MY COMFORTER

I look to Thee in every need,
 And never look in vain;
 I feel Thy strong and tender love,
 And all is well again;
 The thought of Thee is mightier far
 Than sin and pain and sorrow are.

Discouraged in the work of life,
 Disheartened by its load;
 Shamed by its failures or its fears,
 I sink beside the road;
 But let me only think of Thee,
 And then new heart springs up in me;

Then calmness bends serene above,
 My restlessness to still;
 Around me flows Thy quickening life,
 To nerve my faltering will;
 Thy presence fills my solitude,
 Thy providence turns all to good.

Embosomed deep in Thy dear love,
 Held in Thy law, I stand;
 Thy hand in all things I behold,
 And all things in Thy hand;
 Thou leadest me by unsought ways,
 And turn'st my morning into praise.

SAMUEL LONGFELLOW.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

After visiting the Wartburg Castle at Eilsnach we took train for Heidelberg, where is one of the largest castles of mediaeval times. We only spent a few hours here but had plenty of time to visit it as it stood on a hill overlooking the city, and was reached by street cars. This castle is a mammoth affair, and its size, position, and structure, all bear witness to the fact that at one time in the dim past it was a powerful fortress, one that could care for a large number of men, and one which would furnish a safe retreat to those seeking shelter. It had an outer wall about 50 feet high and 8 feet thick, and between this and the inner wall was a moat about 50 feet wide which was filled with water, then came the inner wall as high and wide as the outer one, and every avenue closed by great massive gates of iron. Then its position on the crest of the hill made it almost impregnable. Its prison had walls 17 feet thick, with windows grated and barred in such a manner that all escape would be impossible to one who entered there. This castle was once the home of royalty and even now so much of grandeur and splendor remains that we were obliged to pass through their rooms with our shoes in felt slippers. We were taken to the great banquet hall, finished in the most costly manner, where in former years great feasts were held, and in which room no doubt beastly scenes of revelry and drunkenness have been enacted. We noticed in one corner of the hall a large pump, and inquiring about this the guide told us if we would come below he would show us with what this pump was connected. Passing to a lower story we were shown the largest barrel our eyes ever rested upon. It is 23 feet high and 30 feet long, and was used to supply the wine for the banquets and feasts. It would hold 200,000 bottles of wine, and from this monster barrel the wine was pumped to the great hall above. Surely in the Heidelberg Castle in days gone by they did things on a large scale, as everything about the place testifies. We ascended the tower from which a beautiful view could be had of the surrounding country. We stopped here about three hours and felt well paid for our visit.

The next city at which we called was Constance, located on Lake Constance in the extreme southern part of Germany. We are now in Catholic Germany, and one can easily recognize the difference between this and the protestant portion of the empire. Constance is an historic city and stirring scenes were enacted here during the Reformation.

We were first taken to the great hall where both Huss and Jerome were tried and condemned to death by the civil authorities. This hall is in a good state of preservation and is now used at times for large gatherings. Here Pope Martin V was chosen, and in this hall power was first conferred on the present reigning family of Germany. From this hall we went to the catholic church and saw the place where Huss and Jerome were tried and condemned by the church, and then went over the course out to the outskirts of the town where they were burned at the stake. A large boulder surrounded by a high iron fence marks the spot where these men of God yielded their lives for the truth of God. A spirit of solemnity rested on our whole party as we stood on this ground made sacred by the blood of the martyrs of Jesus. We went to the house where John Huss lived at the time he was arrested and taken, saw the house also where Jerome was imprisoned, and down near the Rhine the place of John Huss' imprisonment and from which he was taken to the stake. This was one of the most interesting spots we visited in Europe, and is yearly visited by thousands of tourists from all parts of the earth. Leaving Constance we reached Wiehaussen after a couple of hours ride, where we spent the night. Elders Conrad and Daniels had gone on before us and made arrangements for our party, so we were soon in our hotel and prepared for a night's rest after a hard day's work in sight-seeing.

BRITISH COLUMBIA THE PORT HAMMOND SCHOOL

The Port Hammond School closed the 7th of June, after the most encouraging year of its history. This school has had many obstacles to meet and some discouraging circumstances to pass through. Thus far it has been conducted in a log school-house and with very poor accommodations. But the school farm consisting of a little less than two hundred forty acres is "beautiful for situation," giving a good foundation for the building of an industrial school.

During the past year the school has done but little more than church-school work. The enrollment was twenty-six, two of which were nonresident students. These boarded with us in our own home. If accommodation could have been provided, instead of two, there would have been twelve.

A short time previous to the week of prayer we felt that a special effort should be made toward the spiritual interests of the school. Accordingly plans were made for special meetings. The Sabbath services were conducted in the interests of the young people. It seemed that the opportune time had come, for the Lord blessed every effort that was made. Before the week of prayer ended every young person and every child in school and some too young to attend school, had taken a positive stand for the Lord. At every opportunity they were ready with prompt testimonies. The readings for the week of prayer were read by the older students with good effect. It was indeed an encouraging week of prayer for the church at Hammond.

A short time before Christmas most of the older students spent a day canvassing for Christ's Object Lessons. Their success in taking orders was poor for good reasons, nevertheless not one came in discouraged but all felt that they would like to try it again.

We have found many advantages in using the older pupils as assistant teachers. The Lord has told us that "where the number of students is sufficient, assistant teachers should be selected from the students. Thus the students can gain an experience of great value." This has been verified in our school during the past year.

About the middle of April, it became necessary for me to leave the school on account of Mrs. Adams' health. Miss Bertha Lofstad continued the work for eight weeks. She reports that the department has been good and the final examinations, with few exceptions, excellent.

Mrs. Adams has had a class of eight students in instrumental music. They have all made rapid progress and the Port Hammond church now has about six good organists.

During the January conference it was decided to erect a good school house that would at the same time serve as a students' dormitory, also to put the school upon an academic basis. Much has already been done to carry out this plan. A saw-mill is now sawing lumber for the new building.

Just before the beginning of school we were much encouraged and helped by a visit from Prof. M. E. Cady. It was his mind as well as that of others that this school, being in Canada and the only one of the kind in a large territory, ought to grow to become a strong training center for the territory.

Looking back over the year we are led to exclaim, "What hath God wrought?" Just previous to our leaving I had the happy privilege of baptizing four of our young lady students.

The educational work is certainly a grand and glorious work. While the teacher's responsibility is heavy and his work arduous, the reward even here is great. "They that be teachers (margin) shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever."

P. P ADAMS.

WORK IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Dear brethren and sisters of the British Columbia Conference:—

I am writing you in reference to our plans for the coming summer. I thought you would be interested to know just how the work is going in the conference and what our plans are. We have every reason to thank the Lord for special help we have received financially. I do not think I will say much along the line of finances at the present time, but reserve this for my final report at our yearly meeting next December or January; but I will say that we have been especially blessed again this year with finances.

Our Indian work has been specially blessed with some good donations, coming entirely outside of the British Columbia Conference, however. We have not called upon our brethren and sisters in this conference for means. There will come a time, however, in the near future when we shall ask our brethren to rouse all of their energy and lift in raising means. This is our privilege and our duty as members of the Royal Family to see the business of our Father prospering.

Elder Young is holding a series of tent-meetings at Enderby, B. C. This is in the Okanogan country, where he has been for the past two years. He has for his helpers Brother Robert Greaves, a young man from Walla Walla College who is preparing for the ministry, and his wife, formerly Miss Isabel Reith. We have two or three good canvassers who are working in that section and are doing well selling books. We have had some excellent reports from them.

Our work among the Indians is getting well established. Buildings are now up; the sewing department is in operation, also the tin and sheet-iron works. Our boat has been greatly delayed in its preparation and has delayed the work, but we hope by the time this reaches you that this boat will be ready to start for the north; then we can say our Indian work is placed upon a pretty solid footing. Elder T. H. Watson and his wife have charge of the work. Brother Pierce is our Indian minister. Brother G. J. Campbell and his wife are there as helpers. This comprises the company in the north. We shall look for progress in that work.

We have decided to hold five little local meetings in the conference. Owing to our scattered membership over so large a territory it will be impracticable to hold a general camp-meeting. Our first local meeting will be held at Enderby where Elder Young is holding tent-meetings. This meeting will continue from July 8-16. Our next meeting will be held at Hammond, July 26-28;

Vancouver, August 2-4; Cumberland, August 16-18; Bella Coola, September 6-16. You will notice that three of these meetings are only three days in length, beginning on Friday morning and extending to Sunday night. In each instance we thought that a short meeting with the time thoroughly occupied with meetings would be all the time our brethren could spare from their work. We will ask all our brethren in those churches to lay aside all secular labor, giving themselves entirely to meetings. We will have plenty of help at each place so that we can pack in meetings from early morning till late at night. Let the churches take special pains to invite all the scattered members and surrounding companies. The brethren from Victoria can go to Vancouver; the brethren from Mission City, Deroche, and Matsqui can go to Hammond; those on Texada and at Comox can go to Cumberland to attend that meeting. We look forward to these meetings this summer as a time of great refreshing and we should all begin to pray earnestly for special divine help upon these occasions. You notice we have given ten days for the Bella Coola meeting. The reason for this is that this spring some two or three families from other conferences have moved into that section and have so strengthened the work there that it needs organization. We have thought to hold ten days' or two weeks' meetings and then organize a church at that time. A few of our brethren have been in that section for two years past, holding up the light of truth and now we want to encourage their hearts by a good permanent organization. I shall visit that section in September with this in view. I think this will encourage the hearts of all our brethren, at least it should.

You will see a report of our Hammond school work by Elder P. P. Adams in the Gleaner. If it has not already appeared it will make its appearance in a week or two. The Gleaner is our Union Conference paper. It is issued at 75 cents per year. Its address is Box 429, Walla Walla, Wash.

The General Conference has recently decided to advise that a Canadian Union Conference be organized this fall. By their request I am now attending a camp-meeting in Alberta, July 1-7, that we may counsel together in reference to this matter. I will write you later in regard to this.

Our school buildings are just starting up. We have a saw-mill just started also on the school farm, sawing up our timber. We will have a boarding school next fall and can take in a few students, all doubtless who will wish to attend the first year. I will send out a special circular a little later in regard to this branch of our work. Our brethren should encourage all our prospective young people to turn their minds toward an education. We have placed this school upon an academic basis and will make it a general training school for the Canadian field. Let us all pray that God will greatly bless our conference along these lines.

Our canvassing work has been greatly strengthened. We now have eight canvassers in the field. Brother L. B. Ragsdale, a graduate from the Normal Department of Walla Walla College, is organizing our canvassing work this summer, and the Lord is especially blessing his efforts.

Our Tract Society is getting into good working order. We can supply our brethren with most anything now in books, pamphlets, tracts, Bibles, etc.

Remember these general meetings which I have mentioned and look forward to them with prayer. Let us get ready for that occasion and the Lord will meet with us and greatly bless and strengthen us. If it should be thought best to extend the time in these meetings, it can be done at the request of the brethren. I desire all to lay aside all worldly occupations during this season and give themselves up entirely to seeking the Lord.

THAT LITTLE BOOK

Word has just come that the little book, "The Advent Message in the Sunny Caribbean," is ready for distribution. Those attending the camp-meetings this year, will remember many interesting incidents told concerning the rise and progress of our work in the territory of the West Indian Union Conference. The story of the gathering out of the 3500 Sabbath-keepers in that field, the establishment of the little publishing house in Trinidad, which is printing 7000 copies of each number of the Caribbean Watchman and also thousands of pages of books and pamphlets, and of the struggles of our educational work there finally resulting in the establishment of the West Indian Training School in Jamaica, and the brief story of the recent earthquake, all combine to make a little volume of absorbing interest.

When you add to this the fifty illustrations, large and small, giving glimpses of native types and scenery as well as views of our church building and schools, you have a combination that should place the booklet in every Seventh-day Adventist home in this country. It will also be well to place it in the hands of people interested in our work.

The book is published by the executive committee of the West Indian Union Conference and every cent realized after taking out cost of bare material will be used in aiding the publishing work in that Union Conference. An edition of 10,000 copies has been issued and we look for a hearty response on the part of all our people.

The price of the booklet is only 25 cents. Let all the people everywhere secure this chapter in the history of our missionary advance. Order of your tract society.

GEO. F. ENOCH.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE WESTERN WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Whereas, the church-school work is one of the most important interests calling for our support, and

Whereas, its success and permanence cannot be assured without a more certain and adequate financial basis, and

Whereas, our teachers are deserving of a reasonable wage for their faithful work,

21. We recommend the adoption of such a plan by the conference as will place our church-schools on a more permanent financial foundation and assure a just wage to our teachers.

22. We recommend the appointment of a committee to formulate and present such a plan before the delegates for adoption.

23. We recommend the adoption of the recommendation from the recent Union Conference Council at College Place that a ten days' institute for teachers be held following the camp-meeting and that a six weeks' summer normal be held at the college during the summer, and that such financial assistance as the conference committee finds consistent be offered suitable persons whom they may select to attend these institutes.

Whereas, the canvassing work is one of the most effective ways for reaching the people with the message for this time,

24. We recommend, that our conference laborers and church officers co-operate with the canvassing director of the conference in searching out strong young men and women, encouraging them to enter the ranks of those who are giving themselves to the work of selling our truth-filled books from door to door.

Whereas, there are many aged people among us who are in possession of property which they desire to secure to the cause after their decease,

25. We recommend, that such persons be instructed as to the best manner to meet the requirements of the law and secure such property to the cause.

Whereas, the Lord has said that in the last days many would depart from the faith held by this people and at the present time a war is being waged against the Spirit of Prophecy and our system of organization, and there is also a vigorous attack made upon the present administration of our work, therefore

26. Resolved, that the Western Washington Conference does hereby declare its absolute confidence in the Spirit of Prophecy and our system of organization and its present administration.

Whereas there remains no necessity for an incorporation of the medical work separate from the Conference Association, therefore

27. Resolved, that steps be taken to disincorporate the Western Washington Medical Missionary Benevolent Association.

28. Resolve, that this conference vote its appreciation and extend a vote of thanks to the railroad companies for the courtesies extended toward us in the reduction of fare to those coming to this meeting over their lines; and that we extend out thanks to the town of Kent for the favor shown by it.

Whereas, the Spirit of Prophecy has recently spoken with reference to the responsibility and duty of conferences toward our consecrated nurses, therefore

29. Resolved, that we heed this counsel from God, and in harmony therewith, we recommend that a careful selection of nurses be made by the conference committee and associated with ministers and other evangelical workers in the field.

30. We recommend for the strength of our work that our conference committee be increased in number from five to seven, and that the constitution be amended in respect to the executive committee as to harmonize with this change.

31. We recommend what is known as the scholarship plan in the Western Washington Conference. Where a student sells an aggregate of $180.00 worth of our subscription books, a scholarship be given in either of our Intermediate schools; and inasmuch as 50 percent is less than the regular year's cost to a student, we recommend that half of this difference be met by the conference to be paid from the students' Educational fund.

Whereas, the Lord has blessed us with an abundance of tithe, and

Whereas, there is now on hand a surplus of about $4500, therefore

32. Resolved, that we give $2000 of this surplus to the General Conference and an additional $200 to the British Columbia Conference.

Whereas, there is yet standing a net indebtedness of about $1500 on the Intermediate school account, and

Whereas it is very evident that another building is needed at the Meadow Glade School which would involve an expenditure of about $3000, therefore

33. We recommend, that a strong effort be made at this meeting to raise by cash and pledges as large a portion of this amount required to cover the present standing debt and the additional investment as possible, and that the conference committee be authorized to take a loan of an amount equivalent to the balance and invest the same in the needed additional building and its furnishing.

Whereas, our good church paper, the Review and Herald contains interesting and encouraging reports from week to week of progress of the work in all part of the great harvest field, and

Whereas, it is noticeable that all regular subscribers of the Review and Herald are wide awake to the needs of the cause of Present Truth and as a rule are faithful in all spiritual duties and in the payment of tithes and offerings, therefore

34. Resolved, that we put forth earnest effort to put the Review and Herald in every Sabbath-keeping home.

35. Resolved, that the Review and Herald be furnished free to every canvasser in the Western Washington Conference so long as they remain in the field and report regularly their work to the State canvassing agent.

Whereas, the North Pacific Union Gleaner has been established as the official organ of the North Pacific Union Conference to serve as a medium of communication between the officials and laborers of the North Pacific Union Conference or between local conference officials and its laborers, and

Whereas, the laborers in all departments get encouragement and help by reading the reports from the laborers from week to week from various parts of the field, therefore

36. Resolved, that we put forth greater effort to get our conference laborers to report interesting experience in connection with the work and that we do all in our power to encourage our people to subscribe.

Whereas, the Christian Endeavor organization is exerting a great influence in the interest of religious legislation, and whereas, this association is to hold its International Convention in Seattle, Washington, July 10 - 15, 1907, therefore 37. Resolved, that the Western Washington Conference take steps to do what it consistently can to supply the delegates and visitors at the convention with a special Christian Endeavor number of "Liberty" and also with other literature.

Whereas, F. M. Burg, J. A. Holbrook, H. C. J. Wollekar, R. T. Cornell, and W. W. Sharp, did on the fifth day of June A. D., 1906, make and execute as the trustees of the Western Washington Conference Association of Seventh-day Adventists, Supplemental Articles of Incorporation of the said Western Washington Conference Association of Seventh-day Adventists, and caused the same to be recorded in the office of the Secretary of the State of Washington and to be filed with the County Auditor of the County of King in said State; now therefore be it

38. Resolved, that we, the delegates from the several churches of the Seventh-day Adventists, within the territory set forth in article 111 of said Supplement Articles, do hereby ratify and in all things confirm the said action of the said trustees.

39. We recommend, that resolutions 17 and 18, passed May 18, 1906, relative to auditing the accounts of minister's wives who are laboring in the conference, be repealed and that each laborer be settled with individually.

Whereas, it seems evident that our church-schools should be placed upon a more substantial financial basis, and

Whereas, the systematic plan of giving is founded upon Bible principles, therefore

40. We recommend, that our people in this conference be asked to pay into a conference fund a sum equal to one-third their tithes, this fund to be apportioned according to the expense of sustaining the teachers in the different church-schools.

In view of the fact, that the liquor traffic with its baleful consequences of vice and human suffering is one of the most potent and bitter enemies of Christ, his church, and the salvation of mankind generally, and

Whereas, there has seemed to be a tendency among our people in some communities to occupy an attitude of indifference and consequent inaction to this important issue, therefore

41. We earnestly recommend a return to our old time enthusiasm and that our young people organize their forces in active service against this social evil.

We further recommend, that the present beautiful number of the Youths Instructor be used in this campaign.

42. We recommend, that the leaders of our churches proceed to raise a sum equal to two and one-half times their membership and suggest that they bring before the church a sectional diagram, each section representing a member's portion of the value of $2.50 and ask that each section be taken. (For raising our portion of the $150,000.)

UPPER COLUMBIA SPOKANE

June 26, in company with Brother Schnepfer who was on his way to Quincy, Wash., we boarded the 9:30 p. m. train, via Wallula, for Spokane. At 8:30 the next morning at Elberton our train collided with the down train for Pendleton. The latter train was on the siding waiting for the through train to Spokane to pass. As it neared the switch the brakeman from the waiting train, ran down and opened the switch (instead of leaving it closed) and signaled, clear track. Providentially the engineer had slowed down his train to about 18 miles an hour; when he saw the situation he shut off steam, applied the air-brakes and jumped from the engine. In jumping his ankle was broken. No others sustained any very serious injuries, only bruised faces, heads, etc. The two engines were badly disabled, nearly all the seats in the sleepers were torn from their moorings, and in the diner the people were all upset and the dishes demolished. Brother Schnepfer was entirely unhurt. At the time of the crash I was standing and the collision threw me against the side of the car, only slightly bruising my head and one arm. I need not say that we felt very grateful to our heavenly Father for his preserving care.

We spent Sabbath, June 29, with the church at Spokane. The goodness of God was with his people on this quarterly meeting occasion. It was the day of the mid-summer offering and about $50 was raised. On Sunday in company with Brethren Rider and Watts we visited some of the suburbs to locate the tent for the summer. Elder L. H. Ellis and Brother C. J. Rider will conduct the meetings.

FARMINGTON

The funeral of Sister Margaret Hackett, aged 77 years and 6 months, was held here July 2, in our church. She died at the home of her daughter, Sister Abbie Tyffe. She was a faithful servant of the Lord, and rests from her labors. Brother T. G. Johnson joined me here and we next visited

MOSCOW, IDAHO

and vicinity, holding several meetings. Sabbath, July 6, brethren from Troy, Genesee, Pullman and Viola gathered here for quarterly meeting. It was truly a day of rejoicing to all. Eleven gave their hearts to God and decided to follow their Lord in baptism. Sunday three were baptized at and united with the church. The others are to be baptized (D.V.) the first Sabbath in August, when we will again assemble at Moscow. Elder W. B. White will meet with us at that time. An invitation is extended to all who can to meet with us.

G. E. LANGDON.

NOTES FROM THE CANVASSING FIELD

Reports from our canvassers are now coming in, and while some express themselves as feeling that their report is small, yet it shows activity and interest in this branch of the Lord's work. Reports from Miss Rosa Herr and Miss Daisy Coons who are canvassing in La Grande were delayed in reaching the Gleaner by being sent to Brother Johnson and thence to the office here.

Miss Herr says in her letter of June 28th. "I think that Miss Ferren and I canvassed this territory too thoroughly for Heralds to do much with a book like Great Controversy this year. I keep hoping every day to do better. Those who read my book last year say it was splendid. There are many things that help to keep up one's courage. Last week I canvassed a lady who said when I came to the chapter on the origin of evil, 'I just want to know about that. How much is your book?' I told her, and she took one before I had gone any farther."

Miss Daisy Coons, who is handling Home and Health speaks very encouragingly of the work, although several other agents have just preceded her with books similar to hers. She says, "I am of good courage and know that the Lord blesses those who try."

Brother Fred W. Temple who has been working in and around Idaho Falls has been quite ill, and unable to follow his book work, having his hand poisoned in some way. He was obliged to lie in bed under the care of a physician. He says, "Thanks be to God that saw fit to spare my life once more. I now feel more determined than ever to press into the work for him. My hand is doing fine. . . . I intend to start to work with the big book Monday morning."

Brother Byron Meeker, who is now located at Spokane, speaks very encouragingly of the interest he has in the work, and of others becoming interested also. In a letter dated July 5th he says, "The good work is going in different places, and this makes one feel like lifting, and putting his shoulder to the wheel. One dear young brother has decided to quit a good job and take up the work. Two ladies have decided to take up work what time they can spare."

ANNUAL MEETING NOTICE

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portland Sanitarium and Benevolent Association, for the purpose of electing a board of directors and transacting any other business that may come before the meeting, will be held at Portland Sanitarium, Mt. Tabor, Oregon, on Thursday, July 25, 1907, at 12 o'clock.

they will stop for a few days. Brother and Sister Adams expect to be in Portland during the Medical Convention at that place.

Dr. W. A. Ruble, medical secretary of the General Conference, expects to visit the sanitariums of the North Pacific Union Conference before attending the medical convention called to assemble in Portland, July 22.

Elder A. G. Daniels, president of the General Conference, expects to spend a few days at the Weiser, Idaho, camp-meeting, enroute to Portland, Oregon, where he goes to attend the meeting of the executive committee of the North Pacific Union Conference.

C. H. Castle, treasures of the North Pacific Union Conference, in company with his wife, left Walla Walla for Hartford, Mich., where he will visit his aged father who is in poor health, and incidentally to take a much-needed rest. We wish them a safe journey and a pleasant outing.

Elders W. B. White and A. J. Breed are attending the camp-meeting at Weiser, Idaho, where a new conference is to be organized within the present boundaries of the Upper Columbia Conference as recommended at the recent session of the Upper Columbia Conference.

The College Place church is contemplating the erection of a church building in the near future. Such a building is much needed and we wish them abundant success in their efforts. Heretofore the college chapel has been utilized as a place of worship by the College Place church.
