

“The Evangelistic
 Magazines—
 A Remarkable
 Witness!”

Dear Friends,

Have you noticed how many things are happening recently inside and outside the church? There is a great tendency to equate calamities and difficulties with the second coming of Christ and the end of the world. It is not my intention to do any such equating. However, with everything that is transpiring, shouldn't we take a closer look at the world around us—and at the same time have a closer look at our own lives.

E. S. Reile

You possibly have read about a group of people who believe that they have found the golden Ark of the Covenant which was secreted away in a cave on Mt. Nebo by the prophet Jeremiah, more than 2500 years ago. With this discovery, has come some conjecture that this event marks the very final hours of our history. At this point in time we are not ready to make such an announcement.

For just a moment let us do some reasoning and personal examination. Suppose, for instance, that the discovery of the Ark does mark the final judgment of the living—as some are saying. Would this make any difference in your personal life style? If the judgment of the living has begun, how much time do we have before the time of trouble begins?

At this point there is no positive proof that the discovery on Mt. Nebo is the real Ark. If on the one hand this "Ark" is a counterfeit, then we have some little time left. If on the other hand this is the true Ark of the Covenant, and its discovery marks the beginning of the judgment of the living then we have precious little time left.

We are, in Mid-America, about to launch into the most comprehensive soul winning program ever experienced in the Adventist Church around the world. In this "Thousand Days of Reaping" each church member can do something in this vast outreach program of the church. Many of you have had the spiritual gifts test and know what your talent is in the church. We must be about our Father's business. We must be personally and individually active in the outreach of our church. There is a work for everyone to do.

Let me encourage you to utilize your God-given talents in this great outreach of the church. And through it all we must be a good example in our daily Christian lives.

The "Thousand Days" will be officially launched this fall. Do you already have your assignment? Please counsel with your pastor and determine your place in God's plan for you in this great outreach program.

Cordially,

Ellsworth S. Reile, President

CONSIDER THE MAGAZINE

by Kenneth J. Holland, editor, THESE TIMES

Our evangelistic magazines—These Times, Signs, Message and El Centinela—provide us with a remarkably easy but power-laden opportunity to witness for Christ.

The day of the magazine is far from over in spite of the inroads of television. Consider, for example, that a magazine, which can be read at leisure and at one's own pace, doesn't put a time limit on creativity.

A magazine gives you the freedom to tell your story the way it needs to be told—with one picture or a thousand words.

You can startle without the fear of being too loud.

You can educate without having to speak at high speed.

You can whisper without the fear of not being heard.

Because the only limit is your taste, your insight, your imagination.

A magazine such as Signs, El Centinela, Message or These Times can touch the whole of life with sophistication and warmth. It can deal with modern man's real problems, with his everyday concerns, and provide solutions from a Biblical perspective.

Because Christianity is relevant to all of life, a Christian magazine can delve into the realms of art, ethics, history, science, economics, psychology, sociology, urbanization, secularization, and so forth.

On the other hand, the simplest article pointing out that Jesus cares may be enough to win a heart. Down deep we all are pretty much the same—vulnerable, lonely, fearful. We need the comforting word, the assurance that we have a gracious Saviour who loves us, helps us, exalts us, and frees us from guilt. Forgiveness—as God grants it—is the only basis for inner contentment and peace of mind!

Consider the evangelistic magazine as a pulpit in every home, the friendly messenger with a distinctive message, a prophetic, warning message, a grand, wholistic lifestyle for hurting people. A magazine gives opportunity to proclaim our message as the good news it really is. It gives opportunity to "make appeals that will arouse the careless and bring foolish, wandering minds back to God" Testimonies, Volume 7, page 155.

Consider a magazine that brings responses like these: "What a fantastic publication! I thank you. I pray for your work and faith in Jesus, and again I thank you for bringing His ministry to me."

"I honestly feel that your magazine is the best religious publication available. The articles are relevant, timely, and informational. I belong to a non-denominational church (the Church of God), and I would like to challenge anyone of any denomination to read one issue of your magazine. The souls they save may be their own."

"I want to thank you and your staff for the excellent work you are doing with These Times. The magazine played a part in my conversion to the church, and I will ever be grateful for that."

"Almost a year ago I was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist faith. My dear aunt and uncle are Seventh-day Adventists and signed me up for a gift subscription to your publication. Your article on who Seventh-day Adventists are and what they believe is the one that did it! What a glorious influence your magazine is. Praise God for These Times!"

Consider the magazine. Our evangelistic magazines offer articles like "How to Deal With Affliction," "The Spiritual Aspects of Weight Control," "The Sabbath—a Day to Remember," "The Four Secrets of Lending a Helping Hand," "I Adopted a Leper Family," "Put Joy Into Your Life," "Crisis in Europe," "The Truth About Immortality of the Soul," "What Church Shall I Join?"

Consider the magazine—then consider your responsibility to use it to win souls. As a Seventh-day Adventist Christian you are involved. You cannot avoid it. You are a participant in the redemptive mission of God through the church. You are involved in the world, its business, its culture, its hunger, its politics and governments, its travail, its tears, its sin. You cannot be a spectator! Jesus said, "I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world . . . as thou has sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world" (John 17:15, 18).

You, the layman, are sent into the world, as Jesus Christ was sent, as an agent of redemption, conforming to the command of our Lord, who said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel" (Mark 16:15). He meant it not only geographically but also vocationally. Go ye to Africa, Korea, India, yes. But also—go ye into the world of business, mechanics, art, music, agriculture, education, law, government, and politics. Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel. Preach it by your life and by using our evangelistic journals.

It is a great time to be alive and to participate in the finishing of the work of God on earth.

Will you accept the challenge today? Tomorrow may be too late!

International Music Festival

By Phil Marino

The sanctuary of Lincoln's Capitol View Church was the site for an "International Music Festival" held on February 20, 1982. The festival was sponsored by the Lincoln Spanish Company's Missionary Volunteers.

The festival included a mixture of instrumental solos, vocal solos, and vocal groups composed of individuals from nine different countries. Five different languages were used. Guiermo Martinez acted as Spanish master of ceremonies, and Randy Fredericks was the English M.C.

The instrumental solos included Terry West representing the United States, and Hulda Marin from Mexico playing piano solos, and Alvaro Souza from Brazil on the guitar. Vocal solos included, Juan Escobar from Mexico, Brando Garcia from Puerto Rico, Valerie Dyson from United States, Ivy Wong from China, Madelina Popa from Romania, and Fernando Carrillo from Columbia. The singing groups included Akira Chiba and Hideyuki Yamashita from Japan, Tony and Vera Herrera and Josefina Moran from Mexico, Thomas Escobar and his children Thomas Jr., Lupe (Fredericks), Juan, Sara, and Patti from Mexico, and Janet Ellis, Gerson Roeske, Mike Walter, and Jan Doubrasky representing Germany.

All the performers are current residents of Lincoln.

Five-day Plans

The Capitol View Church and the Omaha Church have recently completed sponsoring Five-day Plans.

The Capitol View plan utilized Union College ministerial students from Sieg Roeske's Personal Witnessing Class, plus Drs. Chester Norman and Oliver Pogue. Paul Gnad, director of the Lincoln YMCA also assisted.

The Capitol View Church plans to sponsor a series of health lectures and is conducting an evangelistic series at the present time.

At Omaha, Dr. Nate Williams, medical student Ted Brown, and Dentist Frances Mendenhall provided the medical expertise. Mac McCormick served as director.

Omaha has a follow-up plan to keep in contact with each attendee and plans to invite them to future meetings at the church.

Public High School Hears Adventist Teachers

By Cheryl Hewes

On January 21, the Advanced Foods Class at the Chapman, Kansas High School listened to a talk on vegetarian living. Cheryl Hewes, Home Economics teacher at Enterprise Academy, gave a short talk on the health and nutritional value of being a vegetarian.

Allan Wolfson, Bible teacher at EA, pointed out why SDA's emphasize healthful living. Sandwich spreads and Chickettes were prepared.

The students enjoyed tasting the analogs that had been prepared for them.

Cheryl Hewes is the Home Economics teacher at Enterprise Academy.

New Church Furniture

By Vida Recker

The Albion Seventh-day Adventist Church has recently completed installing new pews, new pulpit furniture, new communion table and new drapes. These items have been the dream of the Albion members for quite some time and now they are a reality.

God not only blessed the Albion Church with new furniture but more importantly He gave new members. Through literature ministry, followed by a series of evangelistic meetings, souls were added to the Albion Church.

Vida Recker is the communication secretary for the Albion Church.

Baptism

By Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sewell

In January 1982, Mikel Moore was baptized by Pastor Dick Shadduck in the Topeka Church, after a thorough study of the Bible.

Mike says he was previously baptized at an early age, but wandered away during his teen years. During his childhood, he had been attacked by some youths and finally decided to study Karate, at which he became quite proficient. However, he will probably be quick to tell you he has not found the need to use it since searching for the truth in the word of God. Mike is a rather tall young man about 25 years of age with an unassuming, compassionate manner.

Mikel Moore being baptized by Pastor Dick Shadduck in the Topeka Church, January 1982.

He was first introduced to the Seventh-day Adventist Church when a friend invited him to the Dale Brussett lectures a little over four years ago. Missing some of the lectures created his desire to purchase the tapes, but he did not have the money to do so at the time. However, just as he had been praying for God to reveal the truth to him when he was invited to the Brussett lectures, again he prayed for the money to buy those tapes. His brother, who owed Mikel some money, unexpectedly paid back $100. Another prayer answered, and since that time Mike has been studying the tapes very thoroughly, which led to his recent decision.

Mike is a sophomore at Washburn University but hopes to enroll at Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska next fall. At his baptism he stated that he wants to be the best peaceful witness possible for the Lord and to bring many people to Christ, with God's guidance. He also has a strong desire to become a pastor.

KANSAS-NEBRASKA

Foreign Student Baptized

Henry B. Cole, Jr., was baptized by Pastor Dick Shadduck on January 30, 1982, and became a member of the Lawrence Church.

Henry's background is a bit unusual in that he is originally from Liberia. His first introduction to the Adventist faith was as a child. His father was press secretary to the president of Liberia and wanted the best schooling possible for his son, and chose the Adventist Mission in Liberia, where he completed his grade school.

In 1962, after graduation from high school, Henry went to Israel to a technical college on a joint scholarship between Liberia and Israel, studying architectural drafting. After graduation from this college, he returned to Liberia to work as an architectural draftsman.

Seeking further education, he went to Toronto, Canada to attend an architectural college there. Having completed another tour of study, he then returned to Liberia and worked four more years as an architectural draftsman.

In 1972, he decided to come to the United States to attend a technical college in North Carolina. Following graduation, with a Bachelor's Degree in the Science of Architectural Engineering, Henry again returned to Liberia.

However, in 1980, a military coup rose up against the Liberian government. Being a section head of the government in the civil engineering field, his name was on the wanted list and he was forced to flee Liberia for his life. His father, also on the wanted list, was not so fortunate and was jailed. This was the second time he came to the United States, where he sought asylum and looked around for a school in which he could study construction management. This finally led him to Kansas University in Lawrence, Kansas, where he is now studying.

Henry is still under political asylum in the United States and really wants to stay here after graduation next May. In order to do so, he must find gainful employment and is hopeful it will come soon.

"... LIKE JESUS WAS"

"I want to be baptized out in nature like Jesus was," stated Katrina Bush to her parents, Elder Don and Rita Bush. She received her wish as her father baptized her in Lake Milford. The baptism took place on Katrina's Grandmother's birthday.

UNION COLLEGE

Union College Homecoming April 15-17

By Tom Seibold

"The College of the Golden Cords" will be drawing in some of those symbolic cords the weekend of April 15-17 as Union College alumni return for the annual homecoming. The weekend's activities will begin Thursday and end Saturday.

More than 20,000 people have attended or graduated from Union College, and more than 150 out-of-town alumni are expected for the weekend, coming from as far away as California, Florida, Texas, and Maryland. The guests will be given a tour of the campus by Mel West, development and alumni director, followed by the Homecoming Banquet in the College Auditorium Thursday evening. Music at the banquet will be provided by the Unionaires, and recognition of honor classes will take place at that time.

A 9:00 am business meeting in the Student Center will begin Friday's activities, followed by an honors convocation in the College Auditorium.

Distinguished Service, Meritorious Service, and Honor Alumnus Awards will be presented, and the service will honor current students with GPAs of 3.0 or above. An open-air picnic lunch and Concert Winds band concert will be provided for both students and visitors, and afternoon academic division meetings will update alumni on developments in the division of their interest. At 3 pm, Golden Club and honor class socials for graduates of '32, '42, '57, and '72 will be held in the home economics department and student center.

The hanging of the Golden Cords, a tradition which began in 1906, will take place at a 7 pm vespers service in the College View Church. The tradition consists of a map of the world on which a gold thread is attached with one end on Lincoln and the other end at the place of overseas mission service. The tag of the cord is then cut and mailed to the missionary. The board will gain the cords of 34 current student missionaries and about 20 full-time graduates in mission service this year, bringing the total number of cords to over 1,100.

On Saturday morning, Gilbert

McMillen of the Division of Science and Math will lead a 7:30 tour of the Joshua Turner Arboretum, giving visitors the opportunity to view some 60 species of trees on the college campus. The speaker for both 8:50 and 11 am worship services will be Dr. Loren Dickinson, chairman of the Communication Department of Walla Walla College, Washington. Following the church service, the clock tower will ring with the sound of a carillon concert, played by Dr. Robert Murray of the Division of Musical Arts. After the alumni potluck at 1 pm, Francis Wernick, a vice president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, will speak at a 3 o'clock symposium in the College View Church Heritage Room. The weekend will end with a concert by the Unionaires in the College View Church at 4 pm, a nursing consecration service at 6:30, and a secular concert by the Concert Winds at 8.

All alumni are invited to attend, and local alumni or church members desiring to accommodate visitors may call the alumni office at 488-2331.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN

Ron Cook Serves Wyoming District

By Wm. C. Hatch

Pastor and Mrs. Ron Cook have been serving the Riverton-Lander, Wyoming District for some time. They have come to us from the Central California Conference. They have three children, a boy and two girls. Mrs. Cook (Marilyn) is the daughter of Pastor and Mrs. Robert Odell of the Newcastle-Upton District, and is a great-granddaughter of Mrs. E. G. White.

The Cooks have most recently served on a volunteer-emergency basis in the rapidly growing youth work in the Marshall Islands of the Micronesia Union. Pastor Cook served as Bible teacher in the newly-opened high school and had a part in the baptism of 56 persons following an evangelistic meeting.

This fine family is giving strong leadership to our churches in this beautiful area of Wyoming. The church families are giving them good support and with God's blessing we shall see continued growth. Welcome to the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Wm. C. Hatch is president of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Family/Education Rally In Rochester

By Beverly Dickinson

Sabbath, February 27, 1982, was a beautiful, sunny day, perfect for a gathering. And that is what took place in the St. Francis gymnasium in Rochester. Members of the surrounding churches met at 4 p.m. to hear Max Torkelsen, president of the Nevada-Utah Conference, speak on the advantages of Christian education. He also had spoken that morning at the Rochester Church.

Kim Anderson, a senior elementary education major from Union College, was featured. She used her lovely contralto voice to sing praises to God.

Maplewood Academy was there with a majority of their student body: the large choir, the band, and the gymnastic team. These groups performed during the afternoon and evening, impressing all who observed or listened of the high quality of students at Maplewood.

Family unity and Christian education are the main thrusts of several state-wide rallies of which this one in Rochester was the third. By observing our youth in action, Adventists are better able to realize the value and potential of our youth and the need for Christian education.

Beverly Dickinson is the associate director of communication for the Minnesota Conference.

K-12 Teachers' Inservice Meetings at MWA

By Beverly Dickinson

On Sunday morning, February 21, 1982, 34 elementary teachers and 22 secondary personnel met in the Bible room of the Maplewood Academy administration building for two days of meetings. Before coming to the MWA campus, the teachers had received the material for a course in denominational history which would be covered by speakers on this Sunday. One semester hour of college credit would be given.

H. Ward Hill and Siegfried H. Roeske, professors in the religion department at Union College, lectured during the morning on various sections of the history of our church. During the afternoon, Victor C. Hilbert, MWA principal, and Larry G. Kromann, superintendent of Minnesota SDA schools, spoke on more recent sections of the same topic.

Following the lectures, a short review time was given before the test was administered. Most of the teachers felt it was a difficult test, although all of them did have passing scores, and vowed to be more sympathetic with their students when testing time came for them.

The group voted the constitution for the Minnesota chapter of the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Educators and chose officers. Paul Kozik of Brainerd was chosen president, Angie Hardt of MWA as vice president, Linda Strickland of MWA as secretary, and Harriet Anderson of Hutchinson as treasurer.

On Monday the elementary teachers met again and covered topics concerning the school curriculum. Various types of recreation in the gym during the evening completed the day.

The teachers felt the break was needed at this time of the year and appreciated the time to be together for fellowship and fun as well as for learning.

Owatonna Victory

By Grace White

Recently, eight new members were baptized into the Owatonna Church, virtually doubling the membership! These baptisms were the result of much team effort, and took place at the close of an evangelistic series led by John and Clara Van Denburgh. The Van Denburghs had excellent presentations of God's truth in both word and song. Local member Grace White led out in the children's division. The meetings were held at the Owatonna Inne.

It was not an easy series. During the first half of the crusade, it seemed everything was contrary to the work. Three blizzards kept the attendance to a bare minimum. This, coupled with several serious accidents and mishaps, seemed to threaten the success of all the labor that had gone before. However, the more adverse conditions became, the more everyone realized that Satan must have been trying to keep the church from something exceedingly precious.

Three people who decided to keep all of God's commandments had been contacted through the door-to-door work of the Owatonna Bible worker and the local pastor. First, there was Kevin Olson, a young man who fit right into the program, often lending a hand when needed at the meetings. Ardis Metzler, who lives less than a block from the church, has become a real part of the Owatonna fellowship. Nancy Homeier, an avid reader who searches the Scriptures very diligently, was met quite by accident last fall. Apparently, however, it was no accident in the Lord's plan for her life.

The other five new members heard of the meetings through various means, and attended despite the poor weather. There were the Larsons: Don, Danny, and Donny. They had had previous contact with Adventists and had done considerable independent study before joining the church. Jeff and Teri Payson, a fine young couple who just moved into the Owatonna area last fall, were both tremendously impressed by a church that went "by the Book."

There is more good news to the story. Two years ago the average weekly attendance in Owatonna was three. Presently, the average weekly attendance ranges from 25 to 35. The reason is that a number of church members in the area remembered that to be an Adventist is to be a missionary. Four families who live closer to another Seventh-day Adventist church have been attending the Owatonna Church to strengthen the little congregation. These "Minnesota missionaries" are Dave and Shirley Dickie, Brad and Barb Knudson, Linden and Camille McNeilus, and Steve and Eunice Scott. Kathy Aman, Bible worker, has also sacrificed much to come and give a year's service in the Owatonna area.

Pastor Tim Pierce has started a witness training program that will, hopefully, see additional church growth in the weeks and months ahead. Miss Aman will follow up interests from the meetings. And, no doubt, there will be many other interesting programs of outreach. But for now, it's just good to see the little church full from Sabbath to Sabbath!

Grace White is the communication secretary for the Owatonna Church.

Camp Meeting Changes

For 50 years, more or less, the South Dakota Conference has held its annual camp meeting at the Huron State Fair Grounds. Preliminary plans were made to continue camp meeting in South Dakota in 1982 in the same facility. The Conference officers investigated the buildings and found they have deteriorated through the years and are hardly usable for our purposes. Plans for building repairs and improvements for the fair grounds have been approved in the last few years, but the funds for them seem to be non-existent. Consequently, the buildings became progressively poorer.

In search of better facilities, the Conference officers inquired at the Huron College, a Presbyterian institution. They found the administration there very receptive and helpful. Terms for the use of the college were negotiated and this necessitated shifting the schedule a bit. The camp meeting at DAA will be first this year, beginning on Tuesday evening, June 8th and running through the week-end. Camp meeting in South Dakota will begin on Tuesday evening, June 15th and run through the week-end, at Huron College. The college has dormitory rooms, meeting rooms, an auditorium, a chapel, a cafeteria, and is very well suited to our purposes.

Room reservations for both camp meetings will be made through the Dakota Conference Office in Pierre.

Great things are planned again for the camp meetings and every Seventh-day Adventist in the Dakota Conference should plan to attend. Some may want to attend both sessions. When the meetings are faithfully attended, the Lord is able to speak to our hearts. A schedule of speakers and charges will follow in another issue of the Outlook.

Dakota Academy Hosts Lay Evangelist Seminar

By Elmer Haas

Dakota Adventist Academy was the host for the Lay Evangelists' Training Seminar February 26 to March 6. The following Personal Ministries Directors served as instructors: Samuel Monnier (General Conference), W. E. Peeke (Mid-America), Art Carlson (Minnesota), Jerry Page (Rocky Mountain), and Ed Scheresky (Dakota). Dakota Conference president, Ben J. Liebelt, served as chaplain for the more than 100 delegates to this historic meeting. The delegates represented churches in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wyoming. On the final week-end, the group was joined by another 400 laymen, pastors, conference officers and Mid-America leaders to worship and witness the awarding of certificates to the new group of Lay Evangelists.

Peter Handke with Bill Peeke and Art Carlson.

During this final week-end, the church officers enjoyed two and one-half hours of specialized instruction dealing with each officer's responsibility in his church. "We look for a great out-pouring of the Holy Spirit as the people put into practice the things they have learned during this session," stated one of the conference leaders. During the final moments of the session, Butch Sneider, Bud Brugman and Herb Fickbohm were set aside as a part of the "70", a recognition given to those who have won at least one soul during the past year.

Elmer Haas is director of the communication department for the Dakota Conference.

90 Stop Smoking Habit

By Phyllis Roehl

One of the largest Five-day Plans to Stop Smoking to be held in the Dakota Conference was conducted in Grand Forks during February. One hundred fifteen people registered the first night and the attendance remained steady, never dropping below 90. Pastor Ron Carlson and Dr. S. Pete Roehl led the lecture series, with assistance from Dr. Leo Herber and Dr. Jerome Bray of Thief River Falls, Minnesota. More than $2,000 worth of advertising was provided at no cost by TV, radio and newspaper.

Ron Carlson lectures on evils of smoking.

Grand Forks United Hospital and its major clinic are considering using the Five-day Plan as their major referral for their patients needing to quit smoking.

Regular followup meetings are already in progress for continued support. Another Five-day Plan is scheduled for the end of May to accommodate the strong interest that has been expressed.

Hebron Investment

By James F. Van Horn

Have you ever wondered what a small church can do for Investment? I wondered that when we moved to North Dakota this fall as a district pastor. To my amazement, the Hebron Seventh-day Adventist Church, with only 11 Sabbath School members, turned in $1,653.51 for 1981.

I was curious how such a small church could raise such a large amount. Mrs. Frieda Kearnes, the Investment leader, informed me that Hebron is an Investment-minded church, and that it has 100 percent participation. This is how one small church invests for the Lord:

Rudolph Harnisch, a young farmer, gave $5.00 for each calf that lived. This year he didn't lose a single calf at birth.

Andy Harnisch, a literature evangelist, gives a portion of his sales.

Herbert Chase sold the scrap iron he had around the farm.

Vernell Sievers collected dimes for Investment.

Dennis Sievers, a roofer, gave what he collected from delinquent accounts.

Anna Chase and Frieda Kearnes each crocheted a baby afghan and sold them.

Beryl Sievers gave a certain amount of money for each inch of rain.

Ivan Sievers, a wheat farmer, gave a percentage of the wheat crop.

Frank Fisher each year gives the money from the oil lease.

Nathan Sievers, four years old, brought his offering for Investment.

Yes, it is true, the Lord richly blesses those who invest for Him.

James F. Van Horn is the pastor of the Hebron Church.

HOSPITALS

SMMC Offers Class Required by OSHA For Industry

Shawnee Mission Medical Center is now the only institution in Greater Kansas City other than the Red Cross to offer the Multimedia Standard First Aid course. OSHA requires that most industries have a specific number of employees who have successfully completed the course.

In addition, many other people are required to complete the first aid course. School bus drivers, youth group leaders who take their charges on camping trips, firemen, policemen, and college physical education students comprise a small number of those who must fulfill the requirement.

Shawnee Mission Medical Center has now made its CPR coordinator, Charlotte Peery Gould, available to teach the course at industrial locations. She will also offer the course once a month at the hospital. The first session will be held in mid-April.

For more information about the program, call Charlotte Gould at (931) 676-2300.

Therapy Pool Dedicated

Recently Boulder Memorial Hospital opened its doors to the general public inviting all to see many of the new areas and programs housed in the medical institution. Special tours were given each hour, and visitors were guided through the Pediatric and Renal Dialysis units, the DAAT unit—BMH's newest service for alcoholic rehabilitation, the Pain Control Center—now in its fourth year of operation, the rehabilitation area which included the Sports Medicine program that has gained much popularity within the past year, and finally, the highlight of the tour—the new 90-94 F. warm water therapy pool.

A 10-year dream was finally realized with the dedication of the pool. Local dignitaries, businessmen, and special friends all gathered around the 36 by 55-foot pool to celebrate this auspicious occasion. The ribbon-cutting was performed by Maggie Forrider, a long-time patient and supporter of the therapy pool dream. After cutting the ribbon from her wheel chair she swam a lap in the pool, thus officially opening the facility.

Although the hospital has many new programs, it is not the programs that make Memorial special. It's the hospital personnel who really make the difference. It's not the quality of our care, but the quality of our caring that makes Boulder Memorial Hospital distinctive. Those who came, saw, and experienced, left knowing that BMH is indeed a progressive health care center interested in people and their needs.

Thomas A. Russell Heads Accounting Department At MRMC

With the recent appointment of Frances S. Davis, controller, to the new position of Administrative Assistant for the 120-bed medical center, Thomas A. Russell, chief accountant, has assumed the role and duties of Mrs. Davis as the Accounting Department Manager for Moberly Regional Medical Center.

Russell joined the Missouri hospital in June 1980 as a staff accountant and was promoted to chief accountant in May of last year. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration in 1980 from Union College.

Russell is a member of the Missouri Chapter of the Hospital Financial Management Association. He and his wife, the former Kimberly Howard, are both natives of Minnesota and now reside in Moberly. They have one child, Jonathan, age 3 months. The Russells are members of the Moberly Seventh-day Adventist Church, where he is a local elder and Sabbath School superintendent.

Mrs. Davis had been controller at Woodland Hospital, 1963-78, when Woodland and Community Memorial hospitals in Moberly were merged within the Adventist Health System to create Moberly Regional Medical Center. She continued that position with the new medical center until January of this year. Her new responsibilities include management of the hospital patient business department, including patient admissions, insurance billing, and patient accounts, as well as oversight for the quality assurance, risk management, accreditation and licensure functions, and special projects.

Hospital Receives Grant From Union Pacific

Officials at Brighton Community Hospital announced last week that they have received notification of yet another contribution to the $400,000 Equipment Fund Drive. The most recent contribution, $25,000 from the Union Pacific Foundation, represents the third largest single donation in the campaign.

In announcing the contribution to the hospital, Union Pacific Foundation president Charles N. Olsen said, "I am very pleased to formally advise you that the Board of Trustees of Union Pacific Foundation has approved a grant in the amount of $25,000 to Brighton Community Hospital Association.

"This grant is made upon the joint recommendation of officials of Union Pacific Railroad Company, Champlin Petroleum Company and Rocky Mountain Energy Company, which are operating companies of Union Pacific Corporation," he said. Rocky Mountain Energy Company is headquartered in Broomfield.

According to Jeanne O'Dell, Fund Drive chairman, application had been made during the active campaign in 1981 to the Union Pacific Foundation, but Olsen responded that the 1981 budget had already been allocated. "We were really pleasantly surprised when notification of the grant arrived this year," she said.

The $25,000 grant will be paid in two equal installments of $12,500 in April of 1982 and 1983. The Union Pacific grant brings the Fund Drive total to $475,000.

STOP SMOKING CLINIC

Pathologist Neal C. Wearner, M.D., displayed some specimens from an autopsy of a deceased smoker—organs which clearly demonstrated the harmful effects of tobacco.

HIGHLIGHTS

'It Is Written' Goes On in Minnesota

The IT IS WRITTEN telecast, with speaker-director George Vandeman, can now be seen in the Austin, Minnesota area on KAAL-TV, Channel 6 at 8:00 a.m. each Sunday.

George Vandeman

This ABC station covers a potential 322,000 households in the vicinity of Austin and Rochester, Minnesota and Mason City, Iowa.

Inspirational and Bible-centered, with answers to today's problems, IT IS WRITTEN seeks to reach out with the Adventist "full message."

A new interview feature called "Prayer Alert" now appears on the program. Prayer Alert demonstrates the power of prayer as people in all walks of life share their personal testimonies.

Please join IT IS WRITTEN in praying that the expanded outreach through this new station will reach many hearts for Christ. And invite those you care about to tune in each week.

A Cemetery in Every Home

I stood by the graveside of a friend recently and watched as the coffin was lowered into the rich black earth. Here, buried some six feet deep, his earthly remains would be well sheltered from all earthly predators until the Life Giver calls. It was a sad time, even for Christians with hope of a soon coming resurrection. I am glad every day doesn't bring another funeral, separation from someone I love, and another trip to the cemetery.

But the Lord's messenger says that every home should have a cemetery of its own! Listen: "The heart of his wife should be the grave for the faults of the husband, and the heart of the husband the grave for his wife's faults"—Adventist Home, page 177.

You see, God knows that predators stalk the land of the living in greater numbers than they haunt the land of the dead. Whenever we live intimately, as we do in the family, weaknesses soon become evident. And just outside the family circle lurk the predators, ready always to gather tidbits about the weaknesses and failures of our loved ones, eager to parade them for all to see.

But Christian love requires daily funerals, deep burials, permanent gravesites for the faults of our loved ones. These, however, are not sad occasions! At this cemetery scene, our loved ones find out what real love is like and are given courage to grow.

Home Ec to Tour Europe and Africa

Andrews University's home economics department announces a travel-study tour of European and African countries to take place Dec. 13 to 30, 1982, according to Dr. Fonda Chaffee, tour director.

The 18-day tour is designed for anyone interested in guided observations of family life, handicrafts, foods, housing, textiles and design in specific countries of Southern Europe and Africa.

The cost of the tour is $2095, according to Chaffee. This includes transportation from Chicago, hotels, excursions, two meals daily and tuition. Academic credit up to 6 credit hours is available for college or graduate students for no extra charge.

SAWS News Release

By Lee Grady

Hurricane Isaac in the Kingdom of Tonga wiped out 45% of the population on March 3 and 4, 1982. SAWS is responding by sending 200 bales of clothing for 20,000 persons, blankets for 2,500 and 300 tents. In addition the church sent $25,000.

Lee Grady is manager of the SAWS Western Resource Center.

Emergency in East Africa

Over a year since the emergency in East Africa came to broad international attention, the situation there remains serious. Nomads and peasant farmers in every East African country have experienced the destruction of their livelihood as the prolonged drought has stunted crops and dried up pastureland, killing precious livestock. Civil strife and territorial war have forced women and children to seek refuge in neighboring countries. Ongoing international assistance is needed to help the countries of East Africa cope in the present and improve prospects for the future.

The emergency in East Africa has focused the attention of the world and our own people have been touched with compassion and a desire to help. The acute emergency phase is past and now things are moving toward the development stage—helping people to help themselves. SAWS has provided medicine, clothing and food. We are now moving into a more permanent outline such as agriculture development, drinking water and health education. A sum of $50,000 was just released to Ethiopia and Sudan for this kind of development.

AU Offers Architecture Classes in Finland

Andrews University will offer architecture classes in Finland during the summer quarter this year, according to Dr. Neville H. Clouten, professor of architecture at the university.

Leaving New York City on Sunday, June 17, Dr. Clouten and the group will spend eight weeks visiting selected sites in Finland.

Students will lodge at the Toivonlinna Adventist College during the first month and visit architectural structures in Turku. They will also stay at the Helsinki University of Technology at Otaniemi for a week touring Helsinki. The last few weeks will be spent in camping and traveling throughout central and southern Finland.

A "Design Synthesis Project" relating to Turku's historic center, and special studies in church architecture will be taught by Clouten. Bill Belles, assistant professor of architecture at Andrews, will teach a class in the "History of Architecture" and Robert Thornberry, a landscape architect in Springfield, Ill., and former Ohio State University professor, will teach a course in "Landscape Architecture."

In addition, students will meet with several Finnish architects. Special attention will be given to the recent works by Alvar Aalto, Timo and Tuomo Suomalainen and Reima Pietila.

Anyone may take the summer classes in Finland, not just students majoring in architecture, according to Clouten. He urges those who may be interested to contact him at Andrews University's architecture department as soon as possible for further information and cost.

Quiet Hour Presents Annual Report

The 1981 records of the Quiet Hour radio and television organization were examined by the board of directors on February 14.

For the first time in the Quiet Hour history, more than a million dollars was sent to overseas mission stations.

With $80,000 for new equipment, 39 TV programs were produced in July; a 54th airplane was sent to the Philippines; 40,000 Bibles and $200,000 benefited the East Indonesian people. Five thousand students are enrolled in Bible correspondence school with more diplomas awarded in 1981 than ever before.

The Child Care program indicated that more than 1,000 children are now being sponsored by 800 North Americans.

In Southern Asia and the Far East, the Quiet Hour sponsored crusades have resulted in 23,000 persons being baptized.

The Quiet Hour is a self-supporting Seventh-day Adventist Christian organization sponsored by loyal, unselfish friends on this globe.

PRODUCING A "SEARCH" TELECAST for The Quiet Hour, Dr. A. Graham Maxwell (second from left), specialist in Biblical studies at Loma Linda University, displays his facsimile of the original King James Bible printed in 1611 A.D. There have been nearly 2,000 translations of the most-printed and most-sold book on earth. The King James is unequalled. It has endured the centuries and is admired above all others. Dr. Maxwell has about 150 translations in his library. Under the bright lights and cameras are Keith Johnson, Pastor LaVerne Tucker (speaker) and his wife, Alma. The SEARCH telecast is now being carried by 75 stations. —Irwin Campbell, Public Relations, The Quiet Hour

For Your School

By Melvin Northrup

Small schools with several grades in the classroom present a special learning situation. It has been shown that pupils learn social skills a little more readily and sometimes have academic advantages over their peers in larger schools.

A unique curriculum has been designed and has been in use throughout portions of Mid-America for three years. Some schools have just begun its implementation after teacher orientation at Union College. It currently covers social studies, spelling, and handwriting. Other subjects are being added as they are field tested.

This curriculum is spelled out in a teacher guide for use only in schools with one or two teachers. It truly supplements and facilitates the cross-grades discussions as well as providing latitude to meet each child's needs. This guide represents a number of materials now being produced by Adventist educators, tested in Adventist situations, and customized for use in Adventist schools.

Melvin Northrup is Associate Director of Education for the Mid-America Union.

Why You Should Support AU April 17

Commitment to service—the gospel depends on it. Christian education inspires it.

And there is no shortage of that kind of commitment in students from the Mid-America Union taking graduate or seminary training at Andrews University.

Ralph Watts, a 1980 theology graduate of Union College, is now enrolled in the seminary working toward a Master of Divinity degree. Sponsored by the Rocky Mountain Conference, Ralph served as a ministerial intern for a year in the Colorado Springs Adventist Church.

Ralph says his experience at Colorado Springs was "excellent." He participated in an evangelistic series, which, he says, gave him very positive and first-hand experience in what evangelism is all about.

Ralph's enthusiasm for his seminary experience at Andrews is as great as that for his internship. "I'm able to tap the vast amount of knowledge my seminary teachers have," he says. "And they exercise a positive Christian influence on my life."

Ralph has also been able to take advantage of opportunities for practical ministry. Last fall he conducted a Week of Prayer for grades 1-3 at the Eau Claire Adventist elementary school. "Our theme was built around Thanksgiving," he says.

Expecting to finish his seminary program in two years, Ralph will return to the Rocky Mountain Conference as a pastor in the Fall of 1983.

Beverly Roth is enrolled in the School of Graduate studies. She graduated from Union College in 1969. Her husband, Ray Roth, also graduated from Union the same year. He was employed as a pastor by the Nebraska Conference from 1969 to 1978. During that time Mrs. Roth taught public school home economics and secretarial science. In 1978, the Roths accepted a mission appointment in Tehran, Iran. During their stay, Mrs. Roth and her three children were twice evacuated due to political unrest. The Roths served 18 months in Tehran and then were transferred to Beirut, Lebanon, in November of 1980, shortly after the American hostages were taken at the U.S. embassy. After a year and a half of service at Middle East College, they received a 15-month study leave and furlough to pursue advanced degrees at Andrews. Mrs. Roth will complete a master's degree in home economics this August, and her husband will finish a Doctor of Ministry degree at the same time.

When they return to Middle East College, Mrs. Roth will serve as a secretarial science and home economics teacher, and Elder Roth will pastor the college church and head the religion department.

Esther Hare, financial aid officer at Andrews, points out that belt-tightening in the general economy and especially in student loan programs is drastically changing the picture of financial aid for graduate education. She adds that due to new regulations, fewer students will be eligible to receive the limited amount of aid available.

"As difficult as it may seem, our constituency will need to make even more sacrifices personally," she continues. "I'm not painting a bleak picture. Things have changed very rapidly for graduate students needing financial aid. But we've always made it before, and I'm optimistic that we're going to make it now. That's why the Andrews offering has become so much more important."

Graduate and seminary education at Andrews University is a profoundly powerful force in spreading the gospel to the world. The students that come from the Mid-America Union and from around the world leave to serve as leaders and workers in other countries, as teachers of our children and as pastors in our churches.

Your offerings on April 17 will help many men and women find that happiness.

THE TASTE GOES ON!

Today, tomorrow...Worthington's always there with the products you need, the taste you want.

We know you want to serve your family wholesome, healthful meals that also taste very good. And you depend on Worthington Foods to provide the selection and variety you want. This has been our mission for over 40 years.

Just as before, we'll be introducing many new products this year and in the years ahead. Foods that are all completely meatless, rich in vegetable protein, and that fill even broader mealtime needs.

At Worthington, the search goes on to bring you the very best in taste, selection and good nutrition... today, tomorrow and for years to come.
