CAMPAIGN HONORS GO TO RESIDENTS' CLUB

65 SUBS IS HIGH SCORE
Famous Fifty and Halcyon Run Close in Final Drive For Subscriptions

BULLETIN

THE SLIGONIAN subscription drive officially closed with 777 subscriptions in hand at 12 m. Wednesday.

Residents	278
Famous Fifty	252
Halcyon	247

Maynard Bourdeau won a $25 scholarship with a total of 65 subscriptions.

Harold Mitchell won a $12.50 scholarship with a total of 40 subscriptions.

The Sligonian campaign closed with a total of 777 subscriptions, the three-cornered race ending in a victory for the Residents' Club.

The winners were seriously challenged in the last lap by the Halcyon and Famous Fifty clubs, who both

VOLUNTEERS RESPOND TO MISSIONARY CALL

More than 50 young people responded to a call for students to prepare for and enter the foreign mission field made by Prof. E. D. Dick, educational secretary for Africa, at the close of the vesper service Friday evening.

Stressing the qualifications necessary for a foreign missionary, Prof. Dick, in addressing the Foreign Missions band the same evening, said, "There are two degrees a missionary must have, a B. A. and a C. S.—Born Again and Common Sense."

With a large map of the African Division before him, the speaker presented industrial and geographic Africa, in a chapel address Friday, Oct. 18.

Africa is not merely a wide expanse of jungle, but is productive of treasures of minerals—coal, platinum, tin, (Concluded on page 3)

MOTHERS SELL FOODS FOR NORMAL BENEFIT

Cake, candy, pie, jellies, cookies, rolls, bread and delicious looking salad were spread in tempting array on the long table at the food sale given by the women of the Sligo Home and School Association last Thursday in College Hall.

At a recent meeting it was voted to raise $100 for equipment for the Training School. The members went to work, and a committee of five, headed by Mrs. J. Konigmacher, had charge of the sale which was held on the afternoon of Oct. 17. A report of the proceeds will be made at the next meeting.

The sale was well patronized by students and friends. Every mother in the Association contributed to the sale.

Mount Vernon on the Potomac, the home of America's first President, is a typical Virginia farm of colonial days. The buildings have been restored as nearly as possible to their original condition.

FACULTY OF W. M. C. MAKES TWO CHANGES

At a special meeting of the College Board on Oct. 17, Mrs. Ethel Knight-Casey and Elder Richard Farley were installed in the faculty of W. M. C. Mrs. Casey will assist Prof. Miller, instructor in piano, and Elder Farley will teach German.

Mrs. Casey is a graduate of the Department of Music of Atlantic Union College and was a student in the Conservatory of the University of Redlands. She was head of the Department of Music of Southwestern Junior (Concluded on page 2)

AGED RESIDENT GIVEN AUTO DRIVER'S PERMIT

The number of years a person has lived has nothing to do with his real age. Elder C. P. Bollman, associate editor of the Review and Herald, conclusively proved this when on Oct. 17, at the age of 76, he went to Rockville and successfully passed an examination which entitled him to an automobile driver's license.

About a month ago, when Elder Bollman attempted to secure a beginner's license, he was told that he must go in person to Rockville, and get a special permit, as it was against their policy to give permits to any one over 70. "I guess they wanted to look me over," was his dry comment.

At any rate, he hurried up to the Montgomery County seat, and ex- (Concluded on page 2)

NEW ELECTRIC SHOP IS ADDED TO COLLEGE

An electric shop is new to W. M. C. this year. Adjoining the music studio, in the basement of Central Hall, is the shop where Daniel Fisher, electrician, is manager. Charles Byts, college freshman, is the assistant.

These two men care for all campus wiring, rewiring and electrical repair work. During the summer, equipment was added bit by bit till now it is so supplied that it can care for any unexpected emergency.

W. M. C. PRESS FOREMAN WILL LABOR IN AFRICA

LONDON TO BE VISITED

Mr. and Mrs. J. Nathaniel Krum, and their five-months-old daughter, Florence Rosalyn, will sail on the Leviathan Nov. 21, 1929, for Kenilworth, South Africa, where Mr. Krum will take the superintendency of the Sentinel Publishing House.

At the time he received the call from the Mission Board this fall, Mr. Krum was attending Washington Missionary College and acting as foreman of the pressroom of the College Press. He has been in attendance at the College during the last five years, finishing the academic course in '25. He was leader of the Missions Band for one year. (Concluded on page 2)

THEOLOGICAL LEADER SPEAKS BEFORE MEN'S BIBLE CLASS OF CITY

The men's Bible class of the Calvary Methodist church has inaugurated a plan of having a supper one night each month and inviting a speaker to address the members. Dr. B. G. Wilkinson, Theology Dean of W. M. C., was invited as the first speaker of the year's program which opened Wednesday, Oct. 16.

This class is the second largest of its kind in the city, and is conducted by Dr. A. C. Christee.

The topic assigned to the speaker was the belief and practices of Seventh-day Adventists. Dr. Wilkinson began his speech by making clear that the Seventh-day Adventists are an evangelical denomination. He presented to the audience the great prophetic chains and the importance of prophecy as a factor in determining a man's belief. Special emphasis was placed on the second coming of Christ, the Sabbath and its change, the work in reforms and the foreign mission program.

Many expressions regarding the address were offered by visitors and members at the close, with an invitation to come again.

HARVEST INGATHERING DRIVE ENDS MONDAY

Leaders Expect Final Reports to Exceed College Goal

In one last effort to reach its goal of $1,000, The Students' Association mobilized its forces Monday for a general field day and added $175 to the $700 reported up till that time. It is expected that when all the labor donations are turned in, the College will have reached its goal.

The singing companies have done well this year with an average of $16.50 a night in an average time of one and a quarter hours a night.

One young lady solicitor received the pleasant surprise of a five-dollar bill last Thursday night while working with a singing group.

First reports from the field day reveal the interesting fact that a company soliciting in the Union Station was obliged to leave after forty-five minutes of work, but not until over $16 had been received for the efforts put forth in that time.

It is interesting to note that the soliciting has been more successful in small towns and rural sections than in the city. The ratio is 2 to 1, which should prove a significant item to Harvest Ingatherers of following years.

Celebrated Mother Is Guest of College

"Look! If it isn't the little mother herself."

The young man who spoke these words had been looking in a display window at a wonderful picture of "mother," and in glancing around, he saw, to his astonishment, a little lady who was the exact counterpart of the picture in the window.

Several years ago this lady had stepped into a photographer's studio in Memphis, Tenn. At that time she was about to embark on a world tour. (Continued on page 2)

TYPISTS PARTICIPATE IN ELIMINATION TEST

Miss Promise Kloss, Miss Wilhelmina Widmer, and Miss Eunice Graham, senior typists, participated in the elimination contest for the Chamber of Commerce typewriting contest last night at the Washington Auditorium. Paul Giang, a novice typist, took first in the novice elimination contest Monday evening.

There will be only 15 typists competing in the final contest tonight at the Washington Auditorium—five from each of the three classes. Each of the 15 will receive a certificate from the Washington Chamber of Commerce. The winner in each class will receive a silver cup.

Those on the committee which made plans for tonight's contest included Prof. B. P. Foote of W. M. C., P. J. Harman of Strayer's Business College, H. A. Hill of the Mt. Pleasant School for Secretaries, J. E. Palmer of Wash- (Concluded on page 3)

DR. D. H. KRESS TO OPEN WEEK WITH TALK ON CHRISTIAN LIVING

ABLE SPEAKERS COMING

Dining Hall to Provide Menus of Special Interest to College Students

By Maybelle Vandermark

Health Week begins at 11 o'clock Sabbath morning, Oct. 26. Washington Missionary College and the Washington Sanitarium will unite in a concentrated effort during the week, Oct. 26 to Nov. 2, to bring before the public the importance of positive health in the business of living.

Sanitarium Officials to Speak

Dr. D. H. Kress will open the week's program with a talk on the importance of health in the Christian life. Elder R. F. Farley, pastor of the Sligo church, Chaplain W. E. Barr of the Sanitarium, and Mr. C. C. Pulver, business manager of the Sanitarium, will be other speakers of the morning.

In the Monday morning chapel period in Columbia Hall, a chemical demonstration conducted by the Chemistry and Physiology classes under Profs. E. C. Blue and C. E. Woods, will illustrate analysis of foods, their combinations, both good and bad, and the effect on the body and mind.

Students Will Sponsor Program

"Mental Efficiency and Its Relation to Health" will be the subject of the Wednesday morning chapel period to be given by the second year Public Speaking class sponsored by Prof. C. E. Weniger. They will show the relation of a sound mind to a healthy body, and the effect of the body on the mind.

A good health mill will be put up and demonstrated Friday morning. The nurses' class of the College will have charge of the program, and different students will be put through the mill.

During all three chapel periods, (Concluded on page 2)

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY IS SUBJECT OF SPEAKER

"The greatest part of the religious liberty work," said Elder A. J. Clark, religious liberty secretary of the Columbia Union last Sabbath, "is to prepare ourselves to withstand the assaults of the enemy in that dark hour just ahead,—to meet the issues that are just before us."

He emphasized the need of "sounding an alarm" before probation closes and the plagues begin to fall. "We shall all receive either the wrath of the beast or the wrath of God. Which shall ye choose?"

Quotations were read from the spirit of prophecy depicting scenes of the time of trouble soon to come. God admonishes Christians in this time to seek righteousness and meekness, for the line is being drawn on the earth between those who serve God and those who serve themselves.

The Sligonian Platform to Keep Washington Missionary College First

1. A Sligonian Representative of Denominational Standards.
2. Student-Faculty Co-operation.
3. A Definite Program for Additional College Equipment.

BALANCE YOUR ACCOUNT

Of all things unpleasant, an examination is the best device for determining what we get for our money when we exchange it for an education. November 1, 4 and 5 will be inventory days at W. M. C. Let's at least show a balance if not an asset.

WHY NOT DO IT?

THE SLIGONIAN campaign ship has settled out of sight. It did not reach its desired harbor, but sank somewhat short of the goal. It failed to carry its subscription cargo from the port of Last Year across the turbulent sea to the harbor of This Year. A portion—too large a portion—of this cargo of subscriptions is still at sea. Some of it has been rescued, but what of the rest?

Contrary winds of conflicting campaigns was partly responsible for the outcome. For our own reputation, for the reputation of our clubs, and for our Association, and last and most important, for the good of THE SLIGONIAN, let us keep at it, everlastingly at it until the goal is reached and the complete cargo safely harbored.

SUCCESS

The first project of The Students' Association is a success and the student body is to be commended for its co-operation in putting over the campaign.

Two field days added considerably to the total amount of the goal, while street singing aided most efficiently in approaching the $1,000 mark. When we stop to consider the use that will be made of this money, we do not regret time and effort spent in such a cause.

This campaign will add materially to the final amount of money to be used in extending our missionary work throughout the world, and will therefore help fulfill the aim for which W. M. C. was founded. Many souls will be made brighter and hearts happier because we put forth our best in the effort.

SHOW YOUR COLORS

There were four who tramped down the dusty road, crossed over streams and scrambled through thorny bush in quest of the vigor of the woodland, the zest of the wind. And they looked for choice autumn leaves as they went. The whole forest was in autumnal color. Every leaf was beautiful to see; yet it was difficult to find a spray of leaves pretty enough to be still beautiful when it was taken out of its forest background, for many proved to be full of holes.

The four went back to the campus, and one, at least, fell to thinking—College, the forest; each student, a leaf. The student takes on character color as he studies and works,—the red of action, the brown of steadfastness, the golden of Christian experience. But should the student be taken out of the setting of a Christian college, would his colors be worth the showing, or would they fade and prove full of character holes? The latter need not be true, for Washington Missionary College's laboratory of experience makes fast and true dyes. The student needs only to follow the Chemist's directions and to confer often with Him about the best ingredients for a character dye. And when the student is diligent in his study under the Teacher-Chemist, his colors will prove as beautifully fast in the trying ways of the world, as in the setting of a Christian college.

THE TOURIST

Ships' bells, a whistle blast, "Clear the plank!" and the paddle wheels of the Charles McCalester churn Potomac waters to begin another excursion to the home of America's first President.

While enroute there can be seen the Potomac Park speedway, the United States Arsenal, Arlington National Cemetery, Fort Washington and as many other historic spots.

The Mount Vernon estate of George Washington covers several hundred acres along the Virginia shore of the Potomac.

Martha Washington's garden has probably taken root from coast to coast, for huge quantities of flowering plants and shrubs are purchased and carried away by visitors each year. When in full bloom, the garden is a riot of color, but now its beauty lies in the gold and brown of autumn artistry.

Queer things, those old indoor sleeping porches! They called them beds, but they look more like old-fashioned surries, with their high tops bedecked in silks and tassels.

Prospective cooks find consolation in modern methods when they look over the culinary equipment of Mrs. Washington. The old iron kettle hangs ready for service over the great fireplace, while near by are bellows and tongs to coax heat for a cold Virginia morning.

It wasn't much fun being a house-keeper in those days anyway, what with the wash to do in one building, chipped ice to carry from another, darning socks in another, and watering the fern in still another!

Two routes lead to Mount Vernon. The all-rail line gives hourly service from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on week days from the mid-city terminal at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania Avenue. The river boat Charles McCalester leaves the Seventh street wharf at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. daily except Sunday, returning to Washington at 1 p. m. and 5:45 p. m.

staged a last desperate spurt in an endeavor to pass the flying "Residents." The finish was dramatic with all three clubs grouped well together and the winner uncertain until the last.

Resident Leader Wins

Maynard Bourdeau, leader of the Residents' Club won the two months' scholarship offered the individual having the most subscriptions, by turning in 65 subscriptions. Harold Mitchell, also of the Residents' Club, ran second with 40 subscriptions, receiving as a reward a one month's scholarship.

55 Subs Pledged

The Famous Fifty under the direction of Dwight McGill, with only a few hours left Wednesday morning, took a last lunge at their goal and in 10 minutes 55 subs were pledged by Famous "Fiftians."

The night before the campaign closed the Halcyon Club had exactly 153 subs. Immediately their energetic leader, Miss Helen Marschner had her aide-de-camps scurrying everywhere in search of more. When the flag dropped at noon Wednesday, they had a total of 247.

and a picture of her was necessary to place on her passport.

As she entered the studio, the photographer was struck with the wonderful sweetness of her face, and his interest deepened when she removed her hat, revealing a mass of silver-gray hair. It was the most motherly face he had ever seen.

Photographer Impressed

While she sat for her picture, the photographer conversed with her, and she was soon talking about her children. Her face lighted up as she talked, creating such an impression of the beautiful, that the photographer could not resist the temptation and snapped the picture, unknown to her. He said nothing about it, but proceeded to take the regular portrait picture for which she was sitting. A few days later she had embarked on her world tour.

Several years after, this little lady chanced to pass by this same photographer's studio. Her curiosity was aroused by several people who were gazing intently at the display in the window of the studio. She drew nearer. They seemed to be looking at a picture. With a shock she stopped and stood, too startled to move.

music and group singing will be conducted by Prof. H. A. Miller.

One evening of the week the dormitory students will have joint worship. The Famous Fifty men and Halcyon women are already busy preparing for Health Week, making posters and preparing health programs. Dr. Evelyn Buckheim will talk to the women in one of the worship periods on the "Yearly Health Examination."

The value of good health from a business man's viewpoint will be discussed by Mr. C. C. Pulver in a worship hour in North Hall.

Demonstration Planned

The students' dining room is to be the center of some practical demonstration under the supervision of Matron M. Montgomery and Miss Anna Roedel, Home Economics head. Menus with the calory value of each item will be posted for each meal served Monday, Wednesday and Friday. A model breakfast, dinner and supper will be prepared for the students to be given to all at a flat rate.

The Sanitarium will carry on an extensive program besides its co-operation with the College. Dr. A. W. Truman will have Sunday's chapel hour at the Sanitarium. Dr. Buckheim, Dr. C. A. Wolohon, Miss A. Sloane and Mr. S. A. James will give morning talks on health subjects.

The week will close Sabbath, Nov. 2, with a talk by Dr. A. W. Truman at the Sligo church.

plained the circumstances to the proper official there. "When I am 76, I only hope I shall be as alert as you are," was that dignitary's only comment as he handed over the desired document.

"Do you think it will be hard for you to learn to drive a car?" was a question propounded to Elder Bollman soon after he received his beginner's license.

"No, no," he replied. Then a little amused expression lighted up his face as he added, "You see, I used to drive a team of horses when I was young."

SPEAKER EMPHASIZES SURETY OF PROMISES

What impression did Elder E. Kotz's recent trip to Africa make upon him? The answer was given at the Sabbath service in the Park church Oct. 19. "My trip to Africa has been nothing more and nothing less than a chain of evidences that Christ keeps His promises."

As a result of the forty efforts which have been carried on in South Africa during the past year, over 3,000 souls have been won for the Advent message.

Elder Kotz told of a conference of the South African Division, held at Solusi Mission this summer at which men representing 30 different languages were present. At the close of the conference, 13 men were ordained, several of whom were natives.

The speaker told about the marvelous fulfillment in Africa of God's promise to be with His faithful workers and bless their efforts to win souls for Him. The people living near a mission station just started far up the Zambesi River, have a legend which teaches that some day some one will come to teach them about God. They believe that the Seventh-day Adventist missionary, Elder Konigmacher, who has started work among them, is the long-looked-for person.

EX-EDITOR OF PAPER TO SAIL FOR AFRICA

Mrs. Krum, nee Ruth Adams, was graduated from the Normal Course in '26, and taught church school at Arlington, Va., and Erie, Pa., previous to their marriage in the summer of 1928. She came to Washington Missionary College from Mount Vernon Academy, from which she graduated in '24.

Throughout his school days Mr. Krum has worked in the school printing office, beginning back in Mount Vernon Academy several years ago at a rate of 12 cents per hour. He is heartily in favor of stressing the practical side of school life, and believes that the students who have done practical work along with their school work are more successful in their life work. His printing experience, according to Mr. Krum, has proved the open doorway to the mission field. Five summers spent in the canvassing field have also given him practical experience which will doubtless prove helpful in his future work.

The Krums are leaving Takoma Park about Oct. 24. They will spend a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Krum and his two sisters, Nora and Abby Lee, in Ocala, Fla. From there they will go to Shinglehouse, Pa., to the home of Mrs. Krum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Adams, where, during a visit of several days a farewell party will be given them. They will then go to New York to begin their long ocean voyage of 25 days, including a stop-over in London of two or three days.

EX-WORLD'S CHAMPION DEMONSTRATES TYPING

George W. Gaskill of New York City, former world's amateur champion typist, on Thursday evening gave a lecture and demonstration to the typing students of W. M. C. who are preparing to enter the contest sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce. He spoke of the three essentials in typing—accuracy, concentration and rhythm, saying that when the student obtains these, speed will take care of itself.

His demonstration consisted of an exercise, followed by examples of rhythmic typing, with gradually increasing speed up to 106 words per minute.

lead, asbestos, diamonds and copper. The copper ore is so abundant that it is dug up with steam shovels and found to be 60 to 90 per cent pure.

The distance from Capetown to Gibraltar, 6,000 miles, is made small by a system of 13,000 miles of railway all under government control, the largest railway system under one company in all the world, it is said.

The most interesting thing in Africa, according to Prof. Dick, is the native. He may be dirty, ignorant and perhaps lazy, but he is able to learn, and is most devoted to the white man who treats him well.

Prof. Dick with Messrs. Wesley Herbert and Raymond Stockil, students from South Africa, demonstrated the Chinyanja greeting between a woman and a man, a Zulu greeting of an European and a native, and a Barotze greeting between two headmen.

Eleven years ago Prof. Dick visited the College when he was president of the Canadian Junior College. Since then he has worked in the African Division.

Look at the lower left hand corner of page four in this issue. That ad, admonishing the use of "Silver Lenses," appeared in the first issue of The Sligonian, April, 1916. And the wording of that ad, appearing in The Sligonian throughout the years, has never been changed!

AUSTRALIAN CUSTOMS PICTURED BY STUDENT

"Australia is not a mission field," declared Clifford Tempest in addressing the Sligo Sabbath School, Oct. 19. Australia, which is slightly larger than the United States, boasts a population of 5,000,000 of which 300,000 belong to the negro race. New Zealand also numbers a few negroes among her inhabitants.

"Upon Australia, however," Mr. Tempest continued, "rests the burden of declaring the gospel to the people of the South Sea Islands. The natives are strong, brawny, full of vim, life and happiness, and the highest reward a missionary can have is a convert from one of these island tribes, for they are sincere and earnest. They are eager to go to other tribes to tell the message as they have learned it.

"We are establishing training centers to fit converts for spreading the gospel. These converts are exceptionally clever, and are as eloquent as any white missionary. We can depend on them."

Mr. Tempest showed the audience a boomerang which is the only weapon and the national emblem of the few aborigines who live in the interior of Australia. No other nation on earth has been known to use such a weapon, and no one but a native acquires any skill in using it. The weapon which is made of wood is crescent in shape, with a peculiar curve in the center. It is two inches wide and measures about 30 inches from end to end.

STUDENT CANVASSERS ORGANIZE INTO BAND

The largest colporteur band W. M. C. has ever had is being organized. Union Field Missionary Secretary E. M. Fishell spoke to the students in a combined worship in Columbia Hall Saturday evening, Oct. 19, discussing the part W. M. C. should play in working with denominational literature among the people of the Columbia Union.

Twenty students are already enrolled in the band. A committee consisting of Wilson Beall, chairman, Miss Dorothy Higgins, John Osborn and Dallas Young was elected to bring in the names of nominees for leader, assistant leader and secretary.

THEOLOGICAL STUDENT ADDRESSES JUVENILES

Raymond Montgomery, a second year theological student, delivered a sermon planned to interest children primarily, at the theological base, Saturday, Oct. 19.

The children sat on the first row of seats nearest the rostrum watching with wide eyes Mr. Montgomery pour clear water into jars which turned almost immediately into a color like wine. He told them that it was just as easy to let Jesus turn bad, sinful lives into pure ones.

CELEBRATED MOTHER MAKES COLLEGE VISIT

by a battery of display lights, was a picture of her. She wondered. And then it came to her. Today was Mother's Day, and somehow her picture had been placed in that conspicuous position in honor of Mother's Day.

Not knowing whether to feel pleased or indignant, she entered the studio and went at once to the photographer. He recognized her, and embarrassed, hastened to explain.

Her photograph had been chosen from hundreds of others, by a group of photographers, as best representing the typical mother. That day the picture had been placed in the display window. Hundreds of people had stopped to gaze at the beautiful "mother face." One man was overheard to remark how his heart was touched as he looked upon the wonderful picture in the window before him. Another made a resolution to write a letter to mother before another day had passed. The eyes of strong men would soften with the luster of pleasant memories as they gazed at the picture, and often a tear would glisten in the eye of one, and his lips would part with a reverent whisper, "God bless her."

While listening to the photographer's story of her picture, the little lady's heart became full, and she lost all the indignation she had first felt upon seeing her picture in public display, and the picture was allowed to remain in the display window.

As she left the studio, she again passed by the display window. There, looking at her picture were two young men with their heads uncovered. With a twinkle in her eye she loosened the top of her coat and removed her hat, revealing the silver-gray hair.

One of the young men looked around just as she did this, and with a gasp of astonishment he whispered in tones of awe to his companion—"Look! there is the little mother herself."

This little lady is this very day here on this campus visiting her nephew and his family. Do you know who she is?

Typing Exhibition Held

"All ready—go!" The command from Prof. B. P. Foote set 140 fingers to clicking the keys of 14 typewriters at the typists' exhibition which was held in the College gymnasium Saturday evening.

The audience applauded as Miss Eunice Graham pulled out a finished sheet before any other contestant, while Miss Wilhelmina Widmer came a close second. The participants were placed under the same conditions existing at any public contest or exhibition.

The typists were classified as novices or beginners, juniors with two years' experience, and seniors, with more than two years of typing experience.

The evening's exhibitionists included the Misses Promise Kloss, Eunice Graham, Wilhelmina Widmer, Floto Collins, Edith Starr, Cleo Woodall and Gerald Young, seniors; the Misses Hazel Nary, Irma Foote, Anabelle Wilson and Messrs. Homer Slade, Harold Bricker and Eugene Evans, juniors; Paul Giang, novice.

Half-Hour Test Is Given

Prof. Foote called time for the novices and juniors at the end of 15 minutes, while the seniors continued typing for 30 minutes. No one was permitted to stop for any reason before the signal was given, unless his machine happened to be out of order.

Tests used included the Remington Test for Oct., 1925, and one written by J. N. Kimball, international typewriting test writer. Miss Widmer won the contest with a net speed of 83 words per minute. Miss Kloss was second, with a net speed of 80 words, and Miss Graham was third with a net speed of 77 words.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT HAS BIG ENROLMENT

The History Department supervised by Prof. A. W. Werline has enrolled over 100 students. There are six divisions—the Renaissance and Reformation class, the History Methods class, the American History class taught by Miss Ruth E. Gorndt, the General History class taught by Mr. Robert P. Head, two sections of the European Survey class, and the class in Europe Since 1815.

The class of seven in History Methods will soon begin outlining lesson plans for actual use in the classroom, and will be expected to do critical work.

DEAN OF SOUTH HALL MEETS ACADEMY PAL

"Friendship, sweetener of life And solder of society."

Dean Minnie Abray found friendship sweet last week when she dined with one whom she had not seen since academy days at Oshawa, Canada. The friend was Miss Jessie Tupper, now superintendent of nurses at Hinsdale Sanitarium near Chicago.

Miss Tupper was the first person Dean Abray met on her first night as a new student at Oshawa Academy. They became firm friends and through the years have kept that friendship true.

Dean Abray said, "It made me supremely happy to see a friend whom I had learned to love in the days at school."

FAREWELL PROGRAM IS GIVEN W. M. C. COUPLE

Wishing Mr. and Mrs. Nathanicl Krum Godspeed as they begin their journey as missionaries to Capetown, Africa, thirty-five workers of the College Press gathered at the home of George A. Huse last Saturday night.

Mr. Huse gave a farewell speech on behalf of the College Press, presenting Mrs. Krum with a portfolio, and Mr. Krum with a fountain pen. He expressed appreciation for the good work Mr. Krum had done as a printer and for the whole-hearted enjoyment friends had experienced in knowing him.

Mr. Krum responded by telling of the happy days he had spent as a worker and student among his friends, and thanked them all for the warmth of their friendship and for their tokens of love.

A musical program was given by the musicians of the College Press. A horn quartet, consisting of Messrs. J. Clymer, E. Olsen, D. Shurie and V. Adams, played "The Lord is My Shepherd." Mr. Suhrie rendered a trumpet solo and Lawrence Stone two sax solos.

Games and refreshments closed the evening's entertainment.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Krum, Mr. and Mrs. S. Arason and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coggin, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wheeler and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Philips and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forgette, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clymer, Misses Lenora, Frances and Verna Slate, Margaret and Helen Ellwanger, and Messrs. Winston Adams, Lawrence Stone, Harry Fish, Roy Slate, Daniel Suhrie, Ray Senseman, James French, Kenneth McElmurry, Paul Applegate and Norman Drake.

Mr. Ronald Spalding of the '29 Professional class is working at the Sanitarium.

PROF. BLUE SPEAKS ON MEDICAL SEMINAR AIM

John Stevens, in speaking before the Medical Seminar Friday evening, spoke of Jesus as a medical missionary. He said, "Whenever Christ healed a man, that man followed after Him. Our medical work should be the same. We need to realize that whatever we do to heal the sick is done through Christ."

Prof. E. C. Blue told of his ambitions for the Medical Seminar. They are: for the student to get a training in speaking to the public, to learn to think well, to become really true Christians and real missionary doctors through prayer.

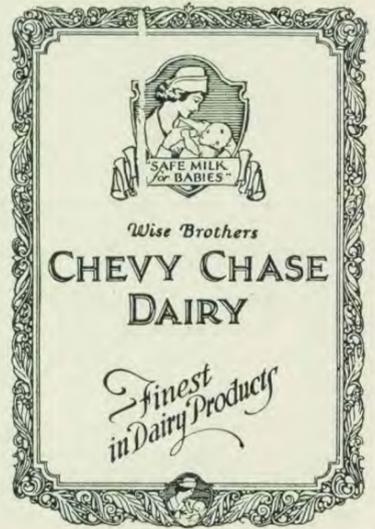

James Zeigler and Miss Alberta Hilkmann also spoke on the program.

FIELD METHODS STUDIED

Miss G. Bowling, director of the Instructive Visiting Nurses Society of Washington, D. C., gave a stereopticon lecture on the organization of the District I. V. N. S. to the members of the Teachers' Training Course of W. M. C. Friday, Oct. 18, at the District headquarters.

The object of the College nurses in visiting this organization was to obtain a general insight into the organization and methods of conducting visiting work so as to be able to correlate the best methods in denominational conference nursing.

Miss Esther Bergman spoke to the group last week. Her aim was to acquaint the nurses with the aims and objectives of field work. A 50-mile area has been mapped out for the nurses where they will do their field work.

MEXICO OPENS GATES TO CHRISTIAN TRUTHS

"Today there is a reverting of Mexico and the northern South American countries to Christ," said Elder D. A. Parsons, president of the Mexican Union Conference, in speaking to the Mt. Pleasant church. Elder Parsons believes that centuries ago the people of Mexico knew the story of a crucified Saviour. "One of the most beautiful crosses I have ever seen was taken from a temple destroyed long before the coming of Columbus," he said.

There is a legend in Mexican history saying that a few hundred years ago a ship came from the east to Mexico with two white men. These men taught the story of the cross and of God's love to man in such a way that one of their kings was led to exclaim, "God is my stay and my consolation."

The government of Mexico has asked and received permission to translate, print on the government press and scatter abroad Elder Alonzo Baker's book, "The Pope King."

CHILDREN WILL CONDUCT SLIGO SERVICE SOON

On Sabbath, Nov. 1, the 11 o'clock church service will be turned over to the children of the Sligo church school who will present a program on the story of the creation as they have learned it in their classes. The entire third grade and individual members of the other classes will participate.

The program is being prepared by Mrs. Frances Howell, head of the Normal Training Department, Miss Mabert Hinton, Miss Vesta Clymer, Miss Louise Stuart and the various student teachers.

CAMPUS NEWS

A green issue of The Sligonian will be published as a regular number Nov. 7. This entire paper is to be made up with a freshman staff. Charles H. Boyts is the editor, and William Guthrie the business manager. The purpose of the new idea is to give actual experience to freshmen, as they in time will be the successors to the present staff.

Emerick Higgins, a former student of W. M. C., is visiting friends in the College for several days. He expects to live in Takoma Park until the second semester when he will resume studies. Mr. Higgins is in charge of a branch of the Real Silk Hosiery Company in Washington at the present time.

Dirt is being placed in the rear of North Hall to eliminate the huge puddles of water which accumulate during rainy weather. The dirt will also be used to grade the ground for grass planting.

Girls Take Long Hike

The Misses Maybelle Vandermark, Lena Howell, Juanita Howell, Mary Dundore, Ruby Matson, Dorothy Hagan, Worthy Possinger and Gaizelle Allison hiked ten miles Sunday. They cooked their dinner along the bank of the Anacostia River.

Miss Louise Mencken, a W. M. C. alumna of 1925, visited her sister Virginia, who is nursing at the Sanitarium, and Miss Bertha Evans. Miss Mencken is teaching at Shenandoah Valley Academy.

The Master Comrade Class of the General Conference offices has resumed its studies under Elder C. L. Bond. Class must be attended regularly, for the investiture service is planned for late November.

Official Goes Abroad

On his way to Europe to attend the three European Division councils, Elder O. Montgomery, vice president of the General Conference, left his office recently. He anticipates being absent from the office until the middle of January, 1930.

Recent visitors from Galion, Ohio, were Miss Gertrude Stevens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevens, her sister Florence, and John Stevens' sister Mary.

Miss Helen King and Miss Grace Hendrickson spent the week end at Miss King's home in Vienna, Va.

M. V. Bands Active

There was a 500% increase in attendance at the Correspondence Band Friday evening. Thirty-one Present Truths were mailed to Ohio, nine to Virginia, six to Michigan, three to Pennsylvania, two to New York, one to Maryland and one to Texas.

Several large trees about the campus have been removed so that the landscape gardeners can begin their work.

Elder Meade MacGuire, associate secretary of the Ministerial Association, recently visited the headquarter offices for the first time since February, 1925. Elder MacGuire is now at E. M. C. conducting the Week of Prayer services.

Fireside Enrollment Large

The Fireside Correspondence School is kept exceedingly busy taking care of the 2,100 students enrolled this year.

A new stone wall is being placed around the south end of the tennis court, and the hedge which was along the walk between South Hall and Central Hall is being transplanted between this new wall and the road.

James Trefz has just returned to college. His home is in Manitoba, Canada, but throughout college he has come to W. M. C. despite his nearness to other schools.

The Senior nurses of the Sanitarium had a marshallow roast last night when they hiked to the home of Prof. A. W. Spalding.

HALCYON

On Oct. 16 there were no seats in South Hall worship room, but the young ladies sat around on the floor on cushions and transacted Halcyon business.

A committee consisting of Dean Abray and the Misses Ruth Harding, Helen Marschner, Gaizelle Allison and Vera Fisher was appointed to make plans for the Health Week program to be given at the Halcyon meeting of that week. A poster committee was also appointed to make a health poster for the girls' side of the chapel. In addition, small posters will decorate the door of every room in South Hall during Health Week.

Following the club's business, members were entertained by an octette which sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and by a demonstration of correct table manners by the Misses Jean Wingate and Doris Thompson.

Miss Rozetta Thurston was a visitor of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dolan and daughter Betty of Paterson, N. J., spent the week end visiting their son Gerald Dolan.
