THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

Dear Friends,

Some information just came across my desk that I must share with you. It is interesting that when a person is so involved with a program that it is easy to overlook some very spectacular facts, or as we have all heard, "It is sometimes hard to see the forest because of the trees." Did you realize that there are more than 5000 young people enrolled in Seventh-day Adventist church schools and academies in Mid-America? This is a number that approximates the sizes of the newly formed Dakota Conference, or the Minnesota Conference or the Central States Conference. The number in our church schools is equal to approximately one-tenth of the total church membership of the Mid-America Union Conference. Some 1332 of these are attending our eight academies operated by the conferences. In addition to this "army of youth" there were 694 Mid-America youth at Union College this last year. When you count the number who are in SDA colleges and universities outside of Mid-America, then the number begins to approach 6000 Mid-America youth who are attending a Seventh-day Adventist school.

E. S. Reile

I personally want to thank the conferences and churches for providing the excellent facilities for the education of our youth. Then let me express to you parents my personal appreciation and gratitude for the investment that you are making in the future of our young people. You can see why I am excited about our educational system.

Mid-America's educational program is very ably directed by Randall H. Fox. Melvin E. Northrup serves as Associate Education Director with responsibilities in the area of curriculum development.

Mid-America operates 128 elementary schools, 14 junior academies and eight senior academies staffed by 447 teachers. These schools are under the supervision of six conference superintendents. Our records indicate that during the past five years, in addition to teachers' salaries and expense, tuition, etc., more than $12,000,000 has been spent in upgrading the secondary school facilities in our union.

The large number of academies in our territory provide a tremendous feeder base for Union College. There is no doubt that Union College, the "College of the Golden Cords," is second to none in our vast sisterhood of colleges and universities. Dr. Dean Hubbard is president of the college. His insight as an administrator, his progressive ideas and his long-range planning place him in a position that makes us pleased that he is in charge of our work at Union College. I have to agree with the team of experts that recently evaluated Union College when they reported, "The quality of the top-level administrators, the respect with which they are held by faculty and staff, and their ability to work well with each other bode well for the future of Union College. There are few colleges in the country which have devoted as much time and energy to long range systematic planning as Union College." The accreditation team went on to report, "close personal relationships between students and faculty are the norm." We are proud of Union College. Let me offer my thanks and appreciation again to those church members, teachers, ministers and those in administration who continue to make the effort to keep this great Adventist educational system operating.

Cordially,

E. S. Reile, President,
Mid-America Union Conference.

Education For A Good Life

By Dean Hubbard

Like all privately funded higher education, Adventist education is expensive. It is also more than worth it.

How can I make that claim? Because I have seen a generation of proof — living proof, warm bodies with intelligent, spirit-filled minds. The young men and women who have studied and grown at Union College during my five years here are only the most recent in a long procession of dedicated servants of Christ. Today's Union student is no less motivated to service than his father or grandmother, as far back as 90 years ago.

In the color centerspread of this issue you will read about many new developments at our Lincoln campus. I want to tell you about just a few.

The most important element about an Adventist college is its spiritual atmosphere. It constitutes the only meaningful difference between a Christian college and the secular institution.

I believe the Spirit is very much with us here at Union. Morris Venden will pastor the College View Church beginning next month. For the past seven years at Pacific Union College, and throughout his career, Venden has been a moving force for good in the Adventist Church. His writing, teaching and preaching have inspired many. I believe God will use him to build strong men and women for Christ in the coming years.

Dean Hubbard

The Guaranteed Degree

Several innovative programs available only at Union can put the college experience more easily within your reach. One is UNITE, Union's Initiative for Total Education. Under the UNITE plan, a student is guaranteed the money to earn a college education. He or she signs a contract with the college agreeing to certain work, scholarship and parental contributions. If all available resources don't equal the student's total costs, Union will make up the difference.

Work opportunities are good in Lincoln and on the Union campus. Our job placement office will do its best to provide employment for every student. Following the "blueprint" of Ellen White, we hold work to be an integral part of education, a different but wholly valid learning experience from the classroom.

The Guaranteed Major

Another important feature at Union in this age of consumerism is the guaranteed major. If you finish college and decide, for any reason, that you are not in the right field, or that job opportunities are not available, you may return to the college and complete a new major tuition-free. No questions asked.

I hope you will study this Outlook issue carefully and prayerfully. Remember that the student who stays in an Adventist college is more likely to remain in the church, a dedicated, willing worker for the cause we all hold dear. If we can help with any questions, call Leona Murray collect at (402) 488-2331, or write: Admissions Director, Union College, 3800 S. 48th Street, Lincoln, NE 68506.

Significant Changes Made At Constituency Meeting

By Beverly Dickinson

Three hundred and thirty-seven delegates registered for the 97th regular session of the Minnesota Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, which was held on June 14 in the chapel of the new administration building at Maplewood Academy. Eugene Stiles of the General Conference Treasury Department presented the devotion, after which the session was declared open for business.

Nominating Committee hard at work.

During this session, the recommendations of the Constitution and Bylaws Committee, which included significant revisions, presented to the constituency a new constitution and bylaws with a strong emphasis on participation of laity in numerous phases of the work of the conference. The Plans Committee presented a K-12 program which developed an educational system for Seventh-day Adventist education in Minnesota.

Ellsworth Reile introduces President Earnest Lutz.

The Nominating Committee presented their report which included conference officers and departmental directors: Earnest E. Lutz, Jr., president; C. Lee Huff, secretary/stewardship; Dwight L. Hilderbrandt, treasurer; Arthur C. Carlson, personal ministries, Sabbath school, ministerial; Larry G. Kromann, education, youth, communication, temperance; Wendell Springer, publishing; Philip Young, trust; Leo Herber, M.D., medical; Keith Walters, Adventist Book Center manager.

To serve on the Conference Executive Committee: Ruth Aulick, Jerome Bray, M.D., Bob Britain, Wilbur Chapman, Duane Forde, Dwight Hilderbrandt, Lee Huff, Elwood Johnson, Earnest Lutz, Garwin McNeilus, Bob Miller, Richard Scott, and Rob Vandeman.

Nominated to the Association Board: Viola Gelford, Dwight Hilderbrandt, Clarence Horst, Lee Huff, Allin Karls, Earnest Lutz, Rod Ratcliffe, Rob Vandeman, Phil Young.

The Maplewood Academy Operating Board will be: Shirley Anderson, Ed Bacon, Jerome Bray, M.D., Don Burgeson, Larry Christensen, M.D., Richard Coston, Randall Fox, Anton Fritz, Victor Hilbert, Dwight Hilderbrandt, Lee Huff, Larry Kromann, Jean Lehman, Earnest Lutz, Grant McPherson, Bob McTaggart, and Jerry Pettis.

The Conference Board of Education will be: Judy Bromme, Bob Britain, Wilbur Chapman, Vernon Craven, Eileen Diede, Ernest Dobkins, Darlene Forde, Randall Fox, Wyman Haberer, Victor Hilbert, Dwight Hilderbrandt, Lee Huff, Paul Kozik, Larry Kromann, Phil Lane, Sula Lane, Sandy Leavelle, Byron Lighthall, Earnest Lutz, Bruce Naustdal, Kenneth Voorhees.

The new organizational structure doubled the number of pastors participating in leadership roles and more than quadrupled the number of laymen on boards and committees. This significantly broadened the base for participation in developing and implementing plans for the Lord's work in Minnesota.

According to the reports presented by the president and treasurer, there were 833 new members added to the Minnesota Conference during the past three years, bringing the membership at the close of 1980 to 5,451.

The financial statistics indicate that this was the first time in Minnesota history that all three years of the triennium recorded an excess of $2,000,000 per year in tithe income.

During this period the new Maplewood Academy administration building was completed at a cost of $1,292,000, which included the interest on the construction loan. Meeting the regular payments month by month on the $500,000 loan is a challenge to the Minnesota Conference membership. Faithfulness on the part of members has made it possible to make each payment on time.

The constituency has challenged the conference finance committee to develop plans for implementing a retirement of this debt in advance of the deadline initially projected.

As the constituency faces the next three years, courage was manifest that through God's grace and leadership, the work of His Kingdom will advance with the ultimate realization of the hope of the Advent church in the second coming of Christ.

Flea Market for Investment

George McNeilus, Investment leader at Dodge Center, organized a fair at the church parking lot on Sunday, May 17. The proceeds were more than $1,100 and several more items are yet to be sold which will bring the total even higher. "Thirty families joined their efforts to make the fair a success," says McNeilus. Special attractions included a 14-foot ferris wheel.

Investment funds go toward new missions. In 1981 the General Conference Sabbath School Department designated Minnesota as one of its two United States new-mission projects — the beginning of the Spanish Work. It is known as SWIM, Spanish Work In Minnesota.

Farewell to Hilberts

By Norma Godfrey

On May 14, 1981, at the graduation ceremonies, MJA bade farewell to their principal of six years, Victor C. Hilbert. On behalf of the school board, faculty and staff, and the constituent churches, Wyman D. Haberer, school completed and is now one of the nicest in any private school. New carpeting was installed in the spring of 1980, and new appliances were put in the Home Economics Department the following summer, along with many more large and small projects. Mr. Hilbert took pride in the maintenance and appearance of the lovely facility and worked very hard to keep it that way. Through his guidance, the school was able to receive special education services from the local school district and violin lessons through the community services for the students.

Mr. Hilbert, his wife Janet, and their children, Kevin, Pam, and Jeff, will be missed for their many talents, music and leadership. They will not be moving far, as Vic has accepted the responsibilities of principal of Maplewood Academy. May he receive the richest blessings from the Lord as he meets this new challenge.

Families Wanted

By Michael Fillman

The New London SDA Church is needing families to move to their area who wish to start a church school. This 60-member church would like to begin a church school for the 1981-82 school year. The location of this church is 50 miles from Maplewood Academy in a beautiful rural resort area. Its members are even willing to help find employment for those wishing to reside there. There is a regional hospital in the area with an SDA physician, also SDA dentists nearby. If you wish to live near a school for your children, please write to the New London Church, P.O. Box 367, New London, MN 56273.

Community Guest Day, and at the same time presented a Community Service Award.

Margaret Lewis was the recipient of the award. She is a senior citizen who has given much time and talent to helping others—even assisting in our Community Service Center.

The Mayor and his wife, and many friends in the community came to worship with us, and following the service, were treated to a vegetarian dinner.

Van Services In Wake Of Tornadoes

By Arthur Carlson

Hundreds were fed through the Minnesota community services van following the tornadoes in the Twin Cities on June 14. Sandwiches, hot cocoa, lemonade, fruit and cookies were prepared and delivered from the base at the Minneapolis Northbrook Church, under the direction of Ruth Aulick, president of the State Federation. The van went up and down the streets in the disaster areas serving the crews who were cleaning the streets, and people sorting the debris.

Form OKs Emergency Care for Minors

Would your child be given medical care during an emergency if you were not there? Who would administer it and how much?

This issue has come under much questioning recently with more and more parents leaving their children alone or in the care of others. Hospitals and doctors will immediately treat a minor child if his life is endangered, but Colorado law prohibits the treatment of minor children without parental consent and the child might be further injured by the physician not knowing the child's complete medical history.

Brighton Community Hospital has developed a special form that will guarantee emergency care for kids while their parents are away. The form, attainable from the emergency room, can be taken home and signed by the parents. If a child comes into the emergency room with this form, it will insure immediate medical attention. The form is good only for the period stated, usually the length of a vacation or school year. A copy of the form will be kept on file in the emergency room if a child does have a need to present it, and another in the hands of the parents.

SMMC Names Dietary Services Director

Shawnee Mission Medical Center has named Bob Parry director of dietary services.

Parry is in charge of the cafeteria and patient meals as well as the dietitians.

The new dietary services director worked as a hospital administrative dietician, an executive dietician for Servomation, Inc., and as nutrition department director for the University of Minnesota Hospitals before joining SMMC.

Parry received a bachelor of science degree in nutrition and food service administration from the University of Hawaii while working as food service manager of a hospital. He took a dietetic internship and completed his master's degree at the University of Iowa.

Parry is a member of the American Dietetics Association, the Kansas Dietetics Association, the Seventh-day Adventist Dietetics Association, the American Dietetics Association Consultation Committee, and the American Society for Food Service Administrators.

He and his wife, Iva Dawn, have three children and live in Olathe.

SMMC's New Education Director

Shawnee Mission Medical Center has named Steve Ervin as Director of Education. He will be in charge of managing the hospital's continuing education, in-service training, and community health education programs. He was the director of training and education for a hospital in Louisiana before joining Shawnee Mission Medical Center.

Baptism

By Freda Shultz

"As far as I am concerned, I am keeping the seventh day of the week when I go to church on Sunday," said Hope Yager in a discussion with the pastor's wife at Sidney Memorial Hospital where Freda Shultz, a registered nurse, worked part time. Four weeks later she requested baptism.

Pastor Jim Shultz baptizing Hope Yager.

Mrs. Shultz knew that Hope liked to read, and so she said, "I have this very interesting story that I think that you would enjoy reading called Project Sunlight." Hope accepted the book that was lent to her, but at that time laid it aside.

Since this was the only copy of the book that Pastor and Mrs. Jim Shultz had at that time, Freda was thinking of asking Hope to return it the next week when she saw her at work on the night shift. Imagine her surprise and joy when asking about the book, Hope not only stated that she had read the story completely, but was going to read it through the second time that night, checking every text with her Bible that she had brought to work. She literally read herself into the truth!

In Bible studies that followed with the pastor and his wife, Hope received every point of truth with joy, including the Spirit of Prophecy. "I want to read every book that author wrote," she exclaimed after reading Early Writings and several others by Ellen White.

Two and a half months after reading the book for the second time, Hope was baptized by Pastor Shultz in the Sidney Church, witnessed by her mother and brothers and sisters. Hope believes that "Earth Friend" (Holy Spirit) will continue to work with her family as He worked and led her into all truth.

Hope has a five-year old daughter that she wants to be educated in church school as soon as one is available. She also is anxious to share her new-found faith with others by giving Bible studies herself. She has helped to encourage others at the hospital to read Project Sunlight, and at the present time there have been at least ten nurses that have read the book, the results pending, but with "Earth Friend" working.

New Pastor

Pastor Arthur Andreas had just finished preaching his first sermon to the English speaking members of the Capitol View Church when he and his family were welcomed with a fellowship dinner. The bilingual pastor accepted the call to Capitol View partly because of the unique challenge of pastoring a Spanish speaking and an English speaking group within the same church.

Before coming to Lincoln, Andreas served in the United States Air Force, studied at Pacific Union College, and Arizona State University. He has served churches at Bakersfield, California, and the Spanish and English churches in Tempe, Arizona.

Pastor Andreas' wife, Laure, was born in Brazil. They have two children, Jennifer, 4½, and Philip, 2½.

We welcome the Andreas family to the Capitol View Church.

Baptism

Couple Baptized and Married

By Cora Lainson

On Sabbath, May 16, Glenda Wares and David Wojcik were baptized in the Salina Seventh-day Adventist church. The next day, May 17, they solemnized their wedding vows in their new church home.

In February, Cline Johnson was holding a series of lectures in Salina and needed a pianist. Pastor Harold Peters contacted the music departments of the local colleges and David's name was among those who could possibly help. David admitted he didn't have much background in religious music, but was eager for the opportunity. By his own admission, he was an atheist, but he could use the extra funds the "job" offered.

About the fifth night, something about the evening's topic of family life really touched David. There was someone with whom he wanted to share these new thoughts. The next evening he came accompanied by his fiancée, Glenda. Together they listened and learned things very new and exciting to them. Glenda was first to decide that she wanted to follow Jesus all the way, but David had numerous questions to be answered. With much careful studying with the Pastor, David's understanding grew and he, also, gave his life to Christ.

Glenda is studying elementary education in a local college and David is studying music at the same college.

Organist Honored

By Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sewell

Mrs. Connie Buechner was surprised by the presentation of a beautiful table lamp from the Topeka church in appreciation for her more than 50 years of service as organist and pianist. The adult choir presented a "Spring Festival of Music" service for the occasion.

The program was under the leadership of choir director Joyce Gepford, and moderated by Pastor Earl Heslop. Special music featured solos by Velma Shultz, Joyce Gepford, Charlene Mashlan and Koleen Krentzler; a quartet number by Dick and Helen Loewen, Dilina Higgins and Don Dudding; and a trio selection by Joyce Gepford, Helen Loewen, and Velma Shultz. Instrumental music accented the program.

Town Covered

By Edith Fisher

McPherson, Kansas, a town of 20,000 population, has been saturated with the book Steps to Christ. The church members have taken seriously the commission to evangelize their city. Future plans call for the distribution of the book "The Impending Conflict" to be given to every home.

High Weekend at Goldsberry Church

By Barbara Dixon

Pastor and Mrs. Roy E. Perrin were guests of the Goldsberry, Missouri, church on Sabbath, May 23. Pastor Perrin is president of the Central Zaire field, Zaire Union, Africa-Indian Ocean Division.

In honor of the visit, members from ten churches gathered for the Sabbath services and fellowship luncheon. Pastor Perrin was a member of the Goldsberry church in his early years and attended the elementary church school. He also was principal of Sunnydale Academy in its earlier years.

Both Perrins spoke of the unlimited possibilities of mission work in this central Africa field. A visit to any village produces an occasion for a village meeting called by the chief, with as many as 20 chieftains inviting the village people to come and hear "the man with the Book." Often, an invitation is extended to bring the message on a permanent basis. Mrs. Perrin is often the only white woman most of the villagers have seen.

Walking is the main form of transportation, supplemented by mission airplanes. Powdered milk runs as high as $16 to $17 per pound, with cheese twice that price. Electricity is used only three hours per day. A refrigerator operates on propane gas. Mrs. Perrin does almost all cooking and baking on a wood stove. At times water is scarce and carefully hoarded.

Pastor and Mrs. Roy E. Perrin.

Regardless of the personal inconveniences and difficulties, both Pastor and Mrs. Perrin expressed their earnest desire to continue their work in this land of lovable and receptive people as they return from furlough.

The same weekend, the Goldsberry church opened its doors to the community and entertained with a luncheon in the newly-carpeted fellowship room. This courtesy has become an annual event with the church, a time when they meet many friends and relatives who come to pay their respects to loved ones laid to rest in the Helton Cemetery adjacent to the church. This cemetery has served a far-reaching community for over a century.

Cedar Rapids Bids Farewell To Missionary Family

By Cheryl Munson

It is not often that a local Adventist church sends a family to a foreign land for mission service, but that is what happened recently at the Cedar Rapids Church.

Leonard and Aldine Kline and their three children have accepted a call to Zimbabwe where Klein will serve as union publishing secretary for Zimbabwe and Botswana.

Their last Sabbath with the Cedar Rapids Church was a special day. A baptism had been planned by the pastor, John Morrison. Leonard Klein had the privilege of baptizing his son Martin.

Dinner was served after church during which the Kleins were given a gift of money and presented with a beautiful cake in the shape of Africa made by Maxine Shireman.

Klein was a district publishing secretary for the Iowa-Missouri Conference.

Sunnydale Constituents Plant, Build and Care

By John Ward

John Ward, Sunnydale Academy principal, is excited and thrilled about the cooperation and involvement by the local Sunnydale Church members, and members of other churches throughout the conference.

This spring church members planted 13,600 strawberry plants which were donated by Pastor Walter Wanderleben and members of the Rolla Church. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Erickson and Myrna March hoed, and Rueben Corbin, Todd Kelly, and Doug and Buck Graybill tilled under all the weeds.

Planting strawberries.

Walter Erickson and Lloyd Jewell graded and improved academy roads. Jewell asked, "May I help at the school one day a week? I'd like to tithe my time. I'm sure it will help me grow spiritually." Doug Graybill and Merle Barker helped the administration purchase a tractor mower to help keep Sunnydale looking sharp.

We cannot list here the names of all the members who help make Sunnydale the school with a heart and a positive growing program. Jim Kelly, PTO president, and a parents' committee are searching for church families who will be a part of a foster family program. Such families would take problem youngsters into their homes for a week or two where a caring, loving, spiritual atmosphere can change a misdirected youngster's direction and attitudes. They know it works for they have seen it work.

Sunnydale students, staff, and church members, working together, know they can make Christian Education one of Iowa-Missouri's greatest evangelistic arms. Academy representatives Tom McNeilus, registrar, and Ron Jensen, band and choir teacher, are visiting Iowa-Missouri youth and families throughout June and July.

men and conference workers combined their skills and energies during these two days of labor to accomplish the following tasks: the building of a horse corral, the pouring of a 30' x 60' concrete slab to serve as a volleyball and basketball court, the extension of the concrete boat ramp, a buffeting or sealing footing for the ramp at the water's edge, electrical rewiring of some needy areas, and a concrete porch for the medical building.

John Ruppel, who celebrated his 80th birthday while constructing a rock entry to the camp, devoted more than a week's labor to the camp. Besides the beautiful entry he helped erect, Ruppel constructed a block retaining wall and built a block foundation around the director's house trailer.

Red Cross Awards Des Moines Community Services Center

By Leslie Schmalzried

On May 8, 1981, Kathy Tyler and Karen Todden accepted an award from the Red Cross for the Des Moines Church's Community Services Center. The award was given to the Des Moines Church for its participation in a disaster which happened earlier this year.

Karen Todden and Kathy Tyler accept the Red Cross award for the Community Services Center's efforts following the Executive Inn fire.

At 3 a.m. on a cold February morning, Kathy Tyler received a call at her home. The Red Cross was urgently requesting help from the Seventh-day Adventist Church. A serious fire at the Executive Inn in West Des Moines had left at least 80 people without warm clothing or any personal possessions. Kathy and her husband Ron responded immediately. A call was put in to Karen Todden and Dale Anderson for help. A plea for help was put on local radio stations for donations of clothing and other needed items. By 9 a.m. everything was under control.

The Red Cross told Mrs. Taylor that they knew the Seventh-day Adventist Church would come at any time day or night. They knew of no other place to call. The Des Moines Church also recognized the efforts of these two women, and expressed a sincere "Thank You."

A PARTICIPATION IN RESTORATION

By Melvin E. Northrup

Seventh-day Adventists have built a tradition with their support of Christian Education. Church membership is growing rapidly, but we are still a relatively small group of people carrying forward an elaborately structured education system. Denominational schools have retained their uniqueness and become the wonder of many observers in the secular world.

Our educational philosophy is both simple and complex. It proposes to restore in man the image of his Creator. The primary work in our schools is that of redemption—evangelism if you please. Such a philosophy demands the best humans can provide in the way of teacher-touch, curriculum composition, and text materials. Fine buildings and peripheral facilities are nice to work in, but they have been shown to take a secondary position in facilitating true education.

The most evident product of Adventist classrooms reflects a primary objective for which our first schools were organized. That is the tens of thousands of former students who went into church leadership and further hundreds of thousands who have graduated out into supportive membership positions. Yes, those schools must and do provide an excellent base from which employed and lay workers within the church can take the gospel to the world.

Fear of general academic weakness rarely raises its head to snarl at the Adventist classroom anymore when our schools are compared to others either by church people or state representatives. Excellence in academic achievement is one natural result of the individual's belief in the plan of redemption God has for him. The plan breeds self-confidence which is a recognized must for blossoming potential.

Recent standardized test results in Mid-America again indicated the average student in our elementary and secondary schools to be producing far above their peers in other systems across the nation. The national average might be represented by the fiftieth percentile. Mid-America academy students ranked at an average seventieth percentile with those in the elementary schools averaging at the seventy-ninth. That is no meager accomplishment.

But achievement test results are frequently misunderstood and misapplied. Harsh competition should be foreign to our classrooms. Such competition alternately builds false ego bases and inhibits sound personality development. A student constantly praised for his positive comparison with others in certain aspects of his studies can accept "high-level" production without exceptional effort. Another might suffer shame for not rating well with others when he is exerting a great deal of effort and might even be able to apply his learning better in practical situations than the first. Test results and grades are best used not to compare student with student but the scholar's results with his own records. Each needs the challenge and the satisfaction of accomplishment. The work of redemption can be difficult but may neither feed a selfish sense of superiority nor a loss of self worth. We recognize that there is a difference in evaluation in Heaven that should be reflected in our classrooms as eternity stretches before us.

Some special advantages accrue to young students in our small schools. A unique curriculum is being implemented for them through materials-development and special teacher orientation. The small-schools curriculum provides more adequate selection of materials and textbooks. It provides for cross-grades participation in activities. It opens the way to individually prescribed instruction. Best of all, it provides a personal relationship among teacher and pupils. This is where the school facet of the redemption plan is greatly facilitated.

The traditional monetary support must continue in these inflationary times. We need sufficient supervision, more denominationally-produced basic textbooks, and operational funds in the schools. The traditional moral support must continue as God's people see in their schools channels which aid parents and angels in the beautiful plan of restoring in boys and girls, men and women, the image of their Creator.

Decade-Long Plan Allows For Campus Growth

"Design for a Decade" is becoming a familiar term at Union College. It's a ten-year program spanning the 80's which will provide for much-needed growth.

The total 10-year development program will bring several badly needed improvements to Union's physical plant. The lack of a pipe organ has hampered the Division of Musical Arts' ability to attract organ majors. Dr. Melvin West, who arrived on campus in February, will be involved in fund-raising and selection of an adequate instrument for the College View Church.

The Health Science Center was begun with the erection of a new pool and physical education classroom building. Located on the northeast end of the campus, this structure is one of three similar ones that will make up the total complex.

At the risk of sounding like used car or insurance salesmen, we at Union College want you to know about our "guarantees." There are two of them, and they could mean the difference between a college education and the lack of one for you.

First, the UNITE program (Union's Initiative for Total Education) virtually guarantees you the money to complete your degree. You and the college sign a contract. You agree to work part-time during the school year and full-time summers, and to apply for available scholarships and loans.

The other side of the contract is Union College's agreement to make up the difference, if there is one, after all the "above" options are exhausted.

Translation: If you show that you're serious about getting an education, Union is serious about making it a reality.

Our second guarantee: If you ever find yourself unhappy with your major field, you may return to the college and pursue a new one, tuition-free (not rent-free, however; we're generous but not foolish). The guarantee applies to all current Union alumni as well.

The conventional wisdom says two things are guaranteed in this life: death and taxes. Adventist Christians add a third surety to that list: salvation in Christ with eternal life.

Boldly, but on a slightly less cosmic scale, Union ventures to add items #4 and #5 to that list.

The Crandall Memorial Library needs renovation and expansion. A team from the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges, in its 1980 recommendation to re-accredit Union for up to 10 years, urged that the school update its library facility. Even a small college like Union must support an adequate research facility.

A final area of upgrading in Design for a Decade is the Window Replacement Program. A matching grant has been offered the college if it can raise $400,000 to begin the process of making Union's buildings energy efficient. This, along with a proposed wood-burning furnace for the heating plant, will save tens of thousands of dollars in fuel over the next few years.

"Guarantees" Available

College Receives 10-Year Accreditation

Union College received an unusual ten-year accreditation from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools late last year.

The reason for the ten-year nod was a master plan drawn up by college administration. President Hubbard (then Academic Dean) developed the plan to provide orderly growth for the school and its programs over the next decade.

Among the positive points listed by North Central accreditors was the close personal relationship between many faculty and students. A number of students responded that they considered at least one teacher to be a personal friend, and that the friendship would continue after the college experience.

Union is also accredited by the General Conference Education Department. Various programs within the college are also accredited, including the divisions of musical arts, education and nursing.

Morris Venden to Set New Tone at Union

Morris Venden, new pastor of the College View Church, will concentrate on creating an atmosphere of caring and concern for others that will allow spiritual growth.

The new pastor has a strong desire to reach out into the non-Adventist community. "Lincoln is an excellent place for doing that," he says. "I've never worked in a church that already had so many natural ties with the community."

His burden to help others know Christ is also evident. In addition to his long pastoral experience in California, Colorado, and Oregon, Elder Venden has written several books of doctrine and inspiration. He hopes to continue writing, with two books in progress now — on the sanctuary and the judgment.

Publications Flourish

If you're interested in ideas, in journalism, in graphics and design, in influencing the thoughts of those in the denomination (and beyond)—Union is your place. Mid-America's Union College is an active, burgeoning center for all kinds of publications.

College People began last winter with a demonstration issue aimed at Adventist college students in North America. It's a thoughtful mix of essays, features, campus news and reviews of books, records and films. College People has been endorsed by the North American Youth Ministries of the General Conference, and is now a publication of that group. It's entirely student edited, and many articles are student written.

The grand dame of North American publications at Union is Collegiate Quarterly. Now in its third year, CQ is edited by Eugene Shirley, a Union graduate now completing a master's degree in religion at Claremont Graduate School in California. However, he works closely with Union College staff and students in producing the quarterly Sabbath School lessons, which now have a circulation of 20,000. The General Conference Sabbath School Department has been so pleased with response to the quarterly they are considering a second publication to be headquartered at Union College.

Lincoln Magazine is published by KUCV, the college's fine arts FM radio station. In addition to being a program guide for the station, Lincoln is a city magazine for the city of its name, focusing on the arts and public issues in Lincoln. This publication provides a unique opportunity for student writers to broaden their experience with the non-Adventist public.

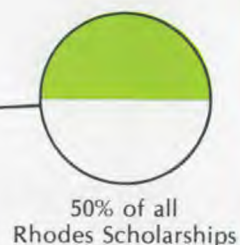

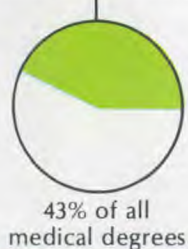

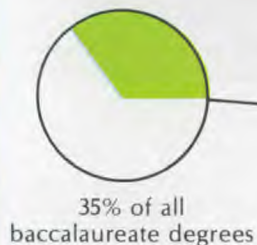

Union also has the traditional student publications found on most campuses. The Clock Tower, a student newspaper, appears weekly during the school year. Another staff produces the Golden Cords, the yearbook.

Beginning in October, the quarterly alumni newspaper, Alumnus, will be renamed The Cord and appear in a magazine format. Some student input will be used in its production.

Cedaredge Welcomes Two New Members

By Hazel Austin

A young couple, Gary and Melody Sumner, made their commitment to God by joining the Cedaredge Seventh-day Adventist Church. Gary was given the sacred rite of baptism by Pastor Lloyd Austin, while Melody joined the church on profession of faith.

Pastor Lloyd Austin presenting a red rose to Gary Sumner, who was baptized on December 13. Melody Sumner joined the church that day on profession of faith. With them are their two children, Jared and Jacy.

Gary gave a testimony of his faith after his baptism. He said, "After studying the Bible and the doctrine of the Seventh-day Adventist church for a year, we realized they were the same. We were not looking for a new church, but for the will of God to be carried out in our lives. God led us to the Adventist church. 'Even though we have the Gift of Prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge, and though we have faith, so that we could remove mountains, and have not love for others, we are nothing.' We humbly pray that God will give us always that love for others."

The Sumners have two children: Jared, age 10, and Jacy, age 5, who love Jesus too. The Sumners are using their musical talents as they worship with the Cedaredge church.

Children's Club Serves Community and Church

By Connie Steen

The Trailblazer Club was a new organization formed this past school year by Vicki Beers of the Longmont Church. This unique club is a spinoff of the Pathfinder Club, and was organized for 7 to 9 year olds from the community and the church family. Mrs. Beers says, "The main purpose of the organization was to teach the young children that there is joy in serving the Lord." The aim was to involve the children in many service projects. Janice Bailey and Karen Ferch assisted Mrs. Beers at the meetings every Wednesday evening.

Some of their activities included visiting a nursing home at Christmas with gifts and songs, collecting clothes and food at Halloween, making games and booths to entertain the pre-schoolers one evening in the church, a dinner for their parents, which included cooking, serving and cleaning up, making birdhouses and bird watching, and making a movie for a commercial for Vacation Bible School to be shown in Sabbath School.

The Longmont, Colorado Trailblazer Club is an organization for the children too young for Pathfinders.

The children felt that the club was a great success and Mrs. Beers and her helpers plan to continue the program next year.

La Vida Mission Church Dedication

Sabbath, May 9, brought to fruition a dream that has been in the hearts of God's people all across this great land of ours. On this clear and calm Sabbath Day, Navajo Indian believers and their friends gathered with their brethren of like precious faith from many states of the Union to dedicate a beautiful new church to the worship and glory of God. This important event took place at La Vida Mission, about 50 miles from Farmington, New Mexico, in San Juan County, the southernmost point in the great Rocky Mountain Conference.

Baptism at new La Vida Mission church.

Beautiful new church at La Vida Mission.

The building was begun as a project of Maranatha Flights International. Church members and friends came from far and near to have a part in this important undertaking. The majority of the work was completed when Maranatha building projects in other places made it necessary for the workers to leave. Pastor Orville Baer reports that help in the form of material donations and labor came from many churches in Colorado and other states. Many contributions came from friends of La Vida Mission who are not church members, but who appreciate what is being done for the Navajo Indians in the important ministry that is conducted by laymen of the Adventist church.

Speaker for the morning worship service was Caris Lauda, chaplain of Maranatha Flights International and former Director of North American Missions Department of the General Conference. Wm. C. Hatch, president of the Rocky Mountain Conference, was the speaker for the afternoon dedication service. Gordon Retzer, secretary of the conference, gave the dedication prayer. Both morning and afternoon services were translated into the Navajo language by Raymon Nez, a Navajo Indian Bible Worker at the Mission.

Twenty-eight Baptized at Cortez and Dove Creek

Cortez and Dove Creek church members once again are praising the Lord for His blessings in a series of Revelation Lectures conducted by Evangelist Don Shelton in Cortez, Colorado. Twenty-eight people joined the remnant church through baptism or profession of faith.

The happy faces of the evangelists, literature evangelists, Bible instructor and laymen match the smiles of the newly-baptized members.

Zealous church members helped with the groundwork prior to the meetings — giving Bible studies, conducting a laymen's evangelistic series which led to the baptism of eight, and assisting with four Daniel seminars held in different locations for three months ahead of the Revelation lectures. This same zeal on the part of the church members carried through into their support of the lectures by their regular attendance.

Literature evangelists had also paved the way for the Revelation lectures. Pastor Arthur Page and his wife Alice had been going from door to door inviting people to attend, and they saw two baptized as a result. Ron Price, the local literature evangelist, saw four of his contacts baptized. Mark Chaffin worked the last nine months as a Bible instructor and rejoiced to see souls baptized as a reward for his efforts.

Brian Schafer, the new pastor of the Cortez church, and Jerry Page, the previous pastor who is now Sabbath School and Personal Ministries Director for the Rocky Mountain Conference, both worked with the meetings and shared in the privilege of baptizing these new members.

Don and Anita Shelton stayed three weeks for follow-up. Bible studies have begun with the new members and their friends. These are being conducted by the laymen, as well as Pastor Schafer and Bible instructor, Mark Chaffin.

As the members thank the Lord for His blessings in the past, they are already planning outreach for the future, culminating in more laymen's evangelistic meetings this fall.

International Vegetarian Festival

By Connie Steen

The Community Services Department of the Longmont, Colorado Church recently sponsored an International Vegetarian Festival at their church school gymnasium. The food booths served for six hours in the afternoon of the last Sunday in April, and involved almost every member in the church.

Seven booths were featured, including: American, Indonesian, Italian, Spanish, German, a salad booth and a bread booth, with homemade bread and rolls. The food was served cafeteria style. Recipes were available for all dishes served, and cookbooks offered for sale. The Eden Valley Sanitarium health van also offered free blood pressure checks and health information.

The food was delicious and there were many interested in health information from outside the church family.

The Community Services Department plans to hold more demonstration dinners and nutrition classes to fill this need.

"THE JESUS STORY"

"The Jesus Story" by Marcy Tigner, a musical program, was recently presented by the Longmont church school children in the Longmont and Loveland, Colorado churches. Each child had a part as a friend or disciple of Jesus when He was here on earth. Mrs. Sheila Schmechel directed the musical and Mrs. Jean Wilson accompanied on the piano. Judean scenery and slides enhanced the program.

Graduation At Dakota Adventist Academy

This is serious business, if we judge by the look on the face of Lyle Miller, Senior Class President. Lyle comes from the Streeter, North Dakota church where his dad and mother, Walter and Shirley Miller and younger sister Meritta, live on a farm. Pictured with Lyle for that last march up the aisle on Sunday morning is Kim Dettlaff. She is at home at Dakota Adventist Academy where her dad and mother, Paul and Lila Dettlaff, and her younger sister Sandy reside. The Dettlaffs have been a tremendous blessing to DAA and the North Dakota Conference. Kim has been active in school activities and was serving as SA President this last term of school. Lyle and Kim and the other 19 graduating seniors were challenged at the commencement by Ben J. Liebelt, Conference President, and by L. E. McClain, DAA Principal, to help in the great task of recruiting for their school. Christian education is still God's plan for all of our young people. Are you planning to fit into His plan with your children?

Bike-A-Thon Swells Investment Fund

The Junior Sabbath School Department of the Bismarck Seventh-day Adventist Church had a bike-a-thon for raising funds for the church investment project.

Six juniors biked a total of 158 miles raising over $800.00. Kimberly Lockett was the champion biker pedaling 35 miles. Twenty-four people sponsored her to the tune of $240.00. Kim is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ed Lockett.

Others involved in the event were DeMarie and Mike Foerderer, Tom Warner, Sheila Christenson, and Monte Bischoff. Investment secretary, Vi Devnich, states that Investment funds are used to establish new missions for the church. This is an international project and the church members throughout the world have individual projects to boost the funds to promote the gospel.

The Bismarck Church Investment goal is set at $2,000. Devnich says, "We have to set a goal that we need to strive to attain." They now have more than half their goal.

Hillcrest Talent Night

By Elmer Haas

The Jamestown, North Dakota Hillcrest Seventh-day Adventist School invited parents and friends to a special program on April 30. It soon became apparent that both teachers and students had taken a lot of time to prepare for this special event. The program consisted of songs, skits, poems, musical numbers, tumbling acts, etc. All were very well performed. Pastor Ed Scheresky was emcee for the program. Prizes were awarded to both the upper-grade and lower-grade participants. Pictured is Scott Baker, Jr. who won first award for the lower grades with his poem, "I'll Keep Em Awake."

"Mama Kay" Stillwell To Be DAA Dean Again

Upon visiting the girls' dormitory at Dakota Adventist Academy, Bismarck, a cozy sight might meet your eyes — "Mama Kay" Stillwell, the dean sitting in the hall knitting with her dog, Josie, at her side! Her motherly presence created a homey atmosphere for the 44 girls under her wing.

This was Mama Kay's 11th year of deaning. She served as dean at Sheyenne River Academy, Harvey, from 1970-1974. Then she was the Denver Nursing School dean for six years. Prior to that she taught church school and public school.

"Mama Kay" Stilwell.

Dean Stilwell is originally from Lisbon, North Dakota. After her daughter, Janna, attended Sheyenne River Academy, Mama Kay thought it would be interesting to be a dean so she joined the staff the next fall. And now she has agreed to be "Mama" to the academy girls one more year though it is more difficult than being "Mama" to college girls.

Happy Graduates

Mid-America Welcomes New Officer

On Wednesday, June 17, the Mid-America Union Conference Executive Committee elected George W. Timpson as one of the officers of the Union. He will serve as associate secretary and direct the departments of Health, Temperance and Inner City. Elder Timpson comes to us from the Southeastern Regional Conference with headquarters in Orlando, Florida, where he has been serving as youth director. He is a native of Baltimore, Maryland where his Adventist parents provided his early Christian education. He graduated from Oakwood College with a teaching major in English. His further education includes Andrews University, Yale University Divinity School and Loma Linda University School of Public Health. He served three years in the United States Navy and was awarded the Pacific Theater Ribbon, Victory Ribbon and one battle star. He has held various denominational positions including: teacher, principal, pastor of some of our large churches, and conference youth director.

George's wife, Cynthia, a registered nurse, received her training at New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, Massachusetts. The Timpsons have three children. Their son, Dane, is a senior at Loma Linda University majoring in Health Sciences. One daughter, Chevelle, is a senior at Georgia-Cumberland Academy, and their younger daughter, Cynthia, will be entering the eighth grade.

Several of the men on our staff have known and worked with the Timpsons in other areas. We are delighted to welcome the Timpsons to our Union office family. E.S.R.

Five-day Church Growth Seminar

A unique five-day seminar on church growth and pastoral leadership will be held on the Andrews University campus August 30 to September 4. The special seminar is jointly sponsored by Ministry magazine and the Institute of Church Ministry, and is offered to pastors from all denominations. Specialists in church ministry, seminary professors and Seventh-day Adventist church leaders will lead a wide-ranging discussion of creative methods for stimulating church growth in the 1980's.

Daily themes for the Monday through Friday seminar include "The Inactive Member," "The Pastor's Role in Church Growth Leadership," "Motivation and Training of the Laity," "The World: Our Role in Communicating the Gospel," and "The Church and Social Change." Topics include pastoral evangelism, small group evangelism, community outreach, pastoral nurture and religious education, spiritual gifts and church growth.

The keynote address will be delivered by Charles E. Bradford, president of the North America Division. Des Cummings, Jr., and Dr. Roger Dudley of the Institute of Church Ministry will report on the results of a recently-completed study of 12,000 Seventh-day Adventist church members across North America. Their report will highlight indicators of church growth, the relationship of pastoral personality to church growth, ministry to new members, youth ministry and pastoral personality to church growth, ministry to new members, youth ministry and pastoral morale. Special features of the seminar include a 200-page seminar notebook, films, book displays and resource material.

Graduate credit is available for those attending the seminar who are interested in academic advancement. Details regarding tuition costs, lodging and registration may be obtained by contacting the Institute of Church Ministry, Seminary Building, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104, or by calling (616) 471-3575.

Bob White Receives Award

Robert E. White, an enthusiastic soulwinner, for 29 years a literature evangelist, and for the last 15 years a Christian Record Braille Foundation district representative, was presented a large, ornate plaque by B. E. Jacobs, CRBF general manager, in recognition and appreciation for outstanding service to the foundation.

The plaque bore the inscriptions: "Achievement Award Presented to Bob White, All-time Leader in Obtaining Donor Funds Exceeding a Half Million Dollars During 15-Year Service As District Representative (1966-1981)." Bob's actual total funds secured during this period amounted to $531,092.79.

Others pictured are CRBF treasurer, Wm. Lawson, Joe Hunt, associate publishing director of the General Conference, and Frank Peterson, CRBF field director.

30,000 Bibles For Indonesia

The second largest evangelistic crusade promoted by The Quiet Hour will get underway in August in Indonesia.

"It is an awesome thing to consider such a giant operation, but when 17,000 laymen and 200 pastors way out there near the 'Land of the Fuzzy Wuzzies' have prepared for these evangelistic services, we will not fail them," L. E. Tucker promises.

Thirty thousand Bibles will be ready for distribution in Indonesia. Printed in their language, these books, if stacked one on another would rise a mile high. They will be presented in 400 cities.

Seventy-eighth Constituency Session of Pacific Press

The 78th constituency meeting of the Pacific Press Publishing Association convened in Mountain View, California on May 13. Re-elected to office were the general manager, treasurer, and heads of departments.

The motto, placed in the front of the auditorium, "Lest We Forget", the history of the beginning of the publishing work on the west coast, and the visual presentation of Pacific Press today kept us ever mindful of the words of Mrs. White in Life Sketches, page 196: "We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord has led us, and His teaching in our past history."

The publishing work begun in Oakland, California in 1874, with assets in gold and in pledges of $19,414 donated by a membership of only 500 believers in the California Conference, has grown to a $22.5 million business, the monetary value. Net sales in 1980 were $21,201,312.57. And this in a time when money problems and inflation are soaring. Last year Pacific Press business increased by 15 percent. The plant also reduced its indebtedness by $1.75 million.

With God's blessing and guidance Pacific Press Publishing Association pledges itself, with its sister institutions around the world, to the finishing of the work.
