Doubling Baptisms —

by John H. McFarlane

An evangelistic explosion is taking place in the Dallas Spanish Oak Cliff and Dallas Spanish West churches. Under the leadership of Pastor Carlos Martin, 102 persons have been baptized so far this year. This is largely the result of 35 Revelation Seminars given by church members in their homes.

Elder Martin's program begins by focusing on prayer, with allnight prayer meetings twice a year. Then he called the members together and spoke to them of the "Pearl of great price," for which a man gave all he had. They were urged to seek Jesus by giving all they are and have to be His forever. Soon they volunteered their homes and their time for the Revelation Seminars. Teachers, hosts, and helpers became close friends with those attending, most of whom had some previous contact. So great was the interest that it was necessary for Victor Collins, Texas Conference evangelist, to conduct a reaping campaign to lead the converts to baptism.

Such groups of laymen studying with people is God's way. "Let the members be formed into small companies, to work not only for church members, but for unbelievers." — Testimonies, Vol. 7, p. 22.

Martin reports, "I first conduct a Revelation Seminar to show how. Then I tell the members 'If I can teach and preach, you can teach and preach. Now you will give a Seminar.' And they respond by going forth to win souls for Christ. By faith a baptism is conducted every Sabbath during a seminar series or public crusade, and always there have been people to baptize."

Hubert Cisneros, pastor of the Tulsa. Oklahoma, church, has developed a different approach for a Revelation Seminar on a large scale. He advertises it in one neutral location, such as a library with a hall and meeting rooms. As the people come they are given a ticket with a number and join a general assembly for 30 minutes, during which he gives the course introduction. Then they separate into small class groups by their assigned numbers. There they receive their materials and study a portion of the lesson with lay instructors for 15 minutes. Then they return to the assembly where Elder Cisneros reemphasizes the main lesson points and gives a quiz. This method bonds the people to their lay instructors and also to the pastor. Then the session is concluded with an evangelistic audiovisual presentation.

In subsequent sessions, more time is spent with the lay instructors in the small groups, but always closing with the general assembly and the audiovisual presentation.

One of Harvest 90's DOable goals is to double the number of persons baptized during the

Harvest 90 DOable

Thousand Days of Reaping prior to the 1985 General Conference session. As the Holy Spirit is now seen coming upon the churches, what was then done in 33 months, will surely, by His moving now, be doubled at least in the 60 months of Harvest 90 before the next session in 1990.

Church-Centered evangelism is the key to Harvest 90 success. And you are the focal point of church-centered evangelism. Having Jesus Christ living at the control center of your life makes you the means of expressing Him to others.

Evangelism has three main pillars: the local church as the center for training and evangelism; the pastor as instructor and leader in evangelism; and you with your fellow church members joining arm-in-arm with your pastor in benevolent ministry, evangelism, and soul winning.

Seven ingredients of church-centered evangelism will bring the harvest.

 Give priority to evangelism. You can help to insure that your church board and membership will decide that the most important focus in your life together is evangelism.

- Organization and plans. Share ideas that the Lord gives you with church officers and members. Help set goals and develop plans for evangelistic activities, and put them into action.
- Communication and approval of plans. Plans authorized by the church board should be communicated to the whole church so the members can be supportive.
- Training. You want to work out that ministry that the Holy Spirit places within you as a spiritual gift. Participate in training programs offered in your church.
- Finances. Each one who has received Christ truly has his or her finances freed up for His use. The church's soulwinning projects will need financial backing. The church board, from its budget and other available funds should provide support for evangelism.

- Permanent evangelism. The church should organize and implement plans for an ongoing long-range program of soul winning that will make its evangelism permanent.
- Permanent harvest. A plan of permanent evangelism by faith using God's methods should provide a permanent harvest too. The ideal is to hold a monthly baptism, declaring a baptismal Sabbath by faith, and working to prepare candidates in time for it.

Many activities have proven fruitful in winning souls with a minimum investment of funds: public meetings in the church, pastor's baptismal class, home meetings, home Bible studies, branch Sabbath Schools, door-to-door visitation, prison evangelism, reclaiming former Adventists, internal evangelism (for children, youth, nonmember relatives, the church school), contacting visitors, and Revelation Seminars.

The most winnable persons are the friends and relatives of you and your fellow church members. They should be the major focus of our evangelistic concern. The longer we have been in the church the fewer nonmember friends we tend to have; so we should have a plan for building up a reservoir of friends through intentional friendship contacts.

As a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he." Proverbs 23:7. May we all — administrators, pastors, members — think evangelism and labor arm-in-arm for the Harvest 90 objectives and the finishing of God's work.

Christian Record

by John Treolo

Ira spent the best week of his life at Camp Yorktown Bay last summer.

With assistance from dedicated counselors, Ira learned that he is just as important as anyone else. He appreciated attending a Christian camp.

Provides New Horizons

In the spirit of Harvest 90, Christian Record Braille Foundation has committed its ministry to sharing the gospel to the blind and deaf, those living in a world of darkness and silence.

According to V. L. Bretsch, Christian Record president, that's the direction this institution operated by the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists is headed.

Bretsch's desire is evident in the Southwestern Union, thanks in part to the Christian Recordsponsored National Camps for Blind Children, held each summer at Nameless Valley Ranch in Texas and Camp Yorktown Bay in Arkansas.

Ira spent such a week at Camp Yorktown Bay last summer. Full of enthusiasm and zest for adventure, he touched the hearts of all who came in contact with him.

Born 11 years ago to Indian parents in Pawnee, Oklahoma, Ira is not only totally blind, but his face is somewhat disfigured as well. My heart ached the minute I laid eyes on him.

Wanting to come to camp so badly, Ira gladly rode the day's journey it took from Pawnee to Hot Springs, Arkansas, for his first week at summer camp.

Why would such a misfortune happen to a young boy such as Ira, I thought to myself. Although I may have felt sorry for him, I soon discovered that Ira didn't feel sorry for himself. He fit right in with the 70 other blind children in attendance that week. Determined to try every activity, he quickly learned to water-ski, shoot a bow and arrow, ride horseback.

John Treolo was public relations director for Christian Record for the past eight years. Now he is communication director for the Kansas-Nebraska Conference. paddle a canoe, work at crafts, and a few activities he thought up himself.

Outwardly Ira was the hit of the camp. Inside, I later discovered, he carried a deep hurt, hidden by his jovial pretense. Ira told me he wasn't sure how he lost his sight. He's never been able to see. Perhaps fortunately for him, he doesn't know just how disfigured his face really is.

"The kids make fun of me at school," Ira cried. "Can you tell me why, mister?" I didn't have the heart to answer him. During the conversation, I noticed tears streaming down his face. I must confess I shed a few that day, myself.

Ira thanked me for taking the time to talk with him and for allowing him to come to camp. But I really should have been thanking Ira. He made me realize why Christ spent so much time in healing the blind, deaf, and lame during His earthly ministry.

When camp ended, Ira didn't want to leave. He appreciated the opportunity to attend a Christian camp, determined to return next year.

Sharing the goodness of God is what the ministry of Christian Record is all about. You, too, can be a part of this exciting ministry of taking the gospel to the blind and deaf by praying for and supporting Christian Record during its annual offering appeal, July 11. Those on the World Budget are encouraged to support the Personal Giving Plan.

Christian Record Braille Foundation serves the Southwestern Union by providing new horizons for sight-and hearingimpaired persons. Won't you help us broaden their horizons?

Southwestern Union

FLASH! $2.6 Million Returned to Local Conferences in '86!

That's right! The General Conference and Southwestern Union appropriated $2,650,234.15 to our fields and institutions here in the Great Southwest last year. That is the equivalent of 40 percent and 36 percent of their respective tithe incomes. As the higher organizations return more, it means they have less for their own operations.

After the Southwestern Union covers its retirement fund and General Conference allotments, it has only about half of its tithe income to maintain its own operations. So the union carries its functions on a little more than 5 percent of the local tithe returns. Actually, this is a very small part of the total church dollars.

The following is an annual report to the field which reveals that local conferences receive more back from the General Conference and union conference dollars and services than their total pay to the union. We thought you would appreciate these facts.

ASI Convention Recruits New Members

A convention of the Adventist Laymen's Services and Industries (ASI) met in Keene, Texas, May 14-16, 1987, under the direction of Fred Murray, Southwestern Union secretary for the organization.

The featured speakers at the convention were: Gary Ammon, president of Irvin Corporation; W. C. Arnold, from the General Conference, executive secretary of ASI; Wayne Dull, president of Eden Valley Institute, Loveland, Colorado; and Charles O'Dell, director of the Southwestern Union's Southwest Estate Services.

Trust Personnel Attend Seminar

On April 28 and 29, Southwestern Union Trust Services personnel attended a seminar at the Union Office in Burleson, Texas, to fulfil a portion of their continuing education requirements. Tom Carter, director of the General Conference Trust Services Department participated in the instruction.

As a part of the required certification of Adventist Trust Services personnel, they must receive 40 hours of continuing education through various avenues each year.

All but three of the Southwestern Union Trust Services people are now certified by the General Conference. The remaining three are new to the work and are diligently pursuing their certification requirements.

Retirement Benefit Plan Offered

Many people are retired. A lot more retire each year. Younger people dream about retirement. Good plans for retirement should be implemented now. An IRA (Individual Retirement Account) can still be a good plan for retirement even under the new tax law.

We talk about retirement even though we believe our Lord is returning soon. He said, "Occupy till I come." So let's live and work as if He were coming today, even while we are still involved in planning for the future.

May we suggest an alternative to an IRA? It is a plan that can give you an attractive deferred rate of return (some of the income will be tax free), a guaranteed lifetime income, an income-tax-deductible charitable contribution now, and the satisfaction of knowing you have made a deferred gift to the work of your church. It is what we call a Deferred Payment Charitable Gift Annuity.

For example, at age 45 you may give, say, $5,000 now, and tell us not to pay you any income until you reach age 65. At that time the Church will start paying you a guaranteed 15.9 percent lifetime income based on the $5,000 gift. You also receive an income-tax charitable-contribution deduction of $4,322.50 that you can use in the year of your gift. The taxfree portion will be determined when you start drawing income, based on the rules in effect at that time. At your death, this $5,000 plus the appreciation goes as a gift to your church.

Contact your Trust Services office for information and details as to how a Deferred Payment Charitable Gift Annuity could work in your situation.

Youth Volunteers Work at Metroplex

Young people between the ages of 14 and 17 work in a summer program at Metroplex Hospital in Killeen, Texas, as part of the Hospital Auxiliary.

The volunteers are placed in jobs that match their interest and skills. According to Mrs. Keith Lain, "Some of the young people work directly with patients, while others work behind the scenes, like in the medical records section.'

Any youth interested in volunteering during the summer months may get information by calling 817/526-7523, or 817/547-6677.

Huguley Opens New Emergency Area

Huguley Memorial Hospital recently opened the newly expanded emergency and outpatient areas. "One of the primary reasons for expanding this area was because of shifts in health care toward more outpatient procedures," said John D.

Koobs, president. "Outpatient procedures at Huguley increased 27 percent in 1986 over 1985," he added. Emergency room visits have increased 16 percent over the last year according to Sandra Banfield, director of Ambulatory Services.

Refreshments were served at the emergency room and outpatient area open house, and drawings for free digital thermometers and blood pressure monitoring kits were held each hour.

Members of the Huguley Emergency Lifesaving Professionals (HELP) team gave tours of the expanded facility and explained about the state-of-the-art emergency equipment recently acquired by the hospital.

The AT&T Medical Alert allows an individual to remain at home alone and still have constant access to professionals in the emergency room.

The Centracom Control Console, located in the emergency room, receives voice and EKG communication directly from the ambulance, making it much faster and easier for treatment instructions to be relayed to the ambulance. This makes it possible for the patient to receive vital treatment before he reaches the hospital.

Additionally, each treatment room is furnished with a cardiac monitor so that every patient can be monitored continuously at the nurses' station.

Breakthrough: Adventists publish a magazine for Russian members.

The only Adventist publishing house in Russia closed near the turn of the century. Since then, Russian church members have had precious little literature to nurture their spiritual growth.

But earnest meetings between church leaders and the chairman of the Council of Religious Affairs in the Soviet Union have resulted in permission to print a magazine edited jointly by American and Russian Adventists.

This is the first time Russian members have had a full-color magazine about themselves. It is the first time they have each been

SAC Starts Master's Degree Program

Southwestern Adventist College is expanding its curriculum to include graduate work in elementary education. This is just one of the many programs utilized by SAC to reach its goal of providing a well-rounded education in a Christian atmosphere.

With all the reforms presently taking place in education, it was obvious that a master's program in that area was needed at the college. According to Hal Wright, academic vice president at Southwestern, when administrators began looking at the number of teachers who need master's degrees, they were amazed.

"There are many Adventist teachers within the Southwestern Union who need their master's degrees. The demand is there, and we have the resources so we went for it," Wright explains.

"We also considered starting a master's program because it was suggested to us by so many experienced educators in the field. Other colleges our size put together successful master's programs, and these professionals felt we could do it also." he continued.

Organizing the master's program took a lot of care and work. There were months of planning, and a proposal, called a prospectus, had to be written detailing every aspect of the new program. The prospectus was later submitted to the Southern Association of Colleges to be reviewed and given final approval.

"It's a bold move for the school," observes Wright, "but a good move, I think. We have the right market at the right time; it's a matter of making the future of the college our top priority."

The master's program is a critical step in Southwestern's constant endeavor to provide quality Christian education. It will now be easier for Adventist teachers in the Southwest to continue their education at an Adventist college.

It is also anticipated that this program will be attractive to many teachers in the vicinity of SAC. Wright says that there are over 1,000 teachers within driving distance who need their master's degrees. Upon receiving final approval from the Southern Association, SAC will be the only accredited college granting both baccalaureate and graduate degrees between Fort Worth and Waco, and between Dallas and Stephenville.

Dee Anderson, chairperson of the education department at Southwestern, says that expanding an excellent reputation is her goal: "We feel we'll have a quality master's program. One hundred percent of our undergraduate students have passed the ExCET test required in Texas. We're expecting the same quality to continue in the graduate program.

"There is a critical shortage of elementary teachers now, especially with all the testing that's being done,"

"It's a bold move for the school, but a good move, I think," says Hal Wright, academic vice president, of Southwestern Adventist College's new Master's degree program. Dr. Wright is pictured with students Marigold Nabong, Avon Park, Florida, and Jim Landelius, Winslow, Arkansas.

Dr. Anderson continued. "And that's one aspect which makes this program at Southwestern so exceptional. It concentrates on two areas, English and science—exactly the fields which are so critical in elementary education today."

The program is especially designed for those who are already teaching. The classes will be taught in the evening and during the summer to accommodate a teacher's schedule. A person can complete the 36-hour program in two years by taking classes continuously, or in four years by taking only summer classes.

Dr. Wright is quick to emphasize the effect that the college's available resources had on starting the new program. "When we began working on this, everything fit like hand and glove. Our science and English departments are strong, just where we need it." he says.

He also points out that administrators researched all the possible effects of the master's program on the undergraduate program. "The new program does not significantly impact the undergraduate program — academically or financially," Wright says.

"We think it is really going to go," Dr. Anderson asserts. "We've already had about 35 persons inquire about the program — just hearing about it by word of mouth. When we start advertising it we expect a lot more inquiries."

Family Camp Offers Parenting Seminar

From July 26 to August 2, Camp Yorktown Bay will host its annual seven-day Family Camp. If a family only wants to attend for four days, they can attend Family Camp II from July 30 to August 2.

Also running at the same time are specialty camps in the following areas: computers, water-skiing, and horsemanship.

Special features for this year's Family Camp include the possibility of a houseboat cruise on Lake Ouachita and the Parenting With Love Seminar, which begins Wednesday morning, July 29, and ends on Sunday, August 2.

The Seminar will be given by Rene and Alvy Quispe, Family Life directors for the Texas Conference. They have two children, Cindy, 11, and Edgar, 9. Although Alvy is a registered nurse, she has chosen to support Rene in this team ministry. She considers parenting with love a priority in her own life.

Rene is completing his doctoral degree in psychology and family counseling at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas.

Among the topics offered in the Parenting With Love Seminar are: Understanding Your Child, Communication with Your Child, Different Methods of Discipline, Parenting

Styles and Their Results, and To Spank or Not to Spank.

On Sabbath afternoon, August 1, a sacred vocal concert will be presented by Steve and Judy Evenson of Siloam Springs, Arkansas. Everyone is invited to attend any part of the Family Camp program. Old Letter Brightens Sabbath School Report

Ada Holman, newly elected communication secretary of the Mena, Arkansas, church, was rummaging through a box of material containing various items pertinent to the church. A letter from New York caught her attention. It read:

"Thank you for your order for Cosmic Conflict. This is just a little note to let you know that the books were delivered to Pastor Ben Stiles for Jewish outreach work..."

This letter was dated in May, 1983, but now, in April of 1987, Ada had an assignment to give a report on the literature ministry during a Sabbath School program in the Mena church.

What fun it was to be able to share this note and to have Elder Ben Stiles present (He has moved to Mena from New York City.) to tell of his experiences with some of the literature provided to him by this little church!

Teen Camp 1987 Offers Great Activity

Teen Camp 1987 at Camp York-town Bay offers something new and something old. There will be two new banquet themes. For Teen I it is Independence Day (July 4), and for Teen II it is Hawaii.

Teen Camp I runs from June 28 to July 5, and Teen Camp II from July 5 to 12.

Among the activities only offered to teen campers, age 13-17, are: scuba diving, parasailing (if yours is an honor cabin), overnight sailing and canoeing trips, performance gocarts, bare-footing classes, and overnight horse pack trips.

The regular activities are: archery, gymnastics, rappeling, swimming, torpedo riding, water-skiing, candle 50TH ANNIVERSARY — Toleda and Irvin Imler of Hot Springs, Arkansas recently celebrated their Golden Anniversary with friends and relatives.

Before retiring to Hot Springs in 1977, they lived in Kansas City. Irvin was a resident engineer in high-rise construction and Toleda was a supervisor in the traffic department of the REA Express Company. They served on various boards and offices of their church.

In the Hot Springs Church, Toleda is the church clerk and Irvin is the risk manager. Both serve on the reception committee.

Ephesus Students Win Antismoking Award

A mock funeral brought $100, a Certificate of Accomplishment, and a third-place ribbon to the Ephesus Junior Academy, New Orleans.

The award was given in mid-May for the school's participation in a campaign, sponsored by the Cancer Association of Greater New Orleans. Inc., calling attention to the risk of lung cancer from smoking. Students were allowed the freedom of choosing their own topic.

Ruthlyn Jasmine's ninth and tenth grade students produced a oneminute video tape of the funeral service held in the Ephesus church located next to the school. A local undertaker provided a regular casket and one student lay in it during the "service." Another, serving as the minister, told the "mourners" of "A Past Puffer's Last Advice."

The video tape was sent to the Cancer Association where it competed with a score of other local high schools, most with better facilities for meeting the Cancer Association's

The awards were presented at the University of New Orleans with students and teachers from the Academy present.

Kindness Wins

"If we would humble ourselves before God, and be kind and courteous and tenderhearted and pitiful, there would be one hundred conversions to the truth where now there is only one." Testimonies, Vol. 9, p. 189.

Now is the best time to subscribe to the weekly Review. Here's why.

1. Fresh news.

The latest news is added to the Adventist Review® only 31 hours before the presses roll.

2. Rich spiritual food.

Review editors solicit the highest quality writers in the church men and women who are expressing the most important truths for today. What they have to say helps us prepare for the coming of Jesus Christ.

3. Practical articles.

A determination to make the Review fit the needs of readers resulted in important journalistic changes at the beginning of 1986. The fine-tuning continues. Editor William Johnsson advises his writers: "People don't want sermons as much as practical suggestions and real-life experiences. Show our people what it means to be an Adventist in the office, in the factory, at play, in the home."

4. Openness.

The Review is more open about current issues in the Adventist Church than ever before, Remember the articles on the Media Center and Harris Pine Mills?

5. "Dear Miriam."

The SDA "Ann Landers" continues her pithy advice column.

6. Price.

The subscription price of $27.95 breaks down to a cost of 70 cents a copy. About the price of a gallon of gas.

Oklahoma Welcomes Two Pastoral Families

Oklahomans to pastor an Oklahoma church! It sounds right, doesn't it? The Broken Arrow church is the most recent church to receive such a pastoral family.

The family is Fred and Linda Rogers who were born in Muskogee, grew up in Muskogee, were married in Muskogee, and have parents who still live in Muskogee. Their sons, Keith and Shawn, though not born in Oklahoma, should make easy adjustment, having so much "Oklahoma" in the family.

The Rogers came from the Indiana Conference where their church, Cicero, ministered to the community and also to the students and staff of Indiana Academy. Other fields of labor have included the Mountain View, Kentucky-Tennessee, and Greater New York conferences. Fred is a graduate of Southwestern Adventist College, with a B.A. degree in religion. He was ordained in 1978, while serving in Kentucky-Tennessee.

Elder Rogers preached his first sermon in the Broken Arrow church on June 6.

Also joining the Oklahoma family are Pastor and Mrs. John H. Moyer from Oakland, Maryland. On June 13, 1987, the Ketchum congregation welcomed the Moyers to its fellowship.

Pennsylvania is the home state of both John and Donna. Their ministerial service has included two districts in the Mountain View Conference. Their most recent district has churches in two states — Maryland and West Virginia. John received a B.A. degree in theology from Southern College, and was ordained in 1984.

The Moyers' five sons have kept Donna busy mothering, which is one of her "best gifts" according to John. Four of the sons, John III, Timothy, Stephen, and Daniel, have homes of their own. Thomas, age 16, lives at home with the family in Oklahoma.

The call to the ministry came to John while he was an active layman. The Lord has blessed his response, his preparation through college years at an age older than most other students, and the leadership he has given to six churches. The dedicated ministry of the Moyers will continue to exalt the Lord.

96-Year-Old Woman Shares Her Faith

Rosa Denich, 96 years of age, witnesses wherever she is. Throughout her life she has actively shared her faith. That didn't change last year when she moved from her home into a center that has residents of many other beliefs.

Every morning she and four other ladies have worship together. Besides Rosa, this group includes members of the Methodist, Catholic, and Lutheran churches. During their time together, these ladies share information about their respective churches, and this gives Rosa an opportunity to explain the Adventist message.

"I just pray that I'll always faithfully represent my Lord," she says.

Texico

Pastors and Laymen Attend Seminar

Both pastors and laymen attended the Life Style Enhancement and Design Seminar at Sandia View Academy the first week of April. The ministers' meeting was combined with this health seminar.

Charlye Smith, conference medical director, planned this week when both pastors and laymen were invited to learn more about their health and what to do to correct some of their habits and live more healthfully.

Dr. Wayne McFarland presented the main messages on health during the week. He concentrated on the eight essentials of healthful living outlined in the Spirit of Prophecy.

Blood tests were taken as well as tests on amino acids. Dr. Merritt Horning from the Loma Linda School of Health, Department of Nutrition, presented the important research on amino acids. After getting the results of their blood tests, all took an interest in the presentations to know how to make corrections in some of these areas.

Marjorie Coulson presented the lectures and demonstrations on nutrition.

Carl Damron presented the evening worship services and helped direct the exercise program. His wife, Camille, and Billie Smith, Charlye's wife, prepared the food. Also helping was Frances Brown from the Texas Conference, and Cindy and Martha Randolph. Tim and Laurie Trujillo helped in the kitchen and in serving the food.

Everett Cumbo, president of the Illinois Conference, spoke to the ministers on evangelism as did Abel Paulin from the Texas Conference. He spoke on the Revelation Seminars.

It was a great week for the ministers as well as the laymen who were present. The presence of the Lord was felt as an interest was taken in caring for that temple which He has given to each one and in which He wishes to dwell.

SVA Needs Two Dollars Weekly Per Member

Just one dollar a week can help a Texico teenager get a Christian education at Sandia View Academy and/or one dollar a week can help maintain the buildings and purchase equipment. Two dollars a week can fill both great needs at the Texico Conference's own academy.

In recent years teenagers in Texico have needed much financial aid. Freedom 84 funds and Youth Action Line help have filled this need during some years. SAVE (Student Aid Volunteers for Education) has also saved many Texico teenagers. From a high of over $90,000 in aid a few years ago, students have had only about $12,000 in help this past year. Is it any wonder that many of our Texico youth go without a Christian education?

Why not make a continuing pledge of a dollar a week to save our youth? If we work together, we in Texico can make it happen.

Those who visit SVA often mention the need for general maintenance on academy buildings, and for adequate equipment. Of course, this takes money. Every year SVA budgets money for depreciation which should go to repair our buildings, but every year financial problems keep the depreciation from being funded. The money is not wasted; it just goes to fill other pressing needs.

This plan of a dollar a week to the Committee of 1000 will go directly to keeping our buildings from deteriorating and help us to buy needed equipment.

Two dollars a week from every member in Texico can solve both problems. A dollar a week to SAVE can provide enough scholarship help to keep most of our young people in school. And a dollar a week can keep our academy buildings in shape.

Littlefield Conducts Survey

The Littlefield, Texas, church recently conducted a religious community services survey to see how they could better serve their town.

The 172 respondents, representing 18 denominations, answered the following questions:

Is there a God? — Yes, 159; no, 2. Is there life after death? — Yes, 137; no, 6; not sure, 15.

Is Jesus, God's Son, our Saviour? — Yes, 157; no, 1; not sure, 2.

Is Christ coming again? — Yes, 144; no, 3; not sure, 13.

Do you regularly study the Bible? — Yes, 107; no, 46; sometimes, 3.

How often do you attend church? — Weekly, 92; monthly, 17; seldom, 33; never, 5.

When asked, "What is the community's greatest need?" most people replied that it is activities for young people. Other answers were: "More interest in religion and the Bible, "Telling of Jesus' love;" "Love for one another;" "More jobs and drug prevention programs."

The preference indicated for specific programs suggested, was in the following order:

Marriage/Family Life Seminar Health Screening Clinic Stress Management Seminar Stop Smoking Clinic Weight Loss Clinic Home Bible studies Nutrition/Cooking School Revelation Seminar Daniel Seminar

The Littlefield Church is endeavoring to plan programs to meet these needs, in spite of the fact that some of their members are relocating this summer.

The Taos, New Mexico, church was organized on April 25, 1987, and on the same day their building was dedicated to the service of God. Church members from neighboring churches joined in the happy events. Some came from other conferences, especially those who had donated to make this building a reality.

The morning sermon was presented by Arnold Trujillo, conference secretary, who had been pastor of that district. Last summer he helped in getting the construction underway, even spending some of his vacation in working on the building.

Don Sullivan, conference president, conducted the organization of the church. John McFarlane, Southwestern Union ministerial secretary, preached the dedicatory sermon. Edward Stacey offered the dedicatory prayer.

The pastor, Eduardo Rojas, his wife Bertha, and the members and friends are to be congratulated on a job well done. The main sanctuary will be built later.

LL University Offers Management Workshop

The School of Business and Management at Loma Linda University will hold its third annual Human Resources Management Workshop August 17-19, on the La Sierra Campus, Riverside, California.

These workshops were planned because of a growing demand by denominational administrators for dependable information on how to deal with the increasing complexities of managment, especially in the area of employee relations.

Administrators from Seventh-day Adventist conference offices, schools, hospitals and private industry who have attended LLU's previous Human Resources Management Workshops say that they have found these meetings very beneficial.

ADRA Invited to Work in China

The Adventist Development and Relief Agency (ADRA) has signed an agreement with the China International Center for Economic and Technical Exchange (CICETE), opening the way for ADRA to commence development activities in the People's Republic of China.

The agreement of "cooperation, understanding, and exchange" between ADRA, a private voluntary organization based in Washington, D.C., and CICETE, a department of the Foreign Affairs Ministry of the People's Republic of China, is the result of discussions which have been going on for nearly a year.

ADRA will be working in Yishui county, a rural county located in the Zhandong province southeast of Beijing. Yishui county has over 1.3 million residents, many of whom are farmers whose income is less than US $41.00 per year. Paramount among the needs of that area are potable water, community health education, and hospital equipment, as well as a great need for incomegenerating activities.

An ADRA office will be established in Beijing. ADRA personnel will also be involved in technical training of the CICETE staff. ADRA is responding to the need for hospital equipment immediately, with a shipment valued at about $500,000. A grant of $250,000 from the General Conference will fund ADRA's initial efforts in China. It is expected that other funding sources will be developed as the project takes shape.

PRESIDENT'S BULLETIN BOARD

STAR-NET Begins Broadcasting in August

Satellite Trans American Radio Network (STAR-NET) will begin testing its stereo signal on the airwaves after July 15. You can listen to our Adventist satellite radio network test programming by tuning your down-link dish to Satellite F1, Transponder 17, Base Bands 5.40 MHZ Left and 5.58 MHZ Right. Daily broadcasting is scheduled to begin in August.

STAR-NET will feature the Voice of Prophecy, Amazing Facts, The Quiet Hour, The Hour of Prophecy, and most of our time-honored Seventh-day Adventist radio broadcasts. Adventist television personalities such as George Vandeman, Dan Matthews, and Charles Brooks will also be heard weekly.

STAR-NET will produce several new health, educational, and family life series for national morning and evening drive-time listeners. A WATS line call-in show will be anchored by a host yet to be named, which will draw listener participation. STAR-NET will be famous for the best in Christian stereo music. National UPI news on the hour, every hour, will be our hallmark and give STAR-NET a professional broadcast stature.

If you have a satellite dish you're all set for an FM receiver. If not, then you may purchase one locally or order through our special purchase arrangement. We will have a cost-effective satellite reception package by August 1.

Applications for a radio station license have been filed with the FCC for the Rio Grande Valley and Albuquerque areas. When these are completed, anyone living in those areas can have Adventist radio in their homes or work places. Considerable interest for local radio stations has been demonstrated by Adventist churches and members in various places across the nation.

Additional opportunities for local church or lay-owned radio stations are open in most states. The purpose of STAR-NET is to provide quality programming for church or privately owned, fully automated radio stations. This will enable anyone to operate a radio station without the cost of a production staff.

Pray that God will bless STAR-NET as an end-time agency to reach hundreds of thousands of people every single day for His kingdom all across the USA and North America from Canada to Mexico and Hawaii to the Caribbean. For more information write: STAR-NET, P.O. Box 4000, Burleson, Texas 76028.

Huguley Hospital Nurses Are Like Angels

Here are some Huguley patients' testimonials:

"The nurses were wonderful. A smile means much when you are ill."

"Each nurse was just as wonderful as could be."

"She prayed for me before I went to sleep that night."

"I am very pleased with the nursing staff, for their concern and kindness."

"The nursing staff was outstanding. I was treated royally." "One nurse prayed for me after I had surgery."

Our Huguley nurses set the tone. They are spiritual, loving, and professional. In fact, they are like angels. Shirley Pinterich, director of nursing services, states, "We are always conscious of our spiritual service as well as our medical ministry."
