THE MID-AMERICA ADVENTIST

Outlook

Dear Friends,

The results of the first year's operation of the new Mid-America Union were presented to the Union Committee March 18, 1982. It was gratifying to note that the Union has realized considerable savings over the operation of the previous two unions (Northern and Central).

During 1981 the funds generated because of reduced costs brought about by the merger were directed into some very important areas of the Lord's work. Evangelism and Education were the prime beneficiaries of the funds. Approximately 255 thousand dollars more were channelled into these two areas than were appropriated by the two previous unions in 1980. In addition, the operating reserves of the Mid-America Union are now very near to the General Conference required amount for reserves.

Lee Allen

The budget for 1982 includes an increased appropriation of evangelism funds to the local conferences as well as a larger amount for education.

The Committee also voted to assist all of the conference academies in their building programs over the next three years. The total in this area will amount to nearly one quarter of a million dollars.

The liquidation of the Dakota Adventist Academy building indebtedness is progressing as planned. All high interest loans have been completely repaid. The repayment on the long term financing is proceeding on schedule.

An additional item that might be of interest is that the 1982 budget was based on an amount equal to just 98 per cent of the 1981 income. At a time of economic stress when other organizations are having to base budgets on more than 100 per cent of the previous year's income, the Committee members were very happy for the financial stability of Mid-America.

It was felt by the Union officers that you would appreciate hearing this information so that you, too, can rejoice with us in these blessings.

Sincerely,

Lee Allen, Treasurer

Adventists Respond Quickly to Cyclone Disaster in Tonga

by Herbert Ford

The Disaster and Famine Relief Offering will be received in Seventh-day Adventist Churches around the world on May 8. Those who follow the Personal Giving Plan are helping to fund this project by systematically giving to the World Budget.

Tonga military personnel unload relief supplies from a giant Trans-American "stretch" Hercules cargo plane. Thousands of pounds of tents, blankets and clothing provided by Seventh-day Adventist World Service were airlifted to Tonga from the United States and Australia as initial aid following the disaster. Local SAWS officials directed their dispatch to those in need; and Tongan police made the deliveries.

Hundreds of sturdy blue and green tents, their sides stenciled "Seventh-day Adventist World Service," stand like bright sentinels of hope in this hurricane-destroyed village on the western peninsula of Tongatapu, the southernmost of Tonga's three main groups of islands.

The tents also stand as tribute to the generosity of the Advent people in the Mid-America Union, and the fast-action of the church's world relief organization following tropical cyclone Isaac which roared through the Tongan islands March 3, leaving scores of villages like Kanukupulu devastated—more than half the people homeless, food crops destroyed, and widespread disease a distinct possibility. It was the worst cyclone disaster in Tonga's history.

The hurricane's winds lifted houses from their foundations and smashed them into the bush. Ocean waves surged inland reaching eight feet deep before receding again. The blast-force winds tore sheets of iron from roofs and sent them scything into houses, cars, trees. Coconuts, flung from uncounted thousands of trees, became lethal missiles. Mango, breadfruit, avocado, and coconut trees were stripped of their fruit, then snapped off by the winds, falling across power lines or sent crashing down onto houses. The islands' banana crop was wiped out. A just starting passion fruit industry at the church's Bulah College on Tongatapu was ruined by the electrical outage following the hurricane.

Pastor Pale Hale, SAWS director for the Tonga Mission, was in the Ha'apai island group when the hurricane struck. He watched in sorrow as an evangelistic tent went flying in the winds, and then the local Adventist Church was destroyed. But once the hurricane's fierce winds died down Pastor Hale, in cooperation with Pastor Enimoa Niuafe, acting mission head, got busy. They put the already organized local Health and Welfare Service units to work, surveyed the areas hardest hit, sent off reports on needs to union, division and world headquarters.

"We had some supplies stockpiled, and we used them immediately," said Pastor Hale.

More supplies came quickly; from SAWS Western Resource Center in the United States, from Australia, and from many other Adventist and non-Adventist sources in Japan, Great Britain, Germany, Fiji, Papua New Guinea, Australia, New Zealand, and the U.S.

In company with pastors Niuafe and Hale, and Tom Nakao, senior elder of the Nuku'alofa Church, the writer and Jerry Reed of Adventist Media Productions, presented a SAWS gift of $10,000 (U.S.) to Tonga's Queen Halaevala Mata'aho who serves as head of Tonga's Red Cross at the royal residence.

With its entire tree food crop on the ground because of the hurricane, many of the Tongan people will be in a near-starving condition in the future unless those of compassionate heart in the world help out. Fortunately, Seventh-day Adventists, including those in the Mid-America Union, are prepared to demonstrate such compassion, not only in Tonga, but at any spot on earth that disaster strikes.

Herbert Ford, Pacific Union College Vice-President for Public Relations, Recruitment, and Development, is special correspondent for SAWS.

One of hundreds of sturdy tents supplied by Seventh-day Adventist World Service is pitched beside a roofless house on Tonga's main island of Tongatapu.

"Healthyourselves" Seminar Held

By Lynn Ahrens

March 17 marked the completion day for 11 persons attending the Healthyourselves Seminar in Guthrie Center, Iowa. This seminar was sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church as a community service. Gerrie Adams, district director, Total Health Incorporated, Des Moines, conducted the eight-week habit modification program. Each participant found the steps in the series an easy way to improve on total well being.

Community Service Center Aids Fire Victims

By Wanda Caponi

On a bitterly cold February night, a rural Charles City, Iowa family was awakened by their barking dog to find their home on fire. Temperature of 21 degrees below, icy roads and a remote location combined to inhibit prompt fire-fighting action and by the time the blaze was brought under control the house was almost totally destroyed.

For help, the family was referred by the Red Cross to the Adventist Church in Mason City. The church opened the doors of its Community Service Center to the family of five and at the end of several hours, more than 70 articles of clothing, bedding and shoes had been donated to help provide for the family as they started to rebuild their life. Wanda Caponi, the Center's director, said, "It's a wonderful feeling to be in the position to help."

Health Emphasis Weekend At Iowa City

By Betty Fuhrmeister

March 12, 13 and 14 were dates of the 'Health Emphasis Weekend' sponsored by the Iowa City Church. Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Wiltse of Wahpeton, North Dakota, presented many informative lectures on healthful living and how to prevent disease by taking proper care of the body through exercise, proper diet, increased water intake, and trust in divine guidance.

Church members provided meals on Sabbath from recipes provided by Dr. Wiltse and his wife, Helen. A cooking school was held on Sunday with 40 persons participating. Question and answer sessions were held after each lecture and much helpful information was gained. Demonstrations in bread baking and sprouting were also included for a well-rounded and information-packed weekend.

Algoa Visitation

By Richard Maurer

On Sabbath afternoon, February 27, 1982, ten members of the Jefferson City, Missouri Adventist Church had the opportunity to visit members of the Missouri Intermediate Reformatory—Algoa, which is just outside Jefferson City. The institution houses youths between the ages of 17 and 25, and currently has approximately 800 inmates.

Carlton Brown, Youth Ministries

Leader, with the assistance of Steve Stacey, led the service with a short sermonet. Louise Copeland organized the music selections which were sung. After the sermonet and songs, both church and Algoa members witnessed to others who had gathered at the chapel. Members of the institution, who are in the process of organizing a singing group, sang a few selections.

Due to reformatory regulations, the meeting was limited to one hour, but much was accomplished in that short time. Church members were all in agreement that they received much more than they gave during this experience. In the future, the local church hopes to expand its prison ministry to other correctional facilities in the area.

Four New Members At Oak Grove

By Kay Milam

Four new members were welcomed into the fellowship of the Oak Grove Church at a Sabbath afternoon baptismal service.

Mrs. Amy Thompson was rebaptized after being away from the Adventist Church for 11 years. Hawaii is Amy's homeland.

Diane Goddard, Drew Hickman, Amy Thompson and Darin Hickman join Oak Grove Church.

Mrs. Diane Goddard became a member by profession of faith. Diane's husband Alvin was baptized during the "Revelation Seminar" held in Oak Grove in January of 1981.

Mid-America Union Evangelist Richard Halversen had the devotional. Lyle Davis, Oak Grove Pastor officiated at the baptism.

Mrs. Gepford Celebrates Birthday

By Evelyn Pearson

The Gallatin Church celebrated the 81st birthday of the pastor's wife, Mrs. Mable Gepford, on March 13. Pastor and Mrs. Gepford are to be commended for continuing their service in the Lord's vineyard even though they are well past the usual retirement age. They are highly respected and dearly loved by the members of the three churches they serve—Gallatin, Gentry County and Marceline.

Sheila Mead pins a corsage on 81-year-old Mable Gepford and Mary Alice Richter holds Mrs. Gepford's bouquet.

Halle G. Crowson, Mid-America Union director of Communication, was the guest speaker for the Sabbath morning church service. Elder Crowson was remembered as a former Missouri Conference evangelist by many of the members.

Couples Communion Service

By Gary Cansler

The past two years the Gladstone, Missouri Church has held a special candlelight communion service for couples on Valentine weekend. The communion tables were set in the form of a cross, a chair was placed at the head of the table for Jesus, the special guest.

Oak Grove Sabbath School

By Kay Milam

The children's departments of the Oak Grove Sabbath School have three sets of brothers, Dale and Jimmy Cox, Drew and Darin Hickman, Eric and Todd Holbert.

Last promotion day Drew, Eric and Dale were promoted to the junior department leaving Darin, Todd and Jimmy in the primary department. Kelli Luker was the only girl in the class.

Now it is promotion time again.

Kelli, Darin and Jimmy are eligible for the junior department. Todd would have been left alone in the primary department, but Jimmy decided to wait for Todd.

It was smiles all around as Todd presented Kelli with a red rose and certificate of promotion and Jimmy presented a rose and certificate to Darin.

At the next promotion the brothers will all be together again.

Report from Topeka College Avenue Church

The Topeka College Avenue Church started the new year with a full schedule Sabbath morning when all the new officers for the forthcoming year entered the sanctuary with lighted candles singing "This Little Light of Mine"—hoping and praying that the new year would be one dedicated to the services of the Lord.

The second part of the program found hearts joyous and filled to overflowing as four candidates came forth and were baptized by Elder E. A. Pembleton. They are: Anthony Burden, Sheila Burden, Sandra Byrd, and Dontrez Samson.

The Miles family.

The ordination of a local elder, Arnell Miles, culminated the activities for the morning. Arnell and his wife, Susan, were baptized by Elder Dante Tobias nearly four years ago. Since that time he has held several offices in the church. Some of them were Adventist Youth leader, assistant Lay Activities leader, Lay Activities leader and deacon. They are the proud parents of three lovely children, Tammy Renee, 8; Obadiah Jeremiah, 4; and Rachel Keturah, 2. Arnell is presently employed by the City of Topeka, Department of Labor Services, as a machine shop instructor.

May the Lord use his talents in many ways to further His soon coming.

Week of Revival At Beacon Light

By Barbara Roby

The Week of Revival was truly a week of revival at the Beacon Light church in Kansas City, Missouri March 6-12. People from the five congregations of the Kansas City area came from night to night as God's spirit quickened their hearts.

God spoke through his man servant, Elder Gil Webb from Davenport, Iowa. The word of God was in his tongue; he spoke from a living experience of God's salvation and love for man.

The theme of the revival was "Preparing Now for the Time of the End". Elder Webb allowed God to use him in a tremendous way by filling every heart to its capacity.

Truly a revival was experienced, for those who once perhaps felt dead in spirit were brought back to life. The week of prayer ended with a beautiful communion service.

Literature Evangelist Rally In St. Louis

By Barbara Roby

The Central States Conference launched another successful rally in the St. Louis area February 27-29, 1982 at the Northside Church.

Elder Ted Smith - Sabbath Speaker.

Three of God's "mighty men of valor" were present at the rally: T. S. Barber, father of the Family Health Education Services and publishing director in the great Lake Region Conference; Ted Smith of the Southern Union was the Sabbath speaker and Dr. S. Haywood Cox, president of the Central States Conference, in spite of the fact that he was engaged in an equally important Personal Ministries workshop in Kansas City.

T. S. Barber was the Friday night keynote speaker for the communion service. Afterwards, the literature evangelists engaged in a Love Feast and fellowshiped together.

Ted Smith conducted a vitally important workshop and training seminar with many tips that reflected his Sabbath sermon, "Turning on the Lights for Jesus". He had slide presentations, films, demonstrations, rehearsals and written and verbal instructions that proved to be valuable lessons for seasoned and newly recruited workers.

This rally proved to be a tremendous meeting, leaving behind four new literature evangelists to brighten the lights of St. Louis.

First Graduation Held

By Etta Collins

Graduation exercises were held for the first Training Light Bearers class at the Community Church in Denver, Colorado. The six-week course was conducted by Raymond Morris, of the Park Hill Church. Ten members attended.

The purpose of the class was to teach new church members correct techniques in giving Bible studies, gaining confidence in witnessing, and acquiring a knowledge of the church doctrines. Each member was required to give a Bible study before completing the course.

Eight graduated and received certificates presented by W. D. Felder, Jr., pastor of the Community and Park Hill Churches.

Two outstanding members were honored with gifts. They are Rodney Johnson and Anthea King, scoring first and second place respectively on their test and weekly participation. Words of inspiration were delivered by our pastor, challenging the church to be reconciled to God so that we can finish this work of winning souls.

Gary Fields said, "We realize that where there is one who does not know Jesus Christ, there is a mission field. We, by God's grace, will try to reach all we can; teach all we reach; and win all we teach."

A gift of appreciation was then presented to Elder Morris by Edward Collins, first elder.

The program concluded with the theme song, "Pass It On."

Etta Collins is the communication secretary for the Community Church.

Laymen Train For Evangelism By Jerry Page

More than 200 attend evangelism training seminar.

The Lay Evangelism Training Weekend at Glacier View Ranch in February will be long remembered by those participating!

The Lord did much more than we even hoped! We knew it would be an inspirational weekend with nearly 250 of the most enthusiastic laymen in the Rocky Mountain Conference coming to be taught and inspired by Ron Halvorsen, Mid-America Evangelism Coordinator, and Mark Finley, Director of the Lake Union Soul-Winning Institute. No one knew what the Holy Spirit had planned in a special outpouring of His blessing in fellowship, learning and spiritual experience. Both Halvorsen and Finley said it was an experience such as they had never had with a group of laymen in North America.

The lodge and all the cabins were filled as the weekend began Thursday evening. Ron Halvorsen challenged us to hear the call of soulwinning as the central force in our lives. Following this meeting each person was given a period for silent meditation and prayer, clearing the way for the guidance of the Holy Spirit for the remaining service.

Friday was a day full of instruction in many areas of personal evangelism. The program was structured to amplify the "One Thousand Days of Reaping", using the following categories of service to prepare laymen to participate:

- Seed sowing — finding interests
- Cultivating — working with interests
- Reaping — obtaining decisions

Conserving gains — discipling new members

That evening Wm. C. Hatch, our conference president, shared "How an Administrator Views Lay Involvement", followed by a slide presentation on "Lay Evangelism Around the World" by Mark Finley.

On Sabbath a group from the Longmont Church presented a special feature in Sabbath School on "Friendship Evangelism." Mark Finley taught the lesson and Ron Halvorsen shared a dynamic Christ-centered sermon. In the afternoon there were segments of time on "How to Lead a Person to Christ", a round-table discussion on questions, and reports of evangelistic meetings conducted by laymen.

Sunday morning became the high point as Mark Finley gave us a stirring summary of the entire book of Daniel. Following that, time was given for sharing by the delegates. The testimonies were so positive and enthusiastic that the group urged that the sharing continue another half hour. At the close each person was given two slips of paper. After prayer they wrote out their specific commitments for evangelism as a result of our weekend together. They turned one slip in anonymously and kept the second slip as their personal reminder.

The commitments were thrilling, ranging from new surrenders to Christ to goals of specific numbers of visits or Bible studies per week, not as promises, but as spiritual faith objectives. As word comes to our Personal Ministries Department office, it is obvious that many are beginning new outreaches, churches are being stirred, church services are being given by laymen, and lay meetings are planned.

We believe souls will be won in the days ahead as a result of the Lord's blessing. Many laymen expressed the desire to have more meetings such as this in our conference. Already plans have been voted to hold an even more comprehensive Lay Evangelist's Training Seminar February 4-12, 1983. Elder Samuel Monnier, of the General Conference, will hold this very spiritual and practical seminar that has been a great blessing to many already. If you are interested in attending, please contact your pastor or the Personal Ministries Department in the conference office.

Once again it has been proved that the Lord is "able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us."

Jerry Page is Director of the Personal Ministries Department, Rocky Mountain Conference.

Selective Service Requirements

Last year an appeal was made by government officials for anyone willing to serve on the appeals board to be appointed for the Selective Service System to make known their willingness to serve to the state governors.

Winfield Scott, an Adventist attorney in Denver, Colorado, recognized this as an opportunity to serve. He discovered to his dismay that the orientation program was to be conducted on the Sabbath. He prayed "If you really want me to serve on this board, arrange this program on some other day." He really wasn't surprised when at the last minute, without his making known his "Sabbath problem" to government officials, the date was changed to weekdays for the special orientation seminar.

The following is timely material for the young people of our church, prepared by Winfield Scott. Please read it carefully and follow the advice given so that future situations and problems may be avoided.

The Military Selective Service Act (MSSA) required that all young men, upon becoming 18 years of age, must register with the Selective Service System. This law affects all males born in 1960 and subsequent years.

Because a substantial number of young men failed to comply with the law prior to the deadline for their specific registration, President Reagan established a "grace period" for late registrations without penalty. This grace period expired on February 28, 1982.

The Selective Service System is presently utilizing Social Security records, driver's license lists and other sources to cross-reference the names of those who have registered and to identify those who have not registered.

In a recent directive (2-26-82) Major General Thomas K. Turnage, director of the Selective Service System, stated, "We intend to resume sending the names of non-registrants who come to our attention to the Justice Department for possible prosecution, starting in early May. I would encourage these young men to register as quickly as possible as the decision to refer names to the Justice Department will take into account the extent of the lateness of the registration."

In the event that an actual draft is activated the Selective Service System will recognize "conscientious objectors" by providing a 1-O classification for those who are opposed to any form of military service and 1-A-O for those whose beliefs allow them to serve in the Armed Forces in a non-combatant capacity.

Seventh-day Adventists have a strong and positive tradition of serving in the Armed Forces while classified as a 1-A-O. This allows one to serve his country, but does not require one to bear arms. The denomination continues to support this position and tradition.

Seventh-day Adventists must take this opportunity to demonstrate that they are willing to obey the laws of man so long as they do not conflict with the laws of God.

Each Seventh-day Adventist who faces registration in the future must register in a timely fashion. If there are some who have failed to register they must do so immediately, or face certain prosecution under the law.

Pastors, educators and parents all have a duty to see that our youth are aware of their responsibility under this law and that each young person fully complies with the law. What better way to express our allegiance to the greatest government on this earth.

Minnesota Welcomes New Youth Pastor

By Larry G. Kromann

On February 28, 1982, a small group from the Northbrook Church met at the Minneapolis International Airport to welcome their new youth pastor, Wayne Krause. Wayne is a taskforce volunteer from Avondale College in Australia. Besides serving as Northbrook youth pastor, Wayne will work as Larry Kromann's assistant in the Minnesota Conference youth department.

Wayne comes to Minnesota with a rich background in youth ministries, having worked in Pathfinders and summer camps in Australia. He is a junior theology major and hopes to become a conference youth director in the future.

The taskforce program will provide Wayne with a year's experience in youth ministries and provide some needed help in Minnesota's growing youth program. Wayne is currently visiting the conference's Pathfinder Clubs and will be conducting most of this year's investiture programs. He is also giving good leadership to the youth program at Northbrook, where he works with the Pathfinders and youth Sabbath School.

Some may be interested in the salary Wayne is receiving. Under the taskforce program, he receives room and board and $15.00 a week. The Northbrook Church has also provided Wayne with a car and a gas allowance for his work.

Larry G. Kromann is communication director of the Minnesota Conference.

Minnetonka Pathfinders Help Handicapped

By Len Colson

Under a picture of two large, open-mouthed hippopotamuses, reads the caption: "After all is said and done, there's a lot more said than done."

Well, members of the Minnetonka Pathfinder Club are acting out what they espouse in their credo, "A servant of God and a friend to man," by participating in various social endeavors within their community.

One particularly rewarding experience has been the Pathfinders' involvement with some of the patients of Trevilla of Robbinsdale, a nursing home for handicapped adults in suburban Minneapolis. Some of the patients have suffered spine-related injuries, many others are victims of such debilitating diseases as cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, and multiple sclerosis.

A highlight of the week for many of the patients is bowling, and here's where the Pathfinders enter. Each of the participating Pathfinders is assigned to one of the patients. The Pathfinder wheels the patient into position at the alley, helps aim the rack which holds the ball, and the patient nudges the ball toward the target. One patient, sprightly but without the use of her arms, gave a swift kick with her left foot to send the ball on its way.

What have the Pathfinders learned from the experience? "I have learned that you can do many things in life if you are willing to try," said one Pathfinder. "It's easy to feel down and sorry for yourself at times. But most of us don't know what problems are until we meet someone who really has them," said another.

Debbie Eng, volunteer coordinator for Trevilla, was most impressed with the Pathfinders. "I received word from the staff members that the Pathfinders were very courteous and responsible in helping our patients," she said.

Len Colson is co-leader of the Minnetonka Pathfinders.

Youth Conduct Church Service

By Clara Hansen

"Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers." 1 Tim. 4:12. It was a thrill for the congregation of the Hutchinson Church to hear the 7th and 8th grade students of the elementary school following this counsel by presenting the Sabbath morning services on March 20. Their example was surely an inspiration to each one in attendance.

Sabbath School was under the direction of the school principal, Bruce Naustdal. Tad Williams offered opening prayer. The program was necessarily short because of the Mission Spotlight film being shown, but there was time for a lovely trio of girls, Kim Larson, Jodie McKellip and Diane Reed, to sing "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow".

The worship service was also conducted by the students. Jodee Anderson, Dewey Dickey (a non-member attending our school), Brian Syvertson, and Dean Syvertson offered the invocation, offertory prayer, scripture lesson and prayer respectively. While the offering was being accepted, the students in grades 1-3 sang "Thank You for the Happy Things We Share".

Leslie Springer telling the junior sermon to attentive listeners.

The junior sermon was told by Leslie Springer, a 6th grader. Her story about Johnny, a mouth organ, and LOVE was well-told and well-received by her listeners.

The sermon in music was one of two songs presented by the elementary school choir directed by Nadine Naustdal. "I Can Hear the Sounds of His Coming", and "Welcome Home, Children" were appropriate selections which emphasized the sermon theme.

The sermon was a combined effort of eight students. Their quotations, Bible texts, and thoughts were presented with well-practiced, clearly-spoken voices. The speakers were Diane Reed, Dean Syvertson, Melissa Springer, Jodie McKellip, Tricia Lehman, Brian Syvertson, Tad Williams, and Kim Larson. Pastor Richard Coston pronounced the benediction.

Clara Hansen is the communication secretary for the Hutchinson Church.

L. E.'s Admonished To Keep Growing

"The coming of Jesus does not depend on calamities!" Dakota Publishing Director Ron Miller stated in his sermon at the Literature Evangelist Rally at Beulah, North Dakota.

Miller directed his listeners' thoughts to the parable in Mark 4:29. It states that when the fruit is brought forth the farmer immediately harvests it.

"Keep your eyes on the wheat, not on the tares! When the wheat is ripe, the harvest comes. The farmer will not leave the crop in the field after it has matured," stated Miller, drawing a comparison between the Christian and the crop, and Christ's return.

The law of nature is to grow and reproduce, and so with the Christian. He must grow and ever draw more people to Christ thereby reproducing.

"In looking for Jesus' coming, Christians, spend more time looking at your Bibles than at the calendars or newspapers," admonished Miller.

Pastor Jim and Lucille VanHorn invited the entire congregation to their home for a friendship dinner served by the members.

The afternoon symposium was conducted by Denver Roberts, assistant publishing director for the Dakota Conference.

Literature Racks

By Mrs. James Lunday

Bismarck Church members Lonnie Carlson and James Lunday recently built 38 literature racks of various sizes. These racks are being placed in laundromats, shopping centers, airport terminals, etc. The Bismarck Church plans to literally fulfill the challenge to distribute literature like the leaves of autumn. The Bible says: "In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand: for thou knowest not whether . . . they both shall be alike good". Ecclesiastes 11:6

Lonnie and Jim would be willing to make such racks for other churches at a price of $4.00 each. Write to them at Box 425, Bismarck, North Dakota 58501.

Mrs. James Lunday is the assistant communication secretary for the Bismarck Church.

DAA Students Perform

By Mrs. James Lunday

The music department at Dakota Adventist Academy presented this program which involved 45 students, including the band and stage hands. Chris and Milea Williams were the directors of the play.

Jay Martin played the part of the Music Man, "Harold Hill," who came to rescue the folks at River City, Iowa, in 1912, from the evils of the pool hall just installed in that city. He originated a "think band" to involve young people with something more worthwhile, although he knew not a note of music. In the process he fell in love with the independent and elusive town librarian, Marian Paroo, played by Camie Remboldt.

Meredith Spier played the part of Marian's kid brother, Winthrop, who also became a member of the "think band."

The Academy band played such favorites as "76 Trombones" and "Wells Fargo Wagon" to a full house.

The cast practiced for about a month. This is Jay Martin's final year at the Academy. Camie Remboldt is also a senior and plans to attend Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska, next fall.

Chris Williams and the Academy boys built the props, consisting of bank, library, grocery store, homes, etc.

Special thanks was extended to Mary College for costumes, and to Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Williams for financial contributions. Mr. Thompson is the math teacher at the academy.

Public school educators present at the musical commented they felt the play was college level and very well presented by the high school students.

EVANGELISM STUDENTS ACTIVE IN LINCOLN OUTREACH . . . Union theology majors throughout February and March independently conducted outreach programs for Lincoln residents including a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, a special Health series and a cooking school. Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights from March 4 to April 5 Ron Halvorsen's evangelism class presented the "Prophecy '82" series, a seminar focusing on last-day events.

JEFFREY SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED . . . Two $1,000 scholarships contributed by Mrs. Lu M. Jeffrey of Plainview, Nebraska, have been presented to Union College students John Cowin and Mark Finch. The awards were based on satisfactory grades, financial need and Nebraska residence.

Cowin is a student from Oakdale, Nebraska; Finch, of Lincoln, is pursuing majors in psychology and religion.

KUCV AUDIENCE EXCEEDS NATIONAL FIGURES . . . Classical radio simply isn't supposed to do what KUCV FM has done. Armed with a collection of classics and a remodeled public library building, the station has managed to secure nearly 13,000 listeners—7.4 percent—of Lincoln's total radio listening audience. Such a percentage not only meets or exceeds the Lincoln audience size of six area commercial stations, it is unheard of in classical circles.

PIANO PROFESSOR RECEIVES DOCTORATE . . . Union College assistant professor of music Ryan Wells last week completed requirements to receive a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Arizona. A piano performance major, Wells' March 29 performance at the University was the last of four doctoral recitals completed in partial fulfillment of degree requirements.

Dr. Wells is a 1974 cum laude graduate of Union, with a Master of Music degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He has been employed as a music professor at Union since 1979.

Shawnee Mission Medical Center's Employee-of-the-Year

Charge audit nurse Ruby Foret, RN, ART, has been named Shawnee Mission Medical Center's employee of the year.

When Mrs. Foret joined SMMC in 1977, she did utilization review work in the patient business office. Through her own initiative, she recognized that the account counselors had no formal means of verifying the patients' billing questions.

Mrs. Foret took it upon herself to help them find a way, and by 1981 she was working full-time in the newly created position of charge audit nurse.

Mrs. Foret says the variety of tasks she performs makes her job challenging and rewarding. "SMMC is an excellent place to work. I like my job and I'm as enthusiastic about it today as I was a year and a half ago when I started doing it full time."

Ruby Foret

In addition to keeping busy at work, Mrs. Foret is a volunteer church organist, choir member, and coordinator of volunteer song leaders and organists at St. Agnes Catholic Church. She and her husband John, a professor of surgery at KUMC's department of urology and chief of the urology section at the Veterans Administration Hospital, live in Westwood, Kansas.

New Chapel Groundbreaking

'Twas on a Monday morning early in March while the sun was shining from a clear blue sky—as it does all but 25 days a year—when five spades removed five clods of earth from the front lawn of Boulder Memorial Hospital to signify the beginning of a new meditation chapel. Ever since the bulldozer demolished the 1918 wing of this second oldest denominational health care facility, there has been nowhere for patients, family, guests or employees to go for peaceful meditation or for spiritual refreshing.

Administration—desirous of building a new chapel at the best possible site—chose a place close to the front entrance and the local church membership made the dream a possibility with a $65,000 gift.

Jim Hoehn, the local pastor, told how pleased he was to be a part of this entire venture and how proud he was of his church who had so willingly supported this project. "We have the funds in hand. The building project can be started immediately," Hoehn concluded.

This chapel is expected to be completed early this summer and will also house a small office for the chaplain.

When in the area stop by and see your hospital, which reaches its 90th anniversary next year.

Mini-Crusade in St. Louis Gathers Fourteen New Saints

By Halle G. Crowson

The Berean Church in St. Louis was the site of a "mini-crusade" March 20-27. Elder George Timpson, Associate Secretary of Mid-America Union Conference was scheduled for a spring week of prayer, but instead opted for a "mini-crusade". He felt that a week of evangelism coupled with a week of prayer might be more productive. The program was a joint effort of the Berean Church, the Northside Church, the Park Avenue Church and the Kinloch Church. Mrs. Marie Thomas, Eastern Adventist Youth Federation president, served as coordinator of the "mini-crusade".

Meetings were conducted every night for the week. Attendance was excellent. Music was presented each meeting by the Seventh-day Adventist Choir and the Community Choir. "Verdia Tucker, our wonderful Bible instructor, did a tremendous job of preparing the candidates for baptism," states Elder Timpson. "She deserves much of the credit for her untiring work."

The meetings concluded with a large baptism of fourteen outstanding people.

Elder Timpson mentioned that he appreciated very much the beautiful cooperation from Pastor Warnick. Pastor Warnick is retired, but is still serving as an energetic soul winner.

Halle G. Crowson is director of communication for the Mid-America Union Conference.
