Priorities for Education

General Conference

Department of Education

The priorities for the General Conference Department of Education are fourfold. The first goal is to reinforce Adventist identity and mission, characterized by:

- Meaningful integration of faith and learning in the various disciplines and a biblical worldview overall;
- Balanced, whole-person, redemptive education that develops the ability “to think and to do” and restores in students the image of God (Education, p. 17);
- Adventist essentials in graduate and professional programs;
- Adventist philosophy of education in distance education, delivery of intensives for non-residential cohorts, and urban campuses;
- Academic quality;
- Spiritual master plans appropriate for the level and type of student; and
- Use of the Bible and Adventist textbooks.

The second goal is to strengthen leadership and administration, and demonstrate accountability and effective governance through robust institutional decision-making processes and structures, supported by journal articles, handbooks, and board training workshops.

The third goal is to expand the capacity of all teachers to achieve the redemptive purposes of Adventist education, and to increase the percentage of Seventh-day Adventist teachers who work in the system. Here the intent is to:

- Encourage induction and development of all teachers in the area of faith and learning;
- Increase access to The Journal of Adventist Education;
- Strengthen the role of religion and theology teachers;
- Add to the Handbook series for teachers;
- Offer regional conferences about faith and learning, assessment of spiritual master plans, Adventist philosophy of education, etc.; and
- Promote education as a calling, and the practice of credentialing and commissioning of teachers.

The fourth goal is to nurture all Seventh-day Adventist students, including those in non-Adventist higher education, and partnering with other GC departments (particularly Chaplaincy, Children’s Ministries, Youth, and Family Ministries) to strengthen, through the divisions, ministry of churches to all Adventist students. The following strategies contribute to this goal:

- Increase access to Dialogue;
- Monitor the preparation of future teachers and recruit teachers and other personnel needed for Adventist higher education (in line with our third goal);
- Expand membership in the Adventist Professionals’ Network (apn.adventist.org); and
- Address access barriers so as to increase the percentage of SDA students in Adventist schools.

An authorization request may be sent by email to Sheri Clemmer at ClemmerS@gc.adventist.org

If your division has not authorized additional per diem and you are personally responsible, the additional amount you receive will be deducted from the per diem you received initially at on site registration.

WELCOME, BIENVENIDO, TERVETULOA, MABUHAY, KARIBU_____

What is the National Cherry Blossom Festival?

The National Cherry Blossom Festival is Washington, DC's and the nation's greatest springtime celebration that annually celebrates the gift of the cherry blossom trees and their symbol of enduring friendship between the citizens of Japan and the United States.

The Festival features creative and diverse activities that promote traditional and contemporary arts and culture, natural beauty and the environment, and community spirit and youth education, the majority of which are free and open to the public. Signature Festival events include Family Day and the Opening Ceremony, the Southwest Waterfront Fireworks Festival, and the National Cherry Blossom Festival Parade®. There are over 150 daily cultural performances by local, national and international entertainers, sports competitions that attract visitors from around the world, the country, and area residents.

What is the Library of Congress?

The Library serves as the research arm of Congress and is recognized as the national library of the United States. Its collections comprise the world's most comprehensive record of human creativity and knowledge. It is the world's largest library and a great resource to scholars and researchers.

The highlight of a visit to the Library of Congress is the glorious Great Hall of the Thomas Jefferson Building, which rises 75 feet from marble floor to stained glass ceiling. Marble columns, staircases, mosaics and paintings make this one of the most beautiful public buildings in America.

In the Great Hall of the Library of Congress, Thomas Jefferson Building, two monumental Bibles face each other as if in dialogue: one, the Giant Bible of Mainz, signifies the end of the handwritten book; and the other, the Gutenberg Bible, marks the beginning of the printed book and the explosion of knowledge and creativity it would engender. The exhibition explores the significance of the two Bibles, and the interactive stations next to them each provide access to many of the pages within. Visitors can compare and contrast many different elements and themes in each Bible, reveal curatorial insight throughout, zoom in and out of the details of many pages, and browse sixteen selected Bibles from the library's large Bible collection.

Gateway to Service...Engaging Minds, Transforming Lives

WAU is a Christ-centered institution of higher education that supports a culture of excellence where all feel valued. Our vision as an Adventist university is to produce graduates who bring moral leadership and competence to their communities. WAU graduates get great jobs and enter the best graduate programs after university.

Washington Adventist University was established in 1904 as a coeducational institution known as the Washington Training College. Its purpose was to train young men and women in the liberal arts. In 1907, when the name was changed to Washington Foreign Mission Seminary, the more limited objective of special training for missionaries replaced the original concept of a liberal arts college. In 1914 the college resumed the status of a liberal arts college and took the name Washington Missionary College. At the first commencement, held May 22, 1915, five students received the bachelor of arts degree. Continued growth and development led to further changes. In 1933 the lower division was organized as Columbia Junior College and received accreditation. It ceased to exist as a separate college in 1942 when Washington Missionary College was given accreditation as a four-year, degree-granting institution by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. In March of 1961 the college constituency voted to change the name of the college to Columbia Union College. In 2009, Columbia Union College attained university status, and the college constituency voted to change the name of the college to Washington Adventist University.

WAU occupies 19 acres in Takoma Park, Maryland, near the nation's capital. Its world-class metropolitan setting affords unrivaled opportunity for learning, work, recreation, and service.

We thank Dr. Weymouth Spence for hosting lunch and providing a tour of Washington Adventist University.
