean-up crews in both Santa Cruz and Marin Counties.

Members of the California Conservation Corps (CCC) have headquartered at the Adventist Soquel Convention-Campground Center during the dig-out relief work for Santa Cruz County.

"Manpower," Grady said, "is almost more important than materials. We just wish we could send students to assist in Poland, but we expect our 4,000 members there to help with mass distribution."

The Watsonville center maintains a reserve to clothe 200,000 people of all ages in any time of need, Grady says.

Nursing Students Receive Caps and Epaulets

Thirty-seven first-year nursing students received either nurses' caps or epaulets during a January 23 ceremony at Southwestern Adventist College.

The ceremony marked the students' successful completion of the fundamentals of the nursing course at the college. The newly-capped students are currently taking clinical courses in north central Texas hospitals as part of their degree programs.

The 37 nursing students are candidates for the associate degree in nursing. Southwestern grants this degree after two to three academic years; students may then elect to continue their studies at the college to receive the bachelor of science in nursing degree.

Students participating in the ceremony included Rick Aldridge, Amarillo, Texas; Karen Anderson, Richardson,

International Food Fair Planned at SAC

Chapatties from India, crepes from France, empanadas from Colombia, and barbecue from Texas will be just a few of the many foods served during Southwestern Adventist College's International Food Fair planned for Sunday, March 7, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Leiske-Pultar Gymnasium.

The public is invited to attend, and there will be no admission charge. A percentage of the proceeds from purchases made at individual booths will go to the Eugene V. Thomsen Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Sponsored by the college's modern languages department, the fair will also feature foods from Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, the Philippines, Mexico, El Salvador, Venezuela, Hawaii, Italy, and the United States. Foreign students and community volunteers wearing national dress will work in each booth, and music by the various foreign groups will be performed every half hour during the evening.

Southwestern's art department will conduct a show of paintings and ceramics during the fair, and a Cleburne travel agent will be on hand with films and travel tips.

The International Food Fair marks the end of modern language week, which honors the students who have come from over 23 foreign countries to study at Southwestern Adventist College.

Black History Week Celebrated at SAC

Black History Week was celebrated the week of February 7 to 13 by the students of Southwestern Adventist College, according to Dr. Barbara Jones, associate professor of chemistry and sponsor of the campus Afro-American Club.

Stressing a theme of "Unity Through Christ," the club scheduled speakers and music throughout the week to spotlight the contributions of black people in history.

Speakers for the week included Dr. John Anderson, associate professor of business administration; Pastor Alex Horton, a 1979 Southwestern graduate who pastors the Emmanuel Seventh-day Adventist Church in Cleburne; and Brennan Francois, a senior theology major from New Orleans.

"Black History Week is beneficial to the students at the college," commented Dr. Jones, "so that they can see what has been profitable in the past and can then use that background to influence the future. A study of the past helps us to avoid mistakes that have been made and to appreciate other cultures."

An active campus organization since 1972, the Afro-American Club conducts a worship service one evening each week, and club members serve as ushers for the college's Community Lyceum Series. The AAC students are active in a number of area Seventh-day Adventist churches and several times each year sponsor work days during which they help elderly community residents with yard and housework.

Donna Christie, Metairie church member and Southern Central States Cuisnart director, held a bread-making class at the church. Because of some earlier preparation including micro-wave and other equipment, the threehour session was unique because the 20 people who attended were able to see the bread made from start to finish. Samples and a recipe book were given for the $5 registration fee.

of each month. Our young people will present a musical program for the residents. Those residents having birthdays during the month will be honored and presented with gifts.

The youth are also planning to launch an "Adopt a Grandparent" program. They want to take time to visit with these dear people and do some of their chores for them. They want to share their lives and their love with them. God bless our vouth!

A visitation program is now in progress. Members are going out in teams of two to call on shut-ins, the elderly, and the sick. These teams will also run errands and provide transportation for visits to the doctor or for other urgent needs. Our intention is not to be just another social worker but to truly be a friend.

A "Five-Day Stop-Smoking Plan" was held on January 25 through January 29. It was sponsored jointly by the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association, and the Lake Charles Seventh-day Adventist Church. Average attendance was 31. Pastor Ken Simpson

It is always a thrill for a pastor to see an individual give his heart to the Lord and be buried in baptism, but Elder Jeremiah Florea had a special thrill December 26, 1981, when he had the happy privilege of baptizing his granddaughter, Tresa Noodel, in Clinton, Arkansas stated that about 50% of those participating quit smoking during the meetings.

We began our radio ministry in December. This is an exciting time for us. Is it mere chance that radio and television came on the scene during the closing chapters of earth's history when billions of people must be reached? How wise our Creator is. His timing is so perfect. He has given us the tools we need to get the job done efficiently and quickly. The Lake Charles members pray that this ministry will reach the hearts of those in their community so that they may come to know Jesus too.

Elder Bill Wood, Arkansas-Louisiana Conference director of youth ministries, conducted leadercraft classes January 22 and 23. These training sessions were very enlightening and motivated those attending to do more for the children. Participants were given much valuable information which will aid them in communicating with young people. The group shared many good ideas and interesting ways in which adults and youth can contribute to one another's growth and development in all phases of life.

The weekend seminar was brought to a close with a worship service and social at the Trinity Life Center which is made available to the Adventists once a month by the Trinity Baptist Church.

The evening began with vespers, held in the Fireside Room. Elder Wood played his guitar as we sang several long-time favorites. He then blessed us with a message on our Lord and Savior.

After the service, we adjourned to the gymnasium where Elder Wood led out in several group games. After refreshments the rest of the evening was spent roller skating, playing volley ball and raquet ball.

Everyone said, "Thank you, Elder Wood, for a marvelous, uplifting weekend. Come again soon.'

Marguerite Black, Communication Secretary Lake Charles, Louisiana, Church.

The Central church is enjoying Bill's youthful enthusiasm and his anticipation and dedication to his chosen profession - the ministry.

WEWOKA WOODS

Work Starts on Auditorium

The campground on Sooner Road has been sold. The money received from that sale is being invested at once in the construction of the new camp meeting auditorium at the Wewoka Woods Adventist Center, according to Robert D. Rider, conference president.

The First Southern Baptist Church of Del City has purchased our campground property together with other adjacent land where they will build a large new church.

This transaction has provided funds sufficient to erect the new auditorium, and construction is moving ahead at full speed to have it in readiness for camp meeting, scheduled for July 16-24. The auditorium site has been leveled and staked out. Structural materials are on order, and work is proceeding as fast as possible.

The new building will seat 2,000 persons. It will be air-conditioned and heated. It will have a large entrance foyer, and a very large platform. Space will be included for the Adventist Book Center literature and food displays and for some of the children's meeting rooms. Future developments will probably provide permanent places for these facilities.

Other preparations for camp meeting at Wewoka Woods will include the setting up of additional hook-ups for recreational vehicles, and areas for family tents. The lodge, already in use for various types of meetings and activities besides the summer camping program, will serve as cafeteria and will provide meeting rooms for some groups.

In announcing these developments, Elder Rider said, "We are most grateful to the Lord for opening these doors before us in time to assure our full conference-wide camp meeting this summer.

Shawnee Reports Baptism, Improvements

Revival, property improvement, and evangelistic outreach have occupied the Shawnee district during past months.

Then revival, held in October, was planned specifically for renewal in the lives of the church members; but by God's grace it resulted in the addition of two new members: Daniel Sharpe and Donald Sandburg.

Then plans were made for building and grounds improvements. One member gave funds to redecorate the guest bathroom with paneling, mirror, vanity, and new fixtures. Another offered to buy new fixtures for the downstairs bathroom, and a third bore the cost of putting in new sewage lines.

An offering was taken to enlarge the parking lot. One person purchased the blocks for the wall. Some brought their heavy equipment for grading and mixing mortar.

The labor was donated by various members for both the inside and outside work, in spite of the fact that they participated in the Ingathering caroling in the evenings.

One Sabbath, the pastor, Fred Robertson, publicly voiced his desire for a comprehensive outreach in the city of Wewoka. The appeal moved a man who was present to pray silently that if God wished him to help with this project, he should have Mrs. Robertson invite him to dinner so they could discuss it. Upon receiving the invitation, the man was disappointed, because he was not acquainted with Mrs. Robertson, and was unaware that it was she who invited him. Then as he arrived at the home and saw the Robertson name on the mailbox, he realized that his prayer was being answered.

The pastor and his guest then excitedly made plans for contact with every home in Wewoka. The following week, a visit to the Chamber of Commerce produced information on the number of homes in the city, and a map to guide in the planning. Next an order was placed for 2,400 copies of the book, The Final

One of several loads of sand donated for the parking lot project in Shawnee.

War. As these books are placed in the homes of Wewoka, it is with the hope that they will evoke enough interest to provide for an evangelistic thrust during the camp meeting at the Wewoka Woods Adventist Center.

New Sabbath School Group Meeting in Henryetta

The planting of a new church is taking place in Henryetta. This is a deliberate extension effort authorized by the Oklahoma Conference committee, and carried out by Christy Taylor, pastor of the McAlester district; and H. B. Petry, conference evangelist.

As plans were made, there was no record of any Seventh-day Adventist members living in Henryetta, but early contacts in the city discovered a member living there who said she had been praying for something to happen to establish a church there.

The work was begun there on January 4 with a house-to-house distribution of cards offering literature and Bible studies to the people. The response to these cards has opened the way for many Bible studies in the homes, being given by the workers. They report about 40 excellent interests. Two families have been discovered who were already very interested, having viewed the It Is Written telecast for some time.

One of the unique features for the morning service was prayer circles. The congregation was divided into five groups with local elders directing each group praying for specific needs of Ephesus: love and fellowship, dedication, consecration, personal ministries, and the health of the church.

After a palatable breakfast, the invited guest, W. C. Jones, president, presented a stirring challenge to the officers for Sabbath, January 16, 1982, a district meeting was held in Mansfield, Louisiana, for the Coushatta district. Pastor W. E. Humphrey, Jr., had arranged for the meeting at a Community Center. The members from Coushatta and Natchitoches were on hand for a pleasant morning service. The conference president, W. C. Jones, was present to encourage the people to help with the gathering of funds for the building of the new church for the Mansfield believers. Over $3,000 was pledged toward this worthy project.

One of the special features at this district meeting was the musical group from Coushatta. The harmony was excellent and the young people cheered the hearts of those who were present. We had a lovely lunch at the home of Sr. Brown. The fellowship in this district is very special. Delores Humphrey directed this musical group.

New Community Center Opens in Corsicana

A grand opening it was in Corsicana, when the health and welfare center called "Stride" was officially opened. M. R. Meyers made the initial contact with a member of the city council, who graciously consented for the church to occupy a building ideal for a welfare center. The building is beautifully carpeted and located on a main thoroughfare in the city.

Since President Reagan's administration proposed giving away thousands of pounds of cheese across North America, our center applied and received 8,000 pounds to distribute among the citizens of Corsicana.

Michael Meyers, a member of the Corsicana City Council, stands in the center. He along with these volunteers joined in distributing 8,000 pounds of cheese to the citizens of Corsicana.

January 6, will long be remembered, what a joy it was to serve the public with a useful commodity. The radio and newspaper coverage was all that was needed to invite people from all directions. Members of the community were caught up in the excitement, and were happy to lend volunteer help in the distribution of the cheese.

Thanks to M. E. Meyers and the health and welfare society, the community service program is off to a great and colorful beginning.

Rock Album Burning

Sabbath afternoon, February 6, several young people from the Keene area made a public stand for their religious convictions by having a "Bar-B-Que." What these young people affectionately called a "Bar-B-Que" turned out to be a rock-and-roll record burn.

The event started in the fellowship room at the Keene Seventh-day Adventist Church where Mike Tucker, a counselor and Bible teacher at Chisholm Trail Academy, gave a short talk and invited those who were serious to make the "pilgrimage" down to Chisholm Trail Academy and join the party. About 100 people came to watch as close to $3,000 dollars worth of records, tapes, T-shirts, books, and bumper stickers went up in smoke. Supplying the fuel for the fire were Chris Biro, Marc Young, Freda Prindle, Lynette and Kevin Sellars, Allen Mejia, Michelle Smith, Mark Brain, Joe and David McKinney, and Gilbert Hernandez. With large clouds of black smoke rising into the sky, Max Barton, also a Bible teacher at CTA, offered a prayer dedicating these young people's lives to the Lord and His work.

"I think I've figured out why the youth will finish the work," stated Chris Biro. "We're just too impatient to sit around and wait."

CTA student and teachers watch rock-and-roll records go up in smoke.

It's really exciting to see these young people make this stand and dedicate themselves to Christ. Let's remember them in our thoughts and prayers, praising God for their victory and praying for the strength to stand by their convictions, so that the work may be finished. Allen Richards.

Ribbon Cut for New Girls' Dorm

The official ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new Sandia View Academy girls' dorm was held at 1:00 p.m., Sunday, January 24.

The occasion began with a buffet-style salad luncheon in the cafeteria. Then those attending the ceremony walked to the front of the new dormitory for the ribbon-cutting.

Local and conference officials present included Anne Dunlap, mayor of Corrales; Elder Bill May, Southwestern Union Conference secretary; Elder Floyd Eccles, associate director of education for the Southwestern Union Conference; D. K. Sullivan, president of the Texico Conference; and Larry Vigil, local contractor. Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wharton, whose generosity initiated plans for the edifice and after whom it will be named.

After the ribbon opening Wharton Hall was cut, the group of over 100 moved into the chapel of the new building. The academy singing group, "Cantantes," sang "Revive Us Again" and "Cornerstone." Mayor Anne Dunlap gave a brief speech commending the school's quality of education and its "high caliber" students. Talks were also given by Jeanine Blanco, dean of girls; Celia Armendariz, girls' club vice president; Dale Anderson, principal of SVA; and D. K. Sullivan.

After bouquets were presented to the ladies and Mr. and Mrs. Wharton introduced, those attending were invited to tour the new facility. It is a 17,000-squarefoot building costing approximately $470,000. A hexagon-shaped central hub houses the chapel, dean's office, kitchenette, and guest rooms. Four wings branch off in opposite directions and contain a total of 35 rooms.

Although the new dorm is similar to the boys' new dormitory, there are some unique features and money-saving advantages included in it. Among them are a dual hot-water system, tinted dualpaned windows, a special center roof coating, and a beautifully designed wood interior in the lobby. Many of these ideas originated with Don Bird, construction supervisor for Denominational Building Services. Each of the 12' by 16' rooms contains a sink with a vanity; a cabinet component including closet, dresser and desk; wall-to-wall dark brown carpet; and lined woven drapes in earth-tone colors. The entire dormitory is serviced by an intercom with AM/FM radio and stereo cassette player.

We praise God for making possible this new structure.

Texico Advisory Meets

The Texico Advisory group met in Roswell, New Mexico, January 31. Conference officers presented the report of the first-year accomplishments as related to the five-year objectives for the field. These were reviewed and discussed along with the reports of baptisms and finances.

Delegates were again divided into three subcommittees: finances, outreach, and inreach.

The financial committee discussed how to explain tithing to the members of the conference — how it should be calculated; how it is handled and spent; how its importance can be emphasized.

The members of the outreach committee considered how to do a more effective job in reaching our communities through a more thorough knowledge on the part of church members. Ideas were presented about knowing the mission of the church, having a representative building, training the membership in witnessing, etc.

The inreach committee discussed how to have a more successful and effective Sabbath School — how to encourage all church members to be active and dependable Sabbath School members.

Dinner was provided by the ladies of the Roswell churches and the delicious meal was very much appreciated. Conference leaders were grateful for each delegate who attended and for the contribution each made to the discussions. If your church was not represented, please be sure to have someone at the next meeting.

What's Good About the Seventh-day Adventist Church? Part IV

When I look at the Seventh-day Adventist Church, I look through eyes of love. The church has been wonderully good to me. In the church I have found the peace my heart desires, and through the church and my Savior my hope for salvation is fulfilled. I have no doubts about the church, its mission, and its final triumph.

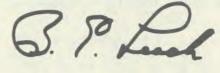

I'll have to admit that my heart is prejudiced in favor of the church. Furthermore, I am not looking for its faults. So it's not surprising that I simply do not have a long list of grievances against it. I love the church and it looks good to me.

What's good about the Seventh-day Adventist Church?

. The position of Jesus as head of the church, and as the hope for lost sinners has never been stronger or more secure in the Seventh-day Adventist Church. There is more total reliance on the Lord Jesus Christ than ever before. We have to admit that our church, being so strong on doctrine, strong on organization, and strong on activity, may have had more of a tendency to depend on our own "shining goodness" than on Jesus Christ and His shining salvation. This church today looks to Jesus for salvation. Only Jesus can save. Only He has the power to forgive sin and present us faultless before God. Christ is all. If it can be truly said that there is less dependence on self and more dependence on Christ in the Seventh-day Adventist Church today, then that is an improvement of great spiritual consequence wouldn't you say? I think you will agree. What could be more important? Let us keep Christ as the very center of every activity and every doctrine in this church. It is the only way we will be ready to meet Him when He comes in the clouds of glory.

· The Sabbath is understood and faithfully observed in the Seventh-day Adventist Church today by most members. This is quite a statement to make. I didn't say "the Sabbath is perfectly observed." That will only happen in the new earth. But today the Sabbath is seen as a beautiful time of spiritual and physical rest in our church. There was a time when those who observed Sunday as a day of worship were as strict about their Sunday "Sabbath" as we are about the Seventh-day Sabbath. Today it is hard to find anybody who keeps any day. People go to church on Sunday but then, after church, Sunday is a big day of sports and wordly pleasure. The only one of the 10 commandments that starts out with "Remember" is the fourth or Sabbath commandment. The one commandment that starts out with the word remember is the one almost totally forgotten today. But not with the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The Sabbath is an integral part of our religion. It is a part of our very name. More important, it is a part of our practice every week. On a recent occasion a prominent Dallas Bible teacher and pastor asked me if Seventh-day Adventists would watch the Dallas Cowboys on Sabbath. I didn't have to hesitate. I said, "No, they would not." And I believe I am right. It is a rare Seventh-day Adventist who would go to see a football game on Sabbath or watch it on TV. Right? Then this leader of a Sunday-keeping church said, "Well, I'll have to admit you've got something on us there. Our people throng to the sports scene and there's nothing we can do about it." Then he added these significant words. "Furthermore, I agree that the Sabbath was given to man before sin ever entered this world and I agree that the Sabbath will be observed in the new earth." If that is true, why not now? The Sabbath will have more and more meaning as we enter the closing days of this world's history. We must make sure that we observe it in the spirit and in truth, as Jesus did. (Stay tuned)

Yours for keeping our church unique and special,

B. E. Leach
