18,000 Believers Without One Church School

Little children as dear and as precious to the hearts of their parents and to the church as in any other land, and taught to serve Jesus as loyally and zealously as any other children, take their books every year and enter the schools of Rumania. They have been taught to serve their Master as a loving, tender Saviour who would have them worship Him in the simple, humble spirit of His true followers.

Mother has said they may speak directly to Jesus and that they should not adopt the forms of worship seen in the powerful national church with its bigotry and intolerance. Even though threatened by the priest-teacher with severe punishment if they do not conform to every detail, these tender little children venture within these schools, knowing that theirs may be a hard lot. Any divergence from the requirements of a powerful religious organization is heresy, to be scared out as with a hot iron.

At the doors of these schools these children find shrines before which they must bow their heads and repeat prayers. During the day there are occasions when these innocent children must conform in matters of religion, as in all other matters, to the iron wishes of their priest-teachers, and there are no other teachers in the land except these priests who are entrusted with the education of this nation's children and who are determined to make them all orthodox devotees of the state church.

Let a child attempt to obey his parents and to serve Jesus as he has been taught, refuse to follow the rituals in the strong mixture of state religion and education, and he will be subjected at first to threats by his teacher. Then may follow in quick succession ridicule by other children, epithets, physical punishment, and perhaps expulsion from school with no prospect of getting into any other school in the whole land without strict conformity.

This situation brings one of two results: Either the child becomes a compromiser and adjusts himself outwardly for the benefits of the school but to his great loss, or he suffers intolerably and irreparably mental, and perhaps physical, anguish of resisting a dominant and persistent priesthood. In either case the child bears in his spirit and mind deep scars from wounds inflicted by calloused men of determination, bigotry, and even violence. He is hounded through life by an inferiority complex or by a bitterness against his persecutors that discolors all his work and life.

How much better the situation for tens of thousands of boys and girls in other lands! In Rumania there is not one church school. This last year many children were sent back to their homes with no prospect of school unless they conformed to the unrelaxing requirements of the orthodox priest-teachers. These children and their fellows who suffer silently with them hold out pleading, tender hands to America for aid to establish at least one model but very simple school in the city of Bucharest with its five large churches.

The church of 18,000 in that promising field has no reserve with which to begin this new work in answer to the piteous appeal of these child sufferers. Thousands of the children of the Rumanian church are yearly subjected to harsh, blighting treatment to force their conformity. Hundreds will soon be beyond their school years and the penetrating, inspiring influences of a true, Christian school. What is to be done for these children must be done soon.

May the church in America, that knows little of poverty and sacrifice as are seen in Rumania, give liberally during the Week of Sacrifice (October 9 to 16), that there may be at least one little "city of refuge" in that land for the children whose prayers for greater liberty and light ascend daily.

W. Homer Teesdale,
Associate Secretary of the General
Conference Department of Education.

Week of Sacrifice

We are all aware of the great need of the mission program, which is facing an unprecedented crisis due to world complication of conditions in Spain, China, and Japan. It is very apparent to us that the angels are putting forth special effort to hold the winds of strife; but in spite of this, the enemy is endeavoring to pour out his wrath upon the inhabitants of the earth, because he knows that his time is short.

The Lord is calling, "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." His servants are still commissioned to go unto all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. Men and women called by God have rendered noble service, under trying circumstances, in various parts of the world.

In view of the seriousness of the times, the Week of Sacrifice this year ought to receive prayerful consideration by every believer in the third angel's message. The official date set aside for this purpose is October 9 to 16. The Week of Sacrifice offering has proved a great blessing in the past, and thousands of dollars have been received through the sacrifice made by our people.

At one of the recent councils the following action was taken in regard to the Week of Sacrifice: "That we continue to promote earnestly the plan, asking all our workers and laymen to give as far as possible a full week's income as their Week of Sacrifice offering, and that those whose income is not on a salary basis be urged to make a substantial contribution as God may have prospered them."

I trust that as servants of the Most High, we will make this matter a subject of prayer and do our very best to make the Week of Sacrifice a great blessing to God's people at this time.

Joining Hands

One evening years ago in the Province of Alberta, Canada, a happy father and mother went out for a stroll through a nearby wheat field with their little boy. As they wandered through the field each thought the other held the hand of their child. All at once they realized that the boy was not with them. They called, but there was no answer. They became more and more disturbed, then terrified, and hunted everywhere with no results. Finally, the father went back to the village and got a searching party to assist them. Many willing helpers searched all night without avail. After many hours some finally suggested that they join hands and cover the entire grainfield, and not leave a single square foot uncovered in this last effort. They joined hands and soon came across the body of the child, and a hush spread over them all because they had found the child too late. As the group stood there, someone was heard to whisper, "If only we had joined hands before it was too late."

That is what puts the Ingathering campaign over, as well as every other campaign. The call has come to press together in love and unity and Christian fellowship. Many are heeding the call. If we had done more of this joining hands before, we would have a larger membership and a happier people.

Calendar Revision Averted

We just received a cable from Doctor Nussbaum who was present in Geneva at the time the League Council acted upon the calendar reform question and in his cablegram he gives us the good news, which I am sure will cause your hearts to rejoice, that the League Council adopted un-animously, without discussion, the report of the Communications and Transit Committee, stipulating that it was not possible to accept the blank day plan breaking continuity of the weekly cycle because of religious opposition. The cable also stated that even Litvinoff, the representative from Russia, and Mr. Edwards, the representative of Chile, the two representatives at the League of Nations who made the suggestion that an international conference be called at this time by the League to consider the adoption of the blank day plan, also voted with the rest, thus making it unanimous. This certainly is a victory much greater than we had expected. It shows that our protests we sent in to the League did not go unheeded.

I think this means that this issue cannot be brought again before the League of Nations for consideration for another four years. Of course, in the meantime, we must not forget that the calendar reformers will renew their efforts to educate the public, to make it more favorable to calendar reform, so that the next time this issue comes up they will be more successful. They were very confident they were going to succeed this time, but the good Lord heard our prayers and rewarded our efforts. I suppose the League concluded that they had enough troubles on their hands at the present time without accepting unnecessary trouble by stirring up the churches as well as the nations in opposition to each other.

C. S. Longacre.

Kulm

It was a privilege for Mrs. Gant and me to spend a week, including the two week ends of September 18 and 25, with the Kulm church. It was our first visit to this church, and we were very happy to find a goodly number of believers ready to respond to the effort in behalf of the youth of that section.

We were very cordially received by the entire church, hardly sleeping and eating in the same place more than once or twice during the time that we were here.

We traveled over 350 miles in our personal visitations, and had meetings every night, with the result that the church membership felt it a privilege to reconsecrate themselves to the Lord; and we also organized a small baptismal class, which is looking forward to this step in the future. Our prayers and interest go with them as they continue in their progressive Christian experience.

Minnesota Passes $10,000 Mark

Minnesota is happy to announce to the field that $10,054 has come in to date in the Harvest Ingathering. Forty-one churches have now reached their goal and many have made their super-goal. Two districts have reached their goal and at least three more will pass their goal this week. The individual goal of $11.49 has been reached by 150 members. Scores of others are nearing their minute-man goal.

Brethren, and sisters of the Minnesota Conference, we thank you for the splendid way you are cooperating with the conference workers in the Harvest Ingathering, and we have set October 23 as Victory Day for the churches not yet over the top. Can we not have every church, counting the Conference church, over the goal by October 23? Let us do our part in making this possible.

J. C. Christenson.

Resident Colporteurs

"Resident canvassing is an interesting work. In going over the territory again the colporteur receives many blessings that do not come to him the first time. Has not God promised, 'My word shall not return unto me void.'? And so with the Lord's representative, when he returns to where he has sown the seed, he finds that the Lord has given the increase, so he is now privileged to water the seed and rejoice and praise the Lord for his wonderful works toward the children of men." So writes Brother Karl A. Evenson who is working in his eighteenth year as a colporteur evangelist. From the week ending September 4 to the week ending September 25 Brother Evenson worked 200 hours, sold $288.35 worth of literature, and delivered $324.50. He has canvassed his territory as many as four times. Scores of souls who now enjoy the blessings of God in this message trace back their first knowledge of the truth to reading the books and periodicals that Brother Evenson sold them.

In answer to the call for resident colporteurs, eleven men and one young lady have already been given prospectuses and canvasses, and are preparing for the institute. With the exception of one brother and one sister, each of the above have families dependent upon them. They will join the ranks October 29. Careful study has been in vogue. Each has prayed earnestly about the matter and each is now ready to step forward into the front line of battle. "We have no time now to give our talents and energies to worldly enterprises." Vol. 9, page 104. Please pray daily for these earnest warriors of the cross.

Soon Seventh-day Adventists will become the theme of conversation the world around. Brethren and sisters, are you going to be among the faithful workers when Christ claims His own? Perhaps you should be a regular resident colporteur.

C. G. Cross.

Important

The cause of God in the earth is dependent upon our denominational system of Christian education. As our older workers leave the scene of active service, younger ones are called to take their places. Very few are called who have received their training in the world. Many times it is difficult to find a well-trained candidate to fill a place in the work. Therefore, if there is one thing more important than another in the plan of finishing the gospel message, it would seem that it is the training of every Seventh-day Adventist youth in a Christian school. Christian training is not only vital to the organized work of the conference, but to the church and the home as well.

Why not make plans now to attend a Christian school soon?

Frank F. Swearingen.

Colporteur Institute

The annual colporteur institute will be held in the Park Avenue church building, corner of Park and Franklin Avenues in South Minneapolis, October 29 to November 7. We have every reason to believe this meeting will bring most practical help to each one present.

If you are interested to learn principles governing gospel salesmanship, and how to use such principles for the salvation of souls, get in touch with the writer immediately. Many more workers are needed. We must hasten on a great drive that will take us, as members, out of the mere alphabet of Christian experience.

C. G. Cross.

Notice To Isolated Believers

All isolated believers who have accepted the faith after first having become acquainted with the message by reading our books, periodicals, or tracts, please send me a record of your experience. Be sure to sign your name and give present address so that I can correspond with you. The sooner you respond the better. Will you sit down and write your experience and send it to me now?

Maplewood Academy News Items

Our school family was happy to welcome Brother and Sister Lauda, and Caris Junior, over the week end of September 24-26. A wonderful spirit of Christian zeal was manifested in Brother Lauda's messages of Friday evening, Sabbath morning, and again in the afternoon's Missionary Volunteer Meeting. Youth responds readily to appeals which come with the fervor and earnestness of definite Christian experience, and these meetings were marked with this type of response. Everyone expressed a genuine appreciation of the counsel given. Saturday night Brother and Sister Lauda presented a program of songs and pictures in the school chapel. Assisted by the music department, Ervin Sorensen, trumpet soloist, and Mr. Lauritzen, and Evelyn Sorensen, accompanists, the evening proved to be a delightful opening of our school music season. Brother and Sister Lauda will always be welcome at Maplewood. Their testimony, both spoken and sung, will long be remembered by those who have heard them.

During the chapel period on September 29, the classes were organized with the following officers and advisors elected:

Freshman Class: Eunice Skadsheim, Eris Keir, Eileen Hendrickson, Carlyle Aaby, Wendell Ford. Advisors: Mr. Swearingen and Miss Elizabeth Townsend.

During the summer vacation the bookbindery bound 10,289 volumes of books, magazines, and newspapers, which represents an income for the three and a half months of about $7,000, providing work for twenty promising young people who are planning on a place in God's work. During the first two weeks of school, about 1,200 volumes were received. There are now twenty-six workers employed in the bindery.

Wedding

On September 5, beneath a vine-covered bower at the front of the center aisle of the Adventist church in Davenport, Iowa, Miss Florence Naomi McConnell, of Bettendorf, Iowa, was married to Glenn Hickok, of Plant City, Florida, the writer officiating.

Attended by her sister, Mrs. Paul Loose, the bride was given by her father. After a short honeymoon to Chicago, the couple will be at home in Bettendorf, Iowa, a suburb of the tri-cities, where Mr. Hickok is employed.

Iowa Sanitarium News Items

Friends of Dr. Jean Morse will be interested to know that she is now living with her cousin at Angwin, California, and is enjoying the associations and activities at Pacific Union College.

The roof on the new boiler house is finished and the work on this section is rapidly nearing completion.

Mrs. A. E. Gilbert and Anita and Dennis have returned from a very pleasant two months visit with relatives and friends in the East.

Miss Verda Anderson of the sanitarium force has gone to her home at Oskaloosa for a rest. Mrs. Florence Ames is carrying the work in the operating room.

Brother H. L. Malone of Merriman, Nebraska, is recovering very nicely from a recent major operation.

Miss Esther Larsen of Redwood Falls, Minnesota, spent last Monday in Nevada looking after some business matters and visiting with friends. She was accompanied by her brother, Victor Larsen.

Dr. A. E. Gilbert spent last Wednesday in Minneapolis in attendance at the union conference committee meeting.

Harvest Ingathering In The Iowa Schools

Good word comes to us from our church school teachers throughout the conference, of the progress that is being made in the Harvest Ingathering. Field day has been held by our Oak Park Academy. Seventeen cars went out and raised all together $260. Our Des Moines church school, under the leadership of Professor Sanders, has over $100 raised to date. Watch the Outlook from time to time for items of interest relative to Iowa Missionary Volunteers and church schools.

J. A. Tucker.

Centerville

The first part of our effort in Centerville has come to a close, but not without some fruit. Sabbath, September 25, sixteen precious souls were united with their Lord and Master in the sacred ordinance of baptism. Our baptismal service was held in the Christian Church at Exline, Sabbath afternoon, at 2:30. The church was well filled, as I had previously held a short series of meetings there, while waiting for the approval of the city here in Centerville on the desired lot before building. So while we have had to erect a building in which to hold our meetings, yet during the time spent in this part of the field, there have been twenty-three baptisms, twenty-two of these being added to the Centerville church, making our total membership about seventy, for which we thank the Lord.

Our next problem is to prepare our new tabernacle church for the winter by installing a furnace. We solicit the prayers of God's people for the work in this part of His vineyard. Recently our address was changed to 532 Park Avenue, and we would appreciate hearing from old friends,—or better yet, receiving a call. The southern part of the State has a bumper crop this year, and we believe it will materially hasten the finishing of God's work in this part of the field.

Important Announcement

October 7-10 will be high days in Zion. The Des Moines Philadelphia church will be dedicated free from debt. Every reader of this article is cordially invited to be present and rejoice with us.

Elder T. H. Allison, secretary of the Negro Department in the Lake Union Conference, will give the opening address Thursday, October 7, at 8 p. m. Friday, October 8, will be the second big night of the dedication services. Elder F. L. Peterson, General Secretary of the North American Negro Department, will be the speaker. The Sabbath school will be conducted as usual Sabbath morning at 9:30. The eleven o'clock hour Sabbath morning will be given over to singing evangelist, A. E. Webb of St. Louis. Evangelist A. E. Webb is secretary of the Central Union Conference Negro Department. The dedication proper will be Sabbath afternoon at two-thirty o'clock, and Elder F. L. Peterson will deliver the dedicatory address. The services will be conducted by Pastors A. Gaynes, Thompson of Kansas City, Missouri; E. S. Dillet of Kansas City, Kansas; Stanley A. Douglas, Minneapolis, Minnesota; A. J. Gordon of Des Moines Iowa; H. Miller, Denver, Colorado; L. B. Reynolds of St. Joseph, Missouri; and A. Humphery of Omaha, Nebraska.

Week of Sacrifice

The Week of Sacrifice has been set earlier than usual. The date is October 9 to 16. Information and promotion material will be sent to the field. Just this note to call the attention of our teachers and Missionary Volunteer leaders to this coming Week of Sacrifice. Let us begin now to promote it in our schools and societies. The work of the Lord needs all the means that can be supplied during these days of opportunity. Remember that part of the means given goes toward new work.

J. A. Tucker.

Who's Who?

At the close of our colporteur rally at camp meeting, fifty-one people pledged to put in at least eight hours during the coming year selling our literature on a colporteur basis. Our conference president, Elder Osgood, was one of these. We would like to know who the rest of you are, so that we will be able to better cooperate with you, and thereby assure you greater success. When you write to us telling us what you would like to sell,—large books, small books, Christmas books, or magazines.

It seems that since many of our people were not present at camp meeting, there should be at least fifty more who would gladly join this group, answering the clarion call of the Master to service in the ranks of the colporteur army.

We wonder if your church will be listed in this space next week? There are many churches almost over the top, as you will notice in the bulletin. Don't stop working until the territory is all worked.

Reports are coming in from all parts of the field, indicating that the members are putting in good time in the Harvest Ingathering.

Please send in some of your experiences for the bulletin.

News Items

Elder J. H. Roth is, at this writing, attending a Union College Board meeting in Lincoln Nebraska.

Sisters Adelle Kelly and Rhoda Nelson of Huron paid the office a brief visit while passing through Watertown one day last week.

Elder W. H. Hanhardt, our home missionary secretary, is working in his district this week helping the churches there to reach their Harvest Ingathering goals.

Brother Robert Brown, our field missionary secretary, is busily laying plans for the colporteur institute to be held at Aberdeen, October 8 to 16. Anyone who feels called by the Lord to enter the colporteur work should improve this opportunity to get in touch with Brother Brown and arrange with him to attend the institute preparatory to doing successful work in the future.

One sister expressed her appreciation of the Sabbath School lessons in the following words: “I think the lessons are so inspiring. Studying them is just like taking a refreshing drink.”

The following telegram was received from the Sioux Falls church early last week: “Sioux Falls church over the top in the Ingathering.” Congratulations, Sioux Falls!

The Watertown church was favored on Sabbath, September 25, by having Elder P. D. Gerrard, the field missionary Secretary of the union, meet with them. He and Brother Brown had planned to meet with another church but due to some slip in the mail they were unable to make that appointment. Elder Gerrard's sermon during the 11 o'clock hour was a source of inspiration and help to the church, in broadening their vision of the possibilities that are open for missionary work for everyone.

Word was recently received from Batesland that definite plans are under way to provide a meeting place for the church there.

An Opportunity

You may be glad for an opportunity to share in the glorious work of giving this message in this mighty hour, even though you cannot devote much time in active service.

In order to carry on a strong winter work, we are anxious to know where places may be found for the colporteurs to stay for week-ends during the coming months. Several of the workers want to locate immediately after the institute, and it will be a great help in arranging for the most effective work, if we could know then of several places where the colporteurs could stay.

If you desire to join with these self-sacrificing missionaries and have a part with them in the work they are doing, by simply providing a week-end home for one or more of them please get in touch with me.

“Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God.”

“In the great closing work we shall meet with perplexities that we know not how to deal with; but let us not forget that the three great powers of heaven are working, that a divine hand is on the wheel, and that God will bring His promises to pass. He will gather from the world a people who will serve Him in righteousness.”
