

Eternally Grateful to Yon

Del Delker

I WASN'T long after my arrival on the campus of Emmanuel Missionary College that I became acquainted with Minerva Constantine. Minerva is a lovely girl of 21. After only a brief acquaintance, I knew that she loved the Lord very much. "Minerva," I asked her one day,

"Minerva," I asked her one day, "have you been a Seventh-day Adventist all your life?"

'Why no,'' she said. "Didn't you know that most of my family and I found the message through the Voice of Prophecy?" That was thrilling news for me.

"Tell me about it," I said. This is the story.

The Constantine family have lived in Windsor, Ontario, all their lives. The entire family was very much interested in church work, attending the Rumanian Orthodox church. They rarely missed Sunday school and church, and were also active in church functions during the week.

One day in the latter part of 1946, Mrs. Constantine sent all of her family to Sunday school, but feeling rather ill, decided to stay home herself. Her 14-year-old daughter, Rae, stayed with her. Mrs. Constant ne decided to turn on the radio to find a religious program. Her attention was arrested by a male quartet singing "Lift up the trumpet and loud let it ring, Jesus is coming again." She sat down and listened to our Voice of Prophecy program, and when Elder Walde talked about the Bible correspondence course, she took down the address. The following Sunday Mrs. Constantine stayed home again and listened to the broadcast. She became a very enthusiastic Voice of Prophecy listener and could hardly wait from one week to the next for the program to come into her home. Before long she and five of her six children were studying either the adult or junior Bible course.

Minerva Constantine with Del Delker.

In the meantime, the children started going to a Sunday school of another denomination, in addition to attending the Rumanian Orthodox church with their father. Here they became acquainted with a Mr. Clapp, a deacon in this new church. They often wondered about Mrs. Clapp as they never saw her at church with her husband. Imagine their surprise when, at Mrs. Constantine's request that a Voice of Prophecy representative be sent to them, it turned out to be Mrs. Clapp, a Seventh-day Adventist! Mrs. Clapp and Mrs. Constantine became fast friends, and Mrs. Constantine and five of her children began attending the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Mrs. Constantine also started attending Elder J. L. Shuler's evangelistic meetings in Detroit, Michigan, just across the national border, and in January, 1948, she was baptiz'd. In November of that same year Minerva, then 15; Em'l, 16 years old; and Rae, 14, followed their mother's example. Just last year, Minerva's two younger brothers, now 15 and 16, were baptized.

Mr. Constantine and his eldest daughter, Helen, are still members of the Rumanian Orthodox church. However, the rest of the family are very happy in their new-found faith, and are praying for the time when Mr. Constantine and Helen will join them in the message they love.

In one of our recent chats, I asked, "Minerva, what word of greeting would you like to send to Voice of Prophecy contributors?"

Eagerly she replied: "To all who have helped to send the Voice of Prophecy into our home, I am eternally grateful I have dedicated my life to God and plan to use my talents in His work. Let us all keep praying and giving so that the Voice of Prophecy will continue to go into the homes of families like mine who are searching for truth. This message has done so much for our family, and we are so thankful to God and to you for making it all possible."

A NOTHER Ingathering report. Some conferences have fin'shed their Ingathering long, long ago. Other conferences are still working at it, having started later, but it won't be long now until we have the LAST REPORT. We are anxious to see what that will reveal. If our plans work out, we shall have about $550,000 which should be a $35,000 gain over last year. South Central has been delayed, but they will come along quickly now and will take their usual high place among the conferences.

SOUTHERN UNION CONFERENCE INGATHERING

News of Southern Missionary College *

KENNETH A. WRIGHT, President RICHARD HAMMILL, Dean CHARLES FLEMING, JR., Business Manager COLLEGEDALE, TENNESSEE

THIS college was highly favored I over the week end April 15 to 17. It is located a scant eighteen miles to the Civic Auditorium of Chattanooga. From the opening session of the Southern Union MV Congress, 7:15 P.M., Thursday night until the last thrilling number, the students of SMC were there in force. Three male quartets, a ladies' trio, a trumpet trio, as well as a baritone trio, and, of course, the Collegedale church choir, and Collegedale band contributed to the outstanding musical features of the congress. Truly the impact upon the students has been uplifting.

Early this week K. F. Ambs, president of the Belgian Congo Union Mission, of the Southern African Division, together with two native ministers, James and Jonas, sponsored by the General Conference, visited the college. This field, once one of the plague districts of the world, today is one of the fastest-growing unions of the entire world field. There, last year alone, over 7000 persons were baptized.

Also Derimal S. Lima, managertreasurer of our Brazil College, located near Sao Paulo, with his family and brother, visited the industries of the college. He reported that this year the Brazil College had on campus, including the elementary pupis five hundred. Charles Pierce, graduate of SMC, is the head of the music department of that institution, which is one of the few senior colleges of this denomination overseas.

YOUTHFUL WITNESSES

THERE used to be a slogan in Florida which went like this: "Youth efforts? - Share Your Faith? - It can be done - Florida youth will be doing it." That slogan has been changed. It now says: "It can be done. Florida youth are doing it."

All over the state youth teams are going into action, using the new preaching films. One youth effort is nearly finished, with good prospects for several baptisms. Ten other efforts are going or are soon to start. Young people are giving out the handbills, ushering, leading the music, running the projectors, serving as master of ceremonies, giving testimonies, and doing the rest of the work (pleasure).

Do they enjoy it? That's the question. All we know, of course, is what we hear. HJ says, "We don't call this our effort. We call it our privilege. It's a real thrill." KH says, "We are thrilled with the possibilities of our two youth efforts. They are the greatest thing that has ever happened to us." MG says, It's wonderful to see the people come and hear them say how they enjoy it. We want to start another effort after camp meeting.' Of course, I could go on and on.

Listen, why don't you do something for Christ? Get into this thing called Share Your Faith and get your share of the blessings which your fellow youth are enjoying. You'll someday be glad you did.

Ray Olmstead is making an extended trip to the East in the search of contacts to keep the wood p.oducts enterprise humming. It seems good to hear the machinery going 24 hours a day again, which gives promise of a continuing opportunity for a laige number of students to earn part of their expenses for their school work.

★ Elder C. H. Lauda was the guest speaker at the Greenville, North Carolina, church, Sabbath, April 24. Seven precious souls were added to the church as a result of the efforts of the pastor, Brother Jack Martz; the Bible School representative, Elder P. G. Crestakos; and the faithful work of the laymen.

 \star Elder M. B. Elliston visited the Spartanburg church for a commissioning service Sabbath, April 24, when four laymen were commissioned in the "120." A fine honor guard of commissioned men and women was on hand to see Dis Harold Moody and Paul Shakespeare, of Spartanburg, Brother Burgess Goodbrad, of Greenville, and Brother J. Q. Boughman, of Union, commissioned in the "120." How fitting it was to have a baptismal service in connection with the commissioning service which was closed with a prayer of dedication. Nine precious souls were baptized into the Spartanburg church. Elder L. H. Pit.on, the pastor of the Spartanburg church, and a fine group of commissioned laymen have done a wonderful work as their labors have been united for winning souls to God's message of truth. ★ Elder W. A. Scriven conducted two investiture services the week end of April 24. At Hildebran, North Carolina, 26 individuals were invested in the various Missionary Volunteer classes; and at Greenville, South Carolina, 28 were invested.

★ Word has just been received from Elder R. K. Cemer and his evangelistic company that in the second baptism at Wilmington, North Carolina, 20 precious souls were added to the church. We wish for the Cemer Evangelistic Team God's richest blessings as they continue their evangelistic meetings.

★ Plans are in the making for eight Vacation Bible Schools to be held in the Carolina Conference during the summer of 1954. Elder Archa O. Dart will be with us for the first two. We understand that the schools are to be well distributed in both North and South Carolina.

Teaching Self-Control

WHEN you punish a child, if at all possible, connect the punishment with the misdemeanor. It may be that the street is much more inviting to the little child than his yard. But you and I know the tragedy that has come to some youngsters who have played in the street. He is too little to know so we tell him to play in his own yard and not in the street. He plays for a while and then ventures out into the street again.

Mother takes him by the hand, leads him quietly back to the house. Softly she says, "Mother knows her little boy would not disobey her like that. Those naughty feet of yours must learn to obey you. What can we do to those feet to make them take you where they should? We can tie them to this post until they won't want to take you into the street again. Shall we do that? Here, you help mother tie these naughty feet. We are just not going to let them get the best of us, are we? You are a good boy and good boys always make their feet go where they should.' (-Best of all, build a fence!)

This type of punishment helps the youngster to see that he should control his own feet and not let them wander into forbidden paths. We want him to learn self-control as soon as possible, to learn to be master over his

If the five-or-six-year-old child is too rough with kitty (children younger than this seldom should have pets they can handle because they are more than likely to "love them to death") he should not be permitted to play with him until he can play gently. It is essential for a child to learn that obedience brings rewards and that disobedience restricts his liberty. So long as he is k nd to the pet, he can play with him; but as soon as he disobeys mother, his righ s to the cat are forfeited.

Children who are fed an ample, balanced diet, at regular times will not get hungry between meals. But your child may come in contact with some undiciplined children who make a placlice of eating what they please when they please. He may want to do it too. A natural punishment would be to have him do without his next meal. If this would be too long a stretch, he could be given something at the meal time to help him "live" until h's next full meal. Or he could be denied a dessert. A natural punishment thus is to deprive him of his food, when he has been out of line. We as parents must see that he has an abundance of good, wholesome food at meal time and that we have not "starved" him into eating between meals. That would be unfair and even cruel. Appetite is one of the strongest urges known to man. We must train our children to keep this urge under control. It is the child who has been allowed to eat at all hours who is never sa isfied, finicky about his food, and is often undernourished. The child who is regular will not get hungry between meals but will be ready for a good dinner at the proper time.

Little children are self-centered. They are not concerned about others. To a large degree the happiness of men and women and the success of the church depend upon home influences.

Gospel Workers, p. 204

If another child wants any of his toys, there is trouble. This at itude toward other children is normal and natural and has its own divine purpose. But he must be guided. Very likely he will not only want to keep all his own toys, but will attempt to take his neighbor's toys too. It is time for mother to step in and help him to see that the entire world does not belong to him alone. If he insists on demanding all the toys, including his neighbor's, he should be deprived of all toys. He is asked to sit in his little chair for a time. Three to six minutes of quiet meditation is often all that is needed. True, the same lesson may have to be repea ed this afternoon or tomorrow, but he must learn that if he is to be able to enjoy his own toys, he must not take those which belong to his neighbor.

Self-control is our goal in child training. Natural corrections help to stimulate self-control. Use good judgment when dealing with your child. Most of all, let your love be genuine and full of feeling. Enjoy your family. It is the greatest gift God can give you aside from eternal life.

BOOKS FOR THE HOME

Country Living, by Mrs. E. G. White. The location of the home is very important. If business people find it pays to have the right location, even though the cost is greater, certainly parents should see that their home is in the proper location. Price 15 cents, from your Book and Bible House.

Delinquency Control, by Lowell Juilliard Carr. The purpose of this book is to provide a handbook for social workers, court officials, ministers, and others who may be interested in reducing juvenile maladjustments as one step toward more effective control of crime. Contains 447 pages which would be helpful to parents too.

Elder C. W. Beach is a Sabbath school Investment and Dorcas welfare enthusiast. Although he has been pastor of St. Augustine district only a short time he has injected zeal and enthusiasm for these projects into the church members.

This year they have a special way of raising money for these projects. As the picture indicates, they are in the cypress knee business. The men gather the knees from the woods. Then on a specified day many of the church members go to the home of Brother and Sister Booth where they boil the knees for two hours and peel them. After drying them thoroughly they make lamps, stools, and book ends. They shellac them next and in a little while they are ready for the retailer. Some retailers like the knees plain not made into lamps and of course these orders are filled.

The church divides the profits, onehalf for Sabbath school Investment and one-half for welfare work. They expect to clear $500 this year. But in addition to the proceeds from this project, the church has been blessed by the good fellowship the members have had during these cypress knee working bees.

If you have cypress knees around your place, which you undoubtedly do for they are everywhere in Florida, you may want to try this. If you want more particulars write to Elder Beach of St. Augustine.

BIVOUAC

The Forest Lake Academy Medical Cadet Corps conducted its annual bivouac April 1 to 4, at the Methodist Youth Camp, Leesburg, Florida. An opportunity was given for all to put their training into effect. The principles of Seventh-day Adventists, and our noncombatant status, were discussed thoroughly by our corps chaplain, Elder K. R. Davis. Hearing of how the church stands behind her loyal servicemen gave the young men satisfaction in knowing they would not be alone when they go to serve their country. Above all we should be ambassadors of God wherever we may find ourselves. Chaplain Davis conducted morning and evening worship in a chapel under the trees where all around one could see the handiwork of God. Elder F. W. Foster made a visit to the encampment for the Sabbath services. There was a full program each day for the 93 Medical Cadets who were present.

The Forest Lake Academy Medical Cadet Corps is the largest in the country, and we think, the most outstanding. We are very proud of our cadets and cadettes. By the enthusiasm displayed on the campus this year we believe the corps will be bigger and better next year. Boys and girls, make plans now to belong to the Forest Lake Academy Medical Cadet Corps.

tized. Meetings were held every morning at the church school during the Week of Prayer and at the close of the series of studies these gave their young hearts to Christ.

A baptismal class was organized and met every Sabbath afternoon. It is a wonderful testimonial to church school and home training to see the knowledge and understanding of the message that these young people have. This was definitely a turning point in each of their young lives.

We believe that God will impress them to go higher in Christian education and find a definite place in His closing work.

THE COLPORTEUR BIG WEEK

The reports for BIG WEEK are coming in from all parts of the field. Every colporteur has put forth a special effort during our annual General Conference BIG WEEK. Some of the colporteurs have worked over 70 hours with outstanding sales. There are just a few reports to come in yet, but we believe we will have nearly $9,000 in sales for one week. When these books are all delivered, several hundred more homes will thus have a chance to learn of the third angel's message.

The Lord is still calling for men and women to enter His service. The harvest is great. We need many more fulltime and part-time colporteurs here in the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference. Perhaps you are one of those the Lord is calling. Respond to the Lord's call today without delay, for the night cometh when no man can work.

NEWS

★ The Highland Academy Band, under the direction of F. G. Heppel, this past week end gave concerts at the following churches: Covington, Kentucky, Peewee Valley, and Louisville. Our people greatly appreciate the splendid work these young people are doing, and very favorable comments are being made. One lady, visiting in Louisville from Washington, D. C., and who had heard the large bands there, including the Marine Band, stated that Highland Academy's band "topped" them all! Surely we have a right to be proud of them. I know that everyone who heard their programs will agree.

A Sabbath, the principal, L. C. Strickland, and several of the students visited the Ashland, Lexington, and Versaille's churches. I know the members of these churches appreciated very much the help and inspiration they gave.

★ The Owensboro church added two new members by baptism on Sabbath, April 24. They were Brother Hallary Bates and son, Thomas. The baptism was held Sabbath afternoon in the Evansville, Indiana, church baptistry.

 \bigstar Elder H. R. Veach also reports three baptized in the Louisville church April 24.

 \bigstar Elder and Mrs. W. E. Strickland visited the Fairview and Pleasureville churches on Sabbath, April 24. Elder Strickland reports that even though these are very small churches, there was a fine attendance, and they enjoyed very much meeting with these members..

★ Investiture services were held last week by Elder Teddric Mohr in the western part of the conference. Those included in this itinerary were as follows: Leach, Memphis, Dyersburg, Fulton, Paducah, Paris, and Madison.

"HIGHEST, GREATEST WORK"

"The Lord designs that the presentation of this message shall be the highest, greatest work carried on in the ers through the literature ministry. He with others attended the colporteur school at the Southern Publishing Association in Nashville, Tennessee.

Thos. J. Jackson

Brother Jackson is a radio technician, but he wants to use his skill in working for souls. He told me that during his second week he was offered a job at $60 per week to begin and later he would receive a raise as he continued to work. He turned it down, and continued his work for the Master.

For the first four weeks, including the time spent attending the colporteur school in Nashville, he has worked 145 hours; his sales were $2,147.23; and he delivered $474.45.

Jesus is calling men and women to have faith in Him, and to take up the work of colporteur evangelism, and go forward in faith.

"Faith is the living power that presses through every barrier, overrides all obstacles, and plants its banner in the heart of the enemy's camp." Testimonies, Vol. IV, p. 163.

As you think of how the Lord is using Brother Jackson, remember that the Lord needs you to join this band of workers. Pray to this end.

FIRST INGATHERING VICTORY DISTRICT

The Greenville, Mississippi, pastoral district (a district has two or more churches) was the first one to reach its 1954, minimum, Ingathering goal.

The Cleveland, Mississippi, church was the most recent one to reach its goal. Elder J. N. Richardson, the district pastor, reported this church over on April 21. Brother Leonard White is missionary leader of the Cleveland church.

Elder Richardson, officers, and members of the churches of the Greenville district, we commend and salute you for your part in achieving this victory! You were slow, but sure!

The Greenwood district is pressing hard toward its goal, and we believe that under the able leadership of Pastor G. H. Rainey it will yet triumph with definite victory.

The Knoxville, Tennessee, district does not lack much of reaching its minimum goal. Elder E. J. Humphrey led the Greeneville, Tennessee, church to a minuteman victory, and Knoxville to almost a minimum goal before he left the district.

Now that Elder H. L. Jones has taken over the Knoxville area the district in continuing its onward march toward Ingathering victory. The Knoxville church reported "over-the-top" last week. Now only Morristown remains to be led to victory. Elders Humphrey, Jones, church officers and members of the Knoxville district we commend you for what you have accomplished and what you will achieve for Christ in putting the Knoxville district over its Ingahering goal.

We are sincerely grateful for what the o her districts and churches are doing to help our conference reach its Ingathering goal. Hence our watchword is 'Forward and Onward to Ingathering Victory!

Elder B. H. Ewing, our home missionary secretary, was guest speaker and his timely instructions stirred every one and many were heard to exclaim, "This is the best meeting we have ever had." Musical selections were rendered by little Sharon Gooch and Mr. Walter Mucker of Louisville, and Mts. Mobley and Mrs. Lewis of Lexington. A delicious dinner was served by the ladies of the Lexington church led by their leaders, Mrs. Rena Davis and Mrs. Storey. The Go magazine was ordered for the federation officers. We were dismissed by Brother James. Our next meeting will be held at Berea, Kentucky, October 3, 1954.

One Sows -- Another Reaps

V. G. ANDERSON, President, Southern Union Conference

THE ministers of the Southern Union Conference have worked effectively with Elder G. A. Coon, Southern Union revivalist, to make these revivals productive. Elder W. E. Peeke, pastor of the Montgomery, Alabama, district in the Alabama - Mississippi Conference, gives us the interesting story of this work when it is followed-up by the continued efforts of the pastor.

"Sabbath, April 10, was a happy day for the members of the Montgomery and Selma, Alabama, churches. Elder W. O. Coe, home missionary and Sabbath school secretary of the Alabama-Mississippi Conference, presented a soul-stirring message entitled, "Power to be a Christian," and at the conclusion of the morning message five persons followed the example of Jesus and went forward in baptism.

"Before baptizing each candidate the pastor told something of his experience in finding Jesus and this wonderful message. Two of those who went forward were a father and his twelve-year-old son from Selma, Alabama. Those attending this service will long remember the experience told of this father, Fletcher O. Huggins, a young man of 32. His wife has been a member of the church for years. He occasionally attended services with her, but eight months ago it was not his intention to unite with the Adventist church. Fletcher smoked heavily and there were many other ways in which he was walking with the world.

"In the middle of August, 1953, Elder G. A. Coon, Southern Union Conference revivalist, came to the Montgomery district. Some revival meetings were held in Selma as well as Montgomery. August 27 was the night of the last meeting in Selma. A call was made for those who wanted victory in their lives-victory over tobacco, drink, or some other besetting sin. Bro her Huggins was one of those who responded. In an after meeting held in the back room of the church Elder Coon taught him how to pray and claim God's promise of victory. So on his knees that night, Brother Huggins asked, believed, and claimed God's promise of victory. And victory was his! From that night he never smoked again. That was the beginning of his new walk with Jesus. The pastor visited and studied with him, and one by one the habits of the world dropped off and he became a new creature in Christ Jesus.

"Saturday night, March 27, Elder Peeke, accompanied by Brother J. L. Edwards, who was associated for a week with Elder Peeke during the present series of evangelistic meetings in Montgomery, visited with Brother Huggins. We were praying that he would make his decision that night to go forward in baptism on Sabbath, April 10. Different problems were discussed. After this, the pastor presented four ways Jesus could become real to him. Then he turned to Acts 22 and told the experience of Paul. In verses 14 to 16 Brother Huggins' name was placed. Prayer followed by Brother Edwards and the pastor. Jesus was near. Upon arising from our knees, he said, "I do not make quick decisions, but you can count me in on the next baptism." There was rejoicing, I am sure, in the courts of glory. A new soul had been born into the kingdom.

"On Thursday afternoon, April 8, Fletcher and the pastor were in the office of his employer to ask for his Sabba hs off. We entered, not knowing what the outcome would be. Nevertheless, we had prayed that the Lord's will be done. Brother Huggins had come prepared to turn in his switch key and railroad manual to the superintendent should he not be granted his Sabbaths. Thanks be to God this was not necessary. Superintendent. Singleton said it would be all right with him for Fletcher to be off on the Sabbath each week. Surely God was leading and working out His plan for this young man's life.

"Even before baptism Brother Huggins began sharing his faith by telling others of this wonderful message and enrolling them in the School of Bible
