Camp Meeting 1982

"Let all who possibly can, attend these yearly gatherings. All should fee that God requires this of them. If they do not avail themselves of the privileges which he has provided that they may become strong in Him and in the power of His grace, they will grow weaker and weaker, and have less and less desire to consecrate all to God. Come, brethren and sisters, to these sacred convocation meetings, to find Jesus. He will come up to the feast. He will be present, and He will do for you that which you most need to have done."

"It is important that the members of our churches should attend our camp meetings. . . .

"Some will say: 'It is expensive to travel, and it would be better for us to save the money and give it for the advancement of the work where it is so much needed.' Do not reason in this way; God calls upon you to take your place among the rank and file of His people. Strengthen the meeting all you possibly can by being present with your families. Put forth extra exertion to attend the gathering of God's people."

Dear Friends,

Sometimes after an evangelistic meeting, some of the new converts stop attending church and find their way back into the old way of life. At other times the converts of the same evangelist become strong, active members and strong supporters of the church. What makes the difference? The responsibility must come to rest at the door of those who have been members for a longer period of time. These members must help the new "babes" grow in their new faith. When the evangelist leaves, this nurturing process must be transferred to the pastor and the members.

To help in this transfer process, a new graphic arts series called "The Family of God" will be available for use in your church by early summer. The program is designed to be used during the Sabbath School programs. "The Family of God" should begin immediately following the evangelistic effort. This will give opportunity to help in the necessary nurture and familiarization.

A suggested Sabbath School program with the four segments of "The Family of God" would be as follows: 1) Mood Music with visuals, Welcome by superintendent, Song, Prayer, Introduction to World Mission, (2) Mission Spotlight (highlighting a division of the world field), (3) Heritage of the SDA Church, Special Music, (4) Orientation, Class study, Personal Ministries and Benediction.

The Mood Music period is ten minutes long. This includes twenty slides and a cassette. The Mission Spotlight of fourteen minutes, depicts the work of the church in one of the world divisions each week. Publishing, educational, medical and evangelistic involvements are vividly portrayed. This part uses the same equipment as the regular Mission Spotlight and the Mood Music. The Heritage section of six minutes is a concise review of experiences and miracle stories from every continent that have given Seventh-day Adventists such a rich heritage. The Orientation of seven minutes explains the organization of this unique church and how its many institutions are funded. This presentation is complimented with illustrations and charts that are provided.

I wanted to share this information with you, because I know of your concern and that your church will want to use this very valuable tool to help hold the gains made in evangelistic endeavors. We have so many wonderful tools to be used in our church's program. We should put them to use.

Elder W. E. Peeke, our union Sabbath School director, in cooperation with your Conference Sabbath School director, will be happy to answer your questions and give you any help needed to get this program started in your church.

May God bless us in our labors to reach and hold more souls for the Kingdom.

Cordially,

Sidney, the Town Excited About "LifeSpirit"

By Robert Natiuk

New Pastor Studies With 20 Groups

During his first year as a pastor in the Sidney District of Nebraska, Jim Shultz baptized 13 people! All 13 of them were drawn into study through the use of LifeSpirit video Bible tapes.

He Didn't Know

When he was on his way to Sidney, Jim and his wife, Freda, didn't know the excitement that awaited them by becoming involved in Bible studies. Jim had purchased LifeSpirit to help them get started.

Pastor and Mrs. Jim Shultz with daughter, Shirley.

"This is my first pastorate," Jim related. "I taught school for 7 years in Southern California so now I was getting into something new. I felt that LifeSpirit would be a good tool to start with." It turned out to be just the help that he and his wife needed.

No Longer a Guest

Eloise Stone was first visited by the Shultzes through a follow-up "It Is Written" request. Eloise operated a day-care center, and didn't feel she had the time for regular Bible studies. She read the book, Project Sunlight, that was left with her, and was so impressed that she contacted Pastor Shultz and requested another visit.

On that visit, she agreed to see her first LifeSpirit Bible study. With each study, she became more convinced that all the answers were straight from the Bible. This answered her questions regarding some inconsistencies she had found in her own church.

About half-way through her LifeSpirit series, Eloise commented, "In the 13 lessons we have had together,

I have learned more about the Bible than in all the years I have attended Sunday-keeping churches."

Eloise Stone and her daughter, Cathy.

"Why are you so sure this is all true?" her daughter Cathy asked.

"Because of what I have been able to accomplish in my own life since I have quit working on Sabbath," Eloise answered with an enthusiastic smile.

Eloise has been attending church regularly and has requested membership by baptism. At a recent fellowship dinner, the guests were invited to go through line first. Pastor Shultz asked Eloise to join them. It was his joy when she replied that she did not want to be considered a guest any more as she felt like one of the church family.

Just recently, Mrs. Stone continued her support of the church by donating, along with her husband, an American flag to the local Seventh-day Adventist church school. She included a note saying that the last six months of her life have been the happiest she has ever known, because for the first time in her life she feels that she is truly a child of God.

Children studying the Bible.

Even more recently, Cathy has expressed a desire to join her mother in baptism. It was a thrill for Pastor and Mrs. Schultz to take Cathy to Lincoln for a recent college day with the possible prospect of completing her education in a Christian school.

A New Kind of Sesame Street

While the Shultzes were showing LifeSpirit in a Dix, Nebraska home, several children dropped in to watch the studies. Soon, five children, ranging in age from six to thirteen, were regularly following the studies.

They all decided that they wanted Bibles so that they could mark them according to what they were seeing in the LifeSpirit studies.

Mrs. Shultz told them, "I'm going to give each of you a special reward if you memorize all of the names of the books of the Bible."

The children continued to come to the programs, and were soon rattling off the names of both Old and New Testament books.

"It's really funny," one of the older children said, "Now, every time any kind of TV program comes on, there's some kid who starts reciting the books of the Bible!"

More Excitement Coming

It's been over one year now since Pastor and Mrs. Schultz brought LifeSpirit to Sidney, Nebraska. Today, there are close to 40 people who study in 20 LifeSpirit groups. People in the church are becoming more involved in sharing their faith through this means.

A Bible study participant, Frank Taylor, and his wife Grace, have helped the Sidney congregation to begin its church school through a financial donation. Frank has stated many times how much they are enjoying the Life-Spirit studies.

Grace and Frank Taylor.

One of the new members who joined the church is now giving Life-Spirit Bible studies to two separate groups and is herself planning to attend Union College in the Fall.

"It's been an exciting year," says Pastor Schultz. "And, I believe that an even more exciting year is coming for Life-Spirit in Sidney, Nebraska."

Roy C. Naden, speaker on the Life-Spirit tapes will be in Sidney in September and plans to personally interview each person who has been influenced by these studies. Naden is associate professor of religious education at the Graduate School and Seventh-day Adventist theological Seminary at Andrews University.

Another Soul for The Kingdom

By Marieda Blehm

On Sabbath, April 17, members of the Davenport Church witnessed another baptism as Tom Goyins of Rock Island, Illinois was baptized.

Pastor LeMert and Tom Goyins in the baptism.

Tom, a former Methodist, and Olin Shirey, a new Adventist, both work at the Caterpillar plant in Mt. Joy, Iowa. At lunch one day Olin noticed that Tom had ordered a tenderloin steak so he told him, "Tom, you're going to die". Tom asked, "What are you talking about?" Olin then told him that he shouldn't eat pork and Tom wanted to know, "Who said so?" Olin told him it was in the Bible and proceeded to give him Bible texts in reference to unclean meats.

Olin now realizes that he was not tactful in his initial faith-sharing with Tom, but even this approach started Tom thinking and reading. Olin studied with him at work and gave him different Bible verses to look up at home. When Olin had taken Tom as far as he could in Bible study (for Olin was just baptized on January 9 of this year), he talked to Pastor Scott LeMert and Bible studies were arranged.

When Tom began studies, Pastor LeMert said to him, "Tom, some people want a little bit of religion, but God is looking for those who want to know all truth and through Him will follow it. How much truth do you want to know, and when you find it, will you follow it?" Tom answered, "Pastor, I want to know everything you have to share with me and if it's truth, I will follow it."

Tom has been attending the Davenport Seventh-day Adventist Church for several weeks. On the day of his baptism he said, "I'm very happy to be here."

Bible studies continue to be given in the Quad-City area and the Davenport Church has planned baptismal services for May 15 and June 12.

Baptism in Cedar Rapids

By Juanita Zuber

In November 1981, John and Lynette Phillips were baptized after attending evangelistic meetings conducted by Cedar Rapids Pastor John Morrison.

The Phillips were very active and content in their former church. John was listening to the radio one day, when he heard Pastor Morrison's radio program, "Message For Today". He decided to investigate further by accepting Morrison's invitation to "The Prophecy Lectures". After John had attended two or three times, Lynette decided to join her husband. At first she was confused about some of the doctrines of the church. Many nights Pastor Morrison would say, "Don't blame me for what I'm preaching, that's what the Bible says". After John and Lynette studied the Bible, what used to be hard to understand, became clear to them. Says Lynette, "the church has a lot of very high moral principles that captured our attention and held it".

John and Lynette have two lovely daughters, and are looking forward to an addition to their family this summer.

Notice

The Iowa-Missouri Chapter of the Association of S.D.A. nurses—ASDAN—is happy to announce that they will be providing Blood Pressure Screening and Blood Profile examinations at camp meeting, (Kirskville, MO.) throughout the day on Thursday, June 3. There will be a charge of $15.00 for the blood work and it will include tests such as cholesterol, sugar, triglycerides, etc. ASDAN hopes many people will take advantage of this offer.

This program is under the direction of the Conference Medical Secretary, Dr. G. M. Arnott of Knoxville, Iowa.

Home and School Banquet

By Shirley Pester

The annual Hillcrest Home and School Banquet took place on March 14, 1982. The theme this year was "Hobo" although the majority of those in attendance gave no hint of belonging to that group of people. The uppergrade students, dressed as hobos, seated the guests and helped with the serving.

Hillcrest Home and School banquet.

The decorations were unique and well done. Sam Albata, a professional artist, outlined the scenes of a train and the countryside and students painted in the pictures. At one end of the gymnasium a "station" had been built which served as the program platform. Lou Mack, formerly a professional musician, and one of his friends presented western songs about the railroad. The Master of Ceremonies, Ralph Blackwell, an employee of Missouri Pacific Railroad, gave some interesting information regarding the Railroad. Small replicas of old fashioned gas lamps were lighted during the meal and a film was shown.

Ingathering Victory

By Shirley Pester

St. Louis, Missouri Central Church's Ingathering Victory/Valentine Banquet was the happy culmination of a difficult task. In spite of the unpromising economy the church voted to increase its goal for 1981 above previous years. The church reached $17,368.00, highest in the Mid-America Union.

Mary Weber, right, and Emma Pfeifer receive awards from Gene Schermerhorn, personal ministries leader.

Representing many of the faithful senior members of the church are three widows. Frances Corneli (a 96 year old shut-in) annually receives a large donation from a nationally well-known family. Mary Weber (an active 93 year old member) was active in soliciting generous contributions. She has been active in Ingathering for over 42 years. Emma Pfeifer, another active lady who is 80 years old, makes a habit each year of donating a minimum of one month's income. These three dedicated ladies gave $1500.00 toward the goal.

The elementary School youth, under the leadership of Ralph Blackwell, enthusiastically went out nearly every night and had over $2500.00 to turn in.

Between these two groups were the majority of the other church members who faithfully gave or solicited large and small amounts of funds to help reach the ultimate successful campaign goal. Bill Stokes and Robie Davis were the coordinators of the program.

News from Cedar Rapids Church School By Juanita Zuber

The Cedar Rapids, Iowa church school has a total enrollment of 21 children. The students in grades 1-6 are taught by Mrs. Sharon Morrison, wife of Pastor John Morrison. She has a total of 12 students. The students in grades 7-9 are taught by Derral Reeve, a total of 9 students. Each of the students is getting ready for the Investiture Program to be held in a few weeks. Four eighth graders are looking forward to graduation.

A recent addition to the school was a "jungle gym" built by parents and other members with donated funds and labor.

Education & Mission Emphasis

Clyde Peters, first professional mission pilot for the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, was one of two featured speakers at the area Seventh-day Adventist services held at the Dodge Center United Methodist Church on Sabbath, March 27. Clyde served ten years in Peru along the Andes as a pilot mechanic for the denomination. He served other denominational missions as a pilot when in demand for medical emergencies. He thoroughly enjoyed the friendships made on these emergency flights.

Clyde related many interesting experiences which he encountered during his missionary stay. He talked about the many superstitions the people had. One in particular stands out in my mind. The people believed that anyone who rode in the mission planes flying over their villages would be cooked down until there was nothing left but oil. We laugh, but what about our superstitions: black cats, broken mirrors, etc. Most of the terrain is very rugged and dense jungles. As he related the many stories he challenged the congregation: "Is it really worth it, to give money for missions, to bring the love of Jesus and a better way of life to these poor folks? Yes, you bet it's worth it." He is now employed by the Pathology Medical Services in eastern Nebraska which is comprised of fourteen doctors representing many small clinics in the area. It is his job to fly patients and lab work for the clinics in that area. He is a highly respected pilot and is licensed to teach the flying of planes and helicopters, parachuting, and he flies a twin-engine Cessna. He still enjoys working for Christ, presenting his many mission experiences and flies for the Mid-America Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists when they need him.

Also featured this weekend was Melvin Northrup, associate educational director of the Mid-America Union. He also spent eight years as a missionary, but in Brazil, working along the mighty Amazon. Steamships can go 2000 miles up the Amazon. Much of the terrain is densely forested and hard to travel. You can fly for hours and see nothing but green jungles with a village here and there. He mentioned that there were many snakes, some very poisonous, but in the eight years he was there, he only saw two snakes while working the missions.

What is his attitude towards the public school system? He encourages everyone to support our public school system as it is a guarantee to parochial schools to operate as self-governing systems. When the government starts to support our parochial schools, we lose our autonomy.

March 27 was a most enjoyable day. The Seventh-day Adventist church family appreciated the graciousness of their Methodist friends for allowing them to use their lovely edifice for the day.

Festival of Health

By Kim Rodacker

The fifth annual Festival of Health was held on March 30 and 31 at St. Cloud State University. The theme for 1982 was "Self Esteem: A Challenge for Change". This two-day event featured many exhibits and displays as well as seminars aimed at assisting an individual become the total person, physically, socially, mentally, and last but not most significantly, spiritually. This annual extravaganza is open to both the community and campus population and all are encouraged to get involved.

Duane Ytredal, M.D., volunteers his expertise to a student at the University.

Ever since the inception of the health fair the Seventh-Day Adventist Church has sponsored A.B.L.E., Adventists for Better Living Education. This booth always has a number of things available to passers-by. Magazines explaining the deleterious effects of drugs and alcohol on the body, visual displays depicting the negative aspects of smoking, information on healthful living, and vital capacity testing combined to secure a great deal of investigation.

Without a doubt, the vital capacity testing is consistently the crowd pleaser at the health fair. This is substantiated in that in excess of 300 people were interested in having their lung capacity checked. Many other people observed and during the two days approximately 1,800 pieces of literature were disseminated.

One young lady exclaimed, "It appears to me that what you are espousing is a different lifestyle in general." "Exactly," replied a counselor. The Adventist way of life epitomizes what life should be like.

Much gratitude and commendation is expressed to those who made this year's health fair a dynamic success.

The Worth of a Mother

By Joan Frederickson Bromme

Way up in the North Woods of Minnesota, forty miles from the closest Seventh-day Adventist church and almost that far from the closest SDA fellow-believer, a dedicated Christian mother lived her faith and raised her three children. With a peace and serenity that have come from eighty summers of walking with the Lord, she quietly says, "I have so much to be thankful for. All my children and all my grandchildren are in the church." I wonder why? Whether it was watching her day-by-day carry on in poverty and hardship without complaining and with a hymn tune on her lips, or whether it was the sermon preached by the well-worn Bible by her bed, her selfless life touched ours.

Her dedication to "her church" had its influence. Tithes was always paid, other church projects were supported as best they could be. And even to this day, her garden is a means of swelling her Investment fund.

Perhaps just having Mom in the home gave the sense of security needed while growing up in those post-depression years. Who needed a "high" when the smell of freshly baked bread and Mom's cooking greeted them after a discouraging school day. Peer pressures were eased with her companionship. So for these and a multitude of other reasons, I'd like to give my Mom and all the other dedicated Christian mothers scattered across our conferences an honorary PHD degree for Preparing us for Heaven Daily.

1,000 DAYS OF RE

Family Missionaries

The Al Johnson family is a pastor's delight. At first they seem average enough. Al is in the Air Force. Pat, his wife, works part time. The sons, David and Sean, attend the local Adventist school.

What makes them different is their attitude of service for God. Al is a local elder and Sabbath school worker. Pat is personal ministries director for the Rapid City Church and school board chairperson. The whole family works for souls.

Almost every Friday evening for the past year and a half, the Johnson family have opened their home for Bible studies. Pat is the prime invitor, and she estimates that anywhere from 50 to 100 folks, members and non-members, have gathered around the dining room table during that time for earnest study of the Scriptures.

Her pastor leads the studies that have resulted in six baptisms with several more scheduled, and a strong continuing interest. While the adults study upstairs, the basement is crowded with children learning the songs and stories of faith. All this is liberally mixed with Sabbath meals, love, concern, and a helping hand when needed.

Such is the missionary spirit God approves. The love, the time, the work, reap eternal rewards. In heaven at last, the Johnsons will be part of a larger family, larger in part, because of them.

Al and Pat Johnson with their sons, David and Sean.

Margie and Harvey Lyman being baptized by Pastor Tom Patzer.

Jamestown

Although the first Sabbath in Jamestown was at the Adventist Church, three precious souls, Margie and Harvey Lyman, and Pastor Tom Patzer.

Margie Lyman came from a church, and in time she came to know the truth.

on Margie's and Harvey's hearts. During the last two years she has been searching the scriptures again with Pastor Paul Pellandini and Harvey. Many times during these studies Harvey was heard to say, "It's so clear." And Margie would comment, "I've wondered about this for many years of study and prayer they have united with God's remission of sins."

Della Ruddy was also raised in an Adventist home and church, but circumstances and influences weakened her faith. After the death of her husband a few years ago, with the help of her children she began to realize her need and asked, "Lord, help me to realize that the time on earth will be and teach me to number my days and that I should." Then there was the Halversen Crusade last summer for which she studied with Pastor Tom Patzer, and Della knew she wanted to have the privilege of "walking in the newness of life".

Bismarck Study Group

A group of newly baptized church members in Bismarck found that one of the most effective means of outreach is that of prayer and Bible study.

A young couple, Doug and Marge TeKippe, called the church saying they felt a need to study the Bible. When they had moved to Glendive, Montana in 1979, where Doug was a pharmacist in a local drugstore, a Seventh-day Adventist dentist and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Timm Eickmann, befriended them and shared with them their knowledge of Bible truth. Marge asked about Exodus 20 because she had noticed that the Ten Commandments given in her Bible were different than in the Bible the Eickmanns had.

Those who have been attending the Friday evening studies are reaching out to help others. The TeKippe family are learning all they can to start a group Bible study at their home. Al Zeeb, a former Catholic, spends one day a week with the church's audio-video machine carrying on a prison ministry. Francis and Sharon Robinson are carrying on a motel book ministry. Linda Oswald, who has been a church member a short time, is studying with her sister and a neighbor.

After the current Friday evening Bible studies are completed, Friday evening will be turned into a planning session where the group will study the Book of Revelation for a Cottage Revelation Seminar Series in the near future.

The commandments were explained and the studies continued.

Then Doug and Marge were transferred to Bismarck. They studied by themselves for awhile, and then Marge attended studies being conducted in the Catholic church, but she felt a deep disagreement with the leader. It was then that Doug and Marge contacted Pastor Williams and joined the Friday evening study group.

Doug and Marge felt that the Bible plan for their salvation was being taught by the Seventh-day Adventist Church and made their decision to be baptized on Sabbath, January 2. The Eickmann family came from Glendive to witness the reaping of the seed which they had sown.

BAPTIZING IN DAKOTA

Baptisms

The temperature was frigid and snow blanketed the prairies the first of February, there was much warmth and joy within the Seventh-day Adventist church in Jamestown as the congregation thrilled to see the baptism of Della Ruddy who made this public announcement to follow Christ. Her husband, Al Lyman and Della Ruddy were welcomed into God's family by Pastor Tom Patzer who performed the baptism.

Tom Patzer attended the Adventist church at an early age. Living far from home, then her marriage, separated Margie from fellow believers, and she drifted away from the church. The Holy Spirit continued to work in her life. The Lymans began attending church, and Mrs. Kerr. "That really is very interesting that." After two months at the church.

Tom Patzer belonged to the church in religion. He was filled with the Holy Spirit, and he wanted to know how brief my life would be. I would spend them as I would. I was followed by special baptism and re-baptized and Revivals, seminars and classes have been and are being conducted by pastors and laymen in an endeavor to sow seed and to lay the groundwork for the meetings.

A week-long soulwinning seminar was held at Dakota Adventist Academy for laymen and pastors. The seminar was led by Sam Monnier of the General Conference, and the response was most inspiring. George Knowles, General Conference director of personal ministries, will conduct six soulwinning classes at each of our camp meetings.

Each of our members is asked to become a part of these activities, and to earnestly pray and work for souls. With the complete commitment of our members to the Lord's work, many souls will be saved.

Eye Team Goes to Cambodia

By Peggy Hewlett

A volunteer eye team from Boulder, Colorado recently flew to Cambodia to give needed care to scores of refugees. This particular team consisted of Dr. Dale Marcotte, ophthalmologist; Dr. Dick Balkins, anesthesiologist; Vickie Pearse, a Christian nurse; and Don Matusumoto, optometrist.

They were met at their destination by personnel from the Seventh-day Adventist World Service Organization (SAWS). Along with several other interpreters, Jon Johansen, a single Australian who had been in Cambodia for a year, assisted with the communication barrier. The group worked in three refugee camps, driving over 4,000 miles.

The Japanese and Italian medical centers supplied operating rooms and SAWS shouldered responsibility for medical supplies and the feeding program.

An added blessing of their month-long stay was the fine public relations the team established with the Italian and Japanese personnel.

Working from 6:00 each morning until 7:00 or 8:00 at night, the surgical group performed about 75 operations and fitted approximately 300 pairs of glasses. One Sunday at the Italian work center they completed 17 surgeries.

During a previous onslaught of the Communist military forces, 4 million out of 7 million innocent people were murdered. Many of those who survived were blinded when the invaders pierced their eyes with sharp pieces of bamboo.

Dr. Marcotte performed a thrilling surgery on a blinded 6-year-old lad. Normally, central corneal scars such as the boy had require a corneal transplant. With none available, Dr. Marcotte used his skill and surgically rotated the damaged cornea so the boy had sight restored in one eye. Unfortunately there wasn't time to do both—but what a priceless gift to one small refugee!

The needs of these people are overwhelming, yet they are satisfied with so little! It behooves us, with our abundance, to ponder frequently how we can share with God's hurting children.

Colorado Station Carries Faith for Today

Some 16,000 subscribers to Cable 11 in Canon City, Colorado, can now see Westbrook Hospital on Sundays at 9:30 a.m.

While the trend is for most stations to charge for air time, this station is carrying the Faith For Today program as a free public service. Cable 11 is one of three new stations that have picked up the weekly telecast this month.

Five-day Plan

By Barbara Chancellor

The Sheridan, Wyoming church recently completed a Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking.

A total of 18 men and women attended the meetings conducted by Pastor Weldon Treat. Lay members of the church provided caffeine-free hot drinks for the participants. It was shown that caffeine and nicotine were very closely related and the elimination of caffeine in their diet greatly diminished their craving for cigarettes.

Along with the lectures, two films were shown each night. At the end of the fifth night, 13 people had kicked the habit. Some had no real reason why they were smoking, but they all left with plenty of reasons why they had quit!

Historical Facts

By Barbara Chancellor

The Rocky Mountain Conference is 100 years old! 1982 is our Centennial Year! Here are some interesting historical facts about our northernmost church.

The Sheridan, Wyoming Seventh-day Adventist Church can trace its roots back to 1893. That year the Ferren and Leach families traveled together from Kansas to homestead in the Big Horn area. These two families represent the first Adventists we know of near Sheridan.

Descendents of these two men still reside here. Grandchildren of Everett Ferren are Jack Ferren, Iris Ferren, LeOra Pitsch and Jacquelyn Skar. Grandchildren of Elias Leach are Marguerite Sayer and Aileen Milner.

In October, 1895, Elder Orren Ferren came to Big Horn with H. L. Ketring to hold what was probably the first Seventh-day Adventist tent meeting in northern Wyoming. The tent was banked around the base, warmed by two heaters and lighted by electricity. Elder Ferren was an older brother of Everett Ferren.

An organized church of 20 members was left when the two ministers concluded meetings and went back to Colorado.

Six years later Elder Ferren returned with a couple named Nethery. They erected the first church building at 326 W. Whitney, with the help of the members. The building was dedicated December 8, 1901. In 1937 a new church was built and the move was made to the present location at 345 S. Main.

As early as the school year of 1904-05, Sheridan Adventist Church had operated what was apparently the first Adventist school in Wyoming. The first teacher was Stella Allred.

The present school of grades 1-8 is located a half mile east on Highway 14. Teachers are Dr. and Mrs. C. Keith Gibbons.

Modern Day Caleb At Work in Salida

Barney Campbell, who was 85 last Fourth of July, is a modern-day Caleb. The Scripture says of Caleb that when he was 85 he was well able to go up and take the land of the giants. So, too, with Barney! Every month he delivers 60 copies of the Signs of the Times door-to-door while walking a circuit of several miles.

Barney Campbell, 85 years old, faithful member of the Salida, Colorado Church, delivered 60 copies of the Signs each month.

Barney is living proof that there is no mandatory retirement for warriors in the Lord's Army. He is an inspiration to all who know him.

NOTE: Brother Campbell died on the 26th of March of a heart attack, he was delivering Signs two weeks before his death. On his way to the hospital he stopped to visit a friend and commented that "It looks like I'll be in storage for a little while."

Master of Public Health Degree Program

Five of the eight Boulder area Master of Public Health students with Loma Linda University's extended education program will complete their last five hours of class work May 23-27 at Glacier View Ranch.

Students "hard at work" in the Master of Public Health Extended Program of Loma Linda University.

The students, Gordon Hewlett, Chaplain at Boulder Memorial Hospital; Dr. Dick Balkins, anesthesiologist; Dr. Glenn Wellman, optometrist in Estes Park; Audrey Ambler and Jan Engen, nurses for Boulder Public Schools; all agree that the program has given them new tools and insights well worth the time and energy spent.

If enough students indicate an interest in the program, Loma Linda University will offer the program again in this area of the United States.

"This was a real opportunity for me," says Jan Engen. "With a husband, two children and a parttime job, I would never have been able to get a Master's at Loma Linda. The instructors sent to us have been wonderful Christian witnesses as well."

The graduating students encourage all those interested in furthering their education in health to contact Leonard Taylor, Extended Program Coordinator, toll free, 800-854-5661; or better yet, come to Glacier View during the week of May 23-27 and talk to Leonard, as well as the 20 students of the program.

"Education in health principles was never more needed than now . . . It demands the attention of all who have at heart the well-being of their fellow men." Ministry of Healing, page 125.

Children Dedicated at Afton

The Evanston Church and Afton Company in western Wyoming are growing groups. Six children have been dedicated during the last few months.

Prior to redistricting a year ago, the Afton Company was served by pastors from Rock Springs. Due to inclement weather and other duties, the pastors were only able to make the 225-mile journey six or eight times each year. So it is understandable that child dedications could have been overlooked in Afton.

Jose and Lupe Muniz and Norma Cassity dedicate their children to the Lord. Pastor Johnson is shown with the families.

Now that there is a pastor in Evanston, Afton members see him virtually every week. During March, Jose and Lupe Muniz and Norma Cassity dedicated their children, Alicia Amaya, Patty Amaya and Heather Dawn, to the Lord. They are shown standing with Pastor Johnson.

New Patient TV System Operating at Porter

Porter patients who tire of soap operas, game shows and reruns, are finding something new on their television sets these days. A separate channel, operated just for the patients and transmitted by closed circuit from the biomedical engineering office, is on the air from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Programs on preventive health maintenance, hospital procedures and spiritual subjects are broadcast during the seven-hour block.

The on-air time will increase from the present seven hours a day as new programming is added, says Chris Lindsey, director of media services.

Helping to entertain children in Porter's pediatrics unit is a new service. Video cassette tapes are transmitted to the 32 television sets on the pediatrics/teens unit.

The programming can be seen on Channel 3 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon and again between 5 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Friday.

The first 20 hours of programming for the system were donated by the local chapter of American Women in Radio and Television, as part of that group's "Soaring Spirits" project. In Denver, only Porter and Children's Hospital have been offered the programs.

Six-year-old Beau Wynja enjoys children's TV programming on a special closed-circuit channel during his stay at Porter Memorial Hospital. With him is Judy Cuccia, RN, pediatric nurse.

Programming material ranges from old television series, such as Lassie, to specially produced entertainment and educational programs for children. A pair of hospital orientation programs entitled, "Jasper Goes to the Hospital" and "Day of Jasper's Operation," run each evening from 7 to 7:30.

Response to the alternative programming has been positive from both children and their parents. American Women in Radio and Television is presently compiling a second 20-hour library, which may become available to Porter in the future.

Frank-ly speaking...

it's simply a matter of taste with Loma Linda.

You can do all kinds of wonderful things with Loma Linda meatless franks, because they come in a variety of tastes to add appetizing variety to your buffets, breakfasts, lunches, dinners or backyard picnics. And they're all made from a nutritious mixture of textured vegetable protein and choice flavorings—with no animal fat and no cholesterol, because there's no meat in them at all!

Hot dogs in a bun, baseball style? Sizzle Franks! Buffet? Loma Linda Big Franks. For tasty hors d'oeuvres, add an olive, mushroom, or bit of pineapple to sliced Linketts.

And watch those breakfast appetites demolish Little Links browned in oil, served with hash browns or pancakes. They're all delicious, nutritious foods, made from nature's vegetable products by Loma Linda Foods.
