FARMING IS INDUSTRY

Ministerial Institutes to Be Held in Various Parts of South American Field

Elder A. G. Daniells, president of the General Conference of S. D. A. for 20 years, presented a pictorial review of the Avondale school farm of Australia last night in Columbia Hall. The general plan of this agricultural school was recommended by Mrs. E. G. White 40 years ago, and has grown until at present the food business in Australia has increased to a $2,000,000 output annually.

Elder and Mrs. A. G. Daniells, recently returned from a year of ministerial institute work in Australia and New Zealand, will embark from New York on the S. S. Western World, Nov. 15, for Rio de Janeiro, South America. As secretary of the Ministerial Association, Elder Daniells together with Mrs. Daniells responds to the call of the South American Division with an itinerary of many thousand miles.

NEAR-BY CHURCHES TO RECEIVE STUDENT AID

The Medical Seminar at its meeting last Friday night voted that its members go to isolated churches within a radius of 60 miles of the College to assist in the church services. This will be done under the leadership of the newly elected officers: president, Wallace Mook; vice president, Miss Estella Simpson; secretary, Ferdinand Welebir; assistant secretary, Miss Helen Marschner; program committee, Miss Vera Fisher, Raphael Senseman and James Zeigler. Addressing the seminar, Prof. E. C. (Concluded on page 2)

1928 IS BANNER YEAR IN LOCAL SANITARIUM

The Washington Sanitarium, established in 1907, has progressed so that in 1928 it admitted and treated over 4,000 patients. During rush periods the institution can accommodate 350 patients. The American College of Surgeons and the American Medical Association recognize the training for internship given by the Sanitarium. At present, there are 17 graduate supervising nurses registered and 111 nurses who are in training.

The Sanitarium conducts a worship service every morning and a vesper service in the evening with chaplain W. E. Barr officiating.

The evening worship programs are varied, consisting many times of health lectures by the staff physicians, musical programs or lectures by missionaries from various sections of the world.

W. M. C. Department of Interior Is of Vast Importance to Student Life

"An army marches on its stomach," stated a famous general of history. This axiom does not overemphasize the importance of "the department of the interior." In an educational institution the value of good dining room service cannot be overstressed.

The dining room of Washington Missionary College has for the last five years been under the capable management of Mrs. M. Montgomery who has successfully placed this important and sustaining branch of college activities on its right level.

The service is conducted on the general cafeteria plan. Although the dining room is maintained primarily for the students, many guests come in to enjoy the pleasures of a good meal with the students.

The dining room contains 26 tables at which 8 may be comfortably seated.

At the noon hour 180 take their meals here. It is estimated that the department cares for 500 during the course of each day.

Mrs. Montgomery, who is assisted in her duties as matron by Miss Edna Stoneburner, has in her employ 50 workers, of whom 30 are regularly connected with the dining room service. Seven look after the care of the dining room; ten compose the dishwashing group, five prepare salads and five more find sufficient work in preparing the hot foods.

At the noon hour patrons may select their meals from a pleasing variety of five or six hot foods in addition to the soup, two or three kinds of salads, desserts and many other appetizing and delicious foods.

PRE-MED GRADUATE IS INTERNATIONAL STOKER

By getting a job on a German liner because he is still a German; by getting a job on an American liner because he had taken out his first naturalization papers, Paul Frenzel, '29 premedical graduate of W. M. C. was able to go abroad, visiting his relatives in Germany, and return to the United States $25 richer than when he left.

Frenzel left New York on the Deutschland July 9, and worked in the engine room where it was intensely hot. "The cats," he said, "did not agree with me, so I frequently disguised myself and went on the (Concluded on page 2)

ENGLISH APPEALS TO FRESHMAN STUDENTS

It seems as if the rudiments of the English language have a special attraction for the lower classmen of the College. Of the 49 who were given the opportunity to leave the feet of their instructors for attainments of higher ranks, only 13 availed themselves. Howard Metcalfe grasped opportunity by the forelock and passed with the highest credits in his class. Miss Elizabeth Quinn ran him a close second and Mrs. Doris Brown came in third.

The occasion was Form B of the Tressler Test in English Fundamentals, given the Introductory English class. Those passing are allowed to drop the class. The others will continue their pursuit of greater knowledge in English.

The enthusiasm and eagerness of the younger students to learn the fundamentals of English seems to have inspired the upper classmen, and the opportunity to enter a class in Introductory English will be given Juniors and Seniors during the second semester.

YOUNGSTERS CONDUCT SLIGO CHURCH SERVICE

Does it pay to sacrifice for church schools? The answer came to the members of the Sligo church last Sabbath morning when the children of the Sligo church school showed what a Christian education meant to them.

Smiling faces, mischievous faces, dimpled faces, serious faces, sober faces, thoughtful faces, were among the eager group of young students as they talked of God and His love for man.

Little Billy Farley asked God to bless their program, and then Miss Mabert Hinton's third grade told the story of creation in verse and in song. For each created thing the children bowed their heads and sang thanks to God.

A service flag in the form of a cross was made up of gold stars as one by one members of Miss Vesta Clymer's seventh and eighth grades recited Bible verses.

HOME OF INCURABLES ENJOYS SUNSHINE BAND

Inmates of the Home for Incurables like Sunshine Band number three, and Sunshine Band number three likes the inmates of the Home for Incurables. For this reason it was the third division of the Missionary Volunteer Sunshine Band that visited the Wisconsin Avenue home last Sabbath afternoon.

The program which was rendered under the supervision of assistant Sunshine Band leader Edward Mooy, included a vocal duet by the Misses Ruth and Emma Schifer, several violin duets played by Miss Grace Nicola and Ruland Hussong and a vocal duet by Edward Mooy and Charles Warnell. The entire band favored their audience by singing many request numbers.

When handshaking time came, Sunshine Band number three was invited to come back for visit number three.

DEAN OF THEOLOGY TO OPEN LECTURE COURSE

Pre-Service Health Talk Will Be Given by Dr. Truman

On Sunday evening, Nov. 17, Dr. B. G. Wilkinson, Dean of Theology, begins his third year's course of Bible lectures in the Arcadia Auditorium, speaking on the subject, "When the Pope Comes to Washington."

Dr. Wilkinson has just returned from Boston, Mass., and he says that in this section of the country this is the supreme topic under consideration by Seventh-day Adventists.

A pre-service health lecture, "Protecting the Family from Influenza," will be given by Dr. A. W. Truman, health director of the Washington Sanitarium.

Music will be in charge of Prof. H. A. Miller, Leslie Smith, a second year Theological student, will direct the chorus and congregational singing.

Already more than 1,200 special invitations to the lecture have been distributed.

MISSIONARY TO BRAZIL EMBARKS FOR STATION

Elder E. M. Davis, superintendent of Meras Geraes Mission, Brazil, with his wife and 16-year-old daughter Nola, will embark tomorrow from New York for their return trip to Brazil.

After several years of service in the field, Elder Davis declined a furlough and gave two years more of foreign service before he returned to the United States. For the six years before coming home on furlough Elder Davis has been in charge of the Meras Geraes Mission located at Juiz de Fora, 180 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro. Through nine years of mission work in Brazil, Elder Davis has seen but one full-blooded Brazilian Indian. The Indian tribes live far inland where few white men have penetrated.

During a meeting of the Mothers' Society at the home of Mrs. H. H. Hall, 7 Elm Ave., Takoma Park, Sunday evening, Nov. 10, Mrs. Davis told of the life of a missionary's wife in Brazil.

On Sabbath, Nov. 9, Elder Davis delivered the eleven o'clock sermon at the Mt. Pleasant Church.

COLLEGE MUSICIANS WILL GIVE FIRST CONCERT OF SCHOOL YEAR

SOLOISTS WILL FEATURE Beethoven's 'Fifth Symphony' to Be Presented by 28 W. M. C. Musicians

By Horton McLennan

The concert orchestra of Washington Missionary College under the direction of Prof. Victor Johnson will render a program Saturday night, Nov. 16, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of Columbia Hall.

The orchestra will be assisted by a group of soloists, both vocal and instrumental, whose numbers will intersperse those of the orchestra, lending variety and change to the general course of the program.

Progress Made

The orchestra has done splendid work this year under Prof. Johnson. A concert after nine weeks of rehearsal work indicates progress that is unusual for a collegiate orchestra.

The selections to be given by the orchestra are all of a classical nature opening with the overture Masaniello, a composition of D. F. E. Auber.

The program will conclude with the rendering of the first movement of Beethoven's immortal "Fifth Symphony" by the orchestra.

Is Well Balanced

The instrumentation of the orchestra is well balanced with a large string section to be augmented in the near future with at least six additional string instruments. The personnel of the orchestra now numbers 28.

Conductor Johnson is planning two chapel programs to be given by the orchestra during the course of the next few months after which they will begin work on their accompaniment to the oratorio which will be a feature of the late spring.

MUSIC LOVERS LISTEN TO INFORMAL RECITAL

An informal program of piano compositions by Dalies Frantz, concert pianist and former soloist of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, kept 35 music lovers in the auditorium for an hour of enjoyment following the faculty recital last Saturday night, Oct. 9.

Mr. Frantz played compositions from both classical and modern schools, and included in his program such varied composers as Bach, Mendelssohn, Liszt, Scarlatti and Percy Grainger. The pianist also responded to the requests of his audience by playing several of their favorites.

W. M. C. patrons will recall hearing Mr. Frantz on the College concert platform last year when he appeared in joint recital with his mother, Madame Amelia Lueck Frantz. His interpretation of compositions suitable for children and his informal conversational introductions to such renditions especially interested his hearers.

The Sligonian Platform to Keep Washington Missionary College First

1. A Sligonian Representative of Denominational Standards.
2. Student-Faculty Co-operation.
3. A Definite Program for Additional College Equipment.

SIGNS

After casual observation extending over a protracted period of time, we conclude that "no parking" signs along the W. M. C. driveway are about as useful as they are ornamental.

GOOD WORK! FRESHMEN

We are quite ready to lift our hats to the college Freshmen. Under the advisership of Miss Wellman and the editorship of Mr. Boyts, the staff and the entire class co-operated in making their issue of THE SLIGONIAN newsy, original and up to standard.

Because it was a success, the staff extends congratulations.

DO YOUR BEST

Again we come to the Week of Sacrifice.

Somehow, with most of us, sacrifice is synonymous with surplus. We give what we can spare, but not of our sustenance. Is there any good reason why a student-faculty body of 400 shouldn't raise at least $400? We fail to see any, so let's do it. Remember—"The impossibility lies in your own will."

SLUMP SEASON

Examinations are over! Now is usually the time when there comes a slump, a refraining from study. But have you never thought that it is this very fact which accounts for cramming and low grades at the end of the nine-week period? Work thus done is never satisfactory, for only by the daily preparation of lessons will a student succeed. It is the day-by-day work which counts. Consistency is the keynote. And should this not be realized in school, it must be learned through experience in after-life. Let's make our study "resolve" now.

IMPROVEMENTS

The College administration has been unusually generous this fall in providing vast improvements for the campus. New trees and shrubs and bulbs in their places are helping to make the campus more delightful for visitors and for ourselves.

None of us has spent his personal money for these thoughts of beauty, and so we are apt to be careless and unthinking in our use or misuse of them. Will they look the same or better a year from now—two years from now? Or will some unthinking person start a path wherein many feet shall follow to mar the symmetry of it all? We do appreciate the improvement. Let's not depreciate it.

THE SPIRIT OF HARMONY

You came here to get a true education, "the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers." Harmony is the keynote. Could the three "powers" harmonize if jazz rang through our buildings and dances were held in our gymnasium—if weekly athletic matches kept our minds keyed up to competitive height—if movies saturated our lives with the unreal? Never. It is just for this reason that we sing hymns, that we have marches, and beneficial club programs and musical entertainments. Last Saturday night the music faculty struck a mellow note in the great harmony of school life. This week the concert orchestra will add another in its offerings. These programs are presented to help you harmonize your three "powers." Will Saturday night see you being truly educated?

THE TOURIST

"Thine is the Glory."

It is the painting of a nurse in the building of the American Red Cross. A doughboy face is raised in homage to the white-clad figure. And now, eleven years since the booming of the guns, citizen and soldier pay tribute to the heroism and womanhood of these angels of mercy in time of danger and disease.

Standing as a symbol of a worldwide Red Cross organization, the Washington structure in addition, preserves for all time, memories of the horror that attended the World War. At the entrance to the museum there stands a shell-torn ambulance, stripped of tires, engine battered, that was recaptured by American troops after Chateau-Thierry. Still faintly visible on one side is the Croix de Guerre, earned for heroic work under fire.

A musical mascot of the A. E. F. has come to rest in one corner of the museum, while hundreds of smaller relics are on display in the exhibit cases.

Some of the realism and romance connected with Red Cross work is evident in the "wishing" table on the second floor exhibit hall. The table—but you can see it for yourself.

To reach the American Red Cross by the Fourteenth street car line, transfer at New York Avenue to a Rosslyn car for Seventeenth street, where a three minute walk south will lead to the building.

JUVENILES LEAD OUT IN SABBATH SERVICE

Stuart's fifth-grade students, proved that little folk may do missionary work. Meeting Phyllis Presley upon the road as he went to Sabbath school, he told her, a non-Adventist, why he went to Sabbath school rather than Sunday school, and was successful in securing a promise that Phyllis would visit Sabbath school some day soon.

How Adam and Eve were tempted and fell was told in story by Herbert Wright of the third grade.

"The Bible is unequalled by the most brilliant productions of human genius," Bobby Barr declared in his tribute to the Word of God.

"Let the little ones come unto Me," Prof. H. A. Miller sang reverently, and Elder R. F. Farley emphasized the church's responsibility for the little ones whom Christ would have come to Him. The home, the school and the church each has its influence upon the child.

A mixed quartet also contributed to the program.

The program was prepared under the direction of Mrs. Frances Howell, Normal director, and the teachers, Misses Vesta Clymer, Louise Stuart and Mabert Hinton.

INDIA'S NEED IS SHOWN

A picture of India and its customs was painted by Miss Faydette Smith and Mr. F. E. Walleker last Friday evening in the Foreign Missions Band, as a foundation for the subject, "When, How and Where India Came on the Map," which is to be presented at the next meeting, Nov. 22.

Both speakers stressed the need of the field, showing the responsibility of the people at home to give that which they have to those who know not the gospel.

The Physics Department has received a new machine for the calculation of a motor's revolutions per minute.

sand miles through Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Peru, returning to this country for the General Conference in May.

The primary object of the tour is to conduct a series of ministerial institutes in behalf of the national and foreign ministers, Bible workers and other conference employees in that division of the world field. While waiting for the first institute to convene, Elder Daniells will have two weeks in Rio de Janeiro for a revival effort in the interests of the churches of that locality.

When the first institute convenes in Sao Paulo, Elder Carlyle B. Haynes, president of the South American Division, will join Elder Daniells and continue with him in the circuit of the 10 institutes ending in Lima, Peru.

While president of the Foreign Mission Board for 21 years, Elder Daniells visited every continent of the world with the one exception of South America. Having passed the seventieth milestone, these pioneer workers enter upon this tour of the one remaining continent. If the S. S. Western World runs according to schedule, it should arrive in Rio de Janeiro on Mrs. Daniells' seventy-fifth birthday.

Blue said, "My ambition is tied up in my students." Prof. Blue began the medical course and studied three years. He had done much microscopic work, and in his third year his eyes gave out. Doctors told him it would be impossible to continue in the medical course, so he began to teach others to be doctors.

"In a few years I will be able to shake hands with doctors that I have helped through the course of medicine, and I am glad that my eyes went bad on me," were Prof. Blue's closing remarks.

upper deck where American passengers gave me sandwiches." When Frenzel returned to the engine room, he had to treat the crew to keep them from exposing him.

During his two-and-one-half-month stay, Frenzel visited France, Belgium, Holland and England. Most of his time, however, was spent at home, since he had been away for five years. He had become so Americanized in his half decade spent in the United States that German customs seemed odd and peculiar to him.

Frenzel returned on the Minnekahta, working as an assistant steward. He became acquainted with a George Washington University student, and the two chummed together during the remainder of the voyage.

"It seems mighty good to be back in America," Frenzel declared, "in the land of freedom and prosperity."

He is planning on going to Loma Linda next year to begin the hard grind of a doctor's career.

Miss Maybelle Vandermark is president-elect of the College Congress. Elections were held at the last meeting. She will succeed Andrew Robbins who has been president for the regular one-month term of office. Miss Doris Thompson was elected vice president; Miss Lucerne Collins, clerk; Miss Joyce Doe, treasurer; Paul Laurence, press agent; James French, parliamentarian; Reginald Pleasants, sergeant-at-arms.

EXCHANGE

"Mountain Ash," the annual of Walla Walla College, was in an uncertain status until the last of October.

The Freshmen of Milton College have elected their staff to publish the Nov. 14 issue of the Milton College Review. It was necessary to postpone the Freshman number for two weeks for proper organization among the green caps.

Every student of Broadview College did his bit to help nine orphans who had no place to sleep. Then it was announced that these orphans were nine little fish in the pool. Enough money was received to purchase an aquarium which was placed in the girls' parlor.

SIX NURSES REWARDED IN SANITARIUM CONTEST

Prize winners in the Good Health Week essay contest were announced and their papers read at the Sunday morning chapel exercises in the Washington Sanitarium gymnasium, Nov. 10.

The winning essays were written by Miss Mildred Warren, a senior nurse; Miss Catherine Carlson of the intermediate class; and William DeGinder, a nurse in the junior class. They will each receive, as first prize essayists, a pair of health shoes. The second prizes were awarded to Miss Helen McElmurry, a senior; Miss Hulda Guenther, an intermediate; and Miss Anna Vaughn, a junior. They will each receive a limp leather bound copy of "Counsels on Health."

CLUB SHOWS PROGRESS

Twenty-three mothers were present at the business meeting of the Mothers' club which was held in the parlor of the Nurses' Home Nov. 6.

According to the treasurer, the club has $137. It expects to increase this amount by the proceeds from a sale on home articles which will be held next month. Mrs. D. E. Davenport presided. The next meeting will be held at her home.

Members of Mrs. H. A. Morrison's Sabbath school class spent a lively two hours Saturday evening, Nov. 9, at the home of their teacher. Those present were the Misses Helena Kirkland, Gertrude Baldwin, Wilhelmina Widmer, Esther Griner, Ruth Harding, Vera Baldwin, Helen Marschner, Alida Chapman, Ruth Schifer, Lenora Slate, Frances Slate, Emma Schifer and Ruth Conard.

DEPARTMENT IMPORTANT

ice, the department has among its equipment a three-section gas range, a steam cooker and an 80-quart electric mixer, besides other smaller kitchen labor-saving devices.

It is an interesting and significant fact that only 15 to 20 minutes are used in serving its entire patronage, thus enabling through its rapid service a saving of time which to the busy student is one of his most valuable assets.

Special meals are served in courses on Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and other occasions of public interest.

COLLEGE PRESS RUNS FULL TIME SCHEDULE

Latest reports from the College Print Shop indicate that business is increasing. Every department is running at full capacity.

Some of the weekly jobs are the publication of sixty-six thousand copies of the Weekly News Review, thirty-five thousand of The Junior Review and six thousand of The English Review, for the Civic Education Service. The American Eagle, a college weekly paper, has also been lately received for publication from the American University.

A Miehle pony press, recently installed, is reported to be doing much to make the press work more efficient.

Twenty-one students are now employed in this industry, most of whom earn their entire way through school.

VENETIAN TRIP THRILLS DEPARTMENT HEAD

Mrs. L. Flora Plummer was again called upon to relate the experiences she had in Europe this summer, this time to the Review and Herald family, at their Sunday morning chapel service, Nov. 10. She told of her visit to Venice, and her trip from this Island City to the school at Dicosanmartin, Rumania, where a joint Sabbath School and Home Missionary Convention was held.

"Venice is just what I had dreamed and hoped it would be," declared Mrs. Plummer. "The streets are really of water, and the gondoliers who propel the picturesque 'taxis' through the canals, are just as romantic looking as they are related to be in story and song, with their three-cornered hats, velvet jackets and broad sashes."

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS TALK ON CONFIDENCE

"Confidence in God," the mainstay of Christianity in the storms of life, was the topic discussed in the regular meeting of the Missionary Volunteer Society Friday evening.

At the conclusion of the society leader's remarks, Russell Quackenbush stressed the necessity of a close acquaintance with the Master. "Without this," he said, "we cannot retain confidence in His love and power."

Miss Mary Ninaj verbally portrayed the soldier's armor in Bible times. She compared the warrior's protection with the Christians who must withstand "the fiery darts of the wicked."

An impending world crisis was predicted by Clifford Tempest. He asserted that the danger lies in the accusation, "The church has failed; hence Christianity is a failure." It was explained that the deepest crisis is in the fact that confidence is based in men and organizations rather than in God.

Other features of the program consisted of a vocal solo rendered by Miss Muriel Mook, and a recitation by Miss Eunice Shoup.

PROPHECY IS EXPLAINED

"If we honor God in private, He will honor us in public," declared Dr. B. G. Wilkinson in a chapel address last Friday, continuing the series of sermons on doctrinal subjects. The speaker told his audience that world history has been in the toes of the great image of Daniel 2 since the beginning of the modern nations of Europe.

In concluding, he said, "We are now living in the pause between this world catastrophe and the world to come. The next act will be the stone striking the image on the feet and filling the whole earth. This will mark the establishment of the eternal kingdom of peace."

"Let's get together and make our subscription list something to write home about."—The Lancastrian.

ARMISTICE DAY
They sleep! Peacefully, each in his own place, the warriors of freedom rest, their duty done.
Their flag, banner of liberty for which they fought, unfurls above them toward wingless blue as in benediction.
As they sleep, the memory of their valiant deeds lives on in the hearts of their countrymen.
Purifying their noblest thoughts, and drawing each desire closer to God.
—Eunice Graham.

COMMONPLACES FORETELL CHRIST'S SECOND COMING

"God has harnessed His resources for a speedy work to be done in the earth," declared Elder W. R. French in his chapel talk last Monday on "Signs of Christ's Second Coming." "He is using the science and invention of the world to carry the Advent Message to every nation, yet inventions have become so commonplace that we do not discern their significance."

WORK OF LOCAL MAN IS STUDY OF SEMINAR

The second meeting of the English Seminar was held Wednesday night in Columbia Hall. The subject of study was the epic elegy. The elegies of the Bible, such as David's lament over the death of Saul and Jonathan were special subjects of study. The great elegies of English literature were reviewed and discussed, especially "Lycidas" and "In Memoriam." Of American elegies, "Thanatopsis" was chosen for discussion.

"And Israel Mourned," an elegy written by Prof. A. W. Spalding on the death of Ellen G. White, was made a special subject of study. This elegy is found in "Songs of the Kingdom," written by Prof. Spalding.

OCEAN VOYAGE TAKEN BY FORMER STUDENT

Charles H. Dupee, former W. M. C. student, has returned from a 6,000-mile voyage from his home in Seattle, Washington, to Plymouth, R. I., working his entire way as a deck hand on a freight steamer.

The lure of the sea led Dupee to board a 500-foot freighter to spend a month on the ocean where he compassed more than half of the coast of North America via the Pacific Ocean, the Panama Canal and the Atlantic Ocean, landing at Plymouth. From Rhode Island, Dupee came to Washington. He expects to attend W. M. C. during the second semester.

To come from Washington to Takoma Park in 13 minutes may be the record of any student who chooses the Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger service in his travels.

Students who find time a limited asset can save two hours in making a trip to Washington if they will take advantage of the fast railroad service now in operation between the Park and Union Station.

A commutator's book containing 10 tickets may be purchased for $1.53. While this is twice the cost of a cash fare ride in the regular street cars, the time is reduced from an hour and a quarter to less than a quarter of an hour.

The Union Station is an eight-minute walk from the Library of Congress.

HALCYON

At the meeting of the Halcyon Nov. 7, a committee was appointed to supervise the care of the South Hall kitchenette. The committee will bring in plans tonight for the improvement and care of this department.

The Halcyon Club has already raised more than half the amount it pledged for the liquidation of The Students' Association debt.

FAMOUS FIFTY

The Famous Fifty opened their meeting Thursday evening, Nov. 7, with a piano solo, "The Rosary," played by Milton Prout. The club discussed plans by which the members of the Famous Fifty and the Halcyon Club might leave a memorial or in some way improve the school homes during 1929-30.

Arthur Bankes made a short visit to Hazelton, Pa., to see his mother, Mrs. W. M. Reichelderfer who is ill at the Hazelton Hospital.

CUB REPORTERS TOUR REVIEW AND HERALD

The News Writing and the Feature Writing classes last Thursday afternoon toured the Review and Herald Publishing Association building under the guidance of Elder F. D. Nichol, associate editor of the Review and Herald, and Merwin Thurber, employee.

The work and routine of an editor was explained by Elder F. M. Wilcox, editor of the Review and Herald. He said, "Any one who can write an intelligent letter can be a writer, and the more he sticks to the simple tone and structure of the letter writer, the greater will be his success."

Elder D. W. Reavis, circulation manager of Present Truth, advised the budding writers to exercise good common sense.

The News Writing Class is writing all the W. M. C. news for the Columbia Union Visitor.

NURSES' GUILD

Under the direction of Miss Mabel Estill the Kate Lindsay Guild is now actively engaged in collecting old clothes for the Glen Alpine Rural School located at Morganton, N. C.

Eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Port of the Walden College of Wisconsin organized Glen Alpine as a self-supporting institution to further evangelistic work among the mountaineers of western North Carolina. At present Mr. and Mrs. Port and their associates are conducting a rural school with an attendance of 30, and a small sanitarium.

MUSICAL PROGRAM IS BIG THING OF SEASON

Six hundred attended the recital given by the music faculty of W. M. C. in Columbia Hall Saturday evening, Nov. 9.

Mrs. R. L. Walin, mezzo-soprano, rendered the vocal numbers of the program. She sang classical and modern numbers in French and Italian.

Prof. Victor Johnson followed Mrs. Walin's opening set with the four minuets from Handel's Sonata IV on the violin. He responded to an encore with Boisdoffre's "By the Brook."

Prof. Harold Miller played a set of three of his own piano compositions. His encores were sketches inspired by such commonplaces as squeaky doors and leaky faucets.

Prof. Miller accompanied Mrs. Walin and Prof. Johnson throughout the program.

A special feature of the program was Rubinstein's "Romance" in which Mrs. Walin carried the vocal part, and Prof. Johnson the violin obligato, accompanied by Prof. Miller.

STAFF VACANCIES FILLED

The staff of The Book of Golden Memories as elected at a regular Students' Association meeting held Oct. 16 is as follows:

Vacancies in The Sligonian staff were filled by the following: associate editor, Marion Bourdeau; stenographic secretary, Edith Starr. New officers of The Students' Association are: cultural secretary, Mildred Grant; business manager, James Trefz.

CAMPUS NEWS

The beautifying of the campus has begun, but not until spring is here will the final results of the landscape artists' effort be known. Two hundred and fifty-eight tulip bulbs are planted along the College walk borders, and in and among the recently planted shrubbery. Four hundred crocuses are planted here and there on the campus.

"With determination any one can make a success at selling books," declared Elder N. Z. Town last Sunday night to the home students at joint vespers in Columbia Hall. "Willingness" was the keyword of the evening.

Editor Addresses Class

Miss Lora E. Clement, editor of the Youth's Instructor, spoke to the Feature Writing class last Thursday, discussing the attitude of the Instructor toward the work of amateur writers.

Education, intelligence and practice were given as necessary essentials of a good writer. Outstanding in the lecture was the view held by Miss Clement that every Seventh-day Adventist youth should be able to write for denominational publications.

Pond Nearing Completion

Campus lights are being installed on each end of the new fish pond, which is nearing completion.

Milton Prout made a week end trip to his home in Philadelphia.

Visitors of Miss Thelma Pangborn were her mother, Mrs. Della Pangborn, and Miss Dartha Pangborn of Cortland, Ohio. They remained at the College for a week.

Miss Anna Roedel and Miss Florence Oliver served a dinner in the Home Economics Department in South Hall last Thursday evening. Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Weniger, Miss Freda Trefz and Mrs. M. Montgomery were entertained.

New Lockers Installed

The Biology Department has had two sets of new lockers prepared for laboratory work. One set is for laboratory tools, the other for storing embalmed cats.

According to reports coming in Sunday evening, $570.50 has been received by the Children Ingatherers. Mr. R. Zeidler, leader of the Ingatherers, said that each member is visiting families in the community and that money and pledges are still coming in.

Efficiency Meeting Held

Mr. C. C. Pulver, manager of the Washington Sanitarium, conducted the regular monthly efficiency meeting of the Sanitarium employees last Tuesday evening in the Sanitarium gymnasium.

Speaking of the progress which the Sanitarium has made thus far this year, the manager compared this institution with other denominational medical institutions, and showed that the Washington Sanitarium is leading all denominational sanitariums in financial status.

Sunshine Band Grows

The Sunshine Band, under the leadership of Miss Margaret Ellwanger, continues to add to its membership. A third section has been formed, enrolling thirty new members.

With this third formation, almost every girl in South Hall and many of the North Hall men, pledge themselves to spread sunshine among those who need cheer.

The first visit made by Band Three was to the Home of the Aged and Infirm.

The members of The Sligonian editorial staff meet in the dining room at Central Hall every Sunday evening. Prof. C. E. Weniger, the faculty adviser, also takes his place at the editors' table. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss future development and increase the efficiency of the College paper.

HOME MAKING CLASS EQUIPMENT IMPROVED

"Young women strive to please," said Miss Anna Roedel in speaking of the Home Economics Department. The problems that enter into the making of the home are being stressed, and each girl is given opportunity to put into practical use the knowledge she has obtained from class work.

One of the features which enters largely into class work is the planning and carrying out of menus and social entertainments. Plans for such entertainments are at present being worked out by Miss Roedel and the students.

Improvements are being made to make the home modern in every detail for efficient instruction to the students. The Home Making class is at present studying the kitchen and its modern equipment.

This year's enrolment exceeds that of last year.

EDITOR WRITING BOOK

A book on the calendar revision question is fast coming from the pen of Elder F. D. Nichol, associate editor of the Review and Herald. Elder Nichol is an authority on the subject, having done extensive research work, and having spent much time and effort in interviewing experts on the subject, and attending conventions where it was discussed.

Elder Nichol has written an extensive series of articles on this question for the Review and Herald.

"We Seventh-day Adventists can capitalize this timely question if we will," declares Elder Nichol. "It is a God-given opportunity to present the Sabbath truth to the world."

Henry Ewald spent the week end at his home in New York, stopping over to see friends in Philadelphia.
