NEW COURSES OFFERED IN SECOND SEMESTER

ENGLISH DEPT. EXPANDS

Advent Movement Literature and Comparative Religion Are on Curriculum

With the opening of the second semester Jan. 8, 1930, Washington Missionary College offers a variety of new subjects for both upper and lower division students.

The English Department under the direction of Prof. Weniger presents a new-fashioned course—the Literature of the Advent Movement. It will include research work in the theory of style with a historical treatment of those who have produced the best English in our denomination.

New Writing Class to Open

Another two-hour upper division course will be provided in Magazine Article Writing. In the second semester of Biblical Literature a study will be made of the literary style of the prophecies.

For those who seek personal development in advanced composition, a class in Creative Writing is offered. To secure one hour of credit 5,000 words of successful prose must be

MOTHERS' COOKING IS ENJOYED BY STUDENTS

Hungry students visiting College Hall at the noon hour Thursday, Dec. 5, met a sight that set their mechanisms of hunger to work with added energy, for just inside the door there was a long table loaded with things to eat, and behind it several ladies were busy serving their patrons.

There were cakes, candies, salads and desserts that brought memories of "Mother's cooking." Nuts, jellies and cookies added their part to the picture.

Next to this one was another table displaying dainty articles of hand work, some made by the Mother's Club members, and some brought

FORMER STUDENT SENDS COPY OF OCEAN TRIBUNE

From Cherbourg, France, Nathaniel Krum, en route to South Africa, sends the College Journalism classes a copy of the Chicago Tribune Ocean Times, daily newspaper published on board the S. S. Leviathan and on other steamers of the United States Lines.

The issue bears the date of Thursday, Nov. 21, and chronicles brisk news items received by radio, chit-chat on current steamer life and advertisements of English and continental hotels and business establishments. Its eight pages are 11 by 14 inches in size.

Only page five of the paper is printed on board the steamer. The rest of the paper is regularly prepared in New York. Passengers receive copies daily at 11 a. m. without charge.

STUDENT THEOLOGIANS CONTINUE MD. EFFORT

HEALTH PROGRAM GIVEN

"Will the Kellogg Peace Pact Usher in a Millennium of Peace?" was the topic of Mark J. Shanko's lecture in the Capitol Theatre, Capitol Heights, Md., last Sunday night.

The lecture marks the second in a series of lectures to be held during the winter in the Capitol Theatre by Mr. Shanko and his assistants, Miss Alberta Hilckman, Andrew Robbins and Russel Quackenbush.

Miss Hilckman, a graduate nurse in charge of the health programs, emphasized the relationship between posture and good health.

The lectures have been attended by an audience of from 75 to 100 persons.

Alexandria Effort Opens

The first evangelistic meeting of the student effort conducted by Wilson Beal and Curtis Quackenbush was held in Confederate Veteran's Hall, Alexandria, Va., Sunday night, Dec. 8.

Mr. Quackenbush spoke on "The Coming World Empire" to an attentive audience of 70. The speaker emphasized the fact that the next power to rule the world under one scepter will be the power of God when Christ comes to set up His kingdom on earth.

Preceding this lecture, Mrs. Emma I. Paul, R. N. of the Washington Sanitarium, gave an illustrated talk on the "Importance of Positive Health." Special music was provided by Horton McLennan on his musical saw with Miss Josephine Hagberg as accompanist. Russel Krick, who has charge of the music during this effort, directed the song service.

GOD'S GREAT LOVE IS PRAYER-WEEK KEYNOTE

"No man has ever yet comprehended the wonderful love of God to us," said Elder W. R. French as he stood before the congregation of the Sligo church last Sabbath.

The sinful nature of fallen humanity causes men to get a distorted view of that wonderful love of Jesus which caused Him to leave heaven on their behalf. Adam, the first man, the speaker stated, was the first prophecy of Christ because he was a type of Christ. The love and loyalty of Adam to Eve which caused him to choose to die with her rather than leave her, was presented as a parallel to the love of Jesus for lost mankind. He left the bliss of heaven and chose to die with man rather than see him suffer alone.

Joseph Is Type of Christ

Joseph is a second type of Christ. He was sold for the price of a slave by his own brethren. His enemies were those of his own household, yet he loved his brethren and freely forgave them.

When Jesus came to die for men, He could not see beyond the portals of the tomb. Thus He showed His willingness, if need be, to suffer the final consequences of sin.

MEN'S CLUB INSTALLS NEW CODE OF RULES

CLUB DUES ARE VOTED

Recast Constitution Provides for Office of Chaplain and Drops Others

For the first time in the history of the Famous Fifty men's club of North Hall, a complete revision of the club constitution was formulated and adopted at a regular meeting held last Thursday night. The revised constitution, as discussed and amended prior to adoption, presents several strong features.

The first article of the revised constitution which gives the organization name was not adopted, but placed in the hands of a committee for further

FEATURE CLASS TO HEAR EXPERIENCED READER

EDITING TO BE SUBJECT

Proof reader for 49 years, Miss Mary Steward will address the News Writing class next Tuesday morning on the importance and process of preparing copy.

With actual copy which has been used in the Review and Herald proof room where she is head proof reader, she will demonstrate the work of one who prepares manuscript for publication.

Miss Steward spent 11 years working personally with Mrs. E. G. White in preparing copy for many of the books from the pen of the prophetess. Eight of these years were the last of Mrs. White's life.

Miss Steward helped also to put out Kellogg's Home Handbook, known throughout the country as a household book. She has taught English at Battle Creek College and at Graysville Academy. Since the autumn of 1915 she has been head reader of the Review and Herald proof room in the Park.

POOR KIDDIES OF PARK HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

The Washington Sanitarium and Hospital is having a community Christmas tree for the children of Takoma Park. Many presents will be given, especially to poor and homeless children.

On Christmas eve a program will be presented by the newly organized Nurses' Glee Club, which will sing Christmas carols, followed by a community sing, conducted by Mrs. H. E. Metcalfe, director of the club. Readings will be given and games played.

Dr. A. W. Truman, Sanitarium Superintendent, and Mr. C. C. Pulver, business manager, are sponsoring the project.

The Sanitarium has had a prosperous year financially and believes that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

NURSES ADOPT PLANS FOR FIRST GLEE CLUB

Christmas Program Is Planned for Sanitarium Patients

Midst the long hours of quiet but tiresome toil, music will peal forth to gladden and brighten the daily routine of the nurses just across the campus. For the first time in the history of the Sanitarium, a Nurses' Glee Club is being organized.

Plans are now well under way, and at the first meeting held Wednesday of last week, officers of the club were elected and a name for the organization was given consideration. Officers elected were as follows: president, Mildred Warren; secretary treasurer, Mildred Johns; pianist, Edna Matz; assistant pianist, Helene Hammond.

Mrs. H. E. Metcalfe, who has had experience as supervisor of music in public high schools, will direct the

STUDENT TEACHERS TO HELP IN FIELD WORK

The first step in the new plan of giving teachers in training a glimpse of field experience was made when last Friday the Misses Iris Bryne, Grace Hendrickson, and Esther Mitchison accompanied Prof. J. P. Neff and Mrs. Frances Howell to Bridgeton, New Jersey. The object of the visit was to clear up some school problems and increase the attendance at the church school there.

The party left the College at 1 p. m. Friday, and reached Bridgeton at 7 p. m. Here the three young women were guests of Miss Bryne's sister, Mrs. Hugh Stevens.

The next morning was spent in visiting patrons of the school and par-

SERVICE IS CONDUCTED BY MEDICAL SEMINAR

Six members of the Medical Seminar took an active part in the Sabbath services at Vienna, Va., on Dec. 7. This was the first of a planned series of visits to isolated churches around Washington.

Wesley Herbert, introduced by Dean Jones, spoke at the morning church service. He showed that the gospel work and the medical work must go hand in hand. He related some of his experiences while working with Dr. E. G. Marcus at the mission station in Nyasaland. Prejudice toward this mission was broken down by Dr. Marcus' success in removing cataracts from the eyes of a native who had been blind for years. Mr. Herbert emphasized the fact that missionaries who do not practice health reform cannot stand up under the strain of mission work.

Special music for Sabbath school and church was furnished by the Messrs. Thomas Lupo and Ruland Hussong. Miss Ruth Harding and Mr. Wallace Mook also assisted in the services.

REVIEW AND HERALD AND LOCAL BAND TO GIVE BENEFIT CONCERT

UNIFORMS TO BE BOUGHT

Clarinetist From Marine Band to Appear With Organi- zation in Concert

By Maybelle Vandermark

Under the direction of Prof. Victor Johnson, the College and Review and Herald bands will together give a program of band music Saturday night at 8 o'clock in Columbia Hall. Marches from John Phillip Sousa, overtures and Christmas melodies will be played.

Solo Instruments to Feature

An old-time favorite harmonized by Barnard, featuring solo instruments, will be a special part of the program.

George Olsen will play a trumpet solo accompanied by the orchestra. Miss Merzella Julus will render several vocal numbers, and Prof. Robert Edwards will give some violin selections. Dale Hamilton, assisting artist, will sing a group of baritone selections, and Mr. Clapp, a clarinet soloist who has played with the Marine Band for 22 years, will add to the program's interest.

The Review and Herald band and the W. M. C. band have been working together and have been practicing weekly in the Review and Herald chapel. The money received from the program will be used to uniform the band.

ASTRONOMER SPEAKS ON HEAVENLY BODIES

"Neither eloquent discourse nor devotional study can equal in impression the effect on a receptive heart of a clear, starry night," said Dr. B. R. Baumgardt, in opening his astronomy lecture in Columbia Hall last Monday night.

Dr. Baumgardt is an eminent scientist and lecturer, and has been called to speak in Washington nearly 50 times. On Monday night he discoursed on the wonders of the celestial universe, illustrating his words with over 60 stereopticon views.

Star Study Humbles Man

"Nothing tends to make man feel so finite and humble as to compare himself and this earth with the immensities of the starry realms," he declared as he proceeded to project the latest achievements of celestial photography on the screen. "The distance of the earth from the sun, 92,831,000 miles, is but an astronomical yardstick, and if we imagine ourselves on the sun, looking back, our earth would appear as but the merest speck on a dim horizon."

The pictures portraying eclipses of the sun, the "canals" on Mars, the rings around Saturn and many spiral nebulae, formed, he stated, the best collection of their kind.

Many of the photographs which displayed spiral nebulae, the "Milky Way," the constellation Orion and the

LIFE IS A PRAYER

Life is a prayer. We have come to realize it more deeply in this Week of Prayer. As Christians we meet God in the morning, thank Him for the rest of a night, and ask courage for the day. And as the hours of day go by, our lips and hearts frame sentence prayers for each need, each problem. And a "Thank you, Father," arises when help has come. Prayer is the breathing of hope in confidence with our Father. It is the heart's sincere desire, "the motion of a hidden fire that trembles in the heart."

And as we have prayed together, one heart desire has been that others might see, not us, but Christ in us. He must lead; we will follow. Though He leads through tears today, He will lead through smiles tomorrow—if we pray.

Yes, He leads. We follow. We pray. We live—for Him.

TAKE YOUR PICK

Would you like to know more about the literature of the Advent Movement? Would you like to learn how to write poetry, how to paint pictures, or would you like to learn more about the religions of the world?

Several new courses will be introduced into the college curriculum next semester. They are being introduced for you. Have a chat with your Bible, English, or History instructor and you will find some subject which will not only take care of those two or three extra hours, but will also afford real enjoyment.

CALLING YOU

Hear ye! Hear ye! Alumni, where are you? Your Alma Mater is interested in you still, even though she no longer harbors you within her campus walls.

Do you keep the faith in India, in Africa, in China or elsewhere? Well. But we should like to know about it. Or do you keep the home torch glowing? We should like to know that, and we want to let others know about you through the alumni column. So, before you forget it, won't you sit down and write us about yourself? We are interested, and we thank you.

WARM UP!

We like new vistas. We can't help but thrill at the sight of mechanism new and bright, with true gears and accurate levers, without the dents and scratches that come of hard use.

If we may make the comparison, we like the looks of our officers-elect for the coming year. And when we say looks, we mean the inside of the cup and not the outside, the mental machinery "under the hood."

We feel that these men and women who are soon to take our responsibilities are individuals who think for themselves and are not "mere reflectors of other men's thoughts." Of a certainty, we want officers who represent us, who, while they represent, lead. We are sure in this—the greater the representative, the larger his following, and the safer his leadership.

As veterans behind the throttle look ahead to the journey's end, we feel that, building on the roadbed we have tried to establish, the new drivers will go right on to success. Not on the point, but to the point, we say in passing that the month which intervenes before our new officers step in is a fine opportunity to warm up the machine and run off the first five hundred miles. If that is done, The Association will continue in high gear and in practical efficiency.

THE TOURIST

"The Honorable the Supreme Court of the United States!"

It is noon of a winter day. It is just noon—not before—not after. A few visitors have braved the awesome Supreme Court Chamber of the United States Capitol, and are standing, together with the attorneys, the lawyers, the page boys.

From an antechamber at the left of the semicircular hall, nine black-robed justices file slowly in. They pass behind the Ionic marble columns forming the loggia, then come together toward the bench. They take their places. Page boys stand attentively near.

Again the court crier speaks.

"Oyez, oyez, oyez! All persons having business with the Supreme Court of the United States are admonished to draw near and give their attention, for the court is now sitting."

A solemn hush falls and there is a pause—then:

"God save the United States and this honorable court!"

The justices are seated. The attorneys are seated. The people are seated. And the Supreme Court of the United States, usually conceded to be earth's most powerful tribunal, is in session.

ents who should be patrons, to determine a definite line of procedure. Church services were held at the Bridgeton church in the afternoon, Elder Shirley Haynes presiding.

Mrs. Howell made an appeal for co-operation. "The wealth of a church," she said "is in its children. The doors of our schools should be wide open, inviting every child to enter." Mrs. Howell mentioned the Children Ingathering idea, and told experiences she had known, and the results obtained. She closed with the quotation from Mrs. E. G. White, "The only hope of saving our children is to press together—press together—press together."

consideration. This is probably the first time that a motion has carried to consider recasting the club name. As brought out in discussion by different members, the tradition of the name is its strongest reason for continuation. The progressive element indicated that even as "little systems have their day and cease to be," the club has grown to the place where its name demands greater significance.

Membership dues are required by the constitution to the extent of 25 cents a semester. The present membership of the club is about 85.

It is provided that elections will be held prior to the last meeting of the first semester, or a month in advance of the time specified in the old constitution.

It provides for a regular chaplain to conduct the worship period before the Famous Fifty session begins. This eliminates the usual proceedings where the Dean of Men takes charge, and gives full time to the club.

Election of officers is changed from the usual popular nominating method to a nominating committee appointed from the floor.

Dean Eric Jones reported a total of $190 received from the benefit lecture given by Dr. G. W. Ray. The proceeds will be divided equally between the Famous Fifty and Halcyon Club to be used for improvement of the two school homes.

ELDER FARLEY OPENS NEW WEEK OF PRAYER

Introducing the Week of Prayer for students of Washington Missionary College, Elder Richard F. Farley, pastor of the Sligo church, delivered the opening address last Friday evening.

"There should be no reason for aloofness or rebellion on the question of these semiannual series of services," he declared. "We are studying the most beautiful thing in all the world."

Elder Farley continued to justify the allotment of time for this purpose by showing the value of quiet meditation on the things of God.

More than 100 students testified of their intention to follow the Master and wait for His blessing.

from China by Mrs. D. E. Davenport. The bits of hand work sold rapidly.

This second sale, given under the auspices of the Mother's Club of the Home and School Association was, judging from the empty tables at 5 p. m., a complete success. Mrs. D. E. Davenport, who was superintendent of the sale, was assisted by Mrs. H. Presley, Mrs. W. R. French and Mrs. G. A. Huse.

The Home and School Association recently presented the training school with a new duplicating machine.

COLLEGE CURRICULUM TO ADD NEW COURSES

submitted. For foundation work the lower classmen might be enticed to enter the class in directed reading of standard literature, which also yields a credit of one semester hour.

The class to start in college Grammar will follow a recent custom of welcoming as members college seniors lest some of them might leave insulted without its attendant blessings.

Washington Missionary College will feature another new class in its curriculum—Comparative Religions—which will be under the professorship of Elder French. This is a three-hour course and the complement of the Advanced Missions class. Elder French's class in Revelation will also be open to receive new members.

Prof. Werline announces the possibility of starting two new courses for those who are lured into the study of history. If there is a sufficient demand, one of these classes will be Roman History and the other one the Development of the English Constitution.

The Music Department is always ready to supply students with private instruction in piano, violin and voice.

Two classes will be formed in Hydrotherapy, one for the men and one for the young ladies. Miss Oliver will also teach the class in Social Problems which makes its debut next semester.

The Botany class may be entered by the academic students who are now taking Physiology.

Dr. Wilkinson will enroll Theological students who wish to take second semester work in Pastoral Training II, III or IV. All those who plan on entering the canvassing field next summer should join the class in Christian Salesmanship.

DR. WILKINSON LECTURES

"The Proposed United States of Europe," was the subject of the lecture by Dr. B. G. Wilkinson in the Arcadia Auditorium last Sunday night, which was attended by an audience of 400.

Preceding the lecture, Dr. A. W. Truman gave a short health talk on high blood pressure.

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

With the election of its officers, organization of W. M. C.'s first Glee Club is complete. Prof. C. E. Weniger is president. His fellow officers are: director, Prof. Victor Johnson; business manager, Melvin Davis; secretary treasurer, Herman Paul; librarian, Edward Mooy.

The club continues to hold rehearsals each week in preparation for a spring booster tour.

ELDER FRENCH TALKS ON EASTERN QUESTION

"When the Turk comes to his end in Jerusalem, probation will be closed," declared Elder W. R. French during Monday's chapel period as he discoursed on the last event to take place before the close of the world judgment.

Tracing the steps that lead to the end of probation, as stated in Daniel 11:45, the speaker proved that this prophecy referred to the Turk, the present inhabitant of the north country, who has established a sacred mosque in Jerusalem as prophesied.

MANY STUDENTS JOIN FIRESIDE ENROLMENT

The Fireside Correspondence School, which is used by many W. M. C. students in making up work and taking advanced work during the summer months, is the largest Seventh-day Adventist educational institution. It has an enrolment of 2,272, and offers more than 90 courses covering college and academic work. Its credits are accepted by all denominational resident schools.

Students of this school are composed of many nationalities,—French, Germans, Chinese, Indians, Filipinos and others. Some are located so remotely from headquarters that it takes correspondence and lessons two and one half months to arrive from the school to the students.

Certificates have been given to 547 who have completed courses thus far this year. Each lesson covers what would be a week's work in school.

Branches are operating in Australia, South America and China. The branch in China, with headquarters in Shanghai, has an enrolment of 500 students.

Dr. M. E. Olsen, president of the school, is a graduate of the University of Michigan. The faculty, which is made up of 20 men and women, includes members of the W. M. C. faculty, Profs. A. W. Werline, C. E. Weniger, B. G. Wilkinson, R. F. Farley, Mr. G. A. Huse and Mr. B. P. Foote.

SUNSHINE BAND VISITS PRESBYTERIAN HOME

Because W. M. C. students are not only talented musicians but also Missionary Volunteers, many institutions of Washington enjoy their music. Last Sabbath the Presbyterian Home for Aged Women was favored with a visit of the Sunshine Band under the direction of Miss Margaret Ellwanger, band leader.

Among the musical selections rendered were a number of musical saw solos by Lawrence Stone, a vocal solo by Mrs. G. Nicola with violin obbligato played by Miss Grace Nicola, selections rendered by the College male quartet, a vocal solo sung by Charles Dupee, a piano selection played by Miss Mildred McClary and a cornet solo rendered by Edwin Olsen.

MEDICAL MINISTRY IS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Dr. D. H. Kress addressed the Medical Seminar Friday evening in the North Hall worship room on the combining of the medical work with the ministry.

"Every worker should be able to say, 'God has anointed me to do the work.' Man perishes because he lacks knowledge. He is not taught the laws of sanitation. Sickness makes him weak. The physician comes in and tells him what he should do to become healthy. At this time he should bring in the spiritual side. Many people cannot be healed unless the mind be healed.

"The population is decreasing rapidly. More people die than are born. The human race is on the down hill. All this has come about because of incorrect habits and the lack of teaching."

The doctor declared that if one combines the spiritual with the medical in his work, he will have the promise, "Lo, I am with you alway."

UNION NURSE ADVISES

Miss Esther Bergman, Columbia Union Conference nurse, spoke to the Halcyonites Dec. 4. "If you are to keep free from illness," she said, "you must keep in good physical condition. The food you eat plays a large part in keeping your body fit."

Carbohydrates, the building food, are found in potatoes, macaroni, bread and starchy foods. Miss Bergman emphasized the danger of an oversupply of protein in the diet. Only 10 per cent of food eaten should come under this class. Fats and minerals were named and their use explained. This is one of a series of health programs being given in South Hall.

COLLEGE HEAD SPEAKS

President H. H. Hamilton spoke to the members of the Mt. Pleasant church Sabbath morning, Dec. 7. "We cannot compare ourselves with any one on earth," he said, "but must look to Christ for the perfect pattern." Characteristics which are needed to live a Christlike life were named.

The Mt. Pleasant church continues to grow. Nearly every week one or more new faces can be seen in the audience.

ENGLISH CLUB

Candlelight, holly wreaths, Christmas carols, a crackling log fire and a Christmas tree bright with tinsel made the illusion of Christmas complete last Saturday evening when the English Club gathered for their Yuletide meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Graham.

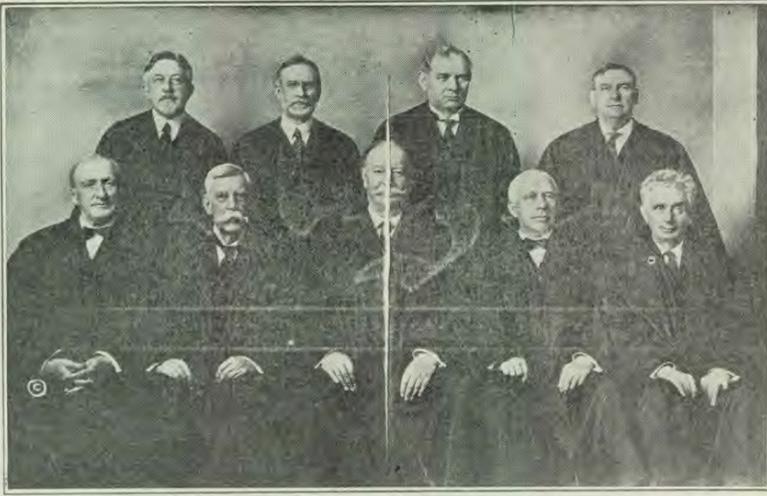

"And it came to pass in those days that a decree went forth from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed," began the story of the first Christmas which was read by Russell Krick.

"Holy Night, Silent Night" was sung by the Quart-a-teers, Messrs. Vinston Adams, Charles Dupee, Melvin Davis and Charles Warnell.

Miss Mary Ninaj, dressed in her native Bohemian costume, told many quaint customs observed in Czechoslovakia during the days when holly wreaths make magic in every window.

A Jewish legend of the little Christ child at play was read by John Osborn, and Prof. Harold A. Miller sang two Christmas favorites, "Adore and Silent Be," by Gounod, and "A Christmas song," by Adams.

After Ruth Conard told the story of the "Other Wise Man," Christmas cake and punch were served while reminiscences of happy Christmases were told by members of the club.

EXCHANGE

The Collegian, Walla Walla, Wash.

The students of Walla Walla College voted a 50 cent raise in the price of the Mountain Ash yearbook. The former price of $1.00 was considered insufficient to publish the book with a good cover unless a sales campaign was held. A straw vote showed a majority of the students in favor of raising the price.

Coe College Cosmos, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The actual composition of Coe's yearbook, the Acorn, for 1930, was begun the first of December.

The Almanian, Alma, Michigan.

Alma College has a new club sponsored by Dr. Charles Brokenshire, called the Esperanto Club. At the first meeting, the history of the language was given and its advantages were pointed out. Meetings will be held at least twice a month. The Esperanto is a newly written language which international scholars are planning to effect into universal use.

The Lancastrian, South Lancaster, Mass.

A large amount of fruits, vegetables and canned goods was gathered together through the combined efforts of the academic and college Christian Help bands of South Lancaster. Baskets filled with the goods were distributed among poor families in the vicinity of the College for Thanksgiving dinners.

Manager Floyd Walleker of the Bakery spent Monday afternoon in the city making purchases of a varied and heterogeneous nature in anticipation of baking a goodly supply of fruit cakes for the coming holiday season.

HALCYON

Halcyonites met at their regular time Dec. 5, and transacted the business of the club. A committee for taking the responsibility of the South Hall kitchenette key was selected. It is composed of Misses Vera Fisher, Helen King and Joyce Doe.

Miss Ruth Gorndt reported that work on the kitchenette is progressing rapidly.

Miss Ruth Deyo, chairman of the benefit program committee, announced that $93 was cleared from the program held Nov. 24.

Following Mr. Richard Hubbard, the club's guest, who sang two numbers, a sketch entitled, "Advertising for a Companion," was given by the Misses Mary Ninaj, Helen Marschner, Helen Lamond and Ruth Schifer.

club. All of the nurses who have singing ability are eligible to join the organization. More than 40, who have had their voices tested, have responded with enthusiasm at the thought of having a permanent musical organization at the Sanitarium.

A Christmas program will be given at the Sanitarium, and in the spring the musical group plans a concert which will be given in Columbia Hall. Rehearsal periods held each Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the gymnasium, will alternate so as to enable nurses on both day and night duty to avail themselves of the singing periods.

The Sanitarium faculty is strongly in favor of the project, believing that it will be beneficial in more than one way in solving the problem of recreation and entertainment for the nurses.

UNION SUPERINTENDENT RELATES EXPERIENCES

Elder E. C. Boger, superintendent of the Zambezi Union, addressed the Foreign Missions Band last Friday evening on the subject, "Open Doors in Africa."

Elder Boger gave a brief account of his work and travels throughout his union. He related the changes in the work during the last few years. His message to the mission band was that as a missionary one must bury feelings and superior complex ideas. He must consider himself but a servant of God and man.

The English Explorers Club enjoyed an evening of entertainment at the home of Miss Thelma Wellman, the sponsor, on Saturday night, Dec. 7. The music was furnished by Milton Prout, Edwin Olsen, Sterrie Wellman and Miss Thelma Wellman. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments and the playing of games.

COSMIC RAY

Saturday evening, the Cosmic Ray Club spent a delightful two hours listening to an address by Dr. E. K. Nelson of the Bureau of Chemistry.

During the World War, Dr. Nelson was employed in research work for the Government, spending two years isolating and determining the structure of the pungent substance found in Cayenne pepper, for the purpose of developing a sneeze powder that could be used in warfare. This substance is 500 times as strong as red pepper, and a small particle of it will cause one to sneeze violently.

Dr. Nelson is an authority on food chemistry and is now determining the acids found in fruits and honey. In his work he has discovered many new organic compounds.

Dr. Nelson graciously extended an invitation to the members of the Club to visit the Bureau of Chemistry last Tuesday. The club members spent a very profitable afternoon in the Government laboratories under his personal direction. The members of the Cosmic Ray Club are grateful to Dr. Nelson for his manifest interest in the activities of the club.

Three batches of light waffles eaten in the warmth of the Home Economics rooms made several ladies of the faculty happy last Sunday night.

Under the tutelage of Miss Anna Roedel, instructor in Home Economics, the Misses Rozetta Thurston, Minnie Abray, Virginia Hoelzel and Mrs. Mary Montgomery learned to make whole-wheat-flour waffles without using baking powder.

MISS SPICER GIVES ART WORK EXHIBITION

About 60 pictures were placed on exhibition Tuesday afternoon by Miss Etta Spicer, Art instructor of W. M. C. The College and Normal Art classes visited Miss Spicer's home on Carroll avenue where the exhibit was held.

The pictures, which were all painted by Miss Spicer, include portraits and landscape scenes. There is a picture of Frances Scott Key's home as it looked 35 years ago, a picture of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, and one of the rocky Maine Coast, all painted from the actual objects.

Miss Spicer always carries drawing materials with her, "for," she said, "I either get a sudden inspiration or I see something that, if I don't sketch it immediately, I may never have opportunity to sketch again."

President and Mrs. H. H. Hamilton also visited the exhibit.

Coming from a suburb of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Ben S. Boyce visited her niece, Miss Beverly June Pruette, last Tuesday.

NURSES' GUILD

The regular monthly meeting of the Kate Lindsay Guild was held at 7:30 Saturday night, Dec. 7, in the South Hall worship room. After a short business session, during which Miss Nora Klopfenstein was elected secretary of the Guild, Dr. Lauretta Kress told the life story of Dr. Kate Lindsay.

Her life was one of stern and complete service. Dr. Lindsay was always willing and waiting to render assistance to any one in any way when it was needed or desired. Her voice and attitude always commanded respect and obedience. "Be on time, begin on time and know your subject," was her rule of life.

In addition to Dr. Kress' talk, Mrs. A. W. Truman rendered a solo and Miss Alberta Hilckman read a number of letters telling of Dr. Lindsay's life, written by persons who had known her.

CAMPUS NEWS

A new Telechron clock has been placed in the chapel in Columbia Hall. The addition is one of several clocks that will be installed in the near future. The clock that was in the chapel is now in the library.

The painting crew of the College are repainting the laundry and are making rapid progress in refinishing the Home Economics Department. They have papered several rooms in North Hall, including some of the rooms in the Dean's apartment, during the past week.

Miss Margaret Watts, who is teaching music in Baltimore, visited the College Sabbath. Miss Watts is a former student of this school, and is a graduate in piano of the Peabody Conservatory of Music.

Will Sail for China

Miss Irene Dawson of Melrose, Mass., visited Miss Hope Muchler last Wednesday. Miss Dawson is on her way to the Shanghai, China, mission, where she will work as a stenographer.

Misses Dorothy Koeppen and Anna Fuchs, W. M. C. alumnae, who are teaching church school in Philadelphia, visited friends at the College over the week end.

Elders F. M. Wilcox and C. L. Bond will conduct the Week of Prayer services in the Takoma Park church.

Celebrate Anniversary

The night of Nov. 10 found the Sabbath School Department workers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wellman to celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary with a social evening together and the presentation of a magazine rack to the honored pair.

Elder and Mrs. J. L. Shaw recently motored south on a tour to rural schools in the Southeast. Jack Frost, however, called a halt at Greenville, Tenn., where they were only too glad to leave their car and come home via train.

Mr. William Ellis, Jr., of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, visited his cousin Raphael Senseman over the week end. Mr. Ellis is a former student of Mt. Vernon Academy, and plans to attend W. M. C. next year.

Students Are Guests

The Misses Iva Fairchild, Gertrude Stevens, Helena Kirkland and Ruth Harding had Sabbath dinner at the home of Elder and Mrs. H. H. Votaw.

Miss Beatrice Hearn of Richmond visited Miss Helen Marschner over the week end.

A visitor of W. M. C. last week end was Mrs. Archibald Gartrell of Brookville, Md., who was the guest of her sister, Miss Gaizelle Allison.

Mr. William Bradford of Vienna, Va., who is a student of the American University in Washington, spent Sunday with friends at the College. Mr. Bradford is working on his master's degree, and has selected W. M. C.'s library for research work on his thesis.

Minister Attacked

While in Chicago during the first part of December, Elder C. A. Russell, of the General Conference, was held up by four negroes, strangled to unconsciousness and relieved of less than a dollar in loose change, a pocket comb and a pocket knife. Elder Russell feels that he has a good joke on the robbers, for he had four one dollar bills rolled up in a handkerchief which they overlooked. He believes that they mistook his pocket comb, which was in a leather case, for a bill fold containing a large sum of money, for when they got this out of his hip pocket, they fled down an alley, and he saw them no more. Aside from the nervous strain which he sustained, he suffered no bodily injury.

SAN NURSES FEATURE GYPSY CAMP PROGRAM

Gypsies! Gypsies everywhere greeted the sight of those who entered the Sanitarium gymnasium on the evening of Dec. 5. The new class of nurses and Sanitarium faculty were the guests of the Intermediates at an entertainment in which the entire program and decorations were typical of gypsy life.

Miss Catherine Carlson, president of the Intermediate Class, gave the address of welcome, and then the gypsy program began. "Gypsy Love Song" was sung by Charles Dupee, accompanied by Edwin Harkins with cello obligato. Miss Dorothy Rupert gave a Spanish reading entitled, "Rosa," after which each member of the new class had his fortune told. An instrumental quartet consisting of Prof. Victor Johnson, Miss Grace Nicola, Miss Mildred McClary and Edwin Harkins rendered several selections.

Refreshments were served after which a good night song was sung and a hearty response was given by Miss Anna Vaughn, president of the new class, in appreciation for the entertainment.

The fact that mid-semester examinations directly follow the holidays should make each student work for intelligence grades and not scholastic records, while the time is his.
