Dear Fellow Believer:

The month of October was the official launching of the "1000 Days of Reaping" in the Mid-America Union. This will be an unprecedented lay evangelistic thrust for the next 1,000 days.

Your conference leadership has accepted the challenge of seeing 1,000 people baptized in the month of October as the official beginning of this soul-winning venture. As soon as the final reports are in, we will share the results with you.

Our conference and union evangelists, plus pastor evangelists, have just completed 22 crusades this past month. And there are 42 more crusades planned for the rest of this year. I am positive that with this kind of dedicated planning and hard work the Lord will bless our efforts tremendously.

We would like to thank you in advance for the personal interest and involvement you will take as we all work together to make this "1,000 Days of Reaping" the greatest spiritual revival ever to take place in the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Cordially,

D. E. Holland, Secretary
Mid-America Union

Brighton Dedicates New Hospital

More than three years' work was culminated when, on Sunday, August 1, a new hospital was dedicated in Brighton, Colorado. Leaders of the community, Adventist Health System/Eastern and Middle America and the hospital joined together in opening the facility for use.

In 1979, Adventist Health System/EMA agreed to assume management of Brighton Community Hospital so that the residents of the rural area north of Denver would have modern, quality health care facilities and services.

With final state government approval of plans and financing for a new hospital and construction beginning, a $400,000 Equipment Fund Drive was launched in March, 1981. Unpleasant memories of poorly operated fund drives in the past threatened the success of this endeavor, but by the end of June, 1981, the goal had been exceeded. Strong support of individuals, industry and organizations, including a $40,000 SDA challenge grant, had made the fund drive a success and restored the community's confidence in the hospital's fund raising efforts. Judicious investment of the money while it was awaiting allocation swelled its value even more.

Construction of the first two levels progressed smoothly except for a delay during a statewide carpenters' strike during the summer of 1981. Permission was sought to build a third level, but initially was denied. Finally, in January, 1982, persistence paid off and a third floor was approved, bringing the total bed capacity to 58.

Sunday, August 1, was clear and hot as visitors toured the new, still unoccupied facility. Although construction continued on the third floor due to its much later start, the ancillary care and first patient care levels were complete and ready for occupants.

Following the invocation by Pastor Amos Leyva of the Brighton Spanish Assembly of God Church, BCH Administrator Harold Buck welcomed the 500 persons in attendance. BCH Board Chairman Ronald Sackett then introduced the guests on the platform. Gary Gilpin, Mayor of Brighton, offered congratulations to the community, hospital administration and AHS/EMA for success in achieving their common goal of a new hospital.

Challenging the corporation, medical staff and Board of Directors with proper use of the new facility were founding Board member John Thimmig and founding medical staff member, Lowell Troester, D.O. In response, Russell Shawver President of AHS/EMA; Joseph Sherman, M.D., President of the BCH medical staff; and Jeanne O'Dell, BCH Board of Directors member, accepted the challenges and vowed to continue to pursue excellence in health care. Reverend Raymond F. Kersting, pastor of the Brighton First United Presbyterian Church, offered the benediction, and then the speakers joined together to open the hospital by cutting a ribbon stretched across the entrance.

Five days after the opening ceremonies, all BCH patients were moved from the old building into the new, modern rooms. Vacant, the old building was stripped of reusable equipment and demolished. Bulldozers loaded the scrap into dump trucks and hauled it away. Landscaping began for the new main parking lot where the old hospital once stood. Final landscaping will be done in the spring.

Brighton Community Hospital's emergency services are extremely important to the community. Adventist Health System/EMA is doing an important work in the Brighton area, showing that quality health care can be provided with Christian love and compassion. The community is showing its acceptance and appreciation of the concept through support of Brighton Community Hospital.

Although construction continued on the third floor, the ancillary and first patient care levels were complete and ready for occupants. Five days after the opening ceremonies, all patients were moved into the new, modern rooms.

McEndree Receives Doctorate For Iron Absorption Studies

Question: Are vegetarians more anemic than meat eaters?

Answer: No.

According to recent research done by Lenore McEndree, assistant professor of foods and nutrition at Union College, both vegetarians and meat-eating groups studied, displayed similar levels of hemoglobin, hematocrit and serum iron.

Mrs. McEndree conducted the research in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a doctoral degree. Dr. McEndree received her degree from the University of Nebraska—Lincoln, in August.

Dr. Lenore McEndree

Four separate studies were conducted as part of the research. Two of the studies involved students from Union (vegetarians) and from the University of Nebraska (omnivores). The other two studies involved analyzing Union College cafeteria food for its iron content and a small animal study using black mice.

Dr. McEndree found that levels of hemoglobin, hematocrit and serum iron were essentially the same in vegetarians and omnivores. However, vegetarians had a higher Total Iron Binding Capacity (TIBC) than did omnivores. TIBC is a protein in the blood which aids the absorption of iron from the intestine to the blood stream. People suffering from anemia often have elevated levels of TIBC as the body increases the level in an effort to increase the amount of iron in the blood-stream. However, the high TIBC levels found in the vegetarian subjects were in the absence of anemia which suggests that the body adapts TIBC levels when subjects are consuming a plant-based diet. In other words, since iron which comes from plant sources is not so easily absorbed as iron from meat sources, the body uses an adaptive mechanism to absorb adequate amounts of iron.

Dr. McEndree has hypothesized to herself that the Lord may have created us with higher TIBC levels in the beginning so that iron from plant sources could be absorbed easily. Possibly through degeneration and increased meat consumption, the TIBC levels were diminished because of a lack of use.

Another area of the study dealt with the ability of iron from soy beans and from meat analogues to be absorbed into the body. Some nutritionists have claimed that iron from these two sources is not usable and inhibits the absorption of iron from other sources. The studies done with black mice revealed that both of those claims are not true.

In a separate study, food from the Union College cafeteria was analyzed for levels of iron content. The food generally had a higher iron level than listed in dietary handbooks. This suggests that iron intakes in survey studies using handbook values may underestimate the actual iron intakes.

Dr. McEndree said the most valuable contribution her research has made "is establishing the fact that a vegetarian diet provides the nutrition the body needs to function optimally."

U.C. Sees Enrollment Rise of 82

Final first semester figures show Union College for its fourth consecutive year with an enrollment increase. The 1982-1983 figure of 1,024 surpasses last year's 942 by roughly 8.5 percent.

In a statement delivered to the college's Board of Trustees, Admissions Director Leona Murray said, "For the past three or four years we have been a lot like the little boy who called 'wolf, wolf' except that the wolf hasn't yet come. Our enrollments have not dropped and we have managed to have some modest but enviable increases."

Among the groups registering growth from 1981-1982 are beginning freshmen; total freshmen are also a greater percentage of new students. Cumulative figures show that since 1977 Union has stayed above the national average of the 72 percent ratio for total applicants to those enrolled.

Enrollment by students originating outside the nine-state Midlands area Union primarily serves for the Seventh-day Adventist Church, jumped by 21 percent while foreign student enrollment has shown a steady gain for the last six years.

Mrs. Murray's statement called the number of students continuing from last year, "The very best piece of news." The 100 student gain over 1981 figures is the "largest group returning in many years," she said.

Alumni Increase Support

Alumni supported their alma mater during the 1981-82 fiscal year ending June 30 by giving $90,220 to the annual alumni fund for unrestricted use. This is an unprecedented 96 percent increase in giving over the previous year.

This increase can be largely attributed to the incentives provided by the Business Executives' Challenge to Alumni (BECA). The five-year BECA effort was started in 1979 by a group of Adventist business and professional people who wanted to see Adventist alumni support increase from its average of 6.5 percent to at least the national average of 24 percent.

After two years of BECA challenges, 16.8 percent of the alumni from the 11 colleges and universities in the North American Division are supporting their schools through their respective annual fund.

Total BECA challenges to the 11 colleges and universities for 1981-1982 totaled $487,500, of which $28,000 went to Union. Combined unrestricted contributions of $1,100,000 added to the BECA challenges and $645,000 given for specific projects, brings total alumni-generated support for Adventist higher education to $2,232,500.

$3,500 Reached For United Way

"Union College surpassed its $2,000, 1981-82 United Way goal by 50 percent with contributions totaling $3,541," according to Dr. Ken Kennedy, chairman of the committee for Union College.

Dean Hubbard, President of Union College, is the volunteer chairman of the educational committee for United Way this year. He is in charge of overseeing participation at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Union College and all other private and public schools in Lincoln and Lancaster County. "There was a 95 percent participation rate at Union College this year with an increase of 5 percent over last year," said Hubbard. "We asked all faculty and staff to make an added effort to support United Way this year."

United Way provides services that government agencies don't have funds for. "It is now more important than ever that the community businesses help to support the economy," R. G. Wallace said at the recent United Way kick-off. "Gifts and contributions from local companies, agencies and unions are up 10 percent above last year's $394,535."

According to Kennedy, "The Union College faculty and staff participation this year has been outstanding and very much appreciated."

Health Booth

By Joan Philbin

The Topeka Church first opened the doors and windows of Building No. 20 at 10:00 a.m., September 2, at the Expo '82 located on the Shawnee Fairgrounds in Topeka. Several agencies cooperated to provide free services at the "People Helping People" health booth. Shawnee Mission Medical Center provided computerized pulmonary testing. Glaucoma screening was conducted by the Christian Record Braille Foundation.

The youth of Enterprise Academy screened 1,152 people through their computerized health diagnosis program. This program gave each participant a profile of their present state of health and a projection of longevity.

Blood pressure, pulse, weight, lung capacity, and grip strength tests were available by volunteers from the Topeka Church. Visual aids, demonstrations, and vegetarian food samples were all a part of the program.

Approximately 4,500 people passed through the various sections of the booth; 210 signed up for the stop-smoking clinic, 23 for a cooking school, eight for an exercise class, one for stress information, and seven for Bible studies. A literature rack was displayed in a prominent place, and an estimated 10,000 pieces of literature were taken.

Just 20 days after Expo '82 closed, the Topeka Church began a stop-smoking clinic in their Better Living Center. Frank Philbin, personal ministries director of the Topeka Church, was the overall coordinator of this large undertaking. He is currently helping to lay plans for continued follow up of the many requests for services which were received.

Kansas Churches are entitled to one delegate for each church plus an additional delegate for each 35 members or fraction thereof.

Classes Organize

A sheriff stopping the school buses and a campus invasion of motorcycles were novel ways used to introduce class officers at Enterprise Academy. Picnickers on the way to the student body's annual picnic Sunday, September 5, were halted by a roadblock established by the sheriff of Dickinson County, who ordered everyone out of the buses and announced the names of the newly elected junior class officers. These include: Tom Leatherman, president; Janet Mentzer, vice president; Shondi Cole, social vice president; Kosi Hedger, treasurer; Lynn Loewen, secretary; Randy Davis, pastor; Tony Cohen, sergeant at arms. Class sponsors are Dean Mary Hedger, Mr. Tom Briggs, and assistant dean, Kevin Gruessling.

What appeared at first as a motorcycle invasion Monday, September 13, immediately after the evening chapel period, turned out to be the novel way in which the sophomores chose to announce their officers. Each officer was seated on the rear of a motorcycle, and as each one came to a stop in front of the administration building, Mike Dirksen, a class sponsor operating one of the machines, announced the officers: Gerd Kuist, president; Karla Higgins, vice president; Sue Provorse, social vice president; Melody Withrow, treasurer; Laura Tubbs, secretary; Keith Haley, pastor; Rick Ault, sergeant at arms. Other sponsors are Mrs. Norma Jean Mohr and Mr. Brian Setterlund.

Church Dedication

The Marysville Seventh-day Adventist congregation dedicated their new sanctuary August 28, 1982.

Forest Kinzli, current pastor, led the members in the act of dedication. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Elder Joel Tompkins, president of the Kansas-Nebraska Conference and Elder Norman Harvey offered the dedicatory prayer. Elder A. K. Phillips, former pastor and builder of the structure, preached the morning worship hour message entitled "Dwelling With God."

The Marysville Church was organized on May 16, 1972, and broke ground for the new building February 4, 1973. Most of the construction was performed by men and women of the congregation, plus volunteers from sister Adventist churches.

A bequest from the late Edith Brauchi, a former charter member, made completion of the church and retirement of the debt possible.

Grand Rapids Church Reaches Out To Ghana

By E. Jean Ostlund

Several years ago the Review and Herald carried a plea regarding the need for truth-filled literature in Ghana. Literature was sent and in response came urgent pleas for Bibles. Through personal correspondence from these grateful recipients, it was learned that the Bible shortage in Ghana is so acute that church leaders, Bible workers, and lay leaders are often forced to copy Scripture by hand, which thus serves as their private copy of the gospel.

To alleviate this great shortage, the church initiated a plan whereby individuals could purchase a Bible packet which consists of Steps to Christ, Desire of Ages, Bible Readings for the Home and the New International version of the Bible. One packet is sent to Ghana for each ten-dollar contribution. A contributor's name and address is enclosed in each package. Several non-SDA friends have participated in this project. Surely, it is one means of spreading God's last day message to a small and needy land. Steve Reiners is the personal ministries leader.

Natural Foods Cooking Rates High

By E. Jean Ostlund

The wholistic approach to abundant living through nature's eight natural remedies was the theme of a two-hour lecture and demonstration given by Jean Ostlund to a group of 40 ladies from numerous denominations at the Mormon Church in Grand Rapids.

Questions were asked pertaining to healthful sugar-free, whole grain, oil-free cooking. Jean explained how the Seventh-day Adventist Church has been blessed with a health message for the world. Within three days she was invited to speak at four different organizations and Bible groups in the Grand Rapids area.

Video Bible Studies Broaden Evangelistic Thrust

By E. Jean Ostlund

Grand Rapids Church elder, Sidney Reiners, is enthusiastically giving video Bible studies to seven individuals who have been viewing the programs with interest. These interests came through personal contacts, Five-day Stop Smoking Plans, and the wide distribution of the book, All in the Name of the Lord. Mr. Reiners was also requested to present a video LifeSpirit Bible study to the local Baptist prayer meeting.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Golden wedding bells rang for Harold and Melba Dowdall at the Crookston Church on Sabbath, August 28. Elder Earnest Lutz, Minnesota Conference president, was the special guest speaker, and presented the Dowdalls with a plaque from the Mid-America Union commemorating their fifty years of Christian marriage.

FAIR BOOTH WITNESSING

Health Message In Twelve Minutes

By Beverly Buttler

The LeCenter Church had a booth at the LeSueur County Fair in August. The main attraction was the vital capacity machine. This machine measures the amount of air a person can exhale in one to six seconds. The chart was then analyzed by one of the four church members who was always on duty. Approximately 33 hours were donated during the weekend. Each person was then given suggestions on how to improve health habits.

Before they left the booth, the people were given literature on such topics as soft drinks and caffeine, how fruits and vegetables cut cancer risks, caffeine—tea and coffee, and stress. Approximately 1,000 pieces were given, not including the Little Friend's, Primary Treasure's, and Junior Guide's given to the children.

The adults signed up for the drawing of the book Counsels on Diet and Food. The book was won by a worker at the fair. The children (under 16) signed up for a story book. It was won by a boy in LeCenter.

The test on the machine and the analysis took about twelve minutes, but many people including some children, stayed and talked longer.

Slips of paper filled out showed that the people were interested in the stop-smoking clinic and a cooking school.

One of the best results was four requests for Bible lessons.

Beverly Buttler is the communication secretary for the LeCenter Church.

Successful Literature Booth

By E. Jean Ostlund

The Grand Rapids Seventh-day Adventist literature booth at the Itasca County Fair attracted many and provided meaningful contacts with county residents.

One family who has been keeping the Sabbath for several years was visited in follow-up. Their plans were to worship with the Grand Rapids Church on September 11.

Questions frequently asked by booth visitors were "What do you believe about salvation?" "Do you have a health message?" and "Have you any information on end times?"

Dr. Katie Guthrie, M.D., from Deer River came to inquire about the possibility of a stop-smoking plan to be conducted for her patients. She also expressed much interest in learning more from Adventists about natural foods nutrition. God is truly blessing and leading out in a variety of avenues to hasten the conclusion of His work in our area. We praise Him!

A. B. L. E. Booth At State Fair

By Alice Noren

"Take a deep breath. Put this tube in your mouth, and blow hard!" This sentence was repeated over and over 7,500 times at the Adventists for Better Living Education booth at the Minnesota State Fair, August 26-September 6. More than a million and a half people came looking, seeing, touching, feeling, hearing, experiencing many things, one of them being the lung capacity test administered by 26 Seventh-day Adventist volunteers of Minnesota.

Literature was given to those taking the test plus many more thousands of pieces given to "just lookers". The topics covered in the handouts were exercise, water, prudent diet, caffeine, stress, nicotine, salt. A variety of Listen magazines and nearly 10,000 of a variety of Quiet Hour booklets were distributed.

The fairgoers seemed to be looking for a new way of obtaining health and happiness, and expressed appreciation for the comprehensive 5-10 minute discussions with each one. Many, enthused with what they learned, returned with their relatives or friends so they, too, could hear for themselves the good health news.

After a University of Minnesota medical student completed the lung capacity test, he spoke of his professors at the University telling the class to look to the Seventh-day Adventists for a lifestyle of better health. They quoted many figures and articles to substantiate their lectures.

The theme of this year's booth was "Salt: How Much Is Excessive." A large pyramid of salt blocks, 550 pounds, very visually stressed the amount of excessive salt eaten during a normal lifetime. The backdrop listed the possible hazards of too much salt in the diet, the hidden salt in common foods, and showed a large teaspoon pictured with 1/4 of it filled with salt. This was the suggested maximum amount of salt to be used each day, 1/4 teaspoonful.

There were too many helpers to mention by name, but a special "thank you" needs to go to all those who recruited the volunteers from the area churches and to the volunteers themselves who served the fairgoers.

Alice Noren is the chairperson of the State Fair Booth Committee.

Steve Reiners, personal ministries leader, greets Itasca County Fair enthusiasts with a smile and provides amazing facts about the Word of God.

Baptisms At Minot

By Phyllis Hehn

The Minot Seventh-day Adventist Church rejoices with the angels over 39 souls who were added to the family of God during the Prophecy Countdown conducted recently by Lin Powell and his wife, Sandy.

From Madison, Tennessee, Lin and Sandy have an outstanding background in business, education, and public service. More recently, they have dedicated their lives to full-time Christian work. Having traveled extensively, Lin is well acquainted with problems of our world today. As an intense student of Bible prophecy, and with degrees in religion and business, he is well equipped to unfold the meaning of prophecy as it relates to our day.

"Bible Predictions for Planet Earth" was the title of the brochure which was mailed to hundreds of residents of the Minot area preceding the series of evangelistic meetings held during June and July. The colorful brochure, featuring Jesus watching over a madly moving earth as the sands of time run out, was a follow-up of many weeks of preparation by lay-men under the supervision of Pastor Steve Beckwith and Bible worker, Bob Boyd.

The Magic City Campus of the Minot Public Schools provided ample room for the multi-screen, sophisticated, computer-operated system with its nine projectors giving colorful images on three large screens. Each program made the prophecies unforgettable and easy to understand.

Three hundred and six non-Adventists attended the meetings at least once. The highest attendance at a single meeting was 267.

Sunday evening was a memorable occasion when the church witnessed twenty souls going down into the watery grave with Pastor Powell officiating. On other occasions interim pastor, Steve Beckwith, baptized five children from the Seyfert Elementary School with whom he had been studying, and Pastor Allen Myers from Spearfish conducted the final baptism resulting from the meetings. New members were appointed spiritual guardians to nurture and counsel them on their new road of life.

Lin and Sandy Powell returned to Tennessee after the series to prepare to continue their work in another area. Bob Boyd and family have chosen to continue their work for the Lord with the Wahpeton Church. Steve Beckwith and wife have accepted a call to pastor the Dickinson District, and Pastor Allen Myers has moved his family to Minot where he will continue to present the Word and feed the flock with the spirit of truth.

Vacation Bible School In Killdeer

By Terry Tachenko

The annual Vacation Bible School attracted 31 children, ages 5 to 12, from the community. There is a Seventh-day Adventist church in Killdeer, but it is closed except for this annual event. We like to think that the church can still be a light in the community, because the children are taught from the Bible.

Virginia Tachenko directed the school this year and made it very enjoyable for all of the children and staff.

Graduation was on Sabbath evening, August 14 and ended with the movie "Living Free".

Children Love It

By Sandy Lambert

Roger Quast from the Bismarck Church built an ark that makes the story of Noah in the Bible very real to our children. Two can go inside, pull the steps up after them and sit while the ark is rocked as it would be on a stormy sea. It has been used during camp meeting at the Dakota Adventist Academy as well as at evangelistic meetings and for Vacation Bible school.

Roger says he spent about 300 hours making the ark and is glad to have people use it to help illustrate what it means to be in the ark of safety.

One Baptized At Rally

By Len Devnich

July 31 found the members of the Gackle, Kulm, Lehr, Linton and Streeter Churches worshipping and studying their Bibles by the lakeside as Jesus used to do. R. R. Patzer from Bismarck was the guest speaker for the worship hour.

Following the afternoon musical program under the direction of Jay Miller, Arnold Schock was baptized by Elder Devnich. Arnold first became interested by reading the book, All in the Name of the Lord by William Stringfellow. Pastor Devnich continued to study with him, and it was on the last evening of the North Dakota camp meeting that Arnold made his commitment to be baptized. Arnold is now a member of the Gackle Church.

Vacation Bible School In Gackle

Leaders and children at Gackle Vacation Bible School

By Len Devnich

Should a church hold vacation Bible School when there are no children among the membership? For several years it was thought best not to. However, this year the Gackle Church asked Pauline Beglau and Viola Devnich to try it. Their efforts were rewarded by having nine students attend daily, not one missing a single day. Several adults volunteered to help, and the church felt the VBS was a success. Plans are being made for a larger one next year.

Pathfinder Camporee

By Genive King

Iowa put on her best weather for the Iowa-Missouri Pathfinder Camporee. The sun was shining and the wild flowers were in profusion at Elkhorn Ranch, near Boone.

Ron Scott, Youth Director, was on hand to welcome each of the ten clubs. The valley was bustling with over 200 campers. Each person seemed to know what to do and was busy doing it.

The Pathfinders were inspired by the object lessons brought to them by Elder Timpson, associate secretary of the Mid-America Union, each evening and during the Sabbath hours. The pantomime presented by the Kansas City Standing Rock Club on the sacrifice of Isaac was impressive. Puppeteers helped the young people understand the Sabbath School lesson.

The afternoon track and trail led over the hills, along the creek and back to camp, exposing the beauty of nature and filling everyone with gratitude to the Creator who made such beauty.

Games played in the evening finished off a full day.

The Sunday events were full of excitement and fun. Each club received recognition for the points they had accumulated and each camper received a token remembrance of the Camporee.

Ron Scott and Mable Criswell deserve a big thank you for all the hard work that went into the pleasant weekend.

Valley City-Lisbon Rally

By Elmer Haas

Each year in late summer or early fall the Valley City and Lisbon Churches meet for a Sabbath in one of the prettiest places in North Dakota. It's called Little Yellowstone Park. True, it doesn't have "Old Faithful" or any other geysers. But it does have lots of trees and a quiet stream. To camp in a tent on the stream's bank in early fall is a delightful experience. To worship with the combined church memberships and the many guests on August 28th was a foretaste of heaven. Elder John Bahr is the pastor of these two churches.

Two cars of people came from the Wahpeton Church and helped to make the Sabbath School and worship services more harmonious with the music they brought. Elder Jerry Waggoner from Hammond, Louisiana, and his family, were there with a large number of relatives from all over eastern North Dakota. Other guests were from Minnesota and the writer from Pierre, South Dakota.

Iowa-Missouri gets early start on 1000 Days of Reaping.

The Iowa-Missouri Conference launched its 1000 Days of Reaping in exciting fashion, with 157 baptisms during the month of August.

Leading the evangelistic way was St. Louis, Missouri with the Kenneth Cox "Dimensions in Prophecy" crusade. More than 100 people were baptized into St. Louis area churches after this major series. Running concurrently with the conference crusade Mid-America evangelist Dale Brusett's series in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, baptized an additional fifty. Iowa-Missouri's own John and Clara Van Denburgh's crusade in Gladstone, Missouri and a number of efforts by pastors and laymen across the conference helped fill out the total.

Catching the spirit of Church Beautification Month, Sunnydale Academy has been involved in a busy program of repair, painting and landscaping. Old structures have taken on a bright new look and attractive flowering patches have sprung up around the campus.

But the most exciting development on the Sunnydale campus these days is the ongoing construction of the new addition to the girls' dormitory. This new 6,000-square-foot addition will help the crowded conditions in the girls' dorm. Ground breaking took place on September 19 and construc-

Kansas City, Missouri. . .

The Kansas City, Missouri area will long remember Friday, the 13th of August, 1982. In Pleasant Hill and Raytown 15 inches of rain fell. In Kansas City and the surrounding area the total ranged from 8 to 12 inches.

Kansas City Central church members worked 12 straight hours and more helping families affected by the resulting flooding, helping survey the damage for Red Cross officials and helping feed displaced people and volunteer workers trying to prevent further flood damage.

Gladstone church members also helped with damage surveying, worked at the shelter to which Smithville senior citizens had been evacuated and helped clean the mud from the rest of the homes of the seniors.

Independence church members also set up a clothing distribution station for the Red Cross in their church. The Oak Grove members offered $100 to be used if needed. The Grandview church sent comfort kits, and students from Cedarvale school helped at a child care center.

Rocky Mountain Conference Centennial

Happy Birthday, Rocky Mountain Conference! It was in Boulder, Colorado on the 19th day of November, 1882, that the Colorado Conference was organized. Representing the General Conference on this occasion was Elder Uriah Smith. The first Colorado Conference President was Elder E. R. Jones. The territory of the old Colorado Conference was a little more than that of the present Rocky Mountain Conference, consisting of the states of Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico.

Why are we as a church and conference still here in this present world celebrating a 100th-year birthday anniversary? Who is responsible? What if we had done thus and so? We could spend a lot of time on the who's and what if's—but let's look back only to gain strength for the task before us as we see the marvelous leading of the hand of God and his rich blessings in our history.

The Review and Herald account of this "momentous event" didn't take up very much space:

"A meeting of delegates representing the churches and scattered Sabbath-keepers in Colorado was held in Boulder, November 19, 1882, and a desire was expressed in behalf of those represented by them to be organized into a Conference.

Eld. U. Smith acted as Chairman, and E. R. Jones was chosen Secretary.

"Moved, That we adopt as the Constitution of this Conference the Constitution recommended by the General Conference for State Conferences, with such changes as may be necessary to adapt it to this locality.—Carried.

"Moved, That the Chairman appoint two to act with himself as a Committee on Nominations.—Carried.

Joseph Green and A. J. Stover were appointed as said committee.

After a brief consultation, the committee reported as follows: For President, E. R. Jones; Secretary, J. W. Horner; Treasurer, H. H. Pierce. For members to act with the President as Conference Committee, A. J. Stover and D. H. Soggs.

"Moved, That the report of the committee be adopted.—Carried.

"Moved, That Eld. U. Smith be a delegate from this conference to the General Conference to be held in Rome, New York, December 7th, 1882.—Carried.

"Moved, That our delegate be instructed to present a petition in behalf of this conference for admittance into the General Conference.—Carried.

"Moved," That A. J. Stover be granted a license.—Carried.

"The Conference then adjourned sine die.

U. Smith, Chairman

E. R. Jones, Sec."

At the first session of the Colorado Conference, held one year later, September 26 to October 2, 1882, the Committee on Resolutions submitted the following:

"Resolved, That we re-affirm our faith and confidence in the testimonies of the Spirit of God; and that we recommend our people throughout the Conference to procure a complete set and carefully read them.

"Resolved, That we express our gratitude to God for our Sabbath-school lessons, and that we derive the greatest spiritual good from them; and that we recommend that our teachers make them as practical as possible."

The above resolution was adopted on September 28, 1883.

In our Centennial year, 1982, on April 25, the Conference Plans Committee recommended to the assembled delegates in session that the following resolution be adopted:

"Resolved, That the members of the Rocky Mountain Conference re-affirm our faith and confidence in the Bible and the Gift of Prophecy as given to Ellen G. White and we recommend to our members that we study carefully and prayerfully these inspired materials daily.

"We also express our gratitude to God for our Sabbath-school lessons and to derive the greatest spiritual good from them, we recommend that they be studied daily in the homes of our members and that our Sabbath School teachers make a practical application to our daily lives."

Prior to the 1982 session the Plans Committee conducted a contest inviting members of the churches to submit entries for a theme, poem and song. Gift certificates from the Adventist Book Center, of $25.00, $15.00 and $10.00 were to be given to the first, second and third place winners.

A gift certificate of $25.00 has been given to Pastor Clark Floyd for the winning entry for the Theme: "Centennial Year—Time for Commitment."

A second place gift certificate of $15.00 has been given to Mrs. Winnie Gohde for her entry. A third place gift certificate of $10.00 has been given to Dan Armfield for his entry.

Elder Chester Barger submitted the winning entry for a Centennial Song, "Dear Rocky Mountain Conference," and $25.00 gift certificate from the Adventist Book Center has been sent to him.

The winning entry for a Centennial Poem was submitted by Merlin White and he has been sent a $25.00 Adventist Book Center certificate.

I don't know why God made the mountains so long ago,
Or the high plains that slope gently from the foothills and flow
All the way to oceans, with rivers wide
That start their course near the Great Divide
Of the Rockies.

But I propose that our God had a good reason why,
And that He makes each dawn linger there in the eastern sky
Until her rays have touched the highest peaks
And echoes far. —A new morning speaks
In the Rockies.

I don't know why God called us to come to this place,
Why He chose to include you and me from the whole face
Of this earth to be here, and here to live
And do, a part of our lives to give
In the Rockies.

But God has a reason for everything, and I propose
That God knew just what He was doing; when He chose

A Century ago His Gospel to Bring,
News of His Second Advent to sing
To the Rockies.

God knew that though He could call on the stones to proclaim,
He chose to use the Vessel of mankind in His Name.
So over the years God has chosen, you see,
To use people just like you and me
In the Rockies.

And so more than one hundred years ago, I am told,
The Voice in the wilderness was ventured forth bold.
The Truth of the Advent began to unfold
To the people who lived in the world
Of the Rockies.

So here a Church was started, a great many believed.
Untold Blessings from Heaven this New Body received,
As this very same year one century past
Our Church's official charter was cast
In the Rockies—and in Heaven.

Gift certificates of $15.00 and $10.00 for second and third place entries were sent to Roger Aultman and Pastor Clark Floyd.

This old photograph is hanging in the Salida, Colorado Church. It was taken about the year 1902 when a large camp meeting, more like what we would call an evangelistic meeting today, was conducted on the mesa above the city. ## SCAMP Helps Children At Boulder

Running, jumping, listening, talking—these are all such important activities to a developing child learning about life. But what about the child who is not able to enjoy these things as fully as others? Fortunately, Boulder Memorial Hospital, Colorado, has a program aimed at just such children.

The Specialized Communication and Motor Program (SCAMP) is designed to help children who have experienced developmental delay in motor, auditory and speech functions. The program is available to any child between the ages of 2 ½ and 6.

Group therapy is one basis for helping these children. It gives them others their own age to imitate. They realize that they have similar problems which brings about a spirit of helpfulness, with words and actions. This peer support is very beneficial. The group therapy approach also makes the services of SCAMP more affordable.

An average of six children attend two hour-long sessions a week. Role-playing is used quite often so the children have the opportunity to dress up and act out a story. Singing is also a great form of therapy, giving the children a good avenue to try new sounds. Hand movements are often incorporated with singing which helps with the motor problems.

This program was conceived and developed by the therapists themselves, using much of their own time. Because of their dedication, a number of children today are realizing improved health and are receiving help they would not have had access to if it were not for such caring and committed workers.

Boulder cares about children.

Child Care Center

The Boulder Junior Academy Child Care Center had its first birthday on August 31. During the first year of its service, it has been a real witness to the community.

The center has accomplished this witnessing by the approach of teaching spiritual values to the kids entrusted to them. "They need to be taught principles instead of doctrines," says Peggy Fredrickson, director. The type of principles that are taught include faith, honesty and brotherly love.

The Child Care Center was established to facilitate employees of Boulder Memorial Hospital and is co-sponsored by the hospital, the Boulder Seventh-day Adventist Church and the local academy. The center was established as a Christian organization, and will have more opportunities to witness as they begin their second year of service to the community.

Milk Bank Aids Infant

A 16-month-old baby in Oklahoma who survives on a diet of only mothers' milk has received more than 9 ½ gallons from the Greater Kansas City

Shawnee Mission Medical Center

Mothers' Milk Bank. The toddler, Lacie Lynette Smith, has a severe lactose intolerance which prohibits her from ingesting anything but mother's milk. Each day she consumes more than a gallon of milk and is expected to do so for at least another year. The milk was flown to Oklahoma by AirLifeLine, an organization of private pilots who donate transportation for medical emergencies.

Lacie's mother cannot nurse her daughter because of her own poor health. Phyllis Smith had kidney problems which require dialysis, and she is on pain medication for a slipped disk in her back. Help has also been supplied by mothers' milk banks in Tulsa, Houston, El Paso and banks in Massachusetts and New York. The Greater Kansas City Mothers' Milk Bank responded by sending its surplus supply.

The Greater Kansas City Mothers' Milk Bank, sponsored by Shawnee Mission Medical Center, was founded in 1981 by two young mothers, and has helped more than 25 youngsters. Nursing mothers who are interested in donating to the Mothers' Milk Bank should call (913) 676-2108.

The Conscience Project

Unemployment, financial concerns and other problems are causing many Seventh-day Adventist youth to volunteer for military service. We are concerned because they will be faced immediately with Sabbath-keeping problems and related difficulties.

The National Service Organization (NSO) is responding to this situation, because of indications of an impending military draft. The NSO has recently developed a plan called THE CONSCIENCE PROJECT. It is part of a three-way plan to help our young people successfully face these issues.

THE CONSCIENCE PROJECT is a ten-hour seminar-type training program, that will usually be conducted over a weekend. Making it more youth-appealing and fast-moving, the program utilizes slide/cassette presentations, four motion pictures, role-playing, small group activities, and other training methods. THE CONSCIENCE PROJECT deals with such topics as: Decision making/values clarification, the Christian's relationship to government, taking of human life, options available in a military draft, and the church's position regarding military service.

An extension of THE CONSCIENCE PROJECT is an NSO computer program to provide Selective Service information to our youth. A new series of attractive leaflets on military service is also being introduced.

During the month of November, youth directors across the United States will be trained, and subsequently THE CONSCIENCE PROJECT will be conducted in local conferences.

If you have any questions concerning military service or any of the new features mentioned above, contact your local conference youth director.

Zima Crusades Reach 1,000 Baptisms

James Griffin, a forest ranger from Pagosa Springs, Colorado, is the 1,000th person baptized by Bill Zima.

Bill Zima, one of the Mid-America Union evangelists, passed a great milestone on Sabbath, August 28, 1982. It was on this occasion that Zima saw his 1,000th convert. His evangelistic thrust is based on an extensive visiting program with former members and others who already are familiar with the church and its practices. Zima follows an intensive Bible study schedule, and invites the interests to weekend decision meetings in the church.

Zima stated that he would be happy to teach others this effective and low cost means of reclaiming former members which he estimates costs approximately $29 per baptism.

A contributing factor to the success of this type of evangelism is that he holds 12 to 14 25-day meetings per year. During the past year 253 people were baptized in the Zima crusades.

Encounter With Ellen White—A Personal Testimony

By Dr. T. E. Wade

Alice was a toddler when, in spite of family opposition, her mother became a Seventh-day Adventist. She and her sisters attended Sabbath School every week with their mother. But also, they never missed Sunday School with their father.

Alice finished high school in St. Louis and then began to study medicine at the American Medical Missionary College in Battle Creek, Michigan. After two years, this was interrupted by her marriage on New Year's Eve in 1900 to a young physician.

They found a beautiful place with a natural hot spring at the foot of Mt. Princeton in the Colorado Rockies. They dreamed of developing a self-supporting sanitarium, but this dream collapsed. Later they obtained an option to purchase land with an artesian well flowing warm water at Canon City, Colorado. This seemed to be an answer to prayer.

About this time I, Theodore Wade, their son, entered their home. With great dismay, my father received a letter from Ellen White advising that he was unqualified to develop and direct a sanitarium. She said that if he persisted, the sanitarium would fail and that his very salvation would be threatened. Reluctantly, he abandoned the project; but the dream would not go away.

While I was in high school, he began remodeling our home, which he hoped would develop into a sanitarium at Canon City. I was a student at Union College before my mother told me about the letter they had received from Ellen White. Mother said that although they were strangers, Ellen White had described my father's personality with surprising accuracy.

In due time I graduated from medical school at Loma Linda, interned, served a residency in Los Angeles, and married the most wonderful woman in the world. The spring of 1943 found me in an officer's uniform on the army air base at Moses Lake, Washington. A psychiatrist from Stanford University was also on the base. At a medical staff meeting, he discussed some problems of new recruits. His comments and demonstrations seemed to challenge my belief in Ellen White as the Lord's prophet. The exact nature of his threat cannot be covered here. Suffice it to say that I realized a decision must be made.

I considered myself to be a loyal Seventh-day Adventist; however, I was busy studying to keep abreast of the advances in medicine and in solving the problems of sick people. I let preachers do the preaching. How could I spend time reading such boring books as Testimonies for the Church? I had an index. Occasionally, I might look up some point.

Mrs. Wade and I decided to learn for ourselves what Ellen White said. Would her work tolerate scrutiny? What should be my attitude toward it? We began with Early Writings. Every morning my wife read several pages aloud while our boys and I ate breakfast. At first the boys were too young to understand all the words and we would explain. Then we would kneel in prayer. This was our routine morning worship.

We continued with one book after another, buying new ones as they appeared. As we read, uncertainty faded and confidence grew. We found consistency. We found harmony with Scripture. Not only was our faith confirmed, but this experience probably helped establish the faith of our sons. I recommend the practice and we still do it.

Time passed. Our sons finished academy. They graduated from Union College. Each served more than one term of foreign mission duty. At last I had the privilege of reading for myself the original copy of the letter which my father had received when I was a baby. By this time my parents and Ellen White were at rest. My father had regained his loyalty, and time had demonstrated the accuracy and wisdom of the counsel which the Lord had sent to my father through Ellen White. And the storm which threatened my faith had passed.

My reason for reviewing this bit of history is the hope that it may help someone who feels uncertain about what and whom to believe in this crisis hour. I feel particularly concerned for the children of people who, by their words and their lives reveal distrust in our leaders, people who half-heartedly support the ideas and ideals which have made us a distinct people.

Is it possible that Jesus had our day and our problems in mind when He asked the penetrating question, "When the son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?" (Luke 18:8) Note the context. He was speaking about His elect, His chosen ones.

As the integrity of the one we call the Lord's messenger is being subtly challenged, and as the accuracy of her teaching is being disputed, we should carefully and prayerfully search her writings. Each of us will probably find more or less what we are searching for. Those who are longing for the return of Jesus and who are willing to allow the Holy Spirit to make whatever changes in their lifestyles and habits that are necessary to fit them for a place in the New Earth will find the path to the Kingdom clearly described over and over and over again. On the other hand, if we allow ourselves to quarrel about minor points of doctrinal technicality, we will be blinded by them.

IIW Specials Reveal Hunza Health Secrets

Health secrets of Hunza, a remote land famed for the longevity of its people, will be shown on three special IT IS WRITTEN telecasts to air November 14, 21, and 28.

The programs are entitled "The Miracle of Hunza," "Hunza—Fountain of Youth," and "Hunza—Where They Don't Die Young," and will feature the topics of general health, diet and exercise, respectively.

Telecast speaker-director George Vandeman will host the specials, taped on location amid the world's highest mountains—the Himalayas.

The special programs focus on the remarkable people of Hunza, who live to an average age of well over one hundred years. Why do the "Hunzakuts," as they're called, seem to possess a "fountain of youth?" What is it about their lifestyle, their environment, that brings them such vigor and nearly complete freedom from disease?

These are the questions IIW hoped to answer.

The IIW team gained entrance to this remote mountain kingdom by invitation. They stayed as guests of the king (Mir) and queen (the Rani).

"The remarkable thing about the Hunza trip," reports Pastor Vandeman, "is that the king and queen really told the story for us. How interesting it is to hear the Rani tell us there are no hospitals in Hunza because they don't need them." No cancer is reported in Hunza. When asked about heart disease, the Mir replied, "I have never heard of any here."

Fresh mountain air, vigorous exercise, ample rest, a simple, largely vegetarian diet, pure glacial water, serenity—all these factors in the Hunzakuts' lifestyle help bring them exceptionally good health.

It seems, then, that this people's longevity isn't miraculous at all, but simply the result of following what Adventists have known for many years as God's natural lifestyle.

Hunza's setting amidst the massive, rugged Himalayan peaks and verdant terraced farmland makes it among the most scenic in the world. The special telecasts will show footage of this grandeur.

Also featured are interviews with the Mir, Rani and other Hunzakut citizens. A polo match is another highlight. Marco Polo reportedly discovered the sport here many centuries ago.

IIW will advertise these telecasts in 41 editions of TV Guide magazine, which will cover all the U.S. markets in which the program airs.

Tune in on November 14, 21, and 28. Check the listings for your local IT IS WRITTEN station.

By invitation, Pastor George Vandeman, right, was a guest of the king and queen of Hunza, while IT IS WRITTEN was preparing three special telecasts pertaining to the health secrets of the people living in this remote land.

Twenty-Five Electronics Industries Urgently Needed

Some of the best responses from the ASI (Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries) have been from electronic industries. There is an immediate need for several thousand productive jobs at our academies and colleges, and the need has never been greater and more critical than right now.

ASI is interested in contacting all persons in a responsible position in electronics or any industry/firm using electronic components. The purpose of this critical search is to locate talent that can help start electronic industries at our schools and contact existing SDA electronic or related industries who are willing to expand to locations near our school campuses. ## H.M.S. Richards Recovering From Stroke

H. M. S. Richards was honored at a Celebration and Festival of Thanksgiving on Sunday evening, August 29, at the Glendale Civic Auditorium. More than 850 persons attended the event, held one day after Pastor Richards' 88th birthday. The banquet and testimonial program were sponsored by the Greater Glendale Chapter of the Voice of Prophecy Committee of 500.

Elder Richards was unable to attend the celebration because of the stroke he suffered at his home on Wednesday night, August 25.

Daily reports from the hospital indicate continual improvement in Elder Richards' condition. He has both feeling and movement in his left arm and leg, and he is talking to his family and the medical staff.

Douglas Benson, M.D., physician to the Richards family, reported that the prognosis looks good. Unless there is some complication, Elder Richards should regain full use of his motor faculties, including walking. For the present, however, travel appointments are being cancelled for the next several months. After that, Elder Richards should be able to accept some public speaking engagements.

Fortunately, the Sunday broadcasts for the rest of this year and early 1983 are already recorded, so listeners will continue to hear both H. M. S. Richards and H. M. S. Richards, Jr., each week.

Featured speaker at the birthday celebration was Elder Morris Venden, pastor of the college church at Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska. Elder Louis Venden, brother of Morris, was master of ceremonies for the evening.

Highlights of the birthday celebration included messages from many church and government leaders. U.S. Representative Carlos Moorhead read a letter from President Reagan, as well as a tribute to Richards that appeared in the Congressional Record earlier in August. Greetings from the General Conference were brought by Elder Charles E. Bradford, vice-president for the North American Division. Other participants from the General Conference were vice-presidents Elder Lowell Bock and Elder Francis W. Wernick, present and past chairmen, respectively, of the Adventist Media Center Board of Trustees.

As a finale for the celebration, Glendale artist Dr. William Nethery unveiled a painting of Elder Richards. The painting will be hung at the Voice of Prophecy.

The Adventist Review—

Enabling Adventists Around the World to Clasp Hands

By Aileen Andres Sox

I am biased toward the Adventist Review! After all, I am a staff member and my work consumes many of my waking hours. I am positive that if I were to change jobs tomorrow, I would continue to read the Review faithfully. What I read weekly gives me many reasons to be happy; things to think about and pray about; reasons to be amazed at the continued goodness of God; things to laugh about and cry about.

The Review allows me to be an armchair observer of and participant in the work of my church around the globe. One week I am whisked to Thailand where I share the trials and triumphs of a couple who are translating the Bible into the language of the Pwo Karen tribe. Another issue thrills me with the story of the miracles that enable a southern California physician to ship donated medicines to outposts around the world.

The Review provides its readers an opportunity to have a say in how their church is run. The letters we receive each day are noted carefully, the opinions they express are greatly appreciated. Some letters are published, some are answered personally, many are sent to the General Conference official or committee that makes decisions in the areas the letter writers are concerned with.

The Review tells me what the leaders of my church are thinking and doing. They are busy and things that are happening around the world as a result of the Thousand Days of Reaping, for example, I do not find out firsthand any more than you do; I read the report sent in to the Review. (By the way, General Conference President Neal Wilson has promised us an article on that very topic. He says wonderful things are happening around the world and I can hardly wait to know the specifics.)

Finally, and to me the most important, the Review brings me closer to God. The authors of the articles we publish prod me gently, inspire me, teach me. I am often aware that the Holy Spirit is working on my heart through the words of the people who write in the Review.

When I compare the price of a Review subscription to the cost of a Time magazine subscription, a daily newspaper subscription, or a television that many of us think is necessary to keep us abreast of current events, I find the Review to be a genuine bargain. In fact, US $28.95 a year (US $25.95 for automatic renewal) for a weekly magazine is a good bargain.

Not only are times rough economically, they also are serious—we are on the brink of eternity. In such times Adventists need a means by which we can clasp hands, through which we can be inspired, informed, and encouraged. From my perspective, the Adventist Review admirably fills that role.
