

Statistical Report

Annual Council of the General Conference Committee Silver Spring, Maryland, October 8 - 14, 2004

Prepared by the Office of Archives and Statistics

Baptisms Surpass One Million

For the second time in its Annual Council reporting history, the world divisions reported baptisms that surpassed one million. The 1,006,492 baptisms during the past four quarters meant that on the average, every day within that period 2,756 believers accepted the everlasting gospel and joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The resulting total of 13,663,497 baptized members means that there are currently 468 people populating our planet for every baptized Seventh-day Adventist. That ratio only a decade ago was 669 to one. Indeed, if current projections hold, a decade from now there will be a ratio of 299 general population for every Seventh-day Adventist. (See insert "World Population and Membership—History and Projections.")

Population to Member Ratios of the Divisions

Seven of our 13 world divisions now have a population to member ratio less than the 468 worldwide average. Indeed, two have less than 100: Southern Africa-Indian Ocean with 80 and South Pacific with 88. Five other divisions have ratios that fall below the world average: Inter-American (103), East-Central Africa (123), South American (125), North American (326), and West-Central Africa (421).

Six divisions have more challenging population to member ratios: Southern Asia-Pacific (633), Southern Asia (1,310), Euro-Asia (1,943), Northern Asia-Pacific (2,926), Euro-Africa (3,341), and Trans-European (6,040).

Several individual countries having over 100,000 baptized Seventh-day Adventist members have amazingly low population to member ratios: Jamaica (13), Rwanda (23), and Haiti (28).

Countries with over 100,000 baptized members and the most challenging population to member ratios are Indonesia (1,082), India (1,362), and China (4,027).

Major Church Membership Audits

A majority of the world divisions during the past five years have undertaken the painful responsibility of church membership audits. The resulting careful look at local church membership records has evidenced a decrease in the verifiable baptized church membership of approximately three-quarters million in the quinquennium. The recent audit conducted within the Southern Asia-Pacific Division reduced that division's membership by almost 154,000 during the past four quarters and reduced the world growth rate to 3.86% these past four quarters. Not since 1955 has an annual growth rate been lower. If, however, the growth rate was calculated without the Southern Asia-Pacific Division audit reductions, the world rate for the past four quarters would be slightly over five percent.

Poised for Major Growth

The end result of the membership audits suggests that Seventh-day Adventists are poised for a period of major growth. That growth is already evidenced in this Annual Council report.

The South American Division had reduced its membership rolls through major audits during the past five years and yet has experienced a very high growth rate of 8.35% during the past four quarters. It, likewise, reported a very high growth the previous four quarters. After major audits within the Southern Africa-Indian Ocean Division, that division showed a 6.38% growth these past four quarters; and the Trans-European Division, after having conducted major audits, exhibits a four quarter growth rate of 5.32%, its highest since the 1994 Annual Council report. These results hopefully point toward a period of unprecedented growth for the Seventh-day Adventist Church in the near future.
