The Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary and Its Work

Special Offering May 13

J. K. JONES

Other religious organizations have suitable buildings in which their ministers and other religious workers can study for advanced work in theological lines. To these institutions each year many religious leaders of other denominations repair for further training and instruction.

Seventh-day Adventists have never had a place where their workers who finished college could take advanced work. Only in recent years has an effort been made to provide a school where our own workers could take higher work without having to attend outside universities. Surely we cannot improve on the third angel's message. Consequently a place should be provided where our workers can take advanced work in theological lines with capable, qualified Seventh-day Adventists as teachers.

The present small building at Takoma Park is only a temporary location and is wholly inadequate to take care of the needs. Large numbers of our workers from both the home and foreign fields are requesting this advanced work to make them more efficient. Adequate facilities and equipment must be provided at once. About $25,000 more is needed now to erect a modest structure in which this work can be carried on.

May 13 is the day on which this offering is to be taken up in every church, and we are counting on the believers in the Southern Union to do their full part. Already a number of workers in this Union have attended the Seminary, and their work has been strengthened by their atttendance. Other workers plan to go in the future. We invite those who can, to give a dollar or more to this fund May 13, and by all means let every one do something in a definite way to properly equip this school for work in behalf of the workers of this cause.

OVER THE TOP

On Missions Extension During May

B. M. PRESTON

Our believers and workers are loyal to the mission program and want to see the message advance, as reflected by the splendid response to the Missions Extension program in all the conferences and churches. Reports coming in from every part of the union indicate that every church plans to reach the goal. Many will have good overflows. Some were not able to turn all they pledge in when the offering was taken on April 22, it being understood they could have until May 31 to turn in the balance.

We will await with eager anticipation the word from each church and conference that they are over the top on their Missions Extension goal. Church elders and pastors should keep this matter before the church until the goal has been reached. All who pledged to have a part in this important offering should be encouraged to turn their offering in by May 31.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the workers and members throughout the union for their part in helping to advance this message in regions beyond through the Missions Extension Offering. We hope soon to be able to report every church and every conference over the top on Missions Extension.

"Keep going! No matter how bitter the pace,

There's hope for the winner who tries; Keep going! No matter how backward your place,

You still have a chance at the prize.

ATLANTA UNION EFFORT

Knowing that the eyes of our people throughout the Southern Union Conference are on this effort in Atlanta, we believe it will be of interest at this time to convey to you a picture of the work as it is being carried on each day.

The entire area which is about ten miles square has been divided into nineteen districts. From one to three of these districts have been assigned to each of the workers who are helping in the effort. As names of interested people come in they are grouped as per these nineteen districts. Then each week these people are visited by those in charge of that district.

Three forenoons each week are spent in class work in the Field School of Evangelism.

The following report covering the work in these districts is for April 17-23. It will be of interest to our people everywhere as it will give you a real picture of the work that is being done in Atlanta.

Pray that out of all these names God will gather a great number who will be true to the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.

JUNIOR CAMPS

It may not be necessary for the union Missionary Volunteer secretary to refer to the matter of junior camps since so much has appeared recently from our conference secretaries on this subject. However, a few additional words may not seem superfluous, and we desire to place ourselves squarely on record as strongly favoring the camp idea.

The summer camp is a school of character training. The highest ideals in Christian conduct are upheld. Reverence for religion, respect for authority, obedience, truthfulness. promptness, dependability, these and other virtues are emphasized. intimate acquaintance with nature. the handiwork of God, is encouraged through tree study, flower study, star study, and the study of animal life. Camp craft, including hiking, trailing, and camping is engaged in. Crafts, as leather work, wood work, weaving, basketry, etc., are practiced. Swimming is taught, and all water sports are under careful supervision. a trained life saver being always on duty. Swimming and other sports and games are conducted separately for boys and girls.

A daily program covering every hour of the day is strictly adhered to. This program provides for periods of rest and relaxation each day. A library containing suitable books and periodicals will be provided.

The junior age is from ten to fifteen inclusive. No one under ten, nor past the sixteenth birthday may be admitted without special arrangement with the camp director. Such exceptions should be exceedingly few.

We feel ourselves fortunate this year in having the help of Prof. A. W. Spalding at each of our camps. Professor Spalding may well be called the "Father of Junior Camps." He was the first to conduct such camps among us, and has been connected with more than a score of camps in different parts of the country. His experience and counsel will prove invaluable.

Details regarding the various camps will be appearing from time to time. Any further information desired will be furnished gladly by your local conference Missionary Volunteer secretary. C. A. RUSSELL.

TO THE MEMBERS IN CAROLINA

It is my desire to pass on to you through the pages of the SOUTHERN TIDINGS my appreciation for your hearty cooperation given me in both the home missionary and the Sabbath school departments since coming to the conference almost two years ago. I have found you willing to cooperate in all matters, and this, of course, has made my work very pleasant, and the degree of success which has been seen in either of the departments has not been because of my leadership, but because of your cooperation. There is a great work to be done here in the Carolinas, and I am sure you will give the same hearty cooperation to my successor as you have given to me. This being true, we will continue to see the work in the Carolinas go forward until all

I am leaving the Carolina Conference to take up the same work of the home missionary and Sabbath school departments in the Florida Conference, and I ask your earnest prayers that God will lead and guide that we may go forward there in the Master's service. There will always be a warm spot in my heart for Carolina, and as I go, it will be with a prayer upon my lips that God will bless each of you, that your own Christian experience may grow brighter day by day, and your service become so active that many souls will be saved as a result of your work.

NEWS NOTES

On Thursday, April 27, Elder and Mrs. M. E. Chapman and their two children, Barbara and Bobbie, left for Florida, their new field of labor. Elder Chapman will carry the same two departments in the Florida conference that he has carried in the Carolinas. The Home Missionary and Sabbath school departments in the Carolina Conference have prospered the last two years under the leadership of Elder Chapman, and we wish him continued success as he assumes the heavier duties of a larger conference.

We are glad to announce that Brother J. M. Cox of the Florida Conference has accepted our invitation from the Carolina Conference Committee to fill the vacancy made by the departure of Elder Chapman. As he accepts the duties connected with the Home Missionary and Sabbath school departments of the Carolina Conference, we ask for him the cooperation and prayers of our entire white and colored constituency. Brother Cox is expected to meet our people at the camp meeting at Kanuga Lake on June 1.

Brother W. T. Smith was called last week to Murray, Kentucky, where his wife underwent an operation. We hope for her speedy recovery.

The colored conference committee met in Charlotte May 1 and laid further plans for the camp meeting for the colored department which is to be held in Asheville June 1-10. As all delegates and visitors outside of Asheville will be furnished free sleeping quarters at this meeting, we look for a good attendance from all parts of the field.

Brother W. O. Reynolds is getting located in Florence, S. C., where he plans to hold a tent effort after camp meeting.

The first baptism in connection with the Durham Tabernacle effort was performed on Sunday night, April 30. Other baptisms will follow from time to time. We hope for a good increase in the membership of the Durham church as a result of these meetings.

Elder Lysinger has been asked to speak at the Durham Tabernacle the night of May 16.

LOCKPORT, KENTUCKY

About midway between Louisville and Covington, Kentucky, almost astride the Henry and Owen County line, on the banks of the Kentucky River, is located a half-built edifice, which is to be known as the Lockport Hospital when finished.

It was originally Brother Ira Wallace's dream of a rural enterprise consisting of a farm, school, and medical unit. The triple idea has been developing under great handicaps. We hope that the brightest days for this enterprise lie ahead.

Dr. Elliott located in Lockport, and his influence for Christian service and the healing of the body has been widespread.

The village elders donated a lot on the river bank. A cement firm gave cement enough to make the whole structure solid and hang together. A missionary-minded individual gave a house toward the medical work in his home county. The proceeds supplied lumber and wages. Rock, plentifully supplied by nature, has made a pretty veneer on the out-

Thus the building has been slowly but surely coming into being. The first story is up. The roof should be on. The doctor and his co-workers have been patiently plodding away, working as fast as funds and material have been available. We admire them for not going into debt. Some day they will have a finished hospital, a well-equipped farm, and a good school. Then every one will be happy. Two churches are about to be organized there. One has been functioning for some time, the other will be organized about eight miles from Lockport.

NEWS NOTES

Our school boards are selecting their teaching personnel for another year. We are happy to have so many teachers reelected and regret that some of our teachers are turning to other lines of endeavor. It is a pleasure to be able to find young men and women who are training for service in the teaching field and to them we are turning for volunteers to fill the ranks.

Lawrenceburg, Kentucky, is planning for a church school this year, and we anticipate that others will spring up before the season is over.

Professor Libby visited Louisville, Pewee Valley, Owenton, Lockport, Covington, and Rock Haven on a recent trip in Kentucky. School prospects for another year are excellent in all these churches.

Nashville Junior Academy has the honor this year of leading Davidson County in the Blue Ribbon Health Contest and will receive the award for a 100 per cent school, every child a blue ribbon child. In addition it will receive the three-year cup as a permanent award. SOUTHERN JUNIOR COLLEGE

"A School of Standards"

J. C. Thompson, - - - President Collegedale, Tennessee

NEWS NOTES

April 28 to May 1 were interesting days at Southern Junior College. An excellent colportur institute was held under the direction of Elder M. V. Tucker, manager of the Southern Publishing Association, assisted by the local conference field men. Twenty-four students are definitely planning to canvass this summer for the purpose of earning scholarships to be applied on their school work for next year. The delivery goal set by these young people for the summer amounted to $20,000. Let us all remember these student colporteurs in our prayers that the Lord will give them success. Are there not others in this large union conference who will join this noble band? If you are interested write to your conference field missionary secretary at once.

Last Tuesday was a delightful day, and one of the happiest for the members of the Junior and Senior classes, for it was the annual picnic given by the members of the Junior class. The day was spent at beautiful Camp Ocoee where all enjoyed the various recreational activities and especially the fine lunch. Supper was served around a camp fire back at the school and after a brief program, long to be remembered, all went home, pronouncing the day a success in every

The Collegedale String Quartet enjoyed a pleasant visit to Nashville last Sunday and Monday, where they rendered a program at the S. P. A. chapel. We are glad to see the interest manifested in our school by the young people of that city and hope to have many of them with us in September.

We were happy to welcome Professor and Mrs. Larson and a group of students from the Nashville Junior Academy last week-end. Several of them are definitely planning to return here for work next year.
