PHILOSOPHY

The Seventh-day Adventist Church has accepted the commission given by Jesus Christ to His disciples to proclalm the gospel to all the world. The church employs many agencies to accomplish its spiritual task, but all of its several organizations (conferences, schools, medical institutions, food factories, publishing houses, radio and television ministries, Adventist book centers, etc.) have one central objective- the salvation of man. Because of this, every denominational employee has a responsibility to participate in the mission of the church.

To provide a basis for the remuneration of various classes of workers, a denominational remuneration scale has been adopted. The philosophy of this remuneration scale is predicated upon the fact that a spirit of sacrifice and dedication should mark God's workers irrespective of the position they hold or the department they represent. The work of the church, including every denominational organization, is a mission to which lives are dedicated rather than a business or commercial venture. The church remuneration scale does not always compensate its dedicated workers in monetary units commensurate with their talents, accomplishments, and contributions, but does provide workers with a modest living income, which gives recognition of responsibilities borne, preparation undertaken, professional attainment, previous experience, and years of service.

The church believes that modesty and good taste with reasonable comfort will govern the lives of Christian workers. It recognizes that some areas of its work are more directly affected by economic factors outside of the church organization than are others, and by local economic conditions prevailing in different geographical areas.

The spirit of sacrifice on the part of Adventist employees will be manifested not only by the level of their financial remuneration but also by the dedication of time, talents, and energy to the cause of God and humanity. Men and women called to labor in the cause of the Adventist Church are to be workers of single purpose and allegiance. With Paul, the great missionary of the early Christian church, they say, "This one thing I do."

The church philosophy of remuneration was developed on the scriptural and spiritual imperative, "give us this day our daily bread." It is a plan which provides income for the needs of individuals who believe that God blesses the spirit of selfless service and who believe that the Seventh-day Adventist Church has a worldwide mission. The philosophy, from its inception, has anticipated that, in addition to the contribution of time and talent, a Seventh-day Adventist worker will also, from his modest income, make voluntary gif'ts to accelerate the proclamation of the gospel, and thus exhibit a further demonstration of faith and commitment. Because of this philosophy, all denominational employees in the Seventh-day Adventist Church are regarded as church workers placed in one of two harmonious categories and designated either as ministers or missionaries. Both categories call for commitment and sacrifice but allow for different functions.

The church has a basic remuneration scale for all employees in each job classification without discrimination on the basis of race, religion, sex, age, national origin or color.

If considered in the light of these principles, the remuneration policy of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will be seen to be in harmony with the spirit of nondiscrimination, equal pay, and other requirements, as well as being in conformity to the teachings and beliefs of the church.

THE BASIC REMUNERATION SCALE

1. A remuneration scale for the North American Division based on such considerations as education, experience, and responsibility, provides minimums and maximums expressed in percentages of the remuneration factor (rounded to the nearest dollar). It incorporates basic income rates for various categories of services, with recognition of the responsibility inherent in each position or category.
2. A spread between minimum and maximum rates in the various categories of from fifteen to thirty percent has been incorporated in the remuneration scale. In setting rates within this spread, employing organizations should take into consideration the following factors with respect to each worker:
a. Preparation, education and dedication
b. Previous experience and achievement
c. Years of service
3. The remuneration scale should be strictly adhered to and no special allowances of any kind should be made except as may be provided for in the North American Division Working Policy.

REMUNERATTON SCALE PROVISIONS

REMUNERATION INCREMENTS

The arrangement of the remuneration scale provides separate listings for the various types of organization. The advisability of a regular plan of increments is recognized. In order to provide a reasonable degree of uniformity in the area of remuneration increments, it is recommended that the employee's remuneration may ordinarily be at the maximum for his category after the completion of five or six years of regular full-time service.

Three principles are applicable with respect to increments:

1. Departures from the strict application of the time schedule for increments may be made in recognition of special skill and/or exceptional productivity, or the normal period of achieving the maximum rate may be extended if lesser ability and rate of growth so indicate.
2. The rates for administrative and executive personnel may be set without regard to the established increments schedule.
3. Professional certification may be a requirement to reach the maximum of certain categories.

REMUNERATION

The remuneration rate assigned to each worker is designed to meet his requirements for all living allowances, including salary, housing, utilities, auto depreciation and insurance, telephone and professional allowance.

In addition to the remuneration rate, the worker or his/her dependent children may, under conditions described in the respective policy, receive the following:
a. Health care assistance
b. Tuition assisance on behalf of dependent children
c. Additional auto insurance

If both spouses are denominationally employed, the cost of these allowances may be shared by the employing organizations.

MAXIMUM REMUNERATION AND COMMUNITY RATES

The present remuneration scale provides for maximum rates to certain categories of employees which may be in excess of the remuneration rates paid in the community for a similar type of service. It is recognized that because of the area, the type employment, and community patterns of remuneration, the responsible committees and controlling boards concerned shall set remuneration rates for certain categories of employees which do not exceed the modest average community rate for such eategories, even though these rates are less than the maximums stated in the remuneration scale for these specific classifications. This applies to non-exempt employees or employees who are paid on an hour-time basis.

REMUNERATION RATES

Categories: It is recognized that in certain localities it may be necessary to adjust the remuneration rate to compensate for the higher cost-of-living area. This additional remuneration shall be based on data provided by a reputable company with expertise, and shall use as the major components of the study the cost of housing, transportation and taxes. The amount for qualifying areas shall be established by $N A D C O M$ in counsel with the field.

The categories shall be defined by dividing the cost-of-living areas in six sections. The lowest category shall not qualify for additional remuneration, while the others will be authorized to receive up to the maximum stipulated for the category.

The cost-of-living study will be done under the leadership of NADCOM and the assigning of areas to the various categories will be approved at the Annual Spring Meeting of NADCOM.

The Canadian Union is authorized to designate parts of the above as housing, automobile allowance, etc., as may be appropriate under existing Canadian law and on approval of NADCOM.

Ministerial Scholarship Rate - Seminary Rate

Ministerial Scholarship Rate

    Effective January 1, 1986 $550.00
    Effective July 1, 1986 570.00

For Canadian and Bermuda scholarship recipients, when wives accompany the intern but are unable to obtain work permits, the scholarship may be increased to $$ 1,100.00$ as of January 1,1986 , and $$ 1,140.00$ as of July 1, 1986

Parsonage Exclusion

Recommended Parsonage Exclusion ceilings (effective January 1, 1986):

| Category | Parsonage Exclusion |
| :---: | :---: |
| A | $$ 10,000$ |
| B | 10,750 |
| C | 11,500 |
| D | 12,250 |
| B | 13,000 |

The above amount for parsonage exclusion are guidelines. Each union in the North American Division will be responsible for establishing a ceiling within its territory.

Note: In the year that an ordained/licensed minister is moved to another location the maximum of the appropriate category may be increased by $$ 3,000$ for that year, provided this increase is approved by the committee prior to the move.

BOOKKERPING/ACCOUNTIHG DEFINITIONS

The categories of accountants listed below are sufficientiy varied as to permit governing committees to exercise their judgment as to the abilities of the employees and the requirements of the position. It is not anticipated that each organization will have employees fllling all categories or any specific category. Some organizations may not require anyone on the accountant level if the assistant treasurer or assistant manager is also caring for this responsibility.

Accounting Clerk-An accounting clerk is one who performs a variety of routine calculating, posting and typing duties to accomplish the accounting function. Typically, this person's education background in the area is limited to on-the-job training.

Senior Accounting Clerk-Performs similar duties as an accounting elerk but typically with minimal accounting or bookkeeping preparation, such as an acadeny bookkeeping course or one semester in beginning accounting at the college level, and/or five years of experience in similar work.

Jumior Accountant-A junior accountant is one who has el ementary knowledge of accounting principles and is able to apply it to limited areas of accounting procedures. This individual will normally have an AA degree in business or accounting, or equivalent work toward a BS/BA degree.

Accountant-An accountant is one who applies principles of accounting to install and/or maintain operation of the total accounting system. This individual is knowledgeable as to the reasons for, and the effect of, various accounting procedures. Typically, this individual will have a minimal BA/BS degree in accounting or business management, or a CPA.

Senior Accountant-A senior accountant is one who has abilities and training of an accountant; however, in addition he carries management and some supervisory responsibilities.

Chief Accountant-The chief accountant has abilities and background similar to the accountant and in addition has significant administrative responsibilities, including the superivision of personnel doing accounting functions.

Business Intern--A business intern is one who receives supervisory training in a variety of positions in denominational business lines. Requirements for eligibility shall include the satisfactory completion of a four-year liberal arts curriculum with a Bachelor's degree, with a major in Accountancy or Business Administration, and recommendation from the faculty of the college as to Christian experience, scholastic accomplishments, and potential for future service.

hospital remoneration scale

In an effort to unify the remuneration for administrative personnel in Seventh-day Adventist hospitals and union health eare corporations in the North American Division so that all benefits except tuition assistance, heal th care assistance and retirement benefits can be expressed in one total remuneration figure, a formula has been voted by the Annual Council for the North American Division.

1. Nine benchmark hospitals shall be selected by Adventist Heal th Systems/US. There shall be two of the larger hospitals from each division of the health system, with one from each union, and the Loma Linda Medical Center. (It is suggested that the White Memorial Hospital or Glendale Adventist Medical Center not be used due to their high historic salary increases.)
2. The last two pay periods in March of each year shall be used as a comparison from year to year. For these pay periods the dollars and hours shall be adjusted so that premium time, incentive time, all extra time and the hours and pay of major administrative personnel is deducted.
3. An average hourly rate shall be computed for each of the nine benchmark hospitals for the two pay periods in March of the current year which are compared with the two pay periods of the previous year. The average hourly rates for the hospitals are listed, added, and then divided by nine to produce the composite average hourly rate. The difference in this rate for the two years is converted to a percentage of change.
4. The hospital administrative salary rate shall be updated annually by multiplying the previous year's rate by a figure equivalent to 100 plus the percentage of change (i.e. $8.25 \%=108.25 \%$ ).
5. An affidavit signed by the chief personnel officer, the chief financial officer, and the chief executive officer, shall be completed by each hospital verifying their computation. The nine hospitals are to submit a copy of their computation and affidavit to their corporate office no later than May 15 of each year. That computation is to be forwarded to the office of the chairman of the board and the president of Adventist Heal th System/ US.
6. The salaries of major administrative personnel of the Glendale Adventist Medical Center and the White Memorial Hospital may be up to $10 \%$ high than the maximum salaries provided by the regular formula and shall be approved by the Board of Adventist Heal th System/US.

The remuneration scale for other personnel in the employ of health care institutions will be determined by the respective governing boards, and rates will be set in a proper relationship to the administrator's rate and to the prevailing rates in the communtty.
