CONSTITUENCY BOARD FETED WITH BANQUET

MEN'S GLEE CLUB SINGS

Biennial Constituency Meeting Opened in Chapel Period by Elder Robbins

Members of the Constituency Board of W. M. C., who were in session this week, were entertained at a banquet held in their honor by the College in the Central Hall dining room last Monday evening.

The banquet, which was attended by more than fifty persons, lasted over two hours. Dean Jones served as host. The evening's program began with the introduction of the constituency members to the College faculty by President and Mrs. H. H. Hamilton.

SLIGO CHURCH HEARS ELDER MONTGOMERY

In addressing the Sligo church on Sabbath, Feb. 22, Elder O. Montgomery, vice president of the General Conference, told of the rapid advances made in schools which he visited while touring central and southern Europe.

Though Rumania is a land of severe persecution, he said, 2,000 persons were baptized there last year, and the denominational school, whose enrollment this present school year is four times greater than it was two years ago, is so congested that 17 girls must stay in one room. The beds are placed side by side and are entered by climbing over the foot rails. A similar congestion exists in the boys' dormitories.

He related some of the experiences and conflicts with civil authorities which European believers must face. Yet in spite of these the message is progressing with success.

CLASS GIVES BANQUET TO HONOR WASHINGTON

The members of the Public Speaking II class demonstrated their speaking ability immediately after a sumptuous banquet in the Home Economics rooms in South Hall last Sunday evening at 6 o'clock.

After the dinner, the toastmaster, Mr. Maynard Bourdeau, introduced the first speaker, Miss Eunice Graham. She told the individual characteristics of her classmates as speakers. Miss Mary Ninaj proposed a toast to President Hamilton, followed by a short response.

The next toast was to the women by Mr. Arthur Henrichsen. Miss Ruth Harding proposed a toast to the men.

Because of the patriotic atmosphere that prevailed after Feb. 22, the re- (Concluded on page 4)

LADIES SURPRISE MEN AT HALCYON MEETING CLUBS MEET IN CHAPEL

The Halcyonites and men of the Famous Fifty assembled in Columbia Hall for a joint worship period Thursday evening, Feb. 20. The ladies of South Hall then surprised the men by sharing their own club entertainment with them.

A saxophone duet by the Misses Mildred McClary and Ruth Harding introduced the program. Miss Beatrice Levine told of the origin of the Halcyon name. "Calm, peaceful and happy are the days we spend here at W. M. C., and that is just what Halcyon signifies," she said.

Turning to the men, Miss Levine said, "We appreciate your palship and (Concluded on page 2)

TYPING STUDENTS WIN PRIZES FOR ACCURACY

Since the opening of the second semester, 16 new students have enrolled in the Commercial Department, making a total of 68. Almost every Thursday, which is test day, a prize is won. This month prizes in typewriting were won by the Misses Irma Foote, Juanita Graham, Edith Crain, Frances Slate, Mrs. Virginia Stockil and Homer Slade.

Mr. Eugene Evans and Mr. Reginald Pleasants hold the honor for accuracy. Each wrote a perfect 15-minute test during the month of January. The Misses Edna Parsons, Edith Crain, Frances Slate and Mrs. Stockil have led among the novices. (Concluded on page 4)

ELDER W. R. FRENCH TO TALK AT MT. PLEASANT

Elder W. R. French will speak to the members of the Mt. Pleasant church Sabbath morning, March 1, on the subject of "The Soul,—What Is It?"

Elder French will give a theological discussion of his subject which will be of interest to those planning to go into the ministry and Bible work.

PROFESSIONAL CLASS ORGANIZATION FINISHED

C. COGGIN IS PRESIDENT

Academic Senior Class Forms With Eight Members With Bricker as President

On the morning of February 23 at 9 a. m. all professional students eligible for graduation gathered in the office of President H. H. Hamilton for the organization of the Class of 1930. Charles Coggin, a premedical student, was elected president of the class, and Miss Anetta Truman is its secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the Professional Class are: Wesley Herbert, Wallace Mook, Raphael Senseman, L. O. Coon, Esther Mitchison, Lawrence Gibson, Grace Hendrickson, Erlene Miller, John Osborn, Edgar Haag, Edna Stoneburner, Stuart Clark, Enoch Lund, Frederika Dietz and Olin Bray.

Prof. E. C. Blue, head of the Science Department, was chosen class adviser. The premed party is in the majority for the year 1930.

The Academic Senior Class was also organized under President Hamilton's supervision. Harold Bricker was (Concluded on page 4)

PIONEER TELLS STORY OF EARLY ADVENTURERS

"Personal Experiences with Mrs. Ellen Gould White," was the subject of Elder J. S. Washburn's sermon at the Mt. Pleasant church last Sabbath morning. Elder Washburn, who had a personal acquaintance with Mrs. White from his boyhood to the time of her death, told many experiences connected with her work as prophet of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination.

As Mrs. White was a close friend of Elder Washburn's parents, she often visited their home. His father heard her relate her first vision received in 1844, and his mother saw her three times while she was in vision. Elder Washburn was baptized by Elder James White, her husband, when he was 12 years of age.

CLASS ACTIVITIES ARE STARTED BY SENIORS

The College Seniors have rolled up their mental sleeves in preparation for the work and pleasures ahead of them between now and the evening of May 11. At their first regular meeting Monday evening, the Seniors adopted crimson and white as their class colors—a slight modification of their Junior colors which were red and white. The 1930 class is the first one in many years to use this combination. The Seniors also retained their Junior motto—"To Do His Will."

Miss Mary Ninaj was elected press agent for The Sligonian, the Takoma (Concluded on page 4)

NOTED NATURALIST IS SPEAKER AT PROGRAM

Rocky Mountain Guide Relates Story in Benefit Talk

Last Saturday night Washington Missionary College presented Guy C. Caldwell of the American Nature Association in an Institutional Relief benefit program. Mr. Caldwell lectured in the auditorium of Columbia Hall on the magnificent scenery of the mountains of Colorado.

Mr. Caldwell showed a selection of autochromes and painted slides of mountains that defies comparison. Trees, flowers, birds and animals were shown in their natural splendor on the screen. Some phenomenal pictures of the Water Ousel—a bird that nature-lovers seek with the zeal that they hunt the aerie of the eagle—were shown.

Mr. Caldwell has the ability to imitate birds and animals by natural (Concluded on page 4)

RETURNED MISSIONARY RELATES EXPERIENCES

"Mission life is a real thing, just as our lives at home are," said Mrs. Norman Wiles to the Foreign Mission Band Friday evening, Feb. 21. The speaker related her introduction to mission life in the New Hebrides where she was sent as a missionary a few years ago.

Mrs. Wiles told of the conditions in which the natives live in those islands, describing what they call "home." She said their hut was little larger than a dog kennel, and not only the family stays there at night, but the swine and dogs also have their corner.

Abused Billy Goat Portrays Devotion

By J. L.

When I was a little tad at the knee-pants age, I bought a Billy goat. And all the time I had him, he got more battering about than I did!

One day when a chum started home from play I went piecemeal with him and took the goat along. An idea came—we'd play a prank on the goat! Off came my big straw hat, over the goat's head it went, and my chum held the goat while I ran toward home.

Several rods off I stopped. The goat was freed, saw me, and then like a shot came hopping up. He was overjoyed—glad to see me, who had battered him around so much!

This bothers me—if a battered goat is so devoted to even a poor master that he will run to that master when in trouble, why don't human beings show as much devotion to their Master, who does them only good?

Devotion is hard to understand, sometimes.

Business Manager Reports on Organization's Financial Status in Meeting

By Carl Laubach

The campaign for the Book of Golden Memories of 1930 was begun yesterday morning at 9:15 o'clock in The Students' Association meeting with Curtis Quackenbush in the chair. The Famous Fifty, the Halcyon and the Residents' Clubs will write to all parts of the world in a concentrated effort to bring before the public this new and improved Annual.

M. Eugene Evans read a letter from Mr. Walin, Business Manager, stating that if the Annual this year is satisfactory and free from debt, the College Press will co-operate in its publication for this year to the extent of $200.

Harold Rudolph, president of The Students' Association, opened the campaign program by introducing a few of the plans and by making a personal appeal to the student body to back the program. Violet Numbers directed the singing of the school song which was sung to create a co- (Concluded on page 3)

STUDENTS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF CUBA

In commemoration of the 35th anniversary of the Cuban Declaration of Independence, Cuban students held a party in Central Hall, Monday evening, Feb. 24, attended by their distinguished guest, Senor Jose A. Sera, secretary of the Cuban Embassy.

Around the table, on which was a large cake with the words "Liberty" and "Cuba" inscribed with colored icing, the group recalled incidents connected with the insurrection against the Spanish yoke in 1895.

In addition to the Cuban students, Isaac and Matthew Vasques and Oscar and Diego Diaz, the dinner was attended by Werner Wild from Argentina, and Francis Gomez of Santo Domingo.

COLLEGE MILL INSTALLS AUTOMATIC ROD MACHINE

A new automatic rod and dowel machine, capable of running 100 feet of stock a minute, is now in operation in the Mill. This machine is used mainly to make ironing board dowels, but it may also be used for other rod or dowel work.

One of the new machine's prominent features is a new arrangement of feed and delivery rolls which provide stock made as short as one and one half inches in length. Cross-grained or knotty stock feeds as easily as any other kind. The power is furnished by a three-phase, direct built-in motor. The machine cost $885.

GET BUSY

Another Annual campaign has arrived. What reaction does it produce in you? It represents another milestone in the history of successes or failures of W. M. C. Which will you help make it?

The success of a school Annual depends upon its backing—it needs the proper kind of school spirit behind it, the co-operation of the student body with the Annual staff which they have elected to work on their publication.

The Annual staff is doing its best to put this project through; it is working under difficulties and handicaps. Its members have come before us to ask our aid and our support. Let's back them up now to the last man. What do you say, fellow students?

Some of us want what we never should have, and others have what we never should want. Do you want what you should have, and have what you should want?

WHAT DO YOU READ?

"Tell me what you read, and I will tell you what you are," says a well-known proverb. Never a truer word was spoken than that which warns us that the nature of the literature we read has a great influence on our character.

There is no more fascinating or more thrilling reading than the inspired Word of God. Read it more. Make it a part of your very being. Begin your day with a few verses of Scripture, and see how much easier your trials and temptations will be. The Sabbath school lesson is a good help for daily study, but we need more than that. We have three meals a day. Why undernourish our spiritual nature? Open your Bible and have at least two spiritual feasts every 24 hours.

How often do you read from the Spirit of Prophecy or from some other good book? Once a day? Once a week? If we hope for success in our mission of service, we need instruction to tell us which way to go. Make more use of our opportunities while we may.

Good reading does help. And the Bible is our best book.

It is a fact that in a heart brim full of Christianity there is no room for iniquity.

THE TOURIST

Another of the beautiful buildings in the vicinity of the White House is the Corcoran Art Gallery on Seventeenth street at New York avenue. Its architecture is Neo-Greek, and the external walls above the granite basement are of pure white Georgia marble.

The building is not a government institution, but a monument built by the philanthropist, William Wilson Corcoran. It is heavily endowed by him, and is "to be used solely for the purpose of encouraging American genius in the production and presentation of works pertaining to the fine arts and kindred objects." The Corcoran donations amount to $1,600,000.

The main entrance to the building is on Seventeenth street. Across its threshold is an atrium surrounded with galleries devoted mainly to sculpture and casts. Two exhibitions of special merit are Powers' "Greek Slave" and Vela's masterpiece "Dying Napoleon."

In the galleries on the second floor is the finest collection of paintings and etchings in America. Not only are the best American works to be found here, but many masterpieces from foreign schools.

At various intervals, special exhibits of unusual interest and educational value are arranged in the gallery. Probably the most important of these is the biennial Exhibition of Contemporary American Oil Paintings.

In the gallery is the Corcoran School of Art. Because of its generous endowment it offers unusual opportunities for the student in academic drawing and painting at a nominal annual entrance fee and the cost of materials.

The gallery is open the year round except for two holidays—Christmas Day and July 4. Admission is free on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays.

To reach the gallery, take a trolley marked "Twenty-sixth and G streets" or "Georgetown via G street." Get off the car at Seventeenth and G streets, two blocks north of the gallery. Or take a "Potomac Park" car and get off at Eighteenth and D streets, one block west of the gallery.

purity of manhood, and it is in Christ Jesus that we find the true meaning of purity, truth and strength. That we may reach these ideals," she added, "let us look up, and laugh and lift together."

"Whispering Hope" was the title of the vocal duet sung by the Misses Iva Fairchild and Kathryn Halstead, accompanied by Miss Florence Carlson on the marimba.

The reading given by Miss Jean Wingate showed the true fruits of Christianity, the work of redemption. Mr. Richard Hubbard sang several selections at the close of the entertainment. Among them were: "The Bells of the Sea" and the "Bells of St. Mary's."

The Wind

By MARY NINAJ

I heard the mighty wind last night;
 I heard him tear through all the trees
 While rushing by in hurried flight
 Across the valleys, hills, and seas.

And yet again the wind swept by,
 He whistled, laughed, and sang with glee,
 And mocked all things both far and nigh—
 He e'en made fun of you and me.

And then he wore another spell—
 This wind—he sighed, and sobbed, and wept;
 What tore his heart I could not tell,
 But grief, deep grief, swift o'er me swept.

Though dark clouds gather overhead,
 And all your soul is filled with dread,
 Look up! For clouds of darkest hue
 Have sometimes let the sun shine through.

A broken pencil lead
 Is not a thing to flout,
 Nor is a hope that's fallen dead
 A thing to weep about.

A ship at sea can blaze no trail,
 It plows a course no eye can see;
 Yet sure as faith the set of sail
 Will guide a ship to homeward lea.

The man who wants a friend that's true
 Must give to all a kindly smile;
 Must sacrifice for others' joy,
 And be forbearing all the while.

whether she or the Lord was speaking, and her answer to him was: "I haven't had a vision such as I used to have for several years, but I never dare to speak or write a testimony but that I know the Holy Spirit controls my mind."

At the close of the service Elder Washburn showed original letters written by Mrs. White to him, and he gave photographed copies of one of them to those present at the service.

Elder Washburn will speak again at the Mt. Pleasant church on Sabbath, March 15, on the removal of the Seventh-day Adventist headquarters to Washington, D. C.

THEOLOGICAL STUDENT IS PASTOR OF CHURCH

In addition to attending W. M. C., Raymond Montgomery is acting as pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Frederick, Md. The company is composed of eight baptized members and many individuals interested in the doctrines discussed. This group is very active in the Institutional Relief Campaign. Five have sold 50 books each in ten days. One woman reports that she sold all hers to lawyers. This week the church plans to start the distribution of Present Truth papers in the homes to interest others.

Mr. Montgomery is building up the Sabbath school by making friends with newsboys. He is giving them Morning Watch Calendars, and invites them to the service.

Due to the friendliness of Judge Hammond, the church worships in the Pythian Castle, and pays only one dollar a week—the necessary legal fund.

Many present considered the banquet the finest and best ever given by the College.

During the chapel period Monday morning the biennial constituency meeting for W. M. C. was formally opened by Elder F. H. Robbins, president of the Columbia Union Conference. Twenty-seven members were seated on the platform, and several were in the audience during the morning exercises.

Elder W. A. Spicer, president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, made a few remarks upon openings in the mission fields for students. Among other General Conference members who spoke were Elders J. L. Shaw, J. L. McElhany, R. A. Montgomery and E. Kotz.

Union and local conference presidents who brought greetings from their respective fields included Elders N. S. Ashton, C. V. Leach, H. J. Detwiler, C. S. Prout and H. J. Elliott.

Two educational leaders, Profs. W. E. Howell and C. W. Irwin, also greeted the students. Prof. A. J. Olson, principal of Mt. Vernon Academy, and W. C. Hannah, principal of Shenandoah Valley Academy, brought greetings to former students.

In continuing, she said that it is very difficult to learn the native language there, for it has never been reduced to writing, and the natives are not willing to have white people know their language for they fear that their customs will become known.

Mrs. Wiles' husband died of fever while they were working in the New Hebrides. They were a great distance from any white people at the time, and after burying her husband, Mrs. Wiles returned to headquarters by a sea voyage in a small boat. A trip inland took her through native villages of hostile tribes. On arrival at the station, she requested that another worker be sent at once to the New Hebrides.

ELDER J. L. McELHANY SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the North American Division, addressed the students on "Living and Dying for Christ" at the Friday evening service, Feb. 21.

He related experiences of Seventh-day Adventist young people who stood steadfast for their faith when confronted with persecution and death. He said there is a need of a living Christian experience that will anchor the Christian's faith in Christ and hold him steadfast in the time of trial. "If we live for Him, the dying will take care of itself," Elder McElhany declared. Many students responded to the appeal for a closer consecration, and testified of their determination to follow the Master.

CAMPUS NEWS

Mrs. L. G. Dolan and her daughter, Betty, of Paterson, N. J., were entertained over the week end at the College by Gerald Dolan.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Scoles and family are visiting in Takoma Park. They are on their way to New Mexico to take up work in the government service for the Navajo Indians. Dr. Scoles was formerly connected with the Mt. Vernon, Ohio, Hospital and Sanitarium.

Elder and Mrs. J. L. McElhany were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walliker at dinner in the College dining room last Sabbath.

Band Visits

The Sunshine Band visited the Ede's Home for Aged Women in Washington last Sabbath. A feature of the program presented was a vocal solo by Mrs. E. Jones.

Two large fire alarm bells and a call box have been installed in North Hall, and provision is being made to put in a quantity of fire hose. The fire alarm system will shortly be extended to the other buildings on the campus, and will be part of the fire-fighting equipment donated to the College by the Famous Fifty.

Milton Prout, accompanied by Horton McLennan, visited his home in Philadelphia over the week end.

Miss Emma Schifer and Miss Mildred McClary have been assisting the circulation manager of The Sligonian for several weeks.

Matron Calls

Mrs. R. H. McClary, matron of Mt. Vernon Academy, spent the week end with her daughters Mildred and Bernice.

Prof. C. E. Weniger is back at school after several days of illness.

Mrs. Herman Paul has returned to Central Hall after several days of illness at the Sanitarium.

A postage stamp machine has been placed in the North Hall reception room for the convenience of the men.

Harold Rudolph is directing music for the Capital-Memorial effort in Washington. The meetings are being conducted by Elder MacNeil.

Officer Visits

Mr. G. O. Covington, chief commissary steward of the United States Navy, came from New York City to visit his sister, Miss Ava Covington for several days this week. At present he is connected with the U. S. S. Nitro, one of the largest supply ships in the navy.

Many students who claim Mt. Vernon Academy as their alma mater greeted their former principal, Prof. A. J. Olson, on his arrival for the annual board meeting. Prof. Olson addressed the students in joint worship Sunday evening.

Miss Myrtle Gill, a first semester student, has returned to W. M. C. She plans to canvass with the Watchman magazine in Washington, D. C.

Sends Manuscripts

Miss Wellman has mailed 22 manuscripts to the Youth's Instructor and the Watchman contest editors. She has chosen these from a number handed her by many students.

Miss Rozetta Thurston has returned to continue her work in the library. She plans to have a sale soon of all old books which have been withdrawn from the library's shelves.

Miss Edna Parsons visited her home in Shiloh, N. J., over the week end.

Miss Mabel Estill, who has charge of the operating room in the Sanitarium, Mrs. Lavinia Quinn and Mrs. Norman Wiles were guests of Miss Betty Quinn at supper in the College dining room Sabbath.

The huge concrete marker, "Sanitarium," embedded in the hillside off Carroll avenue, has just been repainted.

Cook a Day a Week FREE!

Electric range users have a whole day's cooking service to enjoy at no increased cost over what they paid in 1929! The new Schedule K rates have been reduced 16-2/3% after the first ten hours' use at the reduced primary rate of 4.7 cents. The new Schedule K rate is 2 1/2 cents as compared to 3 cents per Kilowatt Hour last year.

In other words, if an Electric Range uses 100 Kilowatt Hours a month, its operating cost per month would be, at these new rates, only $2.72 monthly! During 1929 the cost would have been $3.22. Here, then, is a minimum saving of a half-dollar monthly on Electric Range operation alone. And Schedule K rates also apply to Electric Oil Burners, Refrigerators, Washing Machines, Power Ironers, and Heating Appliances separately metered to exclude all lighting uses.

There is no better way to invest your savings under these new rates than in Electrical Appliances. Their continued dependable operation is assured by the constant service of the
