Week of Devotion at Collegedale

OSCAR L. HEINRICH, Educational Secretary
Alabama-Mississippi Conference

IT WAS a real privilege to spend a week on the campus of Southern Missionary College and become acquainted with the students and staff of our fine college and academy.

O. L. Heinrich

The week of September 26 to October 1, was set aside by the academy religious activities committee as the time for the fall Week of Prayer for the boys and girls enrolled for academy work. During the chapel hour each afternoon and the evening worship hour, we talked to the youth on subjects such as "Living Your Life Tall," "The Sixth Sense—Conscience," "Developing Patience," and "Secret Weapons of a Christian." To make their daily habits of life, their attitudes toward work and school, and their relationships in association with each other a practical way of true Christian living, was the goal set before them.

Most of the academy students are members of the church and have a fine Christian background. But it would have thrilled your heart, as it did mine, to listen to the testimonies of these stalwart youth at the Friday evening vesper hour. They expressed appreciation for parents who have guided them thus far in life and who are now sacrificing to see that they are in a Christian school. Scores of them spontaneously stood to their feet and determined to live their lives "tall," above the ordinary stream of low thinking and to lift high their individual standards and ideals.

Collegedale Academy has fine, well-qualified instructors on its staff. I enjoyed visiting with them about their work and becoming acquainted with them. They manifested a sincere and keen interest in the individual student. It seemed that the spirit among the staff and students alike was that of courage and happiness.

Southern Missionary College and Academy can proudly boast of the fine caliber of young people who have presented themselves for admittance to that school. In my short stay on the campus I was impressed that these youth have a seriousness of purpose commensurate with the times in which we are living. I know that often when the time rolls around for our boy or girl to go away to school, it is hard for parents to make the break, but let me assure you that our young people can be in no better place than in one of our schools. It is true they will meet with temptation and discouragement there, the same as in any place, but the guidance and provision that is made for their training will see them through if they are willing to be led and follow the lead.

May God bless our students and those who guide them in our schools. We pass along to the constituency of Collegedale Academy the prayer requests of these young people who so earnestly requested that they be remembered in our daily devotions.

Brave Men

C. W. CHAMBERS, Secretary, War Service Commission

YES, they are brave men, every one of them, these men who volunteered for medical research!

After careful study, a committee which included A. V. Olson, W. R. Beach, Dr. T. R. Flaiz, and others, approved the participation of our service men in a medical study calculated to provide knowledge essential to meeting the threat of a disease which is world-wide in its distribution, including the western United States.

Contacted in groups, and promised only the thrill of service in helping their fellowmen as the result of their own possible suffering, many of our servicemen volunteered when they were interviewed by the writer and Lt. Col. W. D. Tiggert, of Walter Reed Army Medical Center. The 170 who passed the rigid physical examination required of them came to Washington D.C. Most of them are here yet. Many have completed all phases of the test, and at least one of them insisted on a second opportunity. Some were sick. Some were not. All are well now. The best medical skill available is in constant touch with these men as they go through the study.

The results of the project are set forth by Major General S. B. Hays, Surgeon General of the United States Army. After stating the medical objectives involved in this research, General Hays says: "While it will be some months yet before all of the medical data can be evaluated, it is completely clear . . . that . . . most of the objectives noted above have been met."

For more complete details, including the statement by Elder Beach, and further extracts from a recent letter received from General Hays, see the article "Beyond the Call of Duty" in a forthcoming issue of the Review and Herald.

THE COST OF LIQUOR AND TOBACCO

THE direct cost of liquor and tobacco is approaching 14 billion a year."

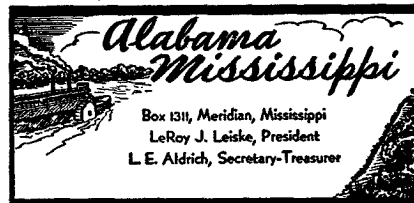

The indirect cost is too staggering to figure. Surely this gives us a picture that tells much about the cause of juvenile delinquency, divorce, crime, poverty, and moral disintegration.

TEMPERANCE DAY

Sabbath, October 29, has been set aside as World Temperance Sabbath. An offering will be taken in all of our North American church on this date to promote our world temperance program.

Every Adventist in the Alabama-Mississippi Conference should be an assiduous supporter of our great temperance program. Our goal of 50¢ per member is very small, but if we can attain this goal, it will mean that much-needed funds will be available for promoting the cause of temperance in this conference. Twenty-five cents out of each dollar is to be retained in the local church for local temperance projects.

We as Adventists can be proud of the work that is being carried on within the denomination in the field of temperance. Yet we have hardly touched or made an impression upon the forces promoting alcohol, tobacco, and dope. Warnings need to be sounded loudly to the boys and girls growing up in our communities. Let each of us do our part.

It may be that some of our churches have never shown the film, "One in 20,000." If you have not, or wish to

HOSPITALITY GUILD

On October 4, the Florida Sanitarium "Hospitality Guild" were guests of the institution at a smorgasbord, the occasion being the first annual election of officers for this fast-growing hospital auxiliary, which has as its objectives to render special courtesies to patients and to assist (without remuneration) in many ways in the various service departments of the hospital.

In America today there are over 1000 such auxiliaries, with a membership of over a million and a half volunteer workers—and the sanitarium group of this meeting voted to join this American Hospital Association of auxiliaries.

Club and Class Activity

★ Among some of the older organizations which have renewed their activities recently are:

The Apollos Guild, an organization of the wives and friends of students in the religion department curriculum. Its purpose is to acquaint them with the duties of the minister's wife in his work of soul saving. Mrs. Paul Gates is the president of this organization.

Christ's Foreign Legion, which fosters the spirit of missionary endeavor in foreign countries. Last year was its first year. The officers this year include Arvo Schoen, president; Herold Weiss, vice-president; Fern Gibson, secretary; Jeanette Hostetler, assistant secretary; Brian Wilcox, publicity secretary.

Among other clubs which organized recently are: Nature Club, Parliamentary Club, Camera Club, Future Nurses' Club, Future Teachers of America Club, Secretarial Club, Science Club.

Campus Activity

★ The various committees employing the services of many students and all of the faculty members are now in full swing. On Sunday morning, October 8, the following faculty committees were in session: Committee on publications and public relations, committee on social life, committee on lyceum programs. The president and dean of the college are members ex-officio of all these and other committees, and were with them Sunday, helping them plan their work for the year. Among other items attended to by the committee on publications and public relations was the assignment of responsibilities for public relations among the colleges and civic clubs of this part of Tennessee, publicity in the local newspapers, and in our denomination's periodicals.

★ E. Willmore Tarr, head of the social sciences division, Saturday night gave an informative and extremely interesting illustrated lecture on South Africa, including one reel entitled "Daybreak in the Dark Continent." This was a color movie which publicized Seventh-day Adventist mission secretary of this organization, Clyde O. Franz, father of our freshman student Charles Franz, and Valentin Schoen, Missionary Volunteer and educational and medical cadet secretary of the Antillian Union, and graduate of SMC of the class of 1955, are to be our guests. Brother Schoen's son is a sophomore of the college, and president of his class.

Missionary Volunteer Society Activities

One of the most enjoyable features fostered by this organization this year is the Sabbath evening hour of meditation, given just before sunset. This comes as a fitting close to the spiritual activities of the Sabbath.

The band activities of the society continue unabated, a large number visiting not only the white but also the colored wings of the tubercular hospital, of both women and men; the county jail; and the home for the aged, near Silverdale.

SEPTEMBER BAPTISMS

We are thankful indeed for the Lord's blessing upon our soul-winning endeavors during the month of September. Another large group joined our churches by baptism and profession of faith through the united efforts of our evangelists, Bible instructors, lay preachers, and members, bringing to 404 the total added to the church thus far this year.

Laymen Win Souls

IN THE SOUTHERN UNION

South Atlantic Laymen Continue To Win Souls

M. T. BATTLE, Home Missionary Secretary, South Atlantic Conference

SOUL-WINNING experiences continue to come in from various members of the Projector Commissioned Clubs

Elder Green and five of his active laymen over South Atlantic. Just recently we received a very interesting report from G. Jenkins of Savannah. During the month of August Brother Jenkins, along with several interested church members, went to a community about four miles from his home and asked for the use of the community house for holding public meetings. They were very warmly received. About 300 handbills were printed announcing the subjects for the first week. With the aid of Mrs. Alline Johnson and her daughter, Delores, as pianists, and Brother Robert Rosier, as song leader, the meetings were started. This is a portion of Brother Jenkins' letter:

"The opening night brought out a good crowd composed of leading citizens in the community and several school teachers. I hold the meetings on Monday and Wednesday evenings. I also have the assistance of John, Barbara, and Gwendolyn Maddox, who along with others are doing a great work associating with the young people, encouraging them to participate nightly. We received what seemed to be bad news when we learned that a revival was to start in the community the very night we were to present "The Law of God." At meeting time only two people were present. As we sat there praying suddenly cars drove up and people started coming in faster than we could greet them. Several public school teachers were in the crowd. Tomorrow night, August 24, we are to present the Sabbath. Our district pastor, Elder Daniels, has given us literature which is a great help. A groceryman in the community gave us a basket of groceries which was used as a drawing card. We desire your prayers as we attempt to bring these people to the knowledge of the Lord.

Active laymen of the Miami-West Palm Beach area who have won souls in the past 24 months.

Remember, we need much prayer." This gives you an idea of the work Brother Jenkins is doing in Savannah.

A few weeks ago we had the opportunity of conducting a laymen's rally in the West Palm Beach and Miami districts. Members of the "120" club are carrying on a progressive work there in that area. Elders Green and Myles, district pastors, are giving aggressive leadership to our laymen.

Elder Tottress with soul winners of the Florence district.

A similar laymen's rally was conducted in Elder Tottress' district at which time many soulwinners gave interesting experiences. The laymen in the Laurinburg church have two active Sunday schools with three individuals awaiting baptism.

In Charlotte, North Carolina, laymen are still on the march for God. Mrs. M. Wiggins of Charlotte has a group of individuals who have been baptized as a result of her activities during the past 24 months. Brother and Sister Wright are to be noted for their splendid missionary activities along with Brother Morrison. All these individuals have been active in soul-winning work. Sisters Reed, Pryor, and Brother C. Jackson are to be commended for these excellent results.

THE BIBLE SCHOOL WINS

While in Tupelo, Mississippi, a few days ago I heard this unusual soul-winning story.

Sometime ago J. J. Mallory, of Shannon, Mississippi, purchased some half-and-half seed from B. F. Summerour, of Norcross, Georgia. When the seed package was opened a School of Bible Prophecy enrollment card was discovered and Mrs. Mallory enrolled in the Bible course.

Several weeks ago H. G. Crowson called on Mrs. Mallory and soon she was ready to join the Tupelo church. On Sabbath, July 30, she was baptized and is rejoicing in the truth because of the efforts of our thoughtful brother.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION IN CAROLINA

We were very happy to see 21 church schools open their doors this year with 31 teachers in charge. Our opening report shows that we have 426 young people enrolled in these schools.

Already I have had the privilege of visiting over half of our schools and I have certainly been happy to find as a whole that they are being operated in a sound, substantial way. A number of places are meeting in new or nearly new school plants. I have just returned from visiting our new school in Columbia, S. C., where we have three well qualified teachers in a modern, attractive school. They are working to build up their library and have just completed the gymnasium construction. Professor Arnold Otto, the principal, informs me that they have having a very fine year. Our classroom conditions in some places are crowded, indeed, and plans are being made for expansion and new construction. In Morganton we have a fine enrollment of approximately forty pupils and the brethren there are uniting in an immediate building program to take care of their needs.

We solicit your full cooperation and your prayers that the Lord will bless our schools abundantly this year.

LIVING SERMONS

"If all the world followed you,
Followed to the letter,
Would it be a nobler world,
All deceit and falsehood hurled
From it altogether;
Malice, selfishness, and lust
Banished from beneath the crust
Covering human hearts from view?
Tell me, if it followed you,
Would the world be better?"

Can we truly say that the world is better spiritually for having met us? If our neighbor and business associate would follow us to the letter, would he be noble, true, kind, loving, and Christ-like? Let us each ask ourselves the question today—if the world followed me, would it be better

A very interesting statement is made in Great Controversy, p. 508: "All who are not decided followers of Christ are servants of Satan." We must belong to Christ, or we belong to Satan. We are living in the last days. In 2 Timothy 3:1-5 we have pictured nineteen conditions which will make the last days perilous times, the last one being "having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof." "Though they keep up a form of religion, they will have nothing to do with it as a force," is the James Moffat translation; and the Weymouth reads,

"They . . . keep up a make-believe of piety and yet live in defiance of its power." The Scripture is not describing the heathen or unbelieving world, but rather last-day professed Christians.

Of the same class Jesus wrote to the church at Sardis, "Thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead." See Revelation 3:1-6. "You are supposed to be alive, but in reality you are dead," is the Weymouth translation.

"Its form still stood without a breach,
When life and warmth were fled,
And still it spake its wanted speech,
But every word was dead."

God calls us today to be living sermons. Florence Belle Anderson has expressed this thought as follows:

"There isn't a word that a preacher can say
No matter how lovely or true,
Nor is there a prayer that his eager lips
pray
Than can preach such a sermon as you.

"You vowed to serve Christ, and men know that you did,
They're watching the things that you do;
There isn't an action of yours that is hid,
Men are watching and studying you.

"You say you're 'no preacher'; yes, but you preach
A wonderful sermon each day;
The acts of your life are the things that you teach,
It isn't the things that you say.

"If Christians were Christians, as they do profess,
Men would notice their glorified mien;
And say, 'What wondrous things they possess
Who follow the meek Nazarene!'

"Oh Christians, remember you bear His
dear name,
Your lives are for others to view.
You are living examples, men praise you,
or blame,
And measure all Christians by you."

Let us catch the spirit of the great Master Worker in giving the light of truth for this time. Let us consecrate our body, soul, and spirit to God. Then, according to His promise, we will constantly receive a new endowment of physical, mental, and spiritual power. We are coming to a crisis; yes, we are in it now; and this time, more than any previous time since the world began, demands our entire consecration. Will you, my friend, today, seek a revival of true godliness? Remember, this "is the greatest and most urgent of all our needs. To seek this should be our first work."—E. G. White, Review and Herald, March 22, 1887.

THE SWORD OF THE LORD AND OF GIDEON

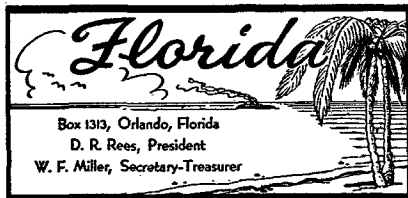

It is a comforting thought for the church of God to know in meeting the tremendous challenge that is her commission that the sword of the Lord is united with that of Gideon.

We are at present in the midst of our temperance program sponsored by the American Temperance Society and in order to accomplish the commission which is ours we must all unite our forces in order to make a genuine victory possible. This temperance issue is continually being brought more forcefully before the public.

On Sabbath, October 29, we are having our World Temperance Day program. A goal has been set for every member, for every church, and for every conference. A blow to the forces of evil can be dealt if we will all unite in giving 100 per cent to this important program of the American Temperance Society.

Begin now to pray and to plan that our offering on October 29 will be sufficient to meet our needs.

TRICK OR TREAT

Halloween is coming. Ordinarily, the youth spend the evening knocking on the doors in the neighborhood on a trick-or-treat approach. Instead of having a Halloween party, wouldn't it be well to follow a program that would produce good for the evening's activities and create a feature article for the newspapers?

Organize your youth into bands and have them surprise the people with an enthusiastic, appropriate song when the people come to the door. Equip the children with literature to give to these folks. Some may want to follow another plan of having the children make a request for clothing or food to be used by the welfare center to help those in need.

To encourage the young people and develop a missionary spirit in them, we could have them take turns in ringing the bells at the homes.

At each home they could say: "We have come to give you a treat, instead of asking one." A verse of "In the Garden" could be sung and before leaving give the host a neatly rolled package tied with white ribbon containing a Voice of Prophecy log, a tract, and a Bible course enrollment card. One could also say: "Instead of you giving me a treat tonight, I am giving you one. Here is a little paper, and I would like to have you read it through carefully and really think about it."

Our boys and girls will enjoy this organized program and I am sure they will be delighted to cooperate.

The press secretaries should work a few days in advance by either securing a picture of the children in action or telling the city editor about the plans for the evening and suggesting that he might like to get a picture of this group for a feature story.

With this plan carefully organized and followed through, our youth will be doing something to favor the church. Please tell me how this plan works.

PARATROOPER AND FAMILY WON

Sabbath, September 3, was a happy day for Brother and Sister Shaler Caudell because that was the day they were baptized into the remnant church. Six months prior to this date Brother Caudell had not even heard about Adventists. He was a paratrooper in the United States Air Force. He had served his term, having made over 300 jumps. Upon arrival at home, he began thinking about a church. Soon he came in contact with some faithful members of our church, and they began teaching him the truth. Brother and Sister Owle, of Vero Beach, and Brother and Sister Lewis Knight studied with

FLORIDA SANITARIUM NURSES TOUR THE CONFERENCE

Florida Sanitarium and Hospital nurses have just visited fifteen church schools in the Florida Conference as a part of their fall public health curriculum, under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Yates, R.N.

Their schedule has included health promotion projects such as talks, skits, posters, and songs, in addition to the routine fall checkup for the opening of school.

Schools visited are Taft, Titusville, Daytona Beach, Melbourne, Cocoa, Winter Haven, Tampa, Orlando, Ocala, Leesburg, Eustis, Sanford, Forest Lake, Brooksville, and Clearwater.

More than eight hundred were present for the opening meeting of the Cemer evangelistic campaign in the Tampa Municipal Auditorium on Sunday night, September 11, when Elder Cemer spoke on the subject of "Heaven." The meetings are being held three nights a week—Sunday, Tuesday, and Friday. While the attendance dropped off some for the week nights during the first week, yet we are glad to report that there were from 300 to 400 out each night. The workers associated in this campaign are: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mathews, Elder and Mrs. A. V. McClure, Elder and Mrs. R. K. Cemer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cemer, and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Barnhart.

BRANCH SABBATH SCHOOL BAPTISM

The branch Sabbath school at Ft. Drum, Florida, has been conducted for eight months. The attendance is still around twenty. Brother and Sister Arrington were baptized at Okeechobee last Sabbath, October 1. There are a number of adults and children studying and planning to be baptized later.

The members from Okeechobee have been holding this branch Sabbath school —Brother and Sister Willes, Dr. T. T. Coleman, Brother and Sister Strawn, and Brother and Sister Mobley. They have faithfully worked for the people. They now need a small building for their meeting place.

Brother and Sister Arrington were very happy to become members of the remnant church. Just a few weeks before the baptism the health of Sister Arrington was very frail and she prayed that she could get well enough to be baptized. She smiled all the way into the water and back out and believes the Lord has caused her health to improve.

TEMPERANCE DAY

Never before has the cause of temperance had the opportunity offered today. With the resurgence of the American Temperance Society other groups have joined forces and great strides are being made. The liquor industry realizes it is in disrepute and is doing everything possible to sway the opinion of America, particularly young America. All of their advertising is slanted to this one objective of proving that liquor is a natural part of social life. We need to combat this with effective education. This is being done through the fine journals, Listen and Alert. Temperance teams are also presenting factual material to our own young people and the general public. Highway signs, car bumper stickers, and public newspaper and magazine ads are all being used very effectively.

The picture, "One in 20,000" on cigarette smoking and lung cancer has had a tremendous influence on the smoking habits of the American people. Cigarette sales dropped by thousands of packages per month. Young people particularly have pledged to stop smoking or never begin.

Such a good program merits our support. The Temperance Day offering is our opportunity to aid in this work. This offering will be taken in all of our churches October 29. Give as much as you can.

God will bless you and your gift.

INGATHERING GOAL

Give me always a goal to try for;
Let me fight till my breath be spent.
Give me a dream to live and die for
And I shall be content.

Keep for others your silken leisure,
Drowsy days in the shade or sun;
I was never one to treasure
Rest till my work is done.

No, for sloth is the worst of sinning,
Give me the joy and zest of the fray,
Finding my true reward in the winning,
Not in the prize or pay.

And if victory be denied me,
I shall not shirk another test;
Nor care at all if my foes deride me,
Knowing I did my best.

Somewhere still there are roads uncharted;
Let me go on and on valiant-hearted
Let me toil till my days be spent.
To the end of the last long trail.

Give always a goal to try for;
Somewhere still is an unfound grail;
Give me a dream to fight and die for,
And I shall be content.

CAMP PAYS

As the camps came to a close I was thrilled to think we had camped in our own camp, a place where one awakens in the morning and that text comes into mind, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help," and to know that God led to the place, that you feel sure!

If one could see the little circles gathered after rising for morning watch; hear the prayers for mother, dad, the folks at home, for protection during the day, hear them asking God to make them a better boy or girl, one feels that God is very near and our hearts respond with, "Help us keep them Lord for Thee."

After coming down those 91 steps and after a good night's sleep in "Hill Top Cabins" the boys agree meals are fine.

I wonder if some parents wouldn't be surprised to see their child with hair all combed, face washed, teeth brushed (without being told.) See them get the cabins ready for inspection both inside and out. What a job to choose the best.

When 12 to 14 live together in a cabin they learn to respect the rights of others and make new friends.

If the folks could spend one swim period with Elder Wellman and his co-workers, they could relax and know that no water front is better cared for as swimming lessons go on; or follow the response of the children to the camp pastor's remarks, or hear the juniors sing as one was led into the blue waters of the lake to go all the way with Jesus, they would say "camp pays."

If they could see them busily working on a belt for sister, billfold for dad, key case for brother, a painted tray for mother, copper enameling a pin for some friend; or hammering away on the bench for the dining room, one could see these other things go on beside just play.

Nature was so interesting that even some girls went snake hunting (without success) to help bring up their points.

Seeing the dishes filled and refilled and filled again one wonders, where do they put it all!

Rest period; then field activities of ball, hikes, games etc., another swim and crafts. Once again after supper, a canoe ride, a horse shoe game or games in the large gym.

The morning and evening flag raising and lowering create a deeper respect and love for our country.

As the sun sinks behind the mountain the juniors gather in the twilight at the campfire circle, after singing several songs all is quiet as news of the camp was broadcast by Elder Wellman.

Again as you watch their faces as the stories are told and the campfire burns low, hear them sing "If I have wounded any soul today, Dear Lord, forgive" and hear them repeat together "May the Heavenly Father who watches over all watch between me and thee until we meet again," you say "it pays."

Once more as the shades of night are drawn and the study of the Sabbath school lesson is over and each boy and girl has snuggled under the blanket for another night of sleep knowing "Day is done, gone the sun, from the lakes, from the hills, . . . all is well, God is nigh," again one will say "camp pays."

After the rounds of the camp, you can retire, glad for the good counselors, the fine young people and oh so grateful for a camp of our own. Truly God is nigh and His coming is near and camp is one more place to work with the church, the home, and school to help save our youth—and so

Send them all back to our junior camp
When another school year rolls by.
Back among rhododendron, ferns and trees,
Back to the mountain top high.

Back to the cooling lake; and the sunsets
In colors of glowing hue;
Back to the beauties of our camp,
That depends so much on you.

Back to the climbing and shady trails
With their winding and changing view,
Back to the joys of real camp life
That makes them better Christians too.

Back to the fun in crafts and nature
And a little painting if they desire,
Back to the stories they all love to hear
While watching the glowing campfire.

So please help to buy our junior camp,
Help as this year rolls by,
It's a place for our youth and juniors
Help save them for the home on high.

When the chance comes to you,
So won't you get out your billfold

And send in a great big offering—
Help our camp dream come true.

Then may God give you a special blessing
And a home in heaven on high,
For helping our own youth in God's great cause

As an opportunity came by.

TITHING TESTIMONIALS

R. G. LeTORNEAU, world's largest manufacturer of road and grading machinery, says:

"The minute I started my partnership with God, business boomed. The next year my sales were over $100,000. The second year over $150,000. The third year over $200,000. It kept going like that, in leaps and bounds. In 1939 our sales were over $7,000,000; later, $40,000,000. God's dividends have amounted to more than $10,000,000. (He gives 90 per cent to God, not 10 per cent.)

"My philosophy is very simple. I like to design machinery, turn on the power, and see it work. I also like to tell people about the power of the gospel, and see it work in their lives. Jesus was willing to become poor, that we, through His poverty, might become rich. I don't feel that my brain made this money. I believe that the Lord made it possible for me to earn it, and I'm only returning to God what belongs to Him. My motto is, 'Not how much of my money do I give God, but how much of God's money do I keep for myself.'"

KENNETH S. KEYES, one of the most successful and largest realtors in Florida:

"I am most thankful to the Lord for helping me to see my responsibilities as one of His stewards. I have tithed my private income for many years. We tithe our corporation income, too, and God has honored that. I can say from experience that it has worked."

A REALTOR LOOKS AT CAMP CUMBY-GAY

I recently had the privilege of paying a visit to the youth camp located near Clayton, Georgia, and I want to tell you that from the view point of a real estate man, I was amazed at the wonderful bargain you made when you bought this camp for $22,500.

I estimate that the improvements, by that I mean the buildings, the lake, water system, etc. to be worth approximately four times the purchase price, not to mention the value of 265 acres of land. Truly the Lord must have guided in this matter.

The camp if properly used can be a great blessing to our youth, both physically and spiritually.

I couldn't help but notice while I was there the fine spirit of fellowship and good sportsmanship that existed between the groups of boys and their counselors. It is my opinion that the association together of a dozen or more boys and a Christian young man as their leader, for a period of two weeks, cannot help but be the finest kind of training for the boys and will help to develop Christian character and leadership in the young men. This, of course, is equally as true of the girls and the young ladies who are chosen to be their counselors.

I was particularly impressed with the fine supply of pure spring water for drinking purposes and also for supplying the swimming pool, or more properly it could be called a small lake. At any rate I noticed the young people were certainly making good use of it and having a fine time under the watchful eye of Brother Wellman.

As a layman who is interested in the progress and development of our work, especially among our youth, I am very thankful our conference was able to secure this beautiful camp as a recreation center for our young people.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE HELD AT CAMP CUMBY-GAY

September 23, 1955, will long be remembered by the teachers of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. This was the first meeting for the teachers to be held at the new camp. How wonderful to gather together as a band of Christian teachers in such beautiful surroundings. The entire setting was perfect for an outstanding institute and deep spiritual blessings.

The first meeting was held in the camp gymnasium on Friday evening. This was a consecration service conducted by H. S. Hanson, secretary, Southern Union department of education.

Following the Sabbath school conducted by several teachers, we listened to a most inspiring sermon by G. R. Nash. The teachers felt Elder Nash gave a timely message. We realized more fully the sacred duty to which we have been called, the responsibilities placed in our hands, and a greater need of full consecration. Each pledged anew his heart and life to be used in the early finishing of His work.

A short nature hike on Sabbath afternoon (led by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendershot,) brought us in closer contact with God's great out-of-doors. It was interesting to note the many varieties of trees on the camp site.

The motion picture on the life of Martin Luther shown by Elder Nelson gave us reason to be more thankful for the light we have. We could see more clearly the enormous task before us in giving the message to others and in training the younger generation for a place in this great work.

A. C. McKee had the morning devotion on Sunday. He summed up the characteristics of a church school teacher as "a mind through which Christ thinks, a heart through which Christ loves, a voice through which Christ speaks, and a hand through which Christ works." Elder McKee stated that the three R's for the teacher are "to know and to teach the rights, relationships, and responsibilities toward prayer and faith toward God and toward man." We must help those in our care to sense a prayer duty early in life. It is our duty to know and to teach a strong faith in God, His message, His providential leading, and the Holy Spirit.

We appreciated the excellent help received from the educational and the music departments of Southern Missionary College. After reading the many articles in the newspapers on Johnny's ability or lack of it to read, we were most anxious for the help K. M. Kennedy gave in his talks on reading and phonics. A. R. Lauritzen and N. L. Krogstad aroused a great interest in the newly purchased flutophones. All the teachers were convinced that much pleasure could be gained from rhythmic activities and how easy it is to learn to play the instrument.

"Dealing with the human mind is the most delicate work, the nicest work, and the most noble work." "Our schools are established so the child will learn to obey God and His law. Our safety lies in learning daily in the school of Christ." So stated H. S. Hanson in the morning devotional on Monday.

On Tuesday morning D. Hunter was the speaker. "We must not underestimate the power of growth. It is worse when one is dwarfed mentally than physically. What we are is important, but what we may become is supreme. Teachers have a dual responsibility. We train workers and are workers in God's cause. The hope of the world lies in the teachers of our denomination. God has entrusted His most important creation into our hands—miniature men and women."

"The prime objective of our church schools is the souls of the children, so they will be saved in heaven," stated Elder Hoffman."

We left the institute Wednesday morning with knowledge, understanding, sympathy, zeal, and a determination to have the best school year ever, with the Lord's help.

"PRAY FOR POWER AT THE NOONDAY HOUR"

FATHERLAND STREET CHURCH ORGANIZED

The Fatherland Street Seventh-day Adventist church in Nashville lives again. On Sabbath afternoon, October 8, the sanctuary of the famous old landmark at Fifth and Fatherland was well filled with friends and participants present for the organization of this new missionary church in east Nashville.

In May, 1954, the Fatherland Street congregation moved into their present beautiful new home at Blair Boulevard and Natchez Trace. They had worked and prayed and given for several years in order to realize their dream of a new church home in another section of they city. The old church was left deserted.

For several months efforts were made to sell the vacant property. Several church bodies manifested an interest and one group occupied the premises for several months. Through these months the conference committee members and many others with a burden for east Nashville were endeavoring to work out a plan whereby the building might be retained for a welfare evangelistic program in that needy area. How this was done belongs in another article.

In the plans worked out an appeal was made for missionary-minded workers from the Nashville area to form the nucleus of a church that would undertake the evangelization of the area in conjunction with the welfare program. In May local workers and church members from Nashville conducted a spearhead evangelistic effort in the old building and an interest was developed. To follow up this interest and to develop further interests in the neighborhood, laymen and workers from Bordeaux, Nashville, and Madison started Bible studies and cottage meetings. These have been continuing with good interest and the plan is to build up the original nucleus with new members from the area. The prospects at present are most encouraging.

E. F. Buck, pastor of the new church body, and R. H. Pierson led out in the organization service. Thirty missionaries came forward to become charter members of the new church. A number more will be joining within the next few weeks. William Draper, formerly of the Bordeaux church and K. P. McDonald, formerly of Madison College church, were elected elders and other missionary-minded members have accepted responsibilities as officers in the new group.

This new church is different from others organized. In the truest sense of the word it is a Nashville-wide church in which all of the churches of the area have a stake. They have sent missionary members from their midst into a needy part of our capital city to labor with the welfare workers in an effort to search out souls for the kingdom. Let us pray for this new missionary enterprise that is seeking to combine the welfare, the medical, and the evangelistic forces in Nashville.

WELCOME!

The Kentucky-Tennessee Conference is happy to welcome Elder and Mrs. James C. Vetter and their two children, Arthur and Annette.

Elder Vetter has accepted our call to the principalship of the Nashville Junior Academy. He is also assisting Elder Hatch in the work of the First Church.

We feel sure that this fine family will add great strength to our over-all program here in Kentucky-Tennessee. Elder and Mrs. Vetter have served for some years as missionaries in West

PATHFINDER CAMPOREE

Pathfinders from every corner of the Nashville district joined in the first Pathfinders Camporee of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference. Sixty-eight campers with tents, sleeping bags, blankets, cooking utensils, and food met on the Cumberland River and were ferried to Camp "X" by boat.

Two days and one night filled with adventure and excitement were enjoyed by the Pathfinder boys and girls. Each camper was on his own. Each had to cook and eat his own food and make his own bed. Boating, swimming, games, tug-a-war, and camp duties all added to the day's program. Campfire music and stories with Elder Mohr brought a highlight to the first day's activities. The following day school was conducted under the trees with lessons in Bible, arithmetic and nature.

The first Camporee was a success and the jubilant Pathfinders returned to the point of departure by truck and boat for destination—home.

WHY OUR BIBLE CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS SUCCEED

Within five miles of our conference office (as the crow flies) two young people, both nineteen, made what heaven may have recorded to be the greatest decision of their lives thus far. And both made it on the same day.

O. B. Gerhart

Neither young person had ever heard of the other. Neither had blood relatives who are Seventh-day Adventists. But both came under Adventist influence some time ago, and that influence caused them to enroll in our Bible correspondence course.

September 27 C. G. Edwards and the school's field representative called together on one of these, a young housewife. Present also was the teen-aged girl, an active church member, whose influence had been partly responsible for our student's interest. As their visit neared its close and the student was being encouraged to make her decision to unite with God's remnant church, she was invited to join them in prayer. Although she said she did not know how to pray aloud, before the little group arose from their knees she offered a beautiful prayer of dedication.

"I'll have the baptismal sheet filled out and ready for you when you come back," she told the pastor as he was leaving.

The other student, a young man, said he was not a Christian. "But when I join a church, I want to be an Adventist," he said. As the Bible school representative talked to him, he became very thoughtful. When they arose from prayer he indicated that he would have the baptismal paper filled out when the representative returned the next week.

There were many influences besides that crucial visit September 27 that made these decisions possible. Their combined weight prepared these hearts to heed the appeal that day.

Are you faithfully witnessing by word and deportment to the high standards for which God's church stands? And have you seen little or no results in souls won to Christ?

What a surprise awaits every faithful one when this one and that one will come to him in the kingdom of God and say, "It was the way you lived and acted when we were neighbors on earth that first inclined my heart to want to be like that too. If you could live that way, I began to feel that I could too. Now here we are, both of us. Thank you, dear brother, dear sister, for helping me here."

We trust these two dear youth may find in heaven all who first inclined their hearts this way.

O. B. GERHART

HIGHLAND ACADEMY SETS RECORD

On Monday, October 3, Highland Academy had its Ingathering Field Day. R. M. Hillier had the organization perfected and 22 carloads of young people sallied forth into the communities, up and down the highways and byways and side roads, and everywhere getting funds and produce.

In the evening there was an auction sale that netted nearly $100 and the total proceeds for the day were reported as $1,133. This is by far the best field day that Highland Academy has ever had and it is an evidence of the consecrated zeal and earnestness that resides in the hearts of Seventh-day Adventist youth.

We were also very happy that Elder Pierson could take time out of his busy activities and join with the academy youth in their field day.

PIPE ORGAN AT HIGHLAND

The faculty and students of Highland Academy are very pleased with their pipe organ. It was installed in time for the Week of Prayer and added much to the services. Miss Rose Schroader is instructor of organ and has already begun teaching it. We feel very fortunate in procuring the organ for the school. The Lord has greatly blessed in contributions, but $600 is needed yet to complete the fund. The donors are listed, but not the amounts given, so any gift is appreciated. If you would like to share in this project, please make out your check to Highland Academy Organ Fund or a money order to

"NOW WE CAN HAVE OUR OWN CHURCH AT CLARKSVILLE"

I am sure the following account from Sister Dorothy Conn, member of the Clarksville, Tennessee, church will be of interest to our readers.

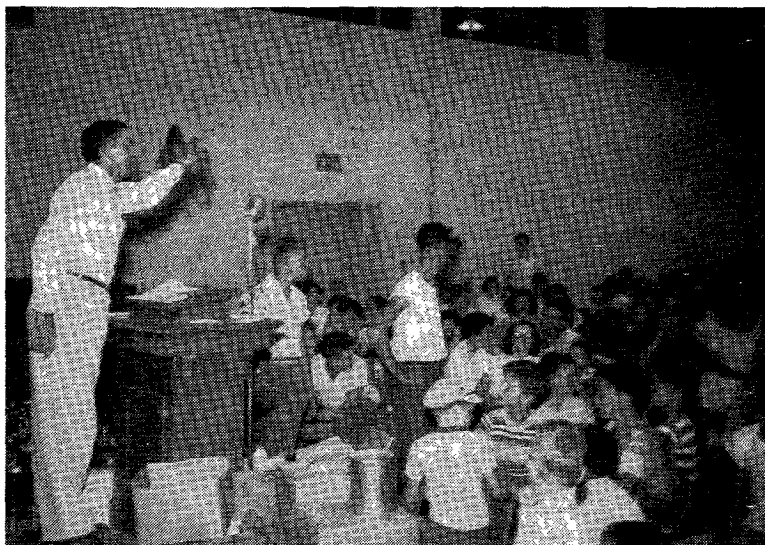

"I was born and reared in Stewart County, Tennessee, which is a dark county. I was brought up to attend a small Sunday school each week and took an active part, especially in the singing.

"I had never heard of the SDA church, but knew of an old gentleman who closed his store on Saturday. No one knew his reason for closing and it wasn't until I left the county and went to Louisville, Kentucky, that I learned why he did.

"My mother-in-law and relatives went to church on Saturday. At first this seemed very queer to me. Then Mrs. Conn, my mother-in-law, a very dear person, began to give me Bible studies. Some months later my husband and I were baptized by Elder Strickland.

"Later we moved to Montgomery County where we had five children, all boys. I was anxious for the boys to be in church, so would permit them to go to Sunday school so they could benefit from contact with Christians. We had no church of our own in Clarksville, so I decided to write to Elder Strickland and solicit help in starting a branch Sabbath school. I received in answer a very nice letter telling me that everything was being done that could possibly be done to open up dark counties.

"After my last boy was born I chanced to notice in a small building in New Providence (a small town adjoining Clarksville), a few people gathering for worship on Saturday. I went to one of the meetings and to my joy found that it was a group of my own church people. This was about three years ago.

Auction sale of produce at Highland Academy for Ingathering.

Sabbath school leaders and children of the Clarksville church.

"For a time it seemed impossible we would ever have a church. God took a hand, however, and circumstances changed. Another family in Clarksville in influential circumstances, contributed greatly to the continuance of the meetings. This family along with the soldiers at Fort Campbell added very materially to the possibilities of having a church, and soon the pastor, Henry Wilmot, and the men of the church were erecting what is now a beautiful little colonial brick church. It was a thrill to watch the church under construction. Ladies of the church would prepare food for the men and now, thanks to God and the many contributions and the labor of the men, the building is just about finished.

"The children have their own room, which has been decorated and fixed up to be very cheerful. A welfare room 16' x 20' is being fixed up adjoining the childrens' room and immediately behind the main auditorium. The membership is 39 and our average attendance is around 55. We are so proud of our children, we thought you would enjoy the accompanying picture taken one day after church.

"Though I've done very little, I still like to think my prayers helped to get this church started in Clarksville. I'm proud to say that three of my boys have been baptized and have joined the Clarksville church.

"We all thank God for our new church that shines as a light in what was once a dark county."

UNTIL THE DAY BREAK

"Say not, Good Night, but in some brighter climate bid me, Good Morning."

CARRIEGER:—Eva Ollmay Hart Carrierger was born July 13, 1909, to Benjamin Hart and Anna McCracken Hart, at Duquesne, Pa. On July 17, 1926, Miss Hart was united in marriage to Jack Robert Carrierger. Two sons, Joe and Bob, were born to this union.

The glories of the Advent message came to them in 1940 through the ministry of A. D. McKee, Sister Carrierger, and her husband were baptized by A. R. P. Johnson, on July 13, 1940, in Bristol, Tennessee. Sister Carrierger was a very devoted member until her death. During many months of poor health our sister did Dorcas and other work to help her church.

Sister Carrierger is survived by her husband and two sons, Bob and Joe, and a numberless group of friends. Although she sleeps, her influence will not soon pass.

Sister Carrierger closed her eyes to this life on August 13, 1955, at her home in Bristol, Tennessee, at the age of 46 years and one month. She faced death fully confident that He is faithful who has promised, and by faith looked forward to the first resurrection.

over a hundred in attendance. The attendance was never anything spectacular, but the group was steady. We held the same interest from opening night to closing night. Twice during the series the tent had to be taken down and the meetings moved to the church because of the hurricanes.

"Even with all the inclement weather, the Lord truly blessed and the church members stood by marvelously. Thirteen have already been baptized into the remnant church and a dozen more are attending Sabbath services in preparation for baptism. The families of the new members include 26 children from cradle to junior age. We feel that the future of the Wilson church is bright, indeed."

Evangelism in Wilson, North Carolina

V. G. ANDERSON, President, Southern Union Conference

C. H. LAUDA, President of the Carolina Conference, tells us that Rainey Hooper and his evangelistic team have been conducting an evangelistic effort in Wilson, North Carolina, this summer. Their tent was erected in a good location on one of the main streets, and the evangelistic company with the help of the church members, arranged this tent in a most attractive way. Many have remarked, "That's the best looking tent I have ever seen." Not only was the entrance prepared in an inviting way, but the interior of the tent was neat and attractive.

The full evangelistic program was well organized—the pre-effort advertising, the meetings themselves, the visitation program, and the baptismal classes. Brother Hooper has given us the following report on this evangelistic series:

"Such an interest was aroused in Wilson, North Carolina, as the result of the work of two fine young laymen, Harvey Murphy and Larry Show, that we decided to carry on with a full-scale evangelistic program.

"Brother Dave Greene and his wife joined us as music director and pianist and Mrs. Frank Boggs as organist. The tent was pitched early in July on a nice lot on a busy street, news articles appeared in the local paper, and the town was plastered with posters announcing the coming meeting.

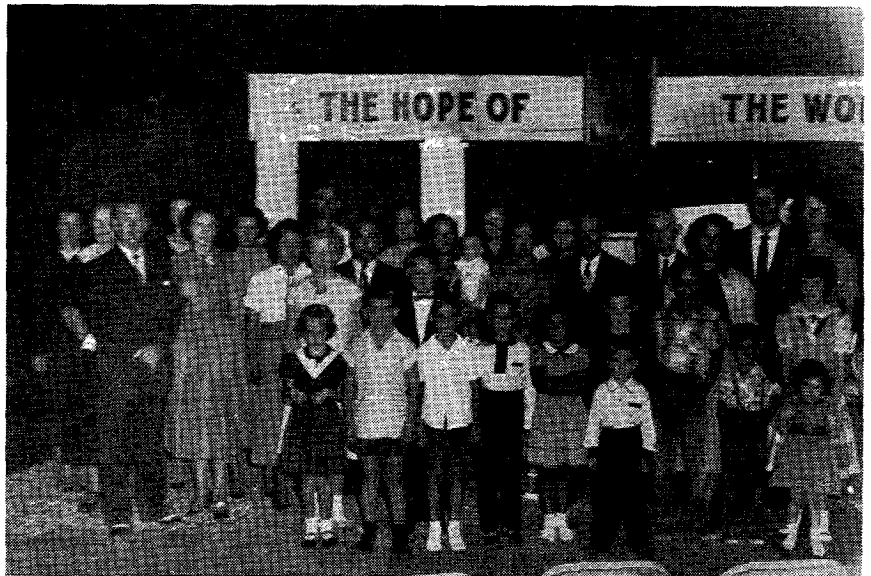

David Greene

"In preparation for the meetings the entire church joined in abstaining from all pleasant food for two weeks before the services, a complete fast all day Sabbath, and an all-night prayer meeting in the church on Saturday night before the opening on Sunday, July 10.

"On Sunday afternoon all the evangelistic company, which included many lay members, met at the tent for special prayer. A steady rain had already started and about an hour before time for the meeting a torrential downpour set in, lasting until well after starting time.

"Despite the rain there were well
