Dear Fellow Believer:

Jesus, with great urgency, spoke about reaping and the harvest of the world even in His day. One wonders what His direct message would be to us if He were here with us right now. Jesus also emphasized, when he was here, that His redeeming message must be taken to "every nation, kindred, tongue, and people." Later He emphasized such a proclamation of His unchanging truth with great urgency and haste for those of us living in the end of time. Angels made the impact in the prophet's vision.

Ben J. Liebelt

I see this as "television from heaven." John saw a spectacular sight and heard a message to supercede even what he saw. If I may stretch the point—John not only saw a most important "vision," but he was ordered to "tell" it. In our television-mad age how significant that we detect in all this our most significant priority of what to "tell" about.

Especially in the natural world there is a specific time to sow and a time to reap. But in the spiritual realm the Scriptures teach us that there is a constant overlap. Our Lord challenges us to sow, cultivate, reap, and nurture, all at the same time. The reasons are obvious. For example, anyone "baptized into Christ" enlists in a life and death struggle to reach the final harvest into God's eternal kingdom. In other words, joining the church is not the end of the harvest but rather the beginning.

In our Conference, it is our determination to exemplify a sacred restlessness to help "finish the work." Heaven's divine urgency seeks for totally committed people, and we want to be that kind of people.

In recent years, our leadership has begun to stress finishing the work. This concept is labeled, FAITH, ACTION, ADVANCE. It is a good basic concept which spells out many ways to coordinate every department, program, or project of our church to accomplish the final sowing and reaping process for our desperate world. ONE THOUSAND DAYS OF REAPING places special focus upon these objectives. We are enthusiastic to utilize every potential to do our fair share to help hasten our Lord's return. Interests are being found through the printed page, personal contacts, and the preached word. Much emphasis will be placed upon making ourselves CARING people, and our churches, CARING churches. And we thank God for people who are constantly responding to the work of the Spirit and our coordinated efforts.

To cheer us on is none other than the Lord through His Holy Word. In Hosea 10:12 He encourages us to "Sow to yourselves in righteousness, and reap in mercy; break up the fallow ground; for it is time to seek the Lord." Isn't that good? Evidently our fallow ground has been resting long enough. The Lord wants us to produce now. In Isaiah 32:20 a blessing is pronounced when we "sow beside all waters." Once in a while we hear that there are too many programs, too many calls. I ask you how many calls does the devil make upon people for his purposes? Can the church of God do any less? Let us praise the Lord for thousands of consecrated, brilliant minds who are constantly presenting to the world, and to members of the church, instruction, counsel, guidelines, cautions and encouragement for the journey to the heavenly kingdom. Let us sacrifice and work now in every possible sowing and reaping endeavor. Psalm 126:5, 6 assures us that even though we, at times, may sow in tears eventually we can expect to reap in joy. How encouraging.

Cautions are given. II Corinthians 9:6 proclaims that "he which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he which soweth bountifully shall also reap bountifully." Galatians 6:7 admonishes that whatsoever is sown will be reaped. Obviously this can be a blessing or a curse.

We express great appreciation and gratitude for each of our full-time workers and lay members for faithful work, sacrifice and witness. Let us repel the shackles of Laodicea which would hinder us from unitedly cooperating with Heavenly Agencies to accomplish our Lord's purposes. This is my earnest prayer.

Sincerely,

Ben J. Liebelt

Vacation Witnessing

By Halle G Crowson

Isaiah 43:10: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord."

Some have already made plans for the summer vacation, others are still in the planning stage. There are so many exciting places to visit in our own Mid-America Union territory. Or maybe you have planned to go to some distant location for your vacation.

The list of necessities for the vacation is rather large. What to leave at home; what to take along. Some items remain on the "must" list even if other items must be left who may not be a practicing Christian or for one who may be having trouble with doubt. Be sure to carry a supply of Bible school enrollment cards. These can be left in the restaurant along with the tip. The motel maid will appreciate a book that you leave for her or hand to her as you express appreciation for her service.

Some have purchased a supply of the 1983 book of the year How to Survive the '80s. This is a most attractive book inside and outside.

This was a good way to keep the kids entertained while doing a great amount of good. As you remember, literature bombs are made by rolling up magazines and pamphlets, securing them with a rubber band and then tossing them out to people along the way.

You will make numerous stops for gasoline. Remember the filling station attendant with a book. When the children have to make a rest stop at a filling station, leave the attendant a book. This might even help him to feel more kindly when you do not make a purchase.

Witnessing can be done without literature of course. Most people are willing to talk. Many people are glad to talk if you will just start the conversation. While you are waiting in the cafeteria line, visit with the person in front or behind you. Are you flying? Your seat mate is buckled in with you for quite a while. Talk to him and something will help to trigger a conversation about the church and the Lord.

Maybe if you have read this far you will begin to get some ideas about your plans for vacation witnessing. Vacation time is fun time, so let's have fun being a good Christian witness on our trip. Have a happy and safe vacation.

Shall we take a vacation from witnessing for our Lord?

behind. Are you omitting the Lord from your vacation plans, or is there room for Him to go along?

Shall we take a vacation from witnessing for our Lord? Why not witness for the Lord during the vacation? A person on vacation comes in contact with so many people. This offers a multitude of ways in which a person can witness.

The 1,000 Days of Reaping must of necessity allow room for some additional seed-sowing, also. Contact the Adventist Book Center for a supply of books and tracts to hand out along the way.

The little book Steps to Christ is an excellent choice for someone

Then the special book for the entire period of the 1,000 Days of Reaping is Cosmic Conflict. As you know, this is a new version of The Great Controversy. This book has caused many a person to stop and think seriously about his life. These books and pamphlets will do no good, however, if they are left in the cupboard at home.

Maybe there are some extra magazines like These Times, Signs of the Times, Message or El Centinela around the house. How about taking them along on the vacation. And by the way, whatever happened to the literature bombing that the kids used to enjoy doing.

Baptisms In Lawrence

By Dick Shadduck

God has truly demonstrated His great love for souls recently in the Lawrence Church. Here is the story.

During Ingathering season, a Bible study enrollment card was left at the door of Millie Keech by Mildred Reyes. Millie sent it in, and in response, Mildred Reyes delivered the studies. After a few weeks, Pastor Shadduck was asked to visit the Keech's. They were content with the studies and wanted nothing more at that time.

Three months later, Evangelist Harold Kaufmann began a "Films for Christ" series in Lawrence. While passing out handbills house-to-house one afternoon, he stopped at the door of a young couple, Tony and Carrie McMechan, and invited them to the meetings. It turned out that Tony is the son of Millie Keech. He called his mother and invited her. She, in turn, invited her other son, Carl McMechan, and his wife Rosie. They all came to the meetings, got excited about what they were hearing, and invited Millie's sister, Helen Smith. She came and was so impressed that she felt her children would benefit from the messages.

So Helen asked Bille and Becky Beerbower, her son and daughter-in-law, and daughter and son-in-law, Debbie and John Slifer. They all came the next night. The good news is that all of these precious souls have been baptized or are planning baptism as of this writing.

But this is not the end. Sharon Brewer met Alice Arment at a garage sale. Sharon's friendly way attracted Alice, so she invited her back to her home for a visit. Sharon gave her some literature and invited her to take Bible studies. She also asked her to come to the meetings, offering her a ride each night. Alice accepted the truths she heard and has united with the Lawrence Church by profession of faith.

But God wasn't finished yet! Mildred Reyes invited another neighbor, Faye Hall, to the meetings. Faye attended regularly and was baptized with the others.

The custodian of the school where the meetings were held, John Rice, sat in the lobby, looking through the door and listening. He liked what he was hearing and finally moved inside the meeting room. He continued to come nightly. When we moved to the church, he continued to come. John is faithfully attending church and the Tuesday night Bible study and has requested to join the church.

Says Pastor Shadduck, "We are praising God for his great blessings and marveling at how He is pouring out His Spirit in the last days to save souls for His kingdom. It is now our task to cooperate with Jesus in loving these, God's children, and preserving our great harvest."

S O S

The SOS—Save Our School—fund for Enterprise Academy is growing as people are faithfully paying their commitments. $57,126.71 has been received during the first quarter of 1983.

Members of the conference pledged more than $325,000 to be paid over a two-year period. As each one is faithful in fulfilling their respective obligation, the funds will be available when needed.

Similar programs are planned for Platte Valley Academy and College View Academy during the fall months.

Christian education is strong and growing in Kansas-Nebraska!

Community Service Center

By Lenora Miller

The Great Bend Community Service Center began approximately two years ago as the result of a major flood. It is unique because it is staffed by volunteers from nearly a dozen surrounding cities. The center director, Jane Frick, lives 50 miles away. The Great Bend, Shaffer, LaCrosse, and Bazine Churches give support to this outreach operation. It is housed in a building which is managed by Jerry Friedeman, a State Legislator, who makes it possible to operate at a minimal cost.

The Great Bend Center has a special stock pile of items for fire and acute-need victims. They've had the distinction of helping outfit a wedding party. And one man, as the result of a newspaper appeal, brought nearly 60 almost-new dress shirts.

Interfaith and Red Cross organizations cooperated with the center in its inception, and it has grown until it desperately needs more space and larger quarters. Over 6,000 people have been assisted, and over 18,000 articles of clothing have been distributed since opening day.

Mrs. Herb Schmidt and Mrs. Wes Hagelgantz serve as assistant directors, Mrs. Dan Frick as secretary, and Mrs. Ed Mantz as treasurer. Volunteers also include several men.

Operation Soup Line

By Laura Bridges

"Operation Soup Line" was a benefit for the Alliance of Churches Utility Fund. The fund is to provide emergency help to people who are unable to pay their utility bills during the winter months.

The idea for the benefit was that of Bea Cunningham of Chanute and was held at the Chanute Masonic Hall from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Churches, civic groups, and individuals donated the food, supplies, and labor.

Although the tickets sold for $2.50, many larger donations were made. It was estimated that between $7,000 and $8,000 would be raised from the sale of 3,000 pre-printed tickets, but the response was so good that approximately $12,000 was raised.

About 150 families have been helped through the fund. The "Soup Line" may become a yearly event in Chanute.

Janice Weeks, Glenda and Merlin Dick, Mary Louise McDowell, and Wauneta Bridges, of the Chanute Seventh-day Adventist Church, helped serve and were able to witness as people asked about the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Church people in Chanute have become much better acquainted with the Seventh-day Adventist Church through Bible classes being conducted at the Neosho County Community College taught by Pastor Lyndon McDowell. Those attending the classes have been given an entirely new concept of Adventist beliefs. One student has started attending church, and his wife is now beginning to show an interest.

Community Relations Day

By Sally J. Lupton

Community Relations Day was celebrated at Golden Hills Seventh-day Adventist Church recently. The public was invited through hand-out invitations and radio announcements in the Bellevue area. Sabbath School rooms were filled to capacity.

During the church service, Pastor Lloyd Hallock presented Hap Englekamp with the Community Service Award. Mr. Englekamp is president of Bellevue's Chamber of Commerce; is involved in an organization promoting fund raising for child victims of diabetes, and in general is a community-concerned person.

Hap's family was present for the service and the fellowship luncheon with the members.

Vacation Bible Schools

Last year Vacation Bible Schools held in the Kansas-Nebraska Conference were instrumental in helping teach youth about Christ and helping to acquaint parents and friends of enrollees with the Adventist Church. Christ-centered lessons, crafts, nature stories, and other activities were all designed to uplift Christ.

Some schools were held during the mornings for a period of two weeks. Others were conducted as all-day sessions for only one week. Still others were conducted in the evenings. Each school adapted to accommodate the respective personnel and community.

Leaders, teachers, and assistants who planned and executed the programs gave hundreds of hours of their time to make these schools successful.

Plans for Vacation Bible Schools during 1983 are bigger and better than ever before. May this type of soul winning program increase.

Philadelphia To Become a Pilot Church

By Sharon Tate

Philadelphia Church has been working hard during this 1,000 Days of Reaping to ready themselves for another successful year of witnessing for the Lord. The campaign "Win 2 Souls in 82" is still going on in 83. It all began with a visit from D. E. Holland, secretary of the Mid-America Union Conference, who presented a message on the possibility of Philadelphia becoming a Pilot Church, which means making a commitment to a personal witnessing program. The Philadelphia Church board met and voted to become a Pilot Church in Mid-America Union.

Shortly after Elder Holland's visit, Philadelphia was honored by another guest, L. B. Hampton, Secretary-Treasurer of Central States Conference, whose sermon surrounding the 10 holinesses was a great encouragement of the church in preparation of the witnessing program.

E. F. Carter, conference stewardship director, was the speaker at the ordination of Terrill Terrill as local elder and Charles Black as deacon. His speech told of King Herod, the industrious and great king. After the services, Pastor Carter met with the finance committee regarding the Pilot Church program. Elder Carter has been a great inspiration to the Philadelphia Church.

In Appreciation

By Dorothy W. Woodson

"I think it is time for me to sit back, relax a bit, and train others so that they may carry on in this capacity," uttered Mary Belle Thompson, who after 40 years of dedicated service to the Lord was presented with a Certificate of Award earlier this year by E. A. Pembleton for her outstanding achievements in deaconess duties.

Mrs. Thompson was baptized by Elder Harvey Kibble, Sr., in Chicago, Illinois where she first became active in deaconess work.

Since that time, she and her late-husband, William, moved to Top-eka and joined the College Avenue Adventist Church where she resumed her duties.

She has been a member for 89 years and a staunch Jasper Wayne Ingatherer for many years. Not being able to walk from door to door any more for her solicitations has not hampered her desire to collect more than any other member, for she makes her contacts by phone. Regardless of her age, she is still active in the church and her many years of faithful service as a division leader, Sabbath School superintendent, teacher, and as a worker in other areas, are greatly appreciated.

May the Lord continue to bless her in countless ways.

Youth Achievements

By Ivory Chalmers

Miss Valerie E. Johnson, daughter of James and Yvonne Johnson, who will be graduating from Gateway High School in Aurora, Colorado, is a Christian young lady who is an excellent musician. The tool she makes use of is the violin.

Valerie has held "first chair" in several orchestras, performed in numerous concerts, weddings, and talent programs. She is also a leader in the alto section of her school choir.

The recipient of many awards, including first-place trophies, Miss Johnson was chosen to participate in the "Miss Teenage America Pageant". Her talent has taken her to the Colorado All State Orchestra and the All State Choir.

In all her endeavors, Miss Johnson has upheld the principles of Christianity, declining to participate in any activities that took place on Friday night, no matter how prestigious the activity.

Congratulations, Valerie! May your example serve as an inspiration to other youth!

First Elder Recognized

By Ivory Chalmers

George Nealey was presented with a plaque expressing the appreciation of the church for his dedicated and tireless service as first elder during the period that Park Hill Church was without a pastor. The presentation was made by Carol Bohannon just before the eleven o'clock service. Elder Nealey was quite surprised and being genuinely modest was almost at a loss for words, during the presentation.

Fit And Free

By Chester Jordan

"Fit and Free" is the name of a newly devised exercise and weight control program at South Big Horn County Hospital operated by Adventists. The popularity of the program has necessitated two daytime classes at the Greybull, Wyoming high school, as well as evening classes at the hospital.

Following a format developed to encourage lifestyle change, the program suggests ways to metabolize and utilize fat stores. Many diets and exercise programs emphasize weight loss which usually becomes muscle loss rather than fat loss. Overall body fitness and freedom from excess fat is the goal.

The central focus of the program evolves around the concept of teaching the body to burn fat calories continuously over a specific slow burn time. The intensity of exercise is regulated by the individual's own fitness and percentage of training heart rate. A long, steady burn will call for glucose to be metabolized from the fat stores, thus not depleting lean muscle mass but burning fat at the same time.

In the first "Fit and Free" exercise program begun in January, fifty per cent of those who completed the program showed an increase in lean body mass and a significant fat loss. The change is attributed to walking or jogging at the prescribed heart rate for a minimum of twenty minutes daily.

Diet modification suggestions are given that stress low fat, low sugars, increased fiber and balanced meals as directed by the basic four food groupings currently emphasized by the American Dietetic Association.

This approach does not make exercise a burden but a joy as one's body learns to burn fat rather than lean.

*Chester Jordan, Health Educator,
South Big Horn County Hospital*

World Day Of Prayer

By Elaine Dodd

The World Day of Prayer, an annual event sponsored by Church Women United, was hosted this year by the Powell, Wyoming Adventist Church. One hundred people representing eight or more religions met to worship and pray together.

The theme of the service was, "New Persons in Christ," written this year by women of the Caribbean. Under the leadership of Linda Engeberg, the program flowed smoothly, with thought-provoking Bible texts and discussions conducted by group leaders from other churches.

A unique feature may have been the absence of coffee or tea from the fellowship tea following the service. Instead, guests were served hot cranberry tea and cold punch along with their cookies.

To the Powell Church members, however, the most memorable aspect of the World Day of Prayer was the smell of fresh paint.

World Day of Prayer was the culmination of months of organized planning and work to make the church presentable. Not for many years had the church looked so fresh and attractive.

The campaign to renovate the church began last fall when the church members donated items for a giant garage sale in October, netting over $800.00

In January, work began in earnest, and continued through the week of March 4, but all was in readiness for World Day of Prayer.

Spanish Evangelism

"Sights and Sounds of the Holy Land," is the name of an evangelistic program presented to the Spanish-speaking population of Denver, Colorado. Speaker for the series is Dr. Victor A. Schulz from Merrillville, Indiana, an evangelist from the Indiana Conference.

Many problems have affected this evangelistic series. There were complaints made to the city and state authorities for granting a public auditorium to the Adventists. The evangelist was assaulted on the second night of the program. Thousands of dollars of filming, projection and other valuable equipment was taken from him that were needed for the meetings. A nitric acid spill forced the evacuation of 20,000 people from their homes in the area where most of the people attending the campaign live. Four storms with 27 inches, 19 inches, eight inches and six inches have accounted for most of the winter's snow.

Nevertheless, through this bad weather and all the problems, God was good. First of all, He permitted us to get the excellent auditorium for the series. The history of the Colorado Conference are expected. At the time of this writing, we have started the baptismal class and 51 souls are on the list of firm interests. Among them are two evangelical preachers for whom we are praying to make their decision for the Lord. Two or three young promising adults have made their decision to enter the ministerial field.

A revival has taken place in the church. One lady said, "Never, never in my life have I felt so close to God as during this campaign." Another member said, "This crusade was the best thing that happened to us here in many years!" These expressions are the feelings of many of the older members of the Denver Spanish Church. The meetings will be continued by the local pastor, Elder Tony Vargas.

We have appreciated the constant support received from the Rocky Mountain Conference, the Mid-America Union and the enthusiastic support from the local pastor and the Spanish-speaking members of Denver. We ask your prayers for this evangelistic program for the Hispanic population of Denver.

A partial view of the audience attending the evangelistic series presented in the Museum of Natural History in the city of Denver, Colorado by Evangelist Victor Schulz.

Museum of Natural History granted us the use of their modern hall. The Mayor, W. H. McNichols, gave an honorary citizenship to the evangelist and a memento bearing the official seal of the city of Denver. Governor Richard D. Lamm sent a letter to Dr. Schulz welcoming him to the State of Colorado declaring that week as the "Week of Sights and Sounds of the Holy Land" (That is the name of the crusade.) All this provided free publicity for the campaign through the television and radio and saved a lot of the Lord's money. The attendance in this traditionally hard area for Hispanic evangelism varied from 169 to 324.

Baptisms amounting to more than two and a half times the total of any previous Spanish crusade in the Night after night the audience wished to take a close look at the artifacts from the Bible lands that were associated with a Bible doctrine.

NEW PASTOR AT DENVER FIRST

Pastor and Mrs. Stuart Harrison, Heather and Chad, are now serving the Denver First congregation.

Adopt a Grandparent

By Dave Fishell

Most children are fortunate if they have two complete sets of grandmas and grandpas.

But Ruby Eaton's second- and third-grade students at Intermountain Junior Academy, the local Seventh-day Adventist church school, are some of the few students in the country that can claim to have either three grandmas or grandpas.

It's all a part of the Adopt-A-Grandparent program. At the beginning of the school year, Mrs. Eaton compiled a list of names of older men and women. From the list each student adopted a grandmother or grandfather.

And with the new grandma and grandpa came new responsibilities for the students. Once a month, the class members worked on some type of craft project, which was used as a gift for the adoptees. Apple butter, a plaque with a poem and other handmade items have all been given as presents.

Several times the entire classroom presented a special program for the adopted grandmothers and grandfathers. The programs usually consisted of student musical performances and recitals.

Special holidays were not forgotten either. Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and Valentine's Day cards and presents were also sent by the students to the new "family members".

"At first, a few of the students were a little hesitant," said Mrs. Eaton, who also had a similar program when she taught at a church school in Cortez.

"But now the kids really get excited when there is a special program for the grandparents here at the school. Some even keep track of them outside of school. If one of the grandparents is sick or in the hospital, the students come and let me know."

One of the adopted grandparents who enjoyed the program was Don MacKendrick, dean of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences at Mesa College.

"It's really nice, and I enjoy coming out to the programs" said MacKendrick as he munched on cookies prepared by the students. MacKendrick was adopted by third-grader Darren Steensma, who also happens to be a neighbor.

"We knew each other for a while—he takes care of my chickens when I go away at Christmas," said MacKendrick. "He's a real good neighbor, and at the beginning of the school year, he just came over and asked me if I wanted to be a grandparent. I'm glad he did."

Darren, wiggling and grinning in a chair next to MacKendrick, said the Adopt-A-Grandparent idea is "fun".

"The whole idea behind the program is to get the students involved with something where they can give of themselves," said Mrs. Eaton.

"And it's also a good opportunity," said Eaton as she watched the grandparents and children say goodbye, "for the children to be able to share Christ with those who may be a little lonely or left out of other activities."

WED 50 YEARS

Elder and Mrs. Art Page, who have given many years of leadership to the publishing work, will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary in June. A reception in their honor will be held on Sunday, June 5, 2-5 p.m., in the Committee Room of the Rocky Mountain Conference Office, 2520 S. Downing, Denver, Colorado. No gifts, please. An invitation is also extended to join in a card and letter shower for the Pages. Their address is 21533 Weld County Road 7, Route #1, Berthoud, CO 80513.

Many Contacts Lead To Baptism

On February 5, 1983 Mark and Deanne Sanchez were baptized into the Cortez Seventh-day Adventist Church by Pastor Brian Schafer. Here is a demonstration of the combined efforts of the church leading souls into God's kingdom. Deanne had received a Bible from her grandmother with H.M.S. Richards' helps. Their study of these helps led them to conviction on the Sabbath and several other doctrines.

They also had contacts with the church through Adventist physicians, the church school, literature evangelist and the pastor. All these loving contacts led to their acceptance of the Three Angels' Messages. Now, they are anxious to share with others their new-found faith.

Culpepper Advances Within Professional Society

James C. Culpepper, administrator, Moberly Regional Medical Center, was awarded Fellow status in the American College of Osteopathic Hospital Administrators (ACOHA) at the College's 30th Annual Convocation, April 12 in Orlando, Florida.

ACOHA is the professional society for osteopathic or osteopathic/allopathic (DO/MD) hospital administrators. Stringent standards must be met before a member can attain the rank of Fellow. Requirements include: having been active as a member in the College for at least five years; earning the required number of continuing education points each year; and successfully submitting a Fellowship thesis to the Board of Trustees for approval. The Fellowship paper must explore a facet of hospital administration, adhere to a strict set of guidelines, and the topic must be approved by the Board before it can be submitted.

Culpepper is also a Fellow in the American College of Hospital Administrators, a member of the Board of the Missouri Hospital Association, and the Missouri Osteopathic Hospital Association.

SMMC Chaplain Certified

Shawnee Mission Medical Center Chaplain Leonard S. Harberson was recently certified as a professional chaplain by the College of Chaplains.

Certification is granted only to those chaplains who meet set professional standards. Qualifications include college and theological seminary degrees, one year of experience as a chaplain, and one year of special clinical pastoral education under supervision. The applicant must also submit a series of essays and pass an oral examination.

The College of Chaplains has 1,700 members who represent 30 denominations.

Card Holds Miniature Medical History

A new service, the Card-E-Gram, is being offered by Shawnee Mission Medical Center.

The Card-E-Gram looks just like a credit card, but contains information which could save its owner's life in an emergency.

On one side of the small plastic card is the owner's name and his doctor's name and phone number. On the other side is a narrow slot with a clear window. Inserted in the slot are pieces of microfilm containing important medical information.

The information varies according to each person's needs and is meant to be used by a physician only if the carrier is involved in an emergency and his own doctor cannot be involved in his treatment. It would be very helpful for an early diagnosis.

The cards cost $14 each, and can carry up to seven pieces of microfilm, so they can be updated annually.

The cards are available to anyone who needs them. For information, call Shawnee Mission Medical Center's HEART Institute, 676-2257.

The Card-E-Gram, which carries a miniature medical history on microfilm, is now available to the public through Shawnee Mission Medical Center.

Olathe Resident Named Hospital Social Work Director of Year

Joan Upshaw has been named the first Hospital Social Work Director of the Year by the Missouri-Kansas Chapter of the Society for Hospital Social Work Directors.

Mrs. Upshaw is director of social services at Shawnee Mission Medical Center, where she has worked since 1974. She earned her bachelor's and master's degrees in social work from the University of Kansas in Lawrence while raising six children.

Mrs. Upshaw has gone from being the sole social worker at SMMC to being the director of a staff of 11. Her department offers services including a group to help new mothers adjust to being parents, post-hospital planning for elderly patients, linking patients who need financial assistance with community resources, working with employees who have family problems, and psycho-social evaluations of mental health unit patients.

Mrs. Upshaw teaches a graduate course at her alma mater in addition to being involved in many civic and professional organizations. Mrs. Upshaw is president of the Kansas chapter of the National Association of Social Workers. She has held every office in the local chapter of the Society for Hospital Social Work Directors and has been active at the national level. She has served as board president of Legal Assistance for Senior Adults, as a consultant to Kansas Public Health Department Family and Youth Services, as a member of the Johnson County Community Agencies Coalition on Elderly Abuse, and in many other organizations.

In her spare time, Mrs. Upshaw and her husband, Oda, renovate old houses. The couple live with four of their six children in Olathe.

Scholarships Awarded to Former Candy Strippers

Two local schoolgirls will receive $500 scholarships each from the Boulder Memorial Hospital Auxilliary. Both girls plan careers in the medical field, which is one of the criteria in obtaining this grant.

Elizabeth Hoff is graduating from Fairview High School this spring and has been accepted in the University of Colorado School of Nursing program. Elizabeth plans to specialize in pediatrics.

Chamelle Hutchins will graduate from Champion Academy in Loveland, and plans to attend Union College with a career in physical therapy. Chamelle not only helped as a Candy Stripper, but has also worked in the Dietary Department.

This year's Candy Stripper program will begin June 14th and will be directed by Linda Bates.

College Student Baptized

Carol Reckling, senior nursing student at Union College, stepped into the College View Church baptismal tank on April 16, 1983, and gave her life to Christ. "For the first time in my life, I felt completely whole," she said. "All of the pieces were there; the spiritual, social, physical and mental aspects of my life were all in balance. I had found Jesus in a personal way and consequently, I had found happiness."

Carol, raised in a Methodist home in Lincoln, enrolled at Union College three years ago as a transfer student from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. While at the university, she changed her major from education to nursing. Debbie Shepherd, a friend of Carol's and a Union College graduate, recommended Union's nursing program to her.

In August 1980, Carol not only enrolled in the nursing program at Union College, but like other Union students in a bachelor's program, Carol was required to take 12 hours of religion classes. Many of the doctrines presented in her classes clashed with concepts she had heard all of her life. Carol had a hard time accepting ideas such as the mortality of the soul, the Sabbath and the sanctuary doctrine. "My friends and I would talk for hours on end about our varying beliefs."

Although Carol grew up in a Christian home, Christ did not play a prominent role in her family life. "I didn't know what it meant to have Christ as a personal friend and I'm really grateful to my classmates who took the time to explain their faith to me in practical terms," Carol said.

During the three years Carol attended Union, she found Christ to be a trustworthy friend, she felt the beliefs of the Adventist church were correct, she loved her Adventist friends and she felt she wanted to become a member of the Adventist church. But on the other hand, she had been raised a Methodist and she would be the only Adventist on both sides of her family if she chose to go that way. Finally in January she came to a decision—she would be baptized a Seventh-day Adventist Christian. "When I finally made the decision, I felt a peace in my heart that I'd never felt before," Carol said. "I think the Holy Spirit was working very diligently with me during the months previous to my decision and subsequent baptism."

Carol graduated with a B.S.N. degree in May and is now working at Shawnee Mission Medical Center. She is anticipating taking nursing board exams in July.

Sunnydale Academy — Serving Iowa-Missouri's Youth

Sunnydale Academy may well be the best-kept secret in Adventist Christian Education in North America today! The quiet elegance of its spacious campus and its pastoral, rural surroundings create an air of casual relaxation that belies the beehive of progressive educational activity buzzing continually within it. Just step onto the campus and the evidence of that activity surrounds you everywhere!

Students These kids are something special! Their solid Mid-Western roots make them genuinely friendly and thoroughly sensible. Their evident Christian experience makes them dedicated and concerned. They enjoy the life and the learning of academy, but they are also here to prepare for life and Christian service.

Teachers It takes dedication to accept a "teaching" load that includes work and recreation with students that may require sixteen or more hours a day "on the job." Sunnydale's teachers and administrators have that kind of dedication.

Academics The three-R's you can be sure, but there's a lot more to Sunnydale's academic program. Quality education in all the traditional disciplines is combined with innovative approaches to practical education. Students take computer science, and vocational classes that may have a girl tearing down a gasoline engine or a boy putting together a casserole. Music and fine arts are an important part of this academy's program, and some extra curricular projects can be as educational as class work. Religious education is not confined to the excellent Bible classes. It permeates the curriculum and spills over into service activities integrated into the total educational program.

Work-Study An interesting and growing variety of work opportunities help prepare students for real life and help them meet the real costs of academy education as well. Punctuality, diligence, the joy of achievement, the dignity of work are all taught at Sunnydale, and you can see the difference it makes in the students. The school grounds, its farm and its garden all provide that special, natural dimension to student labor as well.

Physical Plant Modern economic realities dictate caution and prudence in building and expansion but Sunnydale is not content to "grow old gracefully." Everywhere you turn, older facilities are being renovated and innovative approaches to their utilization are emerging. New structures are being added where there are obvious needs and a host of flower gardens and other "little" touches are springing up all over.

Spirituality But perhaps the most important evidence that things are happening at Sunnydale is to be found in the lives of its students, staff and graduates. Dorm worships, religious services, church leadership and witnessing involvement are all a part of a student's life, with telling effect. When you get to know Sunnydale and its students, you find that Sunnydale is home, not only for students and teachers, but for their Saviour as well.

Sunnydale's New Principal Speaks To Parents And Students.

Dear Friends of Sunnydale,

I have just completed an exciting weekend on the campus of Sunnydale Academy. The friendliness, openness and positive outlook of the students and staff have left a deep impression on my mind and heart. This was also the weekend of Music Festival and Academy Days, so I have had an opportunity of meeting scores of boys and girls from elementary schools, junior academies and public schools all around Iowa-Missouri. Truly the future for Christian education in our conference is bright and vital!

I was much impressed by the reverence of the students and visitors in the weekend religious services. I believe the students of Sunnydale Academy are deeply spiritually aware. Continuing to develop this spiritual emphasis of Sunnydale will be a major priority in my plans and dreams for our academy.

As we look to a new school year we see several other priorities. We want to continue to develop the work-study program of the academy, to bring in additional viable work opportunities and to fully integrate the skills and attitudes learned at work into the total educational program of the academy.

One firm commitment of Sunnydale in the future will be service to all of the people and churches of Iowa-Missouri. I am interested in visiting our churches and our schools and in bringing groups of students and staff so that all of our people may become well acquainted with what Sunnydale has to offer for them and for their children. I want to see our academy play an important role in the Iowa-Missouri Conference and indeed in the total work of Christ and His church. June 2, 1983

Churches Host Winter Show Booth

By Jolayne Simpson

Volunteer workers of the Crookston and Thief River Falls Churches manned a booth at the Red River Valley Winter Show. The theme of the booth was "Programming For Heaven". Visitors were asked to complete a short questionnaire regarding their health habits. From this information, the computer produced a Health Age and Longevity Appraisal.

The appraisal revealed the participant's life expectancy according to present health habits. It also suggested habit changes and estimated the number of years those changes could add to their expected longevity. The questionnaire covered seven areas: hours of sleep, type of breakfast, between meal snacks, exercise, alcohol intake, smoking habits and weight. There were 1602 appraisals, 943 for men and 659 for women. The average age of the participants was 32.3. The potential for added years of life was 6,876 person years, or four years for each person.

Seven subscriptions to Listen magazine were given away in the daily drawings and 30 books—Great Controversy, Steps to Christ, Project Sunlight, Come Alive and How To Survive the '80s—were given away. Other literature given away included 1600 Listen and Life and Health magazines, 500 Guides and Little Friends, and invitations to the upcoming evangelistic series.

Many Bible study enrollment cards were completed, and several registered for the upcoming Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking.

Jolayne Simpson is the communication secretary for the Thief River Falls Church.

Seminars At Stillwater

The Stillwater Seventh-day Adventist Church conducted a 12-week, 24-lesson Revelation Bible Seminar, developed by Harry Robinson of the Texas Conference and utilizing the special Heritage Bibles produced by IT IS WRITTEN. The series was followed by a banquet and graduation.

The word "Bible" is used in the name of this seminar to indicate that this series is not a typical verse-by-verse study of Revelation. Instead, the truths found in the book of Revelation are developed and supported from texts located in other parts of the Bible. Thus in a unique way, every Bible truth taught by Seventh-day Adventists is covered during the seminar.

Groundwork was laid over a period of a year through house-to-house distribution of 5000 Signs Digests. Many requests for free Signs subscriptions and Bible Guides were received. Among the attendants was an entire ladies Bible study group of five. One student is already committed to baptism, and it is our prayer that as a result of extensive home visitation, more will be taking their stand for the truths they have studied.

As a follow-up of this basic Bible seminar, an Advanced Revelation Seminar, taking the book verse-by-verse, is being planned to begin in September. The seminar afforded many opportunities for laymen to participate. Others besides the pastor who assisted as instructors were Elwood Johnson, Roger Eno, and Viola Gelford. Registration and secretarial details from night to night were well cared for by Marge Johnson and her assistant, Beth Kodada.

As an immediate follow-up to the graduation banquet, a seven-session Cooking and Nutrition class is being planned by the ladies of the Stillwater Church, under the general supervision of the pastor's wife, Alice Hallock. The entire class will be active participants, but those especially helping in the presentations will be Marge Johnson and Viola Gelford.

Adventist Singles Ministries Comes To Minnesota

Minneapolis Northbrook Church hosted Adventist Singles Ministries the weekend of April 16-17. Pastor Roger Ratcliffe would like to see this ministry as part of the church family's overall spiritual development.

During the Sabbath School, Sylvia Nosworthy from Walla Walla, Washington, who served several months in Korea, told what it means to be a single missionary. Chaplain Allan Wolfson, Berrien Springs, Michigan, conducted an interesting lesson discussion about Onesiphorus.

A story for the children was told by David Erickson, Avondale College, Australia. The sermon was given by ASM International President G. Garland Day of Takoma Park, Maryland.

Fellowship dinner was enjoyed with the Northbrook church family followed by a discussion of contemporary Adventist singles issues. Potluck supper and games filled the evening.

MINNESOTA

After a Sunday morning pancake breakfast and a devotional, there was a trip to the Bell Museum of Natural History on the University of Minnesota campus, and to Como Park Zoo and Conservatory in St. Paul.

Minnesota added a chapter to the International Adventist Singles Ministries, a chapter being 20 or more members. Officers will be appointed by G. Garland Day.

SDA Marriage Encounter In Minnesota

Throughout our conference one can hear little buzzings about this "new" program the church has which is called Marriage Encounter. Just what is it anyway? Marriage Encounter almost sounds negative. Maybe you picture a wife standing with rolling pin in hand as she is trying to "communicate" with her husband who is hiding grim-faced behind the newspaper.

That is not what Marriage Encounter, or "ME" is all about! Marriage Encounter is a weekend program that teaches married couples communication skills—without the use of a rolling pin or harsh words. Instead, Christ's principles of love and understanding are the basis for these communication skills.

Marriage Encounter is open to any happily married couple without regard to religion, race, education, financial status, or age. Marriage Encounter is conducted in churches of many denominations. The same principles are taught each weekend but they are set in the background of that particular church's beliefs. In other words, a Seventh-day Adventist ME weekend is uniquely Seventh-day Adventist, but there would be a distinct brotherhood with couples who had experienced an ME weekend from other faiths.

Most of the weekend is spent in learning, developing, and experiencing communication that will bring them closer as husband and wife. However, as these skills are learned and used later in every day life, many couples find themselves reaching out to friends and fellow workers in a way they have never known how to do before.

Many found that their ME weekend was the beginning of a new spiritual experience and a new experience in witnessing. They feel that the Holy Spirit has been more evident in their lives.

There's a definition of encounter which means, "to meet unexpectedly." In relationship to Marriage Encounter, this may be a more satisfying definition than the one we usually think of which talks about a conflict, for with Marriage Encounter one meets some very wonderful and unexpected elements which were there all the time but were just overlooked!

The next scheduled Seventh-day Adventist ME weekend in Minnesota is October 21-23. Call the scheduling couple, Rick and Winnie Ravnholdt (612) 478-9585 for information and/or applications.

The Time Of Trouble

By Ben J. Liebelt

For so long we have talked and preached about "the time of trouble," one wonders how much concern we give to a preparation for this time. Being aware of it so long dare not allow us to harbor the mistaken idea that members of Adventist churches will automatically know how to stand firm during the time of trouble. Thinking on these things has caused me to search for a more meaningful ministry as I serve the churches, especially during the 1,000 Days of Reaping. Therefore, as much as possible, I plan to bring four very important messages on given Sabbaths, rather than just a Sabbath morning message. I would like to preach on the following subjects: The Promises of Jesus, The Tears of Jesus, The Prayers of Jesus, and The Concerns of Jesus. The plan is to start Friday evening, continue Sabbath morning, Sabbath afternoon and Sabbath evening.

Backsliders and people who know the message could be candidates for revival and decision. But I have an equal burden for every member, so that all of us can rededicate to holding fast what we have. I want to alert you to these plans, so that when your pastor and I announce this special weekend for your church, you can give us your best support. Without your support, failure results.

Please pray for every soul-winning and soul-holding endeavor in the conference in 1983. In fact, many victories may never be won without very urgent prayer and fasting. We want to approach our special Sabbaths as practice sessions for the time of trouble. On that special Sabbath we ask ourselves, "If this were the last Sabbath of freedom before we enter the time of trouble, how would we celebrate it? In that setting our subjects become very meaningful.

Ben J. Liebelt is the president of the Dakota Conference.

Dakota Federations Meet

By Marvin Lowman

Six Community Services Federation meetings were conducted in the Dakota Conference during the month of April by Marvin Lowman, Conference Community Services Director, and Esther Widicker, conference federation president.

Lee Grady, assistant executive director of Seventh-day Adventist World Services.

Elder Lee Grady was guest speaker for the three meetings conducted in North Dakota April 11-13. Elder Grady is assistant executive director of Seventh-day Adventist World Services (SAWS) and manages the materials resource center in Watsonville, California. His presentation was especially interesting for the ladies who, for years, have been supplying clothing for SAWS. Elder Grady commented on the large number of disasters in many parts of the world in which SAWS was involved in relief programs in 1982. "Already 1983 has started off with a bang," Grady said, referring to the calls for help this year. SAWS supplies clothing, bedding and tents to disaster stricken people and feeds 300,000 people a day around the world.

George Timpson, director of Health, Mid-America Union Conference

Elder George Timpson, Health Director of the Mid-America Union, was guest speaker for the meetings held in South Dakota April 18-20. He pointed out that there are 11 million people who are unemployed in America and 29 million people who are already living in poverty. With a projected decline in the number of health care institutions in our country and rising costs of medical care, there is a great work for Seventh-day Adventist Community Services to do in health screening, health education and even sharing from our own pantries with those in need around us. "But before we can teach others, we must put our own house in order," said Timpson, referring to the need of following the health counsels we have as a church. "We must teach the principles of healthful living to our neighbors by example as well as precept," he said.

Family Living Seminar

By Esther Widicker

A Family Living Seminar was conducted by Elder and Mrs. John Thurber at the Bowdon Country Church on April 22 and 23. Elder and Mrs. Thurber are from the Mid-America Family Services.

Sabbath School Superintendent Valgene Kreiter, Bowdon, welcomed the 316 members from ten churches who attended. The Manfred Ladies Trio sang, "Getting Used To The Family of God", and Melvin Walgren, pastor of the McClusky-Goodrich District conducted the lesson study. Elder John Thurber conducted the worship service.

The afternoon program began with a song from Elder Thurber, "Be Silent". He is a former member of the Voice of Prophecy Quartet. Everyone was blessed by the ministry of this devoted couple.

Walter's Last Will and Testament

Bismarck Hospital
Bismarck, North Dakota
Phone 1-224-6000
March 25, 1983

Dear Fellow Church Member:

This letter is very difficult for me to write. The fact that the doctor has ordered hospitalization for me and the thought of heart surgery is really difficult for me to accept.

Walter Quast

However, the Lord knows what is best and I'm leaving my life in His hands. I've always had a real burden for the church and I always will. What really weighs on my heart as I go to the hospital, is the fact there is so much back-biting and criticism in church. How can the Lord bless a people who are fault-finding and constantly trying to stir trouble?

The devil has really been making hay, hasn't he? Don't let him ruin your life and tear the church apart. Yes, I know that we may be in the sifting time, but I appreciate you folks too much to see this happen to you. May I appeal to you that you can be a real encouragement to me.

If the Lord sees fit that I return to the church after my visit to the hospital, I want to come back to a church that is pulling together. While I'm away, I'll be praying for you that you will do everything you can to bring unity, and love into the church.

The pastor carries a heavy heart for the church. How can we expect him to work efficiently if there is so much unrest? May I suggest that we sweep the dust off our own front door before we look at the neighbors. Let's be so busy praying for one another in the church, then we won't have time to criticize others. May the Lord bless you. Please pray for me and I'll pray for you.

The devil is happy if he can stir trouble. Jesus came to bring peace. Hope you're on the Lord's side.

It would seem to me that by staying away from church and pouting, you automatically cast your vote as to whose side you're on. However, only the Lord can judge.

Your brother,

Walter Quast

Walter was first elder in his church. He did return home but died of a heart attack on April 15, while singing for a funeral service. Submitted by Elmer Haas, director, Trust Services, Dakota Conference.

Dakota Conference Pathfinder Fair

By Jack Babshaw

The Dakota Pathfinder Fair was held at the George Liscombe Activity Center, at Pierre, South Dakota. Events included potato rolling, candle racing, cake decorating, knot tying, marching, booth judging and table setting.

Clubs represented from around the conference were Aberdeen, Bowdon, Ellendale, Pierre, Rapid City, Sioux Falls, and Turtle Lake.

A special trophy was given to the club that traveled the greatest distance, and this was the Bowdon Pathfinders who traveled three miles further than the Turtle Lake Pathfinders.

P.R.E.A.C.H. Seminars In Dakota Conference

By Halle G. Crowson

Some 120 were in attendance at the P.R.E.A.C.H. Seminars conducted in Fargo, Bismarck, Rapid City and Sioux Falls. These professional growth seminars, sponsored by Ministry Magazine, the Dakota Conference and Mid-America attracted clergy persons from a large variety of denominations. P.R.E.A.C.H. (Project for Reaching Every Active Clergy's Home) was begun some six years ago when Ministry was made available to all members of the clergy, not just Seventh-day Adventists. Today 262,000 clergy persons, not of our faith, receive Ministry.

Chaplain Yeagley discusses "grief recovery" with a large group in Bismarck.

Periodically, these recipients are invited to participate in one of the professional growth seminars.

Dr. Samuele Bacchiocchi, professor of church history and theology at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, presented the topics "The Lord's Day: Holy Day or Holiday" and "The Lord's Day: A Historical Perspective". Chaplain Larry Yeagley, chaplain at the Huguley Memorial Medical Center in Fort Worth, Texas, chose as his topics: "Unresolved Grief" and "The Principle and Practice of Grief Counseling".

Dr. Samuele Bacchiocchi, professor of church history and theology at Andrews University, makes a very strong point as he discusses the change from Sabbath to Sunday based on research that he did in the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome. He was the first non-Catholic to graduate from this prestigious Jesuit university.

Something of an interesting nature happened at each location. In Fargo, two Catholic nuns were in attendance. A nurse instructor from the Bismarck Hospital brought six student nurses to hear Chaplain Yeagley's presentation on grief recovery. A Jesuit priest, after listening to Dr. Bacchiocchi's discourse on the change of the Sabbath, prayed for the group and asked for understanding on the subject. In Sioux

Chaplain Larry Yeagley visits with Sheri Vliet of the Bismarck Hospital during the Bismarck seminar. Sheri brought six of her student nurses, pictured with her and Chaplain Yeagley, to the seminar because of their interest in the Chaplain's topic on grief recovery. Sheri is Elder Liebelt's niece.

During one of Dr. Yeagley's first years as a church school teacher in Toledo, Ohio, Jim Szana, right, was a student in his seventh grade class. Jim is now a dentist in Pierre.

Falls, Dr. James Szana, a Seventh-day Adventist dentist from Pierre, had a nice reunion with his former school teacher, Chaplain Yeagley.

At each location the participants were enthusiastic and asked that plans be laid for another seminar again next year.

New Education, Youth and Health Director

By Ben J. Liebelt

We are pleased to announce the arrival of a new education, youth and health director for our Conference. He is Ernest Unruh, most recently vice-principal of Thunderbird Academy.

Ernest Unruh

He comes to us very highly recommended by all who know and have worked with him. Loved by youth, he is deeply committed to his work.

He graduated from College View Academy in 1970 and Union College in 1975. At present he is well on his way to his Master's degree.

His first three years as a teacher were at Maplewood Academy as physical education and Bible teacher. He was boys' dean three years and vice-principal one year. He has had three summers' experience in conducting camps at Glacier View in Colorado. We are very grateful he accepted our invitation and give him a warm welcome to our Conference.

This transfer comes about because Jack Babshaw, who has directed the above departments, accepted an invitation some time ago to be principal of the junior academy at Tampa, Florida. We are pleased that Jack stayed with us until June 1 to help place teachers, plan for summer camps and attend to the many duties of the departments. This gave our new man the opportunity to assume his responsibilities, ask questions, et cetera, before Jack left.

We appreciate all the faithful work of Jack Babshaw in our Conference. And we wish for the entire family God's richest blessings as they take up their new responsibilities.

Ben J. Liebelt, President,
Dakota Conference

Reuben Zima Dies

Reuben Harry Zima was born November 16, 1899. It so happened that his parents lived in a big house next door to the Adventist Church and church school in Mason City, Iowa, where Violette Pingent and her brother Arthur attended. Reuben and Arthur played together, and this is how Reuben met Violette when he was 18 and she was 15. Reuben was not an Adventist, but went to the public high school and excelled in sports, among other things. He played football and was captain of the Mason City High School team which won the Iowa championship, and then defeated the Illinois championship team 66-0! One of Reuben's classmates was Meredith Wilson of Music Man fame.

By the time Reuben and Violette were married in 1921, Reuben had become an Adventist. They took the train from Mason City to Nevada, Iowa, where the Iowa Conference Office was, and were married by one of the men there. Then they proceeded by train to Marshalltown for their honeymoon where Reuben also applied for a patent on one of the many inventions he created. In the mid-1920's, after his three sons, Jack, Dick and Bill, were born, he formed the Zima Floor Finishing Company in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and provided a very good living for his family, including Christian education for the boys. The family were members of the Minneapolis First Church.

Reuben's main interest, since the early 1930's, was in giving Bible studies. As soon as he got home from work and had his supper he would go out and give Bible studies. In 1947 he began to devise the recorded Bible studies to go with slide pictures on a screen. He first used the wire recorders, then changed to tape recorders when they came on the market. He soon lost interest in the Floor Finishing Company, sold it to his son, Dick, and went into his prime concern with greater zeal than ever before. His new company was the S.A.V.E. Company, Special Audio Visual Equipment Company. He and Violette soon began traveling all over the country to camp meetings and churches demonstrating the simple way God can use everyone in giving Bible studies. In many cases he financed the sales of these machines himself. Only in heaven is it known the great number of souls he has led to Christ.

Back in 1918, when Reuben didn't make it to church one Sabbath due to a series of 17 flat tires, he promised God he would never again miss or be tardy for Sabbath services. Reuben was a man of his word and always kept his promises. For 64 years he never missed being at church and Sabbath School, and always arrived early and on time. Then in 1940, Reuben was thinking how much God had blessed him in so many ways and decided to make a covenant with Him that for every year of continued blessings and prosperity, as long as he was able he would add $1.00 to his weekly Sabbath School offering.

Wherever he was, that offering went faithfully into the plate. He ended his perfect attendance record when visiting his son Bill and family in Lincoln, Nebraska for Christmas, 1982. But in very shaky handwriting, his last Sabbath School offering check in the amount of $42.00 was given.

On December 29, 1982, appropriately on his way to prayer meeting, Reuben slipped and fell on ice in a bad snow storm in Minneapolis, cutting his head. His health deteriorated quickly with the main problem being his heart failure. He went to be cared for at the Eden Valley Health Institute in Loveland, Colorado where he died on April 11. Reuben was also a faithful member of the Adventist Self-Supporting Institute (ASI), so it seemed fitting that he lived his last days at this beautiful setting in the mountains of Colorado where Christian Adventists could care for his physical needs. Violette and sons Dick and Jack preceeded him in death. Survivors are his son Bill and 9 grandchildren.

Stewardship

By Steve Gifford

1963 was a good year. I had worked with Perry Green in an evangelistic series at the Piedmont Park Church in Lincoln. I was about to graduate from Union College. I had a call to the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference, and they had agreed to sponsor me at the Seminary. But the most important event was upcoming on August 18 of that year. That was the day Beverly Troyer and I were going to be married in the Rees Hall Chapel at Union College.

After graduation I worked on the Sadau farm near Sanger, Texas, and they paid me $600 for the summer's work. A relative had given me a car three years before, but it now had many miles on it. Since I had a conference scholarship to the Seminary that would give me $217 monthly, I bought a 1963 Mercury Comet for $2217. Mr. Sadau financed it for me at 4½% interest.

In the meantime, my brother-in-law wanted my old car, with the promise that he would pay me just before Beverly and I married. $200 was the agreed-on price. August 15, I heard from him. After using the car all summer (even hauling wood in it and wrecking the interior), he decided not to keep the car.

We needed the $200 from the car to pay our honeymoon and living expenses during September. All of my farm income had gone to pay college bills. I had $20 left, plus my tithe of $60. August 17, I sat in the Piedmont Park Church and struggled. I wanted to "borrow" God's money—feeling He would surely understand. The deacons came closer. The tithe money was already in an envelope and ready to be placed in the plate. But I wanted to keep the money. At the last moment, I decided it was more important to return the tithe than to have money for the honeymoon. With great relief, the tithe was deposited in the plate. It was safely out of my hands.

Perry Green gave us the $5 we gave him for marrying us as a wedding present, so we had a honeymoon anyhow, but it was cut short. Even in 1963, $25 didn't keep us on the road very long.

We arrived at Andrews University, moved into our little apartment, and within hours God had given me a job as a janitor at Andrews. Beverly applied for a teaching position in a public school—the school board president said, "We've already hired someone for our last position, but somehow I feel impressed to hire you instead, since we haven't signed her contract." I contracted painting, and within days we had sufficient income.

It has never been a temptation since to withhold tithe. How thankful I am that God gave me the victory, in the Piedmont Park Church, on August 17, 1963.

Steve Gifford is Secretary and Stewardship Director of the Kansas-Nebraska Conference.

Adventist Engaged Encounter

There they were at 10:45 on a Saturday morning, 15 couples striding around the Mid-America Adventist Headquarters building at 84th and Pioneers Boulevard.

Following two hours of baring your soul, you're ready for some crisp Nebraska spring air.

The 30 young men and women were engaging in a weekend program sponsored by Union College, April 15-17, and run by Don and Sue Murray, staff members from the Seventh-day Adventist-run Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Michigan. He is assistant men's dean there, and she teaches home economics.

Sue sees a difference between the marriage and engaged points of view. "Marriage Encounter basically tries to help the couple recapture the love they had when the marriage was new. It involves looking back. Engaged Encounter has an easier task, in a way, in that we catch the couple before many of the problems emerge and teach them coping and communication strategies while they're still in the throes of love."

The weekend covers two broad areas: "God and I" and "God and We." "We believe you can't have a successful marriage until God is the third partner. We even stress learning how to pray out loud for each other."

They follow some of the principles outlined by marriage sociologist David Mace. "Mace stresses three points," adds Don: "A commitment to growth in the marriage by both partners, a good communication system and a system for handling conflict creatively instead of destructively."

The Murrays have shepherded 315 couples through the program since 1978, and they've kept some interesting statistics. Only one couple has filed for divorce, and the wife now says she realized they were facing serious problems when she and her fiancé experienced the weekend, but hoped they would go away after the wedding. According to Don, 15 couples of the 315 decided to break their engagements as a result of Engaged Encounter.

"We recommend our couples work with a counselor or minister on more specific things," Sue says. "On matters like finance, birth control, education—the few minutes we spend are not nearly enough."

The questionnaires each couple fills out open up topics for communication. One, called "Symptoms of Hurting Relationships," asks which of the following the person might be tempted to use as an escape from problems—excessive sleep, television, drugs, alcohol or other? The partners do not share their answers with anyone besides the fiancé—thus ensuring a more honest form of communication.

Dr. Dan Klein, Chairman of the Division of Physical Education and Continuing Studies at Union College, says, "Engaged Encounter is one of a number of Family Life Seminar Workshops which Union College is beginning to sponsor. We have now and are developing classes in a number of areas such as fitness, recreation, job skills, music, arts, and others to minister to the whole person physically, mentally, socially and spiritually."

Engaged Encounter will be offered in the early spring of 1984 and will continue on a regular basis. It will be open to Adventists and other Christian couples to serve in developing a growing Christ-centered home. Information about Engaged Encounter or other offerings from Union College Continuing Studies should be directed to Union College Health Complex, (402) 488-2331, ext. 300.

Nebraskan Chosen For Honor Chorus

Brent Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Welch of Lincoln, Nebraska, has been selected to perform with a national performing organization known as THE SOUND OF AMERICA HONOR BAND AND CHORUS.

Brent, a member of the College View Seventh-day Adventist Church, represents his church well at Lincoln Southeast High School. He is a member of Countesses and Noblemen and court Choir; has participated with the Hastings, Nebraska, Plainsmen and Nebraska All-State Honor Choirs.

Selection into the SOUND OF AMERICA HONOR CHORUS is a distinguished honor. Applicants are carefully screened and chosen from musicians throughout the United States, only after a rigid character and musical evaluation.

Brent will meet other members of the Honor Chorus on the campus of Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, on June 26 to begin its 1983 European Concert Tour. After four days of intensive rehearsal and orientation, they will depart for Frankfurt, Germany to begin the first of nine performances in some of the most unique concert sites of Europe during its 27-day concert tour.

Paris, Interlaken, Mannheim, Salzburg, Heidelberg, Cortina, Rothenburg, Venice, Lugano, and London are some of the exciting cities that will be visited during the tour. Side excursions to Heidelberg Castle, Trummelback Falls, the Palace of Versailles, Sacre Coeur, and a Swiss Folklore Evening are also included in the tour.

Business Opportunity Seminar

Pak-Rite Systems Business Opportunity Seminar will be held July 31-August 4 at Loma Linda University, La Sierra Campus. If you have concern for Christian Education and desire to start your own business, write or call Paul W. Robberson, President Pak-Rite Systems, 1712 Frontenac Woods Lane, St. Louis, MO 63131 (314) 567-5765.

Inner City Offering Provides Many Services

By Joseph Espinosa

People in downtown city areas have needs, and our church wishes to do many things to help. Let's witness to our communities by feeding the hungry as best we can, clothing the needy, visiting the sick and in prison, and praying for God's healing power for the suffering—all the while sharing with them that they are valuable, that God loves each one!

Your dollars will directly help to finance these projects in many places:

- Rescue mission for alcoholics
- Tutoring programs for children and adults
- Soup/sandwich/fruit juice for senior citizen lunches
- Clinics, vans, medical aid
- Volunteer probation officers
- Counseling and youth programs
- Drug prevention and rehabilitation programs
- Slide/filmstrip educational programs for adults and children
- TV program for inner city residents
- Volunteer prison helpers
- Day care centers for children
- Survival workshops educating to better spend money to live
- Friendship summer camps for needy children.
- Vacation-recreation day programs

Just as the yeast must mix with the dough to make bread, so Christians must mix with the needy in our communities in order to give help, show kindness, promote courage, and teach of the wonderful heaven God has promised where there will be no more sorrow, crying, or pain; it's a place He has gone to prepare, where the injustices of this earth will be gone forever, if we have made Him our personal Saviour.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."
Matthew 25:40.

Joseph Espinosa is General Field Secretary for the General Conference.
