SABBATH SCHOOL COMMUNITY GUEST DAY, MARCH 20, 1982

Dear Friends,

Recently I attended a very important meeting of the "Church Ministries" group. This group is composed of the following: Communication Director, Personal Ministries and Sabbath School Director, Stewardship Director, Health and Temperance Director, and Youth Ministries Director. There were a large number of the administrators from the Union Conferences as well as from the General Conference in attendance. The major thrust of this meeting was to discuss and make further plans for the "One Thousand Days of Reaping" for the unions of North America.

This is to keep you informed on what happened at this meeting. I was deeply impressed with the dedication and sincerity with which the men discussed ways and means of finishing the work of God in the earth. There seemed to be a great determination on the part of all in attendance to see that the task is completed. A tremendous spirit was in evidence. Much time was given to prayer - asking for divine guidance in mapping out the strategy for the "One Thousand Days of Reaping."

The "One Thousand Days of Reaping" is one phase of the broader concept of "Faith-Action-Advance." The concept of Faith-Action-Advance states, "An inward experience of FAITH - expressed in ACTION - resulting in the ADVANCE of the church." Under this concept umbrella the "One Thousand Days of Reaping" is to work.

I am convinced that Mid-America can do its share, and more. A story came to my attention just today that proves that we can do it. The literature evangelists in Kansas-Nebraska conducted a group canvass in Topeka recently. During this exercise, the people who were involved, some 22, secured 224 Bible studies during the week's activities. Those who will be studying the Bible in these 224 homes will be multiplied, because of other interested people in the home. If this can happen in Topeka, it can also happen in Des Moines, Minneapolis, Denver, Rapid City, or any other city.

In our Union Staff meeting today, our entire staff voiced their desire to see the work finished. Elder Ron Halvorsen, our Ministerial Association Director, stated it very well when he said, "Be of good cheer, Brother, the Lord is coming soon!"

May the Lord help us to do our part in hastening that glad day. God bless you as you find your place in the soul-winning and soul-holding program of the church.

Sincerely,

Ellsworth S. Reile, President
Mid-America Union Conference

WHAT AN OPPORTUNITY!

By William E. Peeke

What an opportunity! Sabbath School Community Guest Day, March 20! Here is an opportunity to invite relatives, neighbors and friends to be your guests at your Sabbath School. On this day in a very special way the entire Sabbath School and worship service should be geared to non-Adventists. Out on the streets and in the homes of our Mid-America cities there are literally hundreds and thousands of people who if invited in a proper way would be more than happy to be guests at a Sabbath School and worship service.

Community Guest Day presents a challenge to every Sabbath School member, Sabbath School officer and pastor to be so friendly and to put on such a program that guests will come back again and again. Hopefully they will keep coming until they become regular members. Programs are to be planned to make favorable impressions upon the non-church member. Community Guest Day presents an opportunity to break down prejudice, create good will and make friends for the church.

Have you longed for the joy of leading a soul to Christ? Try the Community Guest Day approach. In nearly every church there are those who can testify that the first contact with this message was when they responded to an invitation to attend the Sabbath School service. Many have accepted Christ and embraced the truth as a result of first being invited by a friend to Sabbath School. Here then is a real opportunity. First, make out a list of neighbors, friends or relatives you would like to invite as your guests on Community Guest Day. Visit them in their homes and invite them personally. Explain that you would like them to be your guests in Sabbath School on this day. Do not rely on letters or phone call invitations—make personal visits. Start now to make up your list of those you intend to invite. Start this week to make your visits. Don't put it off. Don't wait until just a day or two before Community Guest Day. It will be too late then. Start now.

Remember to ask God to impress by His Holy Spirit the hearts of those you intend to visit. It should not come as a surprise if the majority of those you visit offer excuses as to why they cannot come. Keep visiting. Perseverance always wins. G. R. Nash, a former world Sabbath School leader, tells the story of one member who called on all of the people on her street inviting them to come as her guests on Community Guest Day. Everyone had an excuse why he could not accept her invitation. She went home disappointed. Then she remembered another home that she had not visited. She immediately went to this home and to her joy the woman accepted her invitation. Today that woman with her husband and daughter is rejoicing in the church as a direct result of Sabbath School Community Guest Day, and this faithful Sabbath School member's perseverance. What a tragic thing it might have been if she had not persevered.

Remember that those who accept your invitation are your guests. Where possible arrange to call for them at their home Sabbath morning and take them to Sabbath School with you. They will feel much more at ease. Introduce them to the teacher of your class and sit with them. Should you have duties in the Sabbath School introduce them to a friend with whom they may sit. How hospitable it would be to have them come to your home for lunch, should the church not have a luncheon on this day.

It is our prayer that on Community Guest Day all guests will find in every Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath School an atmosphere of reverence, friendliness and hospitality. Every guest should receive a personal welcome and an invitation to continue to attend Sabbath School. Sabbath School teachers may tactfully request the name and addresses of guests for future contact, or a guest registry may be used.

What an opportunity Community Guest Day provides for follow-up activity. A social call should be made as soon as possible by the Sabbath School teacher or a designated person. Visitation may be planned in coordination with the Personal Ministries Department of the church. Each Sabbath School class member may share in the follow-up by including the names of guests on his individual prayer list.

Community Guest Day—What an Opportunity! What an opportunity to break all attendance records—to have the largest attendance ever in the history of your church. Community Guest Day is not just for the adult divisions. It is for all divisions in the Sabbath School. It provides a marvelous opportunity for our boys and girls to invite their playmates and friends to Sabbath School. Teachers of all divisions should arrange for members of the class to visit personally all those who are non-attending Sabbath School members. A special invitation should be extended for them to be present. Printed invitations and welcome folders are available from your conference Sabbath School director.

"The object of Sabbath school work should be the ingathering of souls." Counsels on Sabbath School Work, page 61. Community Guest Day is another opportunity to make you a soul winner and your Sabbath School a soul-winning one.

What an Opportunity! Community Guest Day, Sabbath, March 20! Take it and use it!

Pueblo Conducts Five-day Plan

Twenty people attended one of the "regularly scheduled" Five-day Plans to Stop Smoking held at the Pueblo Seventh-day Adventist Church. One participant said, as she paid the $5.00 registration fee, "I hope this works. I just paid $350.00 for an eight-week Smoke Enders course". The Five-day Plan did work for her. Another man came and said, "I was supposed to go to a Father-Daughter Banquet tonight, but my daughter wanted me to quit smoking instead".

Pastor John Martin tried a new experiment at this Five-day Plan. On the second night, instead of just telling the group to eat a good breakfast, he sent breakfast home with them in a brown paper bag. One cup of granola, one banana and one apple. The next evening, 95% of the group reported that they had never eaten such a big breakfast and also that they had not been tempted to snack and the urge to smoke was greatly reduced.

Don Donato, staff writer for the Pueblo Star-Journal, had heard about the regularly scheduled Five-day Plans conducted by Pastor Martin. He decided to "go and see for himself" if the plan really worked!

Take an extra minute and read the article written by Don Donato that appeared in the Pueblo Star-Journal. As you read the article you can readily see why the Pueblo First Seventh-day Adventist Church is considered by the community to be "a church that cares".

Is your church enjoying this kind of a relationship with the community? Maybe you should consider the benefits of a regularly-scheduled Community Help Program!!

Glenwood Springs Seventh-day Adventist Church

By Evie Sparks

Laymen at Glenwood Springs Seventh-day Adventist Church were so motivated for action that when they located a possible Bible Instructor they eagerly presented the case before the Lord. Then the church, with a membership of about 45, came up with enough money in per month donations to pay the salary for Wilma Zalabak, who is now at work in the area.

Wilma comes to the Glenwood Springs area from Jackson, Mississippi, where for 18 months she focused her energies on Bible Instructor work while supporting herself with a part time bookkeeping job for a local Adventist firm. There, having boldly asked the Lord for six baptisms, she was thrilled to welcome five into Adventist fellowship and still prays for several others.

Wilma graduated from Wisconsin Academy in Wisconsin, the state in which she grew up and where her family now resides. After completing the three-year Medical Missionary Training Course at Eden Valley Institute in Loveland, Colorado, Wilma spent five years in intense personal Bible study, searching out the reasons for her Adventist faith, searching for answers to questions she thought she was the only one asking.

Wilma was drawn into Bible Instructor work by an awareness that others are asking the same or similar questions now. She believes God has called her to the work of sharing the Scriptures in a way that proves meaningful and satisfying to the needs of the individual.

For further training Wilma spent one month at Lake Union Soul-winning Institute in Chicago, studying under Bible Instructor Rosalie Lee and Evangelist Mark Finley.

Wilma's personal goals are: (1) to know God, and (2) to share what she

Wednesday Afternoon

Dandy Thanksgiving gift from smokers to family would be to quit habit

By DON DONATO
Staff Writer

Now, when the waitress asks, "Smoking or non-smoking," our younger daughter gives me a big hug, the older one pats my arm and my wife and I smile at each other.

I don't know how they could have been so patient with me for so long. How can you eat in that haze?

I sure hope I never go back to smoking!

And riding in the car with a smoker! That's torture! How could I ever do that to people I love?

If I'd had any idea of just how choking it really is, even when I was a (excuse the expression) never-say-die smoker, I wouldn't have smoked in the car.

Now, even though I don't smoke, I am reminded of what non-smokers were saying when I did smoke.

For example, sometimes the fog from my smoking co-workers gets so thick that I need to escape; my breath comes harder, and I get closer to comprehending the words "asthma attack."

My colleagues won't like it, I imagine, but that is the way of it. Some days when I get home from work my nose is so clogged up that I breathe wheezing through my mouth. That used to happen at home, too, but it doesn't anymore . . . just at work; the only place that smokers consistently smudge-pot my air.

I never thought I'd say that sort of thing myself.

But the truth is, as a smoker I hadn't the slightest idea how bad smoke is to a non-smoker. I'm sure that smokers aren't rotten people, at least not just because they smoke; they just don't know what it's like for the non-smokers around them.

If someone mentioned my smoking, I reacted defensively. It was easy to convince myself that the other person was just a complainer or for some reason wanted to deprive me of a pleasure.

Of course, even at the time, I knew my rebuttal was an empty feather pillow.

Every once in a while, I still feel compelled to apologize to Bob Overton, into whose living space in the office my smoke drifted for some years. And patient Mary Jean Porter.

I chose to quit smoking earlier this year as a Valentine's Day present to my wife and children. It's nice to get Mom off my back, too.

Quitting smoking would be a great Thanksgiving, Hanukkah or Christmas present to give the people with whom you live and work. If you don't believe me, ask them.

Speaking of asking, at about this point in somebody's quit-smoking lecture, I would be asking myself, "Sure, but even if I wanted to quit, how would I? I've quit a thousand times."

After hearing about it for years, and poking fun at the idea of people who don't smoke teaching others to quit smoking, I decided to go to a Five-Day Plan To Stop Smoking, sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Why? Because if I had any will-power I wouldn't be overweight, either.

Anyway, I went to the Five-Day Plan with the idea that if what they wanted me to do was too weird, I would just drop out and go on smoking. It wasn't bad at all.

Pastor John Martin of First Seventh-day Adventist Church, 3910 O'Neal, is a personable fellow who obviously has sympathy for smokers. His approach to the whole thing is very non-threatening and non-condemning.

However, he does let you know he hates smoking.

The Five-Day Plan will be offered next week, Sunday through Thursday, beginning at 7 p.m. and lasting about an hour-and-a-half each evening. All you need do is show up at the Adventist Church.

Martin says that hundreds of Puebloans have used the Five-Day Plan to stop smoking, and hundreds of thousands have quit across the nation.

Included in the format are films, lectures, slide programs, question-and-answer periods, a buddy system, a carefully regulated diet and exercise program (no, that's not a good excuse for bowing out, because they're not radical at all).

Martin has been trained by the American Red Cross and the Five-Day Plan International to conduct the stop-smoking clinics. The one next week will be the 24th he has conducted. The Five-Day Plan International says the success rate among those who follow the whole program is 85 percent.

Duane Clark Joins Denver Staff

By Wm. C. Hatch

It is a pleasure to welcome Elder Duane Clark, his wife Peggy and their two sons to the beautiful Rocky Mountain Conference. The Clarks are coming to us from the pastorate of the Santa Ana Broadway Church in the Southeastern California Conference.

Pastor and Mrs. Duane Clark and sons.

Pastor Clark is joining the staff of the Denver South Church as "Minister of Youth and Religious Education". The strong leadership of this fine family will be an asset to Pastor Ratcliffe and his staff of our largest church. Let us give them our support and remember them in our prayers as they get settled in our conference and conduct this most important ministry.

Twenty-four Baptized At Loveland

By Jeanie Alway

Baptisms on October 10 and 17 brought the total number of souls garnered through the Don Shelton Revelation Lectures at Loveland, Colorado to 24.

Twenty-six nights members and guests of the Loveland Seventh-day Adventist Church sat enthralled as Evangelist Don Shelton presented his straight-from-the-shoulder lecture series on Daniel and the Revelation with beautiful slides on his multi-media screens.

There was some apprehension about non-Adventist attendance when Pastor Max Ritchie announced to the congregation that the meetings were going to be held in the newly-remodeled and redecorated sanctuary, instead of a neutral building such as the downtown Community Center. But on opening night every pew was filled, and folding chairs had to be put in the aisles and in the back of the sanctuary. And still there were some who had to listen outside. God had answered prayer, and for 26 nights the attendance could not be described by any other word than excellent.

Some of the 24 new members at Loveland.

Many long-time members said it was the best series in Loveland in many years. The Eden Valley SDA Church, which is in the Loveland district, also supported the meetings. They were in charge of the translation from English to Spanish, as many Spanish-speaking people attended faithfully each evening. As a result five lovely Spanish-speaking members were added to the church.

Several more are studying the message and another baptism is anticipated in the near future.

Investment Fair at Rifle

By Bonnie Holderbaum

A Holiday Investment Fair was an outstanding success at Rifle, Colorado, the "Oil Shale Capitol of the World". The fair was planned and organized by Elsa Hughes, Investment leader.

"The members of the church gave their whole-hearted support," said Mrs. Hughes. "We had many beautiful and useful things to offer for sale, like calico-covered picture frames by Connie McElvain, stationery with leaves and flowers by Mable Nelson, kitchen crafts by Jo Walters, and delicious "runzas" baked by Mable Livingood. We even had a booth of 'white elephants'."

John Schumann, known as "Farmer John" since he recently opened a country store, provided a large amount of garden produce for the fair. Mary Dix operated a booth featuring canned vegetarian foods which drew a lot of interest.

Grace Johnston served as a guide for the fair. She gave an enthusiastic welcome and directed attention to the various items offered for sale.

"The fair was a success in three ways," commented Elsa Hughes. "It raised a considerable sum of money for Investment. It gave us a chance to fellowship with friends and neighbors of the community, and it gave us a chance to work together as brothers and sisters. We know now how to make next year's fair even better!"

Bonnie Holderbaum is the communication secretary for the Rifle Church.

Rangers Receive Award

More than 200 people crowded into the Durango Seventh-day Adventist Church on a recent Sabbath for the annual presentation of the Community Service Award. Each year a service organization in the community is chosen to be honored at a special worship service. This year the recipients were the local chapter of the Colorado Mounted Rangers. Approximately 40 members and their wives were present. Music was provided by the High Country Gospel Singers. A special poem was written and read by Laura Bixler. Keith Newbold gave a slide presentation featuring the Rangers, a highly-skilled search and rescue organization, at work and at leisure.

Following the program a delicious fellowship dinner was enjoyed by members and guests.

Seven Baptized at Hutchinson

By Clara Hansen

A new year! A new beginning! Seven young people of the Hutchinson church school elected to begin the year 1982 with a new life in Christ by burying their old life under the baptismal waters. Pastor Richard Coston conducted baptismal classes at the elementary school this fall which resulted in the decisions to become members of the Hutchinson Church.

Elder Stan Hardt, Bible teacher at Maplewood Academy, baptized his son Doug, while Pastor Coston baptized the others: Doug Anderson, Melissa Anderson, David Barcenas, Nicole Chunstudy, Trevor Chunstudy, and Dan Hansen.

It was a thrilling day for these young people, their parents, and grandparents. We pray that these young people will permit the Holy Spirit to guide them in each facet of their daily lives. Praise God for Christian schools, homes, and loving members of the church!

Levi McNeilus Dedicated

By Betty Knudson

Levi Garret McNeilus, son of Pat & Rhonda McNeilus, was the star of the morning worship service at the Dodge Center Church as they witnessed the joyous occasion of his dedication. Pastor Tim Pierce challenged the parents to raise Levi to follow Jesus all the way and asked God's Holy Spirit to guide them in leading their family into a close relationship with Him. "A little child shall lead them."

Life Saved

By Mary Orr

Johnnie Dawn Sailors is alive and well today, thanks to the quick thinking of Norma Ortiz, the community service leader of the Hastings Church.

Mrs. Ortiz was visiting in Arkansas when 19-month-old Johnnie Dawn began choking and gasping for air. The several adults present felt helpless in this situation. Mrs. Ortiz, who had previously organized a first aid class for her church, remembered her training and quickly responded to dislodge the article and allow Johnnie Dawn to begin regular breathing. Since the nearest hospital was 30 miles away, this action saved Johnnie's life.

As community service leader, Mrs. Ortiz believes in preparedness and urges all church members to avail themselves of classes which help in emergency situations.

Mrs. Ortiz stated that a group of local girl scouts attended the last Red Cross classes and she is planning to invite the community to attend future CPR classes which are being organized.

Christian Education Pays

By Barbara Resz

A publishing house in Indonesia, another in Thailand, a remodeled publishing house in the Philippines, a hospital in Saigon were all built by a 1928 Enterprise Academy graduate. His 23 years of denominational service also include general manager of the Stanborough press in England, and administrator of the Bangkok Adventist Hospital.

Christian teachers in our schools taught him the true value of life and to use his time and talents to help hasten Christ's soon coming.

The investment in our educational program pays rich dividends.

Conference Report—1981

By Dale R. Culbertson

The baptism of 480 souls highlighted the activities of our conference during 1981. As we give a brief report of our conference, we are grateful for the dedication and loyalty of each member, particularly during a time of transition and merger. Our conference headquarters and operations located under one roof at Topeka in September. Our officers and staff are dedicated to assuring a more efficient operation as the two offices become one. The Adventist Book Center and Elder Walt Howard will continue to headquarter in Lincoln.

Last year, our Literature Evangelists delivered $588,000.00 worth of books and literature and saw 38 of their customers baptized. One thousand two hundred ninety-five youth attended camps at Camp Arrowhead and Broken Arrow Ranch. New Schools at Golden Hills (Bellevue), Mullen, and Sidney were begun and total enrollment across the conference increased. The Ingathering goal was reached and surpassed. A total of $183,230.00 was raised.

Financially, the tithe increased $377,145.88 during the year, making the total tithe $4,541,040.03. In addition, $416,717.90 was sent to missions. Believing in the strong support of the local church, members gave $2,259,281.66 for their local operations, programs, and building upkeep. In a time of unprecedented world financial uncertainty, we can only say, "God is good".

Last September, a special constituency meeting was called for the purpose of adopting a new constitution and merging the Kansas and Nebraska associations. The former Nebraska association will continue as a legal holding corporation.

A lengthy discussion of investments with Dr. Davenport and a question and answer period concerning investment policies of our conference and association proved informative. The openness and honesty of our officers has encouraged members to continue to have confidence in their leadership. The last six months of 1981 saw increased activity and increased dollars invested with the association, almost doubling the figures of the previous six months.

A new hospital was acquired on a lease agreement at Osborne, Kansas. This 29-bed acute care facility, with Don Bradley as administrator, plus the hospital at Mullen, Nebraska, and Shawnee Mission Medical Center, should help spread the SDA health philosophy.

As we reflect on 1981, we are grateful for the providence of God; however, we cannot be content, for a great challenge lies ahead for 1982. Thousands of individuals need to be reached with this message. May God help each of us to take seriously the mission of this church; to reflect His image fully, and to communicate His love to others.

KANSAS-NEBRASKA

Workers Meeting

By Dale R. Culbertson

Elder R. H. Pierson, former General Conference President, and author of several books on leadership was the principle speaker at the recent ministers meeting in Topeka, January 10-13.

His theme for the session was Christian Leadership and how it relates to the pastoral role. The practical instruction included such topics as time management, ability to remember names and faces, and general organization of the pastor's energies.

R. H. Pierson

Prior to leaving, Elder Pierson autographed copies of his latest book for each pastor.

Dr. Andrew Hynal of Loma Linda University and Mike Ortel, both emphasized the pastors' health and physical fitness. Ortel also conducted a health screening on the pastors to determine coronary risk factors.

Ron Ihrig addressed the ministers, as did Morris Venden. Elder Venden's messages gave strong emphasis to the aspects of salvation and the individual's personal acceptance of God's gift.

Linda Gallimore, CPA and tax accountant, spent approximately two hours explaining the new tax laws, particularly those rules which pertain to ministers. Her question and answer session and her expertise in the income tax field were greatly appreciated.

The concluding message by Elder Joel Tompkins was a challenge to each pastor to keep the mission of the Adventist church constantly in thought and action. Pastors were encouraged to lead church members into a clearer understanding of the historic principles of salvation and the reason why God has a remnant people.

The pastors' meeting is history, the implementation of the counsel is just beginning.

Thirty Baptized In Van Denburgh Crusade

A series of inspirational meetings was held in Columbia, Missouri by John and Clara Van Denburgh.

During the second week Elder Duane McKee and Dr. John Van Denburgh held a week of prayer with the church school children. The following Sabbath there was an afternoon program for the young people. During the week of prayer and the youth program eight young people decided to give their hearts to Jesus, and were baptized. One of the eight was Bracken McKee. It was a happy day for Pastor McKee when he baptized his son.

William and Ella Carter were one of the young couples baptized. They had attended the Daniel Seminars held two years ago by Dan Goddard. A few months ago Ella came to the church and asked for the materials that Dan Goddard had used, and using these materials, she started Bible studies with 10 persons.

Mrs. Ruby Seper was among those baptized, and her sister, Ida Freeze, later joined the church. Ruby and Ida are sisters of the late Lawrence Freeze who was the first one baptized into membership of the Boonville Church.

Pastor Duane McKee baptized Ken Wherry. Ken has taken an active part in the Boonville Church even though he wasn't a member. He helped his wife, Ellen, give Bible studies, go door-to-door making surveys, and helping wherever he saw a need. Ken was one of three young husbands of church members who were baptized.

Another exciting baptism was that of a mother and her young daughter baptized together. Mrs. Nelda Coffman has a reason to remember the date of her baptism—it was her birthday.

An important job during an evangelistic series is teaching the children. This was done by Roye and Cindy Lane, Bob and Thelma Stelling, and Shirley Robinson. Between 30 and 35 children attended, ranging in age from babyhood to six years old. The children learned about Jesus through song, films and felt board stories. One night they sang some of the songs they had learned for their parents.

Elder Van Denburgh, Pastor McKee and David Dick, associate pastor, spent many long hours visiting the non-members, while the lay people visited their fellow church members. It was thrilling to see people attend night after night, and to see changes taking place in their lives in such a short time. The attendance ranged from 50 to 85 non-members almost every night. Thirty people were baptized into the memberships of the Columbia and Boonville Churches.

Fire Damages Community Service Center

A fire occurred December 27 in the building that houses the Community Service Center in Columbia, Missouri. A few months ago the center gave up part of the space it was occupying due to lack of funds. That space was converted to an apartment which was completely destroyed by the fire.

The wall between the apartment and the center was slightly damaged, paint was blistered on the door separating the spaces, and the walls of the center were blackened with smoke. The center was closed until repairs were made.

Those who work at the Community Service Center believe God spared their area from complete destruction because there is still a work to be done in the Columbia area.

Services Begin In New Location

By Pat McDaniel

Sabbath, January 9, 1982, the Community Seventh-day Adventist Church of Boonville, Missouri began conducting church services in its new location at 706 7th Street, at the corner of Locust, in Boonville. The church has a small sanctuary which seats about 35 people. Pastor David Dick was the speaker.

Five-day Plan at Columbia

By Pat McDaniel

A Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking was held in Columbia, Missouri in January, 1982. Five inches of snow fell the first night, and only two people were able to attend, but ten attended the second night.

Participants received help through lectures, films, group discussions, exercise and diet. One of the films showed that not only smoking damages the body, but also overeating. For every pound of excess weight, there are 200 miles of blood vessels to which the heart must pump blood. Dr. Sid Christiansen explained that once a smoker stops it takes the body eight to ten years to completely correct the damage, although most of the damage is corrected in the first two years. After that the healing process is gradual.

Ann Metzfelt and Thelma Stelling showed that exercise and a balanced diet would help prevent weight gain when they no longer smoke.

Dr. Charles Freidline was the coordinator of the program, and others who assisted were Dr. Christiansen, Duane McKey, Ralph Poff, Rebecca Payne, Ann Metzfelt, Thelma Stelling and Pat McDaniel. A victory banquet was held for those who attended and their families.

Juniors Send Aid To East Africa

 by Mrs. Gene Pride

The Junior Sabbath School Division of the Sunnysdale Seventh-day Adventist Church sponsored an auction in Centralia's City Square. Its purpose was to raise funds to help relieve the hunger crisis in East Africa. Thousands in the countries of Somalia and Ethiopia face starvation due to prolonged drought and war. One refugee camp alone is the home of 76,000 people.

Lester Halverson, manager of Sunnysdale Academy Industries, volunteered his services as auctioneer. All items were donated by local church members ranging from the small to a nearly new wood-burning stove and an antique dinner bell.

Through the cooperation of many individuals, the juniors had a total of $1,000.00 to send to SAWS, World Vision, and Food For The Hungry. The leaders requested that these agencies use the funds for food, or the transportation thereof, to the hungry of East Africa.

Friendship Night at Bowman

By Phil Johnson

The Bowman Church held its fourth annual Friendship Night program January 25th and welcomed more than 120 guests from the community. Following the format of the previous Friendship Nights, the evening began with a full-course vegetarian banquet, prepared and served by the members of the church.

Pastor Phil Johnson, Durwood and Marilyn Ohm

Local funeral director Durwood Ohm was presented with the Seventh-day Adventist Community Service Award. Mr. Ohm has been Bowman's mortician for the past 26 years.

Singer Ben Parrish of Nashville, Tennessee provided the entertainment for the evening, presenting an hour long concert of Christian music. The audience was visibly moved by his personal and highly spiritual performance.

Ushers distributed cards listing the Bowman Church's various ministries, and the response indicated continued interest in the Nature's Way Cooking Class and the Stress Control Clinic, and in group Bible discussions.

Year by year, Friendship Night is establishing itself as a high point on the calendar of community activities. As the appreciation for Friendship Night grows, so does the appreciation for God's remnant church. May God's spirit grant the increase as His people continue to "show themselves friendly".

Phil Johnson is pastor of the Bowman Church.

Home, A Bethel?

What a dream! Ladder rungs reaching into infinity. Celestial beings scurrying between the throne of God and a lonely spot in old Palestine. The Lord Himself standing beside him. Nearly incomprehensible but reassuring promises.

The night in Bethel had not promised to be anything but miserably uncomfortable as the dusty runaway adjusted his body around the rocks, choosing a flat one for his pillow. But then the vision came. Slowly its scenes mingled with reality as Jacob awoke.

"Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not," he mused. "This is none other but the house of God and this is the gate of heaven" (Genesis 28:16-17).

What a truth Jacob discovered that night! In Jesus heaven and earth have come together. Through Him there is reconciliation in the family of God. His presence softens hearts, sweetens tempers, enriches lives and keeps open lines of cordial communication.

"Our homes must be made a Bethel," Ellen White declares (Adventist Home, p. 19).

My home the house of God? My house the gate of heaven? "Yes," God says, "This is My desire for you!"

HIGHLIGHTS

Collegiate Quarterly— New Publication

It's new—a Sabbath School quarterly for the collegiate reader! It is challenging and stimulating. The new quarterly has a pleasing format, and while discussions are centered around the same theme as those in the Adult Sabbath School Quarterly, it contains thought-provoking material geared to the analytical mind. Each reader is challenged to study for himself and determine truth from the study of these helps and God's word.

Under the direction of the General Conference and Union College, the quarterly includes a variety of writers. It is published by Pacific Press Publishing Association. Subscribe through your Adventist Book Center at $4.80 per year, or $1.20 per single copy.

For Your Schools

Certification and accreditation are terms feared by some among us. Indeed, a few decades ago accreditation caused us to use some materials and methods that might have been questionable. Reasons given for their use was for accreditation purposes, at least.

Accreditation bodies now take the philosophy of a school and base recommendations upon that philosophy and the objectives that our people establish within it. Few states require accreditation. And the denomination does not require state or regional accreditation where the law does not.

We do have our own certification and accreditation process carried on entirely within our ranks for elementary and secondary schools. That process assists in upgrading and in the exchange of ideas. It helps to assure denominational leaders and local school constituencies that things are going well within our system. Although it sometimes requires teachers to get double certification and schools to undergo double self-studies, this internal accreditation has proven to be a real blessing.
