The Draft and Military Training

By CARLYLE B. HAYNES

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has asked Congress for the greatest enlargement and strengthening of the armed forces of the nation in peacetime history.

Whether Congress will accede to his request to its full extent is yet to be determined.

What he has asked is that the draft be resumed and that universal military training be inaugurated.

His proposals are made when the Army is about 119,000 men below its budgeted strength, and the Navy around 10,000 below.

The President's requests were immediately followed by requests from the Army and Navy to be allowed to greatly augment their budgeted strength.

Congress is not enthusiastic about granting what is asked. It may not approve. In that case the requests will be denied. There are legislators who favor military training but not the draft. There are others who favor the draft but not military training.

Four possibilities, therefore, confront us. Both military training and the draft may be enacted.

Neither military training nor the draft may be approved.

Military training alone may be placed in effect.

The draft alone may be resumed.

If the fourth contingency takes place it is presumed that it will affect the age group between eighteen and twenty-six. Not all those in this age group will be needed, consequently it is likely that physical standards will be heightened and the very best men selected.

If military training is established rather than or in addition to the draft, it will involve the age group between eighteen and twenty. Under the terms of legislation already introduced it would induct an estimated 850,000 lads a year into special training corps. These would have special rules, regulations, and identifying insignia, and would not be part of the armed forces. The training period would be for six months, followed by another six months of special training selected by the trainee.

Lads in military training could not be sent overseas or be assigned to any armed forces units in this country. Consequently, far from helping the combat readiness of the regular forces, military training would handicap them for a time, since the regular services would be required to supply an estimated 185,000 military personnel and 45,000 civilians to administer and train 850,000 youths annually.

That, in brief, is the picture at present. If, as is thought possible, the draft is resumed, it is likely the same provisions relating to conscientious objection will be resumed as prevailed under Selective Service. In that case our procedure would be the same as it was then.

These things remain to be worked out. As they are worked out the War Service Commission of the denomination, which still continues, will advise our members of their rights under whatever legislation is enacted, and the best procedure to follow to obtain such rights.

Meanwhile, go on about your work, and leave your future where it belongs, in God's hands. He has always guided His people. He is guiding them now. These developments have not occurred as a surprise to Him. He is planning for you in love.

Devotion in Service

By LOUIS F. PASSEBOIS, Deceased

WHEN I visited the Fine Arts Gallery in Paris I saw a famous statue. It was the work of a man who, like many other geniuses, had struggled with poverty. His room in a garret served for both studio and sleeping quarters. "One midnight, when the statue was just finished, a sudden frost fell upon Paris. The sculptor lay awake in his fireless garret and thought of the still moist clay, thought how the water in it would freeze and the dream of his life would be destroyed in a night. So the old man rose from his cot, wrapped his bed clothes reverently about the statue and lay down to his sleep. In the morning the neighbors found him lying dead. His life had gone out into his work. What devotion to one's work! Yes, such devotion in the life of Christian workers would mean the salvation of many lost souls.

SOUTHERN UNION YOUTH'S CONGRESS-June 3 to 6-Make Reservations Now!

While in Luxor, Egypt, I visited the site and ruins of the ancient and beautiful city of Thebes, once one of the chief centers of civilization in Egypt. The ravages of time were evident. Piles of brick and stone and sculptured images are about all that remain—grim reminders of former greatness and power. Famous temples lie in ruins, mute witnesses of dynasties once great, but long since departed.

I went several miles into the hills and visited the royal sepulchers. There in the rock had been hewn vast tombs in which the kings and rulers who lived before the days of Moses were laid to rest. It was with strange feelings that I went down into those sculptured passages, led by a guide with a tallow candle for light. How impressive was the folly of devoting one's life to things of this world. Most of the royal bodies have been removed. The walls of the tombs are covered with hieroglyphic characters, doubtless giving the history of the kings and of the times in which they lived. Here one walks amid eternal silence. The loneliness of the place with no sign of life, the dark passages and lofty chambers impress one with a sense of the fleeting glory and transitory nature of all things earthly. All that we behold around us is transient and warns us not to give our lives to the things of this world. Fortunes vanish. Earthquake, flame, and flood quickly sweep away the accumulated treasures of a lifetime. Riches take wings and flee away.

Why give our lives to these earthly things, perishing things? Why not give them to turning sinners to righteousness, that we may shine at last as the stars? Daniel 12:3.

"Share Your Faith" News

By CARIS H. LAUDA

Good news comes from our young people of the Central Orlando church. They have started a "Share Your Faith" youth for youth series of meetings at Ocoee, Florida. They are holding these meetings in a small hall there in the city each Thursday and Saturday evening.

The first meeting was very well attended. Enthusiasm ran high, and twenty-three new names and addresses from non-Adventists were received.

Paul Mouchon, Larry Hughes, and Leslie Sheffield were on the platform. Professor H. M. Lodge, the Florida Missionary Volunteer secretary, introduced these young men. Dr. George Winters had charge of directing the music. Dr. Eldridge was in charge of the orchestra. A junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. McClellan, assisted in the service.

We ask our youth throughout the Southern Union to remember in their prayers this and other "Share Your Faith" meetings as they are being held throughout our union.

Photographic Equipment

The World-Wide Bible Pictures, a department of the Pacific Union Conference, is in a position to quote very attractive figures on all types of Photographic Equipment such as moving picture projectors, slide projectors, beaded screens, etc. In the past months the department has been pleased to secure this equipment for many of our workers and church members.

We know there are many who are using or who are planning to use Visual Aids in the promulgation of the gospel, and this department has been established to give assistance along this line. We have purchasing arrangements for a large variety of quality photographic equipment. We believe it would pay you to investigate our service. Please address all inquiries to:

★ Have you read Eric B. Hare's "Treasures from the Haunted Pagoda"? If not, order today from your Book and Bible House. Its setting in the jungle of Burma, the story of mystery surrounding an ancient pagoda, is woven into a tale that shows divine power working with consecrated human agencies. The bombing of Rangoon in World War II affords an appropriate concluding comment in the closing chapters on the hazards of missionary undertakings.

Prosperity Depends on Tithe

"Malachi has specified that the condition of prosperity depends upon bringing to God's treasury that which is His own. This principle needs to be often brought before the men who are lax in their duty to God, and who are neglectful and careless in bringing in their tithes, gifts, and offerings to God." —Testimonies to Ministers, page 305.

Camp Meeting Help

We have need of a number to work in the cafeteria at camp meeting. There is especially need for adult help and those with experience. Any one who desires to work is requested to write to Elder R. G. Mote, Box 930, Charlotte, North Carolina, and to make arrangements as soon as possible.

Camp Meeting Rooms

There are still a large number of rooms available for camp meeting. None of these rooms have private bath, and all first floor rooms are taken with the exception of those in Martha Washington. The orders are pouring into the office rapidly, so everyone is requested to make your reservation as soon as possible. We are expecting this to be a large camp meeting.

Wilmington

On Sabbath, March 27, a beautiful baptismal service was conducted in Wilmington. Eight persons followed their Lord in baptism. These were the fruits of colporteur work, Bible studies, and the young people's "Week of Prayer." One family came out of the Catholic church, and they certainly appreciate the wonderful message that God has revealed to them. Another woman found the Sabbath and kindred truths from reading "Bible Readings" which she borrowed from her mother. Now we learn that the mother believes the Sabbath and will probably be ready by the next baptism.

In spite of opposition and refusal to give permission to solicit funds for Ingathering in Wilmington, the work has gone on steadily. Now we can sing the victory song, as we have reached our goal and made many new friends. At least three people were contacted through the Ingathering who were searching for the truth. While money was harder to get than in former years, it has proven a great blessing, for more homes were reached and more people had an opportunity to know the message for this hour.

What could all the stir be about? The ladies of the Dorcas Society were really busy. Each sister had to bring at least one lady's handbag and fill it for some needy person overseas. What an assortment it proved to be as thirty-four handbags were filled to capacity.

Among the items sent were the following: soap, thread, toothpaste, sink brushes, pencils, straight pins, needles, boxes of buttons, gloves, rick-racks, shoe strings, hand cream, used clothes, razor blades, combs, cards of hooks and eyes, garters, band aids, children's dresses, powder, socks, hose, wash rags, thimbles, bands of elastic, and many other items. Eight boxes of used clothing and handbags filled with necessities are now bringing joy to many unfortunate people.

In the campaign for garden seeds, one seed company gave one of the Dorcas ladies $50.00 worth of garden seeds for Europe. Another seed house has promised to duplicate this soon. God bless our Dorcas societies, and may they have a vision of the great field of service before them.

★ Elder Wentland from the union office spent a few days recently assisting Elder Marsh and Elder Thurber in Ingathering at the school at Fletcher. They reported a good field trip.

★ Elders Sanders, Mote, Marsh, Esquilla, and Elder H. H. Votaw from the General Conference were in Sumter, South Carolina, last week on business.

★ Elder Scott, the district leader in the Morganton area, expects to have his entire district over the top in Ingathering within the next few days. Morganton is now almost over the top, and some of the other churches are working hard.

★ Elder Esquilla reports a good attendance at the effort in Columbia. He has been assisted by Brother Kephlinger.

★ Good reports from the Asheville area indicate Ingathering is under way up there. We expect to see this district over the top before long.

★ Elder F. O. Sanders and family visited the Morganton church the past week end.

★ Colporteurs are finding these good days to sell books. Good reports are coming in from many of the colporteurs from their recent spring big week push.

Evangelism In Miami

A great city-wide evangelistic program opened in Miami on Sunday night, March 21, when fifteen hundred people heard Evangelist W. O. Reynolds preach on the subject: "Will Russia Rule the World?" The meeting was held in the city Armory where fourteen hundred seats were reserved before the day of the meeting. An extra hundred people were seated outside facing loud speakers. Many were turned away because of lack of space and seats.

Elder W. O. Reynolds and the Miami Seventh-day Adventist church spent three weeks in active preparation for this series of meetings. In his sermon three weeks before this meeting, Elder Reynolds announced the program and quoted from the Spirit of prophecy the need for church members to experience the deep, converting power of God, if the deep moving Spirit of God was to be seen in the church. The church pledged money, individual labor, and prayers that the meetings might be a success. Before the first meeting sixty thousand door-knob invitations to enroll in a Bible course had been distributed by members of the Miami church. Forty-seven thousand invitation cards for the first two meetings were taken home and addressed to names in the Miami telephone directory. The pastor requested the members to spend one day in prayer and fasting before the meeting, and on the day of the meeting hourly prayers were scheduled. As a result of the door-knob invitations and newspaper advertising, 1250 people enrolled for the Bible study course by the time the first meeting opened. "God is leading," Elder Reynolds said, "and the Miami church members have given me whole-hearted support."

Assisting are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Kraner and Miss Fanny Mosby, Bible instructor.

News From Tampa

The evangelistic effort under the leadership of Elder M. R. Garret and his associates began in a large tent in Tampa on March 7 with the tent filled for the opening service. The interest continues to grow as indicated by the large nightly attendance. The Sunday night audiences usually go beyond the confines of the tent. It is too early thus far to say what the final results will be; however, after presenting "The Antichrist" and "The Change of the Sabbath" on Sunday, April 4, about fifty signed the covenant to be true to the Sabbath and all the commandments of God.

Associated with us in this effort are Brother Joseph A. Crews. Sister Crews is doing personal work, and Brother Crews is leading out in the program of music. Elder Lee Carter is the pastor of the church and is rendering every possible assistance. Sister Alice Buford, formerly of the Alabama-Mississippi Conference, and Mrs. H. T. Barnhart of Tampa, are serving as Bible instructors. Mrs. Porter and Mitcheleen Garret are the pianists.

With hard work, faith, and the continued blessing of God we expect a large harvest of souls from this evangelistic campaign.

Action In Bradenton

On March 7 the tent effort in Bradenton under the leadership of Elder J. R. Spangler came to a successful close. These meetings continued for five months with the attendance holding up in a wonderful way throughout all this time. The two small towns of Bradenton and Palmetto, together comprising approximately ten-thousand population, were well represented on Sunday nights as the tent was filled to capacity with four to five hundred people. The attendance on week nights ran between two and three hundred. All of this took place in spite of strong opposition by city officials and pastors of other churches.

The expenses of these meetings were over $3000, but we are thankful that our offerings covered this amount completely, which is an evidence that self-supporting efforts can be held. The Lord has, indeed, richly blessed these meetings. To date thirty precious souls have been baptized into Christ. This group, plus eight to ten more who are preparing for baptism, has made these meetings very fruitful.

The evangelistic group was composed of Elder and Mrs. J. R. Spangler, Brother and Sister W. J. Watt, Brother J. A. Shepard, Jr., and Brother A. M. Patrick. The church members of Bradenton and Palmetto loyally supported the effort with their presence, prayers, and means.

The increase of members in the Bradenton Church has made it necessary for us to consider a new church building project. The Sabbath school has an attendance of well over one hundred. The Palmetto church, also, is starting a remodeling project which has long been needed. Their plans include an addition for more Sabbath school rooms for the young people.

It makes our hearts glad to see the work grow under God's blessing and leadership. At present Elder Spangler is continuing Wednesday and Sunday night meetings in the Bradenton church. Pray for these meetings that those who are still on the border line may have the strength and faith to take their stand for God's Truth.

We want to thank the Florida Conference for their cooperation in making these meetings possible. Our president, Elder R. H. Nightingale, was with us the last Saturday night of the meetings and gave to the people a thrilling and stirring message on Astronomy and the Bible. The unusual screen pictures made this message live and created a desire in everyone's heart for that better land that Jesus is preparing for us. Let each of us remain faithful and work for souls until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Farewell

After a little over two years of labor in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, we are leaving this field for wider service in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. As we look back on our labors, we see in them all the hand of God, fashioning in His way the characters and lives of many with whom we have had the privilege of laboring.

The time seems short, but pleasant. Even in the adverse places, it was good to have been there. We shall never forget Rome. The name seems almost prophetic when one tries evangelism in its midst. God still has precious souls in that place. In our work at Rome we appreciated the loyal support given us by Elder William A. Hilliard, who has now gone to China, and by Sister L. B. Fussell, who is now assisting at the Scott Sanitarium. May God reward them for their untiring efforts. From Rome we went to Calhoun, where a faithful group stands as a witness to the power of the truth. In our work in Macon, Brother R. E. Brewer was a constant help and stay, and a loyal and outstanding church board added much to the progress of the work there. The church members themselves demonstrated their godly spirit by constant and regular attendance at all the evangelistic meetings of the church.

Just before leaving the field we spent six weeks in the Johnson City District with Elder Webster. His kind and cooperative spirit was much appreciated. In our short labor with him, the Lord added ten precious souls to the churches.

In our work in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference we have greatly appreciated the kind guidance of our conference president, Elder I. M. Evans. It is always a pleasure to work under and for men who take as their guide, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is there is liberty."

We wish on all God's blessing, and as we go to Canada we take with us in the hall of enduring memory the names of many friends we have had the privilege of knowing in the southern field. Our new address will be 1253 Broadview, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

News Notes

★ Elder Carlyle B. Haynes spent a few days in Atlanta the first week end in April, during which time he conducted several services at both the Beverly Road and First churches. Elder Haynes is no stranger in this city, where his labors many years ago were instrumental in bringing a knowledge of present truth to a large number now composing the membership of the two Atlanta churches. It is always a pleasure to have him in our midst, and we look forward to his return at some future date.

★ The members of the Rome, Georgia, church were made especially happy on Sabbath, April 4, for at that time they received a visit from the conference president and witnessed the baptism of two new believers.

★ During the past week or two we have been glad to welcome to our field a group of representatives from the Florida Sanitarium, who presented in our churches at Collegedale, Atlanta, and Savannah a special film depicting the life of a student nurse.

★ Elder M. K. Eckenroth, associate secretary of the Ministerial Association of the General Conference, delivered three special lectures in the Chattanooga Municipal Auditorium, Friday through Sunday nights, April 9 to 11. Professor Harold A. Miller and Brother Wayne Thurber led out in the musical features of the program. These meetings were conducted for the purpose of interesting the public in Bible prophecy and enrolling as many as possible in the Twentieth Century Bible Course. Interests will be followed up by personal visitation and a series of meetings conducted by Elder H. W. Walker in the Chattanooga church. A more complete report of the Eckenroth meetings will no doubt appear at a later date.

★ Elder J. R. Ferren, press representative of the General Conference, was a welcome visitor at the union and local offices last week, where he gave valuable help and suggestions to our press secretaries in the Atlanta area.

The Academy Board, at the last session, voted to establish the building block industry on the campus.

One-half of the Ingathering goal is realized. The students are working with a "never give up" enthusiasm. A number have set one hundred dollars as their individual goals.

May 9 is known as Academy Day when young people of academic age, from the various states of the Southern Union, will visit the Highland Academy campus to get better acquainted with the school.

The annual colporteur institute for the students, under the direction of

Missionary Volunteers at Work

The first Investiture Service in the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, during the spring of 1948, was held at Paris, Tennessee, Sabbath afternoon, March 27. A fine group of Senior Missionary Volunteers are studying together, preparing to be Master Comrades, and at that time were invested in the classes they had finished. Elder W. G. Ambler, pastor of the Paris district, can certainly rejoice that so many are interested in helping the young people and are preparing themselves to lead more capably the juniors in worthwhile activities.

Friday evening, April 9, was Investiture time at Ashland, Kentucky. The platform was crowded with Junior and Senior Missionary Volunteers, circled around a simulated campfire. The interested audience could almost see the stars overhead as Mrs. Callender described them in the darkened room, and the calls of night birds

The Journey's End

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." Revelation 14:13

JONES:—Mrs. Jewell Evelyn Jones was born May 24, 1878, near Sorrell's Chapel in Dyer County, Tennessee, and married Monroe Jones, July 25, 1897. She became a member of the Dysinger Seventh-day Adventist church some years ago and was a member until her death. Sister Jones died at her residence early Sabbath morning, March 27, 1948, at the age of 69 years. She is survived by her husband, Monroe Jones; two daughters, Mrs. Bill Moddy and Mrs. Will Pike; one son, J. M. Jones, Jr.; all of Finley Highway; one brother, Emmett Walker of Midway; and eight grandchildren.

BERRY:—Mrs. India Berry was born about 1854, and died in Jackson, Mississippi, on March 15, 1948, at the ripe age of 94 years. She gave her heart to the Lord early in life and lived up to the light she had until 1944, when Elder C. S. Myles preached the Advent message in a tent effort in Jackson, Mississippi.

Sister Berry accepted the message and lived it faithfully until death claimed her. Her body was laid to rest in the Elmwood cemetery in Jackson, Mississippi, to await the call of the Life-giver. She sleeps not without hope; she only rests from her labors until the Saviour calls her. Words of comfort were spoken to the bereaved by the writer.

could be heard as they were told about bird study. There were three Sunbeams, twelve Friends (seven of whom had also completed the Companion requirements), one Comrade, and three Master Comrades invested. Pastor C. E. Johnson and his good wife, with the assistance of their church school teacher, Mrs. Hazel Callender, surely did splendid work in encouraging these nineteen people to prepare for Investiture.

There are six more Investiture services already planned in our conference for the season before Youth's Congress. Madison, Bowling Green, Lawrenceburg (Tennessee), Fountain Head, Chestnut Hill, and Covington Missionary Volunteers are busily preparing. Why doesn't your society also plan to have one this summer or fall? Of course, there will be a service during the Youth's Congress, where those prepared as Master Comrades will be invested; and then there will be an Investiture at camp meeting and one at Junior Camp, but that isn't as good as having one in your own church. Let us know in the office, and we'll be glad to plan with you.

Ingathering

This is the work pressing in upon our hearts today. Our aim is "Kentucky-Tennessee a Minute-man Conference." We urge every believer to do his or her part. Isolated and conference church members should do their part and then send in their Ingathering money to the conference treasurer. Let's make this campaign count for God, not only in money, but in interest created in this message.

Newport Church Organized

A day long to be remembered by our members in Newport, Kentucky, is March 6, 1948, the day the Newport Company was organized into a church of thirty-six members. Elder and Mrs. Strickland were present, and Elder Strickland conducted the organization service. We are looking forward with eager anticipation to the day when we will have our own church building, and we would greatly appreciate the prayers of our workers and members throughout the conference that God may bless our newly organized church.

Among the four judges invited to judge, and give the awards is Hubert Judd. He was one of the honored judges at the 100th Anniversary of U. S. "When a soul has been brought to Christ through this personal labor, leave the surrendered, humbled heart for God to work with; let God urge upon him just such service as He sees fit. God has promised that His grace shall be sufficient for every one who will come unto Him." — Colporteur Evangelist, page 62.
